This heartfelt program could not have taken place without the generosity of horse owners who trailered their horses in and helped to lead the horses down the path. Also the side walkers who made certain the rider felt secure and alerted the student of branches that occasionally dipped into the trail. More often than not, the horse leader would send up a question or two: "How does it feel to be on the back of such a large animal?" "Can you hear the loon on the lake talking to its mate?" We were in the sun and now we are in the shade which feels better to you?" Their answers were no different than a child who sees as they usually felt 10 feet tall, found the birds chatter fun, and appreciated the shade when the sun was too hot.

Other activities were taking place for our students during the trail ride, giving us a chance to focus on five students at a time. Occasionally you would hear the high shrill of a child as they raced through the air on the zip line. It was a trapeze of sorts creating the look of wood nymphs flying through the trees. There was complete excitement and delight written across their faces. Both of these activities were followed by a boat ride on pristine Walloon Lake. This gave them an opportunity to feel both the sun and spray of water simultaneously heightening the gifts of Mother Nature. The night ended with a prom; complete with gowns and tuxes, dinner and music, turning this woodsy setting into a fairy tale landscape.

Although it was obvious these children could not see well or at all, I think I witnessed a glimmer in one little girl's eyes when she nuzzled close to her horse's beautifully carved head and whispered, "Thank you." She briskly reached out for her cane and with a carefree lilt in her walk, made it to her next destination with a little help from a volunteer. The entire day was spectacular and it was a full of fun none of us will soon forget.

A student with a good sense of humor sported a T-shirt that explained the loss of site very well: "When we play tag you'll be it forever." So, when I ask my sighted friends to help out next year they responded with, "Let's do trail rides forever, too."

LETTERS to the editor

Prosecutor candidate offers thanks for support

Editor:

I want to thank the voters of Charlevoix County for their support in the Aug. 7 election for prosecuting attorney.

For those of you who supported me, I am grateful. The result of the election is both overwhelming and humbling.

For those of you who did not support me, I will work hard from day one in office to earn your trust. As I stated throughout the campaign, my goal is to put my years of experience in the courtroom, in management and in community service to work in the prosecutor's office and to make it a place of stability and integrity.

I will remain responsive to the people of Charlevoix County and I will always remember that it is not "my" office but rather it is "your" office and I am just entrusted with it for the time being.

To those who worked on my campaign steering committee, I owe you special thanks. You believed in our campaign from the beginning and your hard work made our goal a reality.

To my family and friends, you endured hardships on my behalf and were staunch defenders from beginning to end. I will be forever thankful for the confidence you showed in me.

Lastly, to my wife Judy, you gave up your summer to knock on doors and walk in parades. You gave up your privacy to put up with the public spotlight. Most of all, you picked me up when I was down and encouraged me over and over to push on. No one ever had a better best friend.

Thanks to all.

County commission candidate thanks voters

Dear Editor:

I want to thank all who voted in the primary election on Aug. 7. I believe that voting is not only a fundamental right but our duty to exercise. Our votes ultimately shape our community, and the most vibrant communities have engaged citizens. Thanks for ensuring your voices were heard.

Secondly, thanks to my fellow candidates, who ran good, clean, issue-oriented campaigns.

Thirdly, thanks to every one who took time from your busy day to talk to me during this campaign. I also truly appreciate all who supported me by addressing envelopes, talking to friends and neighbors, making phone calls, donating funds, allowing me to place signs in your yards and providing encouraging words, throughout the campaign. And I thank those of you who voted for me.

For those who either voted for one of the other candidates in the primary or who did not vote at all, I sincerely hope that you will consider voting for me in the November general election.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY
Bridging our past with our future

LOOKING BACK…

After both of the Lake Michigan piers were constructed in the early 1870s, they were immediately subjected to extreme elements of the weather and whatever the big lake could throw at them in the form of currents, waves, wind, and ice. Repairs, usually in sections, were a constant activity along the lengths of both sides. Here can be seen the expansive power of ice as it split the wooden revetment in two. To the left of the passenger liner Puritan appears the catwalk/trestle that extended from shore out to the lighthouse placed originally at the end of the north pier. To the right of the boat appears the Lewis Grand Opera House that once stood beside the bridge. In the left background is Charlevoix's first hotel, the Fountain City House, from 1867 to 1953, now the site of the Weathervane Terrace Inn. The exact date of this photo is unknown.

This image is one of 850 in the Charlevoix Historical Society's most recent DVD titled "Charlevoix, Michigan — A Pictorial Journey through 16 Decades." The disc is available at the Society's Harsha House Museum, 103 State St. next to the Congregational Church, from 1-4 p.m. Monday-Saturday. It is also available at the Central Drug Store, Round Lake Books, Castle Farms, and Ell-Air Gallery. Docents are needed for the society's Harsha House for July and August. Call (231) 547-0373 for mailing and society membership information or to volunteer as a docent. LOCAL Highlights

Charlevoix to be featured in Pure Michigan lip dub

What is a 'lip dub?'

Lip dub videos feature people lip-synching to a song before the original audio of that song is then dubbed over the final footage. Although not the case for this project, many lip dubs are filmed with a moving camera in one single, unedited shot.

Charlevoix will be one of 60 Michigan communities — including several from this area — that will be featured in an upcoming Pure Michigan lip dub promotional project.

Charlevoix Convention and Visitors Bureau Director Amand Wilkin said video recording for the project in this area will start around noon on Saturday, Aug. 25.

"We will be filming a group singing (shouting) one line from a song on The Keweenaw Star going through the Pine River Channel or Round Lake," Wilkin said. "The first 100 people wearing a Charlevoix shirt are welcome to be a part of the action.

Anyone wishing to participate should meet at 11:30 a.m. at the Keweenaw Excursion dock, 109 Bridge Park Drive.

Wilkin said Charlevoix Convention and Visitors Bureau staff contacted Travel Michigan's Jeff Barrett and Rob Bliss (the people in charge of the 5 million times-viewed Grand Rapids lip dub) to secure Charlevoix a spot as one of the 50 cities that will be featured in a Pure Michigan lip dub.

They rewrote the lyrics to the song "Good Time" by Owl City and Carly Rae Jepson to be all about Michigan.

Wilkin said participants in the Charlevoix portion of the video will be singing one line of the song: "It's always a good time!" That is expected to amount to about a five-second clip in the final video.

"We can have up to 100 people on the boat, but it's possible that not everyone will make the final cut of the video," Wilkin said. "We are looking for energetic people to participate on the boat to show that Charlevoix is always a good time."

Petoskey will also participate in the lip dub, and is looking for volunteers. The Petoskey spot will feature a jiimaan — a large canoe — paddling into the waterfront, and the dub will be filmed with the breakwall and clock tower as the background, said Diane Dakins, assistant director for the Petoskey Area Visitors Bureau.

Currently, Petoskey's lip dub is scheduled for 1 p.m., but Dakins encourages those interested in participating to keep an ear out for any changes in time.

Show up in Harbor Springs with your boat, kayak, paddleboard or canoe. Harbor's filming will take place from 3-5 p.m.

Participants should gather at the west end of the Harbor in Harbor Springs, inside the no-wake zone. Bigger boats will be in the center, with smaller boats toward the outer perimeter and kayakers and paddleboarders on the outside edge and up front.

For more information about the Charlevoix portion of the event, call the chamber of commerce at (231) 547-2101.

WEDDING

Susannah Tank - Henry Pfeifer IV

COURTESY PHOTO/AARTVARK STUDIOS

James and Linda Tank of Charlevoix and Hank and Pringle Pfiefer of Harbor Springs proudly announce the wedding of their children, Susannah Joy Tank of Charlevoix, and Henry Charles Pfeifer IV of Harbor Springs. Susannah and Henry were married on Saturday, Aug. 18, 2012, at the Holy Childhood of Jesus Church in Harbor Springs. Officiating at the wedding was the bride's uncle, Fr. Peter Rogers, who is the pastor at St. Dominic Catholic Church in Los Angeles, Calif. Following the wedding a reception took place at the H.O. Rose Room in the Perry Hotel in Petoskey. The couple plans to make their home in Petoskey.

Sevenski Veteran of the Month

Sevenski

The Veteran of the Month for August 2012 is Joseph Sevenski.

Born on Feb. 4, 1923, in Hudson Township, Charlevoix County, Sevenski attended Boyne Falls Public School and completed the eighth-grade in 1936 before leaving school to go to work in a scrap yard to help his family during the Great Depression. In 1940, he went to Lansing, going to work as a surface grinder operator for Federal Forge Incorporated.

On Jan. 25, 1943, Sevenski was inducted into the Army Enlisted Reserve Corps and on Feb. 1, 1943, entered into active service at Fort Custer, Mich. On June 28, 1944, following basic training and specialty training, Sevenski departed the USA arriving in the European Theater of Operations on July 5, 1944.

He was assigned to a medical unit serving as an ambulance driver and participated in battles and campaigns in the Ardennes and the Rhineland.

On Jan. 22, 1946, Sevenski departed the European Theater of Operations arriving in the USA on Jan. 30, 1946, and on Feb. 4, 1946, at The Separation Center, Headquarters Detachment, 104th Replacement Depot, Camp Atterbury, Ind., he received an honorable discharge, having attained the rank of technical sergeant fifth class and was awarded the following decorations and citations: The American Theater Service Medal, The European-Asian and Middle Eastern Service Medal, with Two Bronze Battle Stars, The Victory Medal, The Good Conduct Medal, One Service Stripe and Three Overseas Service Bars (each representing six months foreign service).

Returning to Lansing and his job at Federal Forge Incorporated, he worked as a hammer man and on May 24, 1947, Sevenski married Myrtle Alice Pope in Lansing. Sevenski served as president of Union Local 724 for 22 years and on Feb. 4, 1985, he retired and, after a few years, moved to their 80-acre farm and log home near Elmira, wintering the first few years in Kissimmee, Fla.

When at home, he enjoyed gardening and canning his homegrown vegetables, farming and plowing his fields, hunting and fishing, stopping at every garage sale he saw, reading, watching the Detroit Tigers, U-M football and NASCAR and he became involved in the Knights of Columbus, the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars. But most of all, he loved spending quality time with his family and his two dogs, Lacy and Tanner.

On Dec. 28, 2011, Joseph Sevenski answered the final call and is being honored by his wife Myrtle, his children and their families.

To honor a veteran, call the program chairman at (231) 588-6067 or on Tuesdays call (231) 582-7811 between 3:30-8:30 p.m. The ceremony may be witnessed at 6:15 p.m. on the first Thursday of each month in front of the American Legion Post, corner of South Lake and Main streets in Boyne City.

People Fund grant application deadline Oct. 1

The Great Lakes Energy People Fund is accepting grant applications from nonprofit organizations throughout its local service area. The upcoming grant application deadline is Oct. 1.

The People Fund is supported solely by Great Lakes Energy members who allow their electric cooperative to round up their bill each month to the next dollar. Since 1999 more than $2.2 million in grants have been awarded to charitable and community organizations throughout Great Lakes Energy's 26-county service area, which stretches from Kalamazoo to the Mackinac Straits.

"Great Lakes Energy members make the People Fund possible by rounding-up their bill each month," organization president/CEO Steve Boeckman said. "We encourage nonprofit community organizations to apply so that the funds can be utilized in our local service area."

Nonprofit organizations can request a grant application online at www.gtlakes.com or by calling Great Lakes Energy at (888) 485-2537, ext. 1313. Non-profit organizations that serve communities located in the Great Lakes Energy service area are eligible to apply.

Organizations that are unable to apply by Oct. 1 will have another opportunity to apply next year.

AUG 24 2012

OBITUARIES

William Byron Darnton, 94

William Byron Darnton, 94, died peacefully in his sleep at dawn on Sunday, Aug. 19, 2012, after a lengthy illness. He was born in Flint, Mich., Jan. 13, 1919, as the fourth of five sons born to Robert and Julia Darnton. He is survived by his wife of 70 years, Mildred Darnton and one brother, Paul Darnton, three children and nine grandchildren. His children are Thomas B. Darnton and David R Darnton, both of Ann Arbor, Mich., and Judith Ivan of Charlevoix. Bill and Mildred lived for many years in Charlevoix even after taking an apartment at Glacier Hills Senior Living Community.

Bill attended primary and secondary school in the Flint public school system He graduated from Flint Northern High School in June of 1936. He attended the University of Michigan, from which he graduated with a bachelor of science degree and a teacher's certificate in December, 1940. After teaching in the Flint system for one semester he joined the Navy and received a commission in January of 1942. He served his country in several capacities while in the Navy, including 18 months as the chief engineering officer on the USS Doneff, DE 49, a destroyer escort based in the Aleutian Islands. After the war, he returned to Flint where he began his civilian employment with IBM. He moved to Buick Motor Division ("The Buick") in 1951 when Buick purchased its first computer, a massive device that occupied the entire third floor of a factory in Flint. He continued in data processing and management throughout his career with General Motors. When he retired for medical reasons at age 63 he was the plant manager of the General Motors Parts Division warehouse in Otterburn, Mich. At the time, this was the largest inventory under one roof anywhere in the world.

Bill was an avid golfer and sailor, and a devoted father. He learned the game of golf in his youth and played on the Flint Northern golf team. He continued to love and play the game well into his 80s, and particularly loved playing the Belvedere course near his summer home on Lake Charlevoix. His interest in sailing was developed during boyhood summers at Culver Summer Naval School, in Culver, Ind., which he and each of his four brothers attended. He continued that family tradition with his own three children, each of whom spent several summers at Culver. His interest in education and his children's welfare lead him to serve on the school board in Holly, Mich., for eight years, where he had the privilege of presenting diplomas to each of his children upon their graduation from high school. Reflecting his love of education and Northern Michigan, two of his three children had lengthy careers in education and his survivors continue to maintain their parents' home on Lake Charlevoix's Oyster Bay, where his eldest grandson was married in August, 2011. Bill was able to attend that ceremony, where he was honored by all who attended.

A memorial service for Bill will take place at the First Unitarian-Universalist Church of Ann Arbor 4001 Ann Arbor-Saline Road, Ann Arbor, beginning at 2 p.m. on Sunday, Aug. 26, 2012. Interment will be in the family plot located at the Charlevoix Municipal Cemetery in a separate ceremony to take place later in September. The family requests that donations be made to the Lake Charlevoix Association, P.O. Box 294, Charlevoix, MI 49720 in his honor.

Barbara Jean Cook, 72

Barbara Jean Cook, 72, of Charlevoix, passed away, Saturday, Aug. 18, 2012, at Grandvue Medical Care Facility in East Jordan. Visitation will be from 6-8 p.m., Thursday at Winchester Funeral Home in Charlevoix, with a Rosary at 8 p.m. A Rite of Christian Burial will be 1:30 p.m., Friday, Aug. 24, at St. Mary Church in Charlevoix. The Rev. Matthew Wigton will officiate. Burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery.

Barb was born Jan. 7, 1940, in Kalamazoo, the daughter of Edwin and Ethel (Finewood) Schram. She graduated from Portage High School in 1957, earned a bachelor's degree in home economics from Western Michigan University in 1961, and a master of arts in consumer and homemaking in 1973.

She taught one year in Ellsworth and 26 years at the Charlevoix Middle School until retiring in 1996.

Barb enjoyed gardening, sewing and traveling with her family. After retiring, she became a Master Gardener through MSU.

She was a member of St. Mary Church in Charlevoix and the Charlevoix Evening Garden Club. On Sept. 5, 1959, she married Norman Cook at St. Thomas More in Kalamazoo. Norm preceded her in death on July 27, 2006.

Barb is survived by her daughters, Joan (James) Mills of Aurora, Ill., Kathryn (Kirk) Heckendorn of Charlevoix, Sheryl (Kip) Greene of Grand Haven, Patricia (Michael) Loper of Petoskey; grandchildren, Alex, Jason and Jessica Mills; Jacklyn (Kevin) Chadwick, Michael (Alisa) Heckendorn; Trevor, Terry, and Rya Greene; Brian and Ellen Loper; brothers, James (Deb) Schram of Pentwater, John (Luha) Schram of Portage, David Schram (Amy Oswalt) of Portage.

Memorial contributions may be made to Grandvue Medical Care Facility, 1728 Peninsula Road, East Jordan, MI 49727, or Saint Mary Parish, 1003 Bridge Street, Charle[illegible] MI 49720.

Those wishing to share a memory of Barb, or condolences, may do so at www.winchesterfuneralhome.com

Allan Martindale Warner, 84

Allan Martindale Warner, 84 died peacefully at McLaren Northern Michigan hospital on Aug. 20, 2012, following complications from pneumonia. A resident of the Chicago Club in Charlevoix for more than 25 years, he recently moved to Independence Village in Petoskey. He was born May 24, 1928 in Farmington, Mich. to Clarissa Martindale Warner and Howard Malthy Warner, and graduated from Cranbrook School, Bloomfield Hills, Washington & Lee University, Lexington, Va. and received a masters in economics from Michigan State University. He also served in the Army in Okinawa from 1950 to 1953. His career took him from teaching to banking (Farmington Savings Bank), advertising (McManus, John & Adams) to interior design, where he opened and managed the Baker, Knapp & Tubbs showroom in the Troy Design Center. In 1968, he married Jean Katherine Parsons, who predeceased him in 1991. He is survived by two step children, William A. Powel (Sandra), Shaker Heights, Ohio and Edwina U. Powel, Chicago, Ill.; a brother, Harley D. (Clicquot), Carmel, Calif., four granddaughters, two nieces, a nephew, seven grand nieces and nephews and many cousins. He was also predeceased by a brother. A memorial service will take place at 10 a.m. on Saturday, Sept. 1 at Christ Episcopal Church in Charlevoix.

Sheriff's substation costs now at $291,000-plus

Septic, utility hook-ups still to come

SHERI MCWHIRTER
Northern Michigan Review

Charlevoix County commissioners agreed to spend another $11,600 for driveway paving at the sheriff's substation in Boyne Falls.

Commissioners met Wednesday night in Charlevoix and in a 4-1 split decision awarded the contract to Swanson K&D, of Charlevoix. Commissioners excused Bob Drebenstedt from the meeting because he is in Texas visiting his Afghanistan war-wounded son, while lame duck commissioner Shirlene Tripp, of Hayes Township, voted against the paving contract.

"We were told $200,000 to begin with," Tripp said during the meeting.

"That was a wishful number," said commissioner Rich Gillespie, of Beaver Island, chairman of the board's buildings and grounds committee.

Tripp later said she voted against the paving work contract because she doesn't know the total running cost for the sheriff's new substation building on the county's eastern side.

"I think the taxpayers deserve an answer," she said.

Last month, commissioners unanimously voted to spend $16,744 for heavier roof material, a change order request from Birchwood Construction, of Harbor Springs, the company that in May won the general construction contract at $263,000. The running total now is about $291,344, according to Petoskey News-Review tabulations.

Early estimates for alternate bids for the sheriff's substation included $2,500 for the septic system and $8,000 for utility hook-ups, neither of which has yet been awarded. The early estimate for grading and driveway work came in around $4,200, about $7,400 less than the low bid awarded Wednesday night.

Other paving work bidders included Rieth-Riley at $12,600, MDC Contracting at $13,994 and Payne & Dulan at $15,980.

Meanwhile, the sheriff's substation remains under construction in Boyne Falls village, visible from U.S. 131 and situated between the township fire hall and the village hall.

Also during the meeting, county commissioners unanimously agreed to spend $9,220 for a new viewer-scanner system to replace the microfiche reader in the county clerk's office, to be paid from the county's equipment fund.

Finally, commissioners agreed to a court-appointed attorney contract with a consortium of local attorneys, effectively creating a quasi-public defender's office. Attorneys included in the agreement are Kraig Lieberman and Christopher Turkelson, both of Charlevoix, along with Jodi Doak, of Boyne City, and Travis Groat, of Petoskey.

Historical society presents 'Northern Michigan Postcards'

The Charlevoix County History Preservation Society will be presenting its August 2012 History Speaker Series Event: "Northern Michigan Postcards - The Edward Beebe Story" with guest speaker Jack Hobey at 7 p.m. on Monday, Aug. 27, at the Boyne District Library's lower level community room located at 201 East Main St. in downtown Boyne City.

Historian Jack Hobey will tell the story of the life of Edward Beebe (1871-1945) and the legacy of history through photos and postcards. More than 150 photos from Beebe's collection are included in his book "Wish you were here...The Edward Beebe Story."

Jack Hobey, also author of Lost Boys – The Beulah Home Tragedy, is a University of Michigan and Harvard Business School graduate. In his retirement, he lives with his wife Vicki in Boyne City, Mich. and continues to research and write Northern Michigan history.

This program is free and open to the public. Light refreshments will be served. Call (231) 582-5326 for more information.

Indian Treaty of 1836 to be topic of program

Dr. Charles Cleland will present a program on the historical events surrounding the negotiation of the Treaty of 1836 between the Odawa and Ojibwe people and the United States of America at 6:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Aug. 28, at the Charlevoix Public Library.

Cleland

Cleland will discuss the details of the treaty bargain as well as the many stipulations and controversies that have persisted into the modern era.

Round Lake Bookstore will be on hand selling copies of Cleland's books, "Rites of Conquest" and "Faith in Paper: the Ethnohistory and Litigation of Upper Great Lakes Indian Treaties."

Cleland was born and raised in Kane, Penn., and holds degrees in biology, zoology and most recently a Ph.D. in anthropology from University of Michigan. Cleland was a professor of anthropology and curator of Great Lakes archaeology and anthropology at Michigan State University. Since retiring, he has lived in the village of Norwood where he continues to be active in scholarly research and writing.

The 'Promise' of a college degree

New Char-Em ISD program aims to make college education more accessible

RACHEL BROUGHAM
Northern Michigan Review

METRO

A new program announced Monday by the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District aims to increase the number of students in the area who go on to obtain college degrees, while also dramatically cutting the cost of college.

Called the Char-Em LCAN Promise, the project is the brainchild of the district, area businesses, civic organizations, local government, education leaders and nonprofit representatives.

"The ultimate goal of the Local Access College Network is to have 60 percent of high school students successfully complete college by 2025," said Jim Rummer, director of career and technical education at Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District. "We currently have approximately 30 percent of students who go onto college. We know we can do better and believe the Char-Em LCAN Promise is one way to achieve this."

The Char-Em LCAN Promise works by offering college-credit classes for juniors and seniors at the high school level. These concurrent classes are taught by high school teachers who have been accredited by area community colleges and require students to obtain the same high level of achievement as they would on a college campus.

The project also offers a big savings for students and their families.

Currently, concurrent credit is offered at a discounted rate of $25 per credit hour. The expense is paid by a student's high school district and there is no charge to families for tuition or books.

Rummer compared the project's savings to traditional college expenses, with 13 credit hours at a traditional institution being $16,000, not including books, housing and student loan interest. With the LCAN Promise, college expenses are $1,000 for one student taking 13 classes (40 credits/3 semesters) based on the current $25 per credit hour rate.

According to one college cost estimator, Rummer noted that for a child born in 2012, the estimated expenses for a bachelor's degree at a public university in Michigan will top $267,000.

"I've been in education for 32 years and this is the most exciting thing I've seen," said Mark Tompkins, superintendent of Harbor Springs Public Schools.

Tompkins said that he believes the LCAN Promise will give students an equal playing field, while using resources already in place.

"I think the whole thing is extraordinary and can transform our schools."

Current college partners in the Char-Em LCAN Promise include North Central Michigan College, Baker College and Ferris State University, and grades and credit are recorded on one of the school's official transcripts as college-level courses.

James Cooper, early childhood coordinator for the Char-Em ISD, noted that there are a variety of courses currently offered through the project, such as English, history, psychology and mathematics, and those offerings will only increase as more students take part.

He added that the project makes it possible for a students to graduate from high school with approximately two years of college under their belt.

Chuck Vondra, the current undersheriff of Charlevoix County who worked on the Char-Em LCAN Promise, said many organizations and individuals have already supported the program financially, and more are needed to help the program grow.

"We are reaching out to individuals, foundations and civic and service organizations to get the word out about how even $75 can make a difference in a high school student's life by helping them get their feet wet with a college class," Vondra said.

"After all, who wouldn't take a $75 chance on a young person to explore taking his or her first college class?"

Students interested in the program should speak with their high school guidance counselor.

For more information about the Char-Em LCAN Promise, contact Jim Rummer at (231) 547-9947 or rummerj@charemisd.org.

Pool auction nets more than $35,000

Organizer of the 23rd annual auction in support of the Charlevoix Area Community Pool said this year's event generated more than $35,000 with nearly 200 guests in attendance and 286 premium auction items up for bid

This year's auction, which took place on Aug. 5 at Castle Farms had a French bistro theme and included an evening of dining, entertainment as well as a live and silent auction.

The auction is the pool's biggest fundraising event of the year. The proceeds help ensure that scholarships are available for families in need as well as allow the pool to continue the programming it offers the community.

Organizers said the event would not be possible without "the tremendous support of those who contributed to the auction as well as those who attended the event. Working hand and hand with Merry Makers, the commitment of the numerous volunteers and staff made this year's event another great success.

Pool officials added: "The pool exists because of the local support it has received over the years and continues because of the demand for aquatic programs and services among our residents. The ongoing involvement of our community has enabled the pool to maintain its current facility and offer high quality programming to its patrons. The vision of the pool is to remain a vital link in our community's health, safety and recreation by providing programs that meet the changing needs of area children and adults through a safe, professionally managed aquatic facility that is accessible to all."

The Charlevoix Area Community Pool is nonprofit organization which, during the past 15 years, has introduced more than 30 different programs and welcomed more than 450,000 visits from area residents. To learn more about the community pool, visit www.charlevoixpool.org or call (231) 547-0982.

Film shot in Charlevoix wins international awards

Longtime West Michigan film company Grooters Productions brought home a Gold Crown Award, two Bronze Crown Awards, and a nomination at the International Christian Visual Media conference, a prestigious gathering of media producers from around the world that took place last month in Orlando Florida.

The film The Frontier Boys (which was shot mostly in Charlevoix) was the winner of the 2011 Gold Crown Award, Best Picture. Meet Hiram Edson, a historical recreation of pre-Civil War events in upstate New York was the recipient of the 2012 Bronze Crown Award, Best Short Film. In the curriculum category, The Frontier Boys: Explore (Lifeway Christian Resources) won the 2012 Bronze Crown Award, Best Curriculum (to be released this fall), and the popular family devotional series Watch & Talk (Bridgestone Multimedia Group), hosted by Grammy and Dove Award-winning artist Rebecca St. James, was nominated in the same category for Best Curriculum.

Writer, director and producer John Grooters was on hand to accept the awards. "ICVM is a wonderful conference. We're very proud to be recognized by them because it brings together producers and distributors from all over the world who are deeply committed to redemptive content and entertainment quality. To win 'Best Picture' for The Frontier Boys is a tremendous honor."

The Crown Awards are designed to recognize excellence in production and content of films and videos that are created to reflect Christian values in a secular world. Any member producer can nominate a film. This includes producers around the world who are working in visual media in any way. The complete list of nominees and winners can be found at http://icvm.com/crown-winners/108-2012-crown-award-winners.

Grooters Productions has been producing media both locally and internationally since its establishment in 2001. The company specializes in a range of services including HD video production and finishing, audio post-production, digital effects, print graphics, and web & app design/development. County earns 'Connected' certification

RYAN BENTLEY
Northern Michigan Review

RYAN BENTLEY/NEWS-REVIEW

On hand for the presentation of Charlevoix County's Connected Community certification Wednesday are (from left) Connected Nation president and chief operating officer Tom Ferree, Northern Lakes Economic Alliance economic development specialist Jan Kellogg, Boyne City city manager Michael Cain and Connect Michigan state program manager Eric Frederick.

BOYNE CITY — Charlevoix County leaders see broadband Internet connections as a valuable resource for their community, and their efforts concerning these have brought the community a first-of-its-kind certification.

On Wednesday, the county received the first "Connected" community certification to be awarded by Connected Nation in the United States.

"Clearly, Charlevoix County is leading the way, and congratulations are in order," said Connected Nation president and chief operating officer Tom Ferree.

The recognition follows a months-long inventory-taking and planning process by the Charlevoix County Broadband Team, which involved participation by county and local government, schools, libraries and business/economic development entities and cooperation from the Connect Michigan program.

Connected Nation is a national nonprofit organization focused on expanding access to, and use of, broadband Internet. Connected Nation cooperates with the Michigan Public Service Commission, the state's utility regulatory agency, to operate Connect Michigan, which is Michigan's designated entity for broadband planning and mapping.

Representatives of Connected Nation, Connect Michigan and the public service commission joined dozens of local leaders Wednesday in Boyne City High School's media center for presentation of the certification.

"Charlevoix County can be proud to be the first community that has completed the broadband certification process offered by Connected Nation," said Michigan Public Service Commission Chairman John D. Quackenbush. "Joining together, they determined that the benefits of broadband would make this community a more attractive one — a community with a better business environment for economic development, improved health care, enhanced education and an efficient government."

The technology action plan that recently emerged notes that Charlevoix County is seeing high success in terms of technology access, adoption and use. Local levels of these allowed the community to exceed the score needed for certification.

At the same time, the plan noted that some gaps exist in broadband availability — particularly in less densely populated areas of the county — and that more can be done to engage individuals, businesses and governments in the use of online resources. The plan identifies a variety of action steps to boost broadband accessibility and use.

"This is a good first step," Boyne City city manager Michael Cain said of the plan's development. "What we do with it next is most important."

Jan Kellogg, economic development specialist with the Northern Lakes Economic Alliance, noted that local leaders volunteered their time to work on the plan, with Connect Michigan offering in-kind resources for the process.

On Aug. 16 the dock at St. Mary's Cement just south of Charlevoix had a much different visitor from the freighters and barges that usually berth there to take on cement products. St. Mary's officials allowed the Great Lakes Cruise Company passenger vessel Yorktown to dock at the cement plant to disembark its passengers when rough weather made it too dangerous to pass through the Pine River Channel and dock in Round Lake. Pictured left, passengers leave the Yorktown headed for waiting tour busses. Pictured right, the Yorktown is shown just north of the St. Mary's dock as the company's well-known ship the Challenger approaches.

The Charlevoix Circle of Arts gallery, located at 109 Clinton St. in Charlevoix has the following events planned. For more information about upcoming events and ongoing programs, visit the organization's website at www.charlevoixcircle.org.

Moments In Time — A new, all-media exhibit "A Moment in Time" is open at the Charlevoix Circle of Arts through Aug. 26. Organizers describe the exhibit, " A moment in time is as fleeting as fireworks, sunsets or a rainbow. It can capture the winner of a horse race or a baby's first taste of ice cream. It can depict a dancer in motion or a group of friends enjoying a picnic. It may be a bird in flight of leaves blowing in a storm. Our Artists capture the moment."

Michigan Seasons — The Charlevoix Circle of Arts an the Charlevoix Photography Club are seeking entries for the fourth annual Photography Show, slated to run from Aug. 30-Oct. 5. The theme of this year's show will be "Michigan Seasons. Photographers are invited to submit photographs "depicting the abundant beauty of Michigan" in the categories of Realistic Photography, Photographic Art, Canvas Wrap, and Youth. The show will be judged by Todd and Brad Reed, a father-son outdoor photography team based in Ludington. Call Bill Dietrich at (231) 675-1353 or Kris Balasz at (231) 675-3321 for more information.

'Resounding Praise' event set for Aug. 26

After the guitars are tuned and voices warmed up, two contemporary praise and worship teams will fill the air with the sounds of celebrating life during "Resounding Praise." The event is set for 5-8 p.m. on Sunday, Aug. 26, at the Odmark Performance Pavilion in Charlevoix's East Park.

"Unlike traditional concerts, the bands will lead the crowd in connecting with God, in expressing individual appreciation for the abundant life available through Jesus Christ. God inhabits the praises of His people, and the musical event will prove to be offer an encounter of love, peace and joy," organizers said.

Leading the event will be Faith Worship Team, which is traveling to Charlevoix from Flint. The group regularly leads worship at Faith Tabernacle of Greater Flint. Harvest Barn Praise, out of Harvest Barn Church in East Jordan, will then lead the gathering.

Resounding Praise is one of several special events being planned this year to commemorate the 25th anniversary of Harvest Barn Church in East Jordan.

"After being in the area for 25 years, we thought it time to bring His praise outside the doors of the church," said the Rev. Bridgette Criner, of Harvest Barn Church. "Praise is something we do with our hearts and our mouths. It's not limited to a building."

There is no charge to attend the event and all are welcome.

BROWN BAG

sumed the guardianship of seven children ages 2-12. There are two family groups one with four and the other three and all seven have been happily incorporated into the family by this time. The little ones have never really known any other parents, and that could be difficult for everyone at the point of letting go, the Bradley's said.

However, "You go into this knowing that it's not about you, it's about what is best for the child. We are there to help them be equipped to return to their homes, the goal being a period of one year. When separation occurs, we know we will have to swallow the pain for their well-being."

Everything is run like a fine tuned machine at the Bradleys from grocery shopping, to dinners and bedtime. They reside on a 75 acre plot of land that they have fashioned into a mini farm. There is a garden a greenhouse, a barn complete with three pigs, chickens, a dog and cat and a large yard with plenty of space for young children to play. The children work on multiplication tables and other school assignments each day, help according to their ages and abilities with household tasks, and have a schedule for work, play and bedtime. The older kids help out with the little ones. The Bradley's nephew, Matt, has become roommate with two little guys ages 2 and 4.

Asked how he feel about suddenly becoming a big brother to seven little people, Matt replied, "The reason I do it is because it was done for me," Matt said. "I draw the line at changing diapers though."

The Bradleys said they are proud of Matt who has been working this summer at a local landscape business and is home schooled. "We don't have a teenager who thinks it's all about "me,"" Sheri said.

"A lot of people just don't realize the need out there to help these children. It's as simple as calling and committing to the cause," Sheri said.

The Bradley's said they feel blessed to have the children, a daughter and daughter-in-law who give them respite when they need to get away, the babysitting services of Matt and other teenagers who occasionally help out, and a circle of other foster care friends from their church who get together socially and give each other support.

Lori and Craig Cheadle

Lori and Craig Cheadle have been foster parents for two and a half years. They lead a busy life, juggling two businesses, home and their custodial children. In addition to their two biological children ages 20 and 18, the Cheadles presently have guardianship of a 15 year-old girl and are caring for two fraternal little boys in their home.

The Cheadles noted that the goal of the foster care program is the return of children to their birth homes after a temporary respite that helps to alleviate a threatening situation. The best case scenario, they said, is that the dysfunction that caused the intervention will be resolved through counseling and therapy and the child's home will become a safe and nurturing place.

"In foster care, it is considered a success story if a child is able to return to their family," Lori said. "We fostered a 3-year-old for a year and we were able to return to her mother. That's rewarding."

But, it doesn't always work out that way.

The Cheadles are planning to adopt their two little foster care boys at which point, they will call their family complete for the time being.

"Foster care has been very rewarding for us, but I think our house will be full if the adoption process goes through," she said.

Lori said she would like to encourage others to take the step towards considering foster care. She believes that an ideal time to consider the possibility of taking on the commitment would be when a perspective couple's children are grown. "Sometimes, if you foster children the same age as your own little ones, the competition is too great," she said.

Prospective foster parents under go a series of classes prior to accepting placement of any children in their home so that they know what to expect from the experience. Foster parents are given some financial aid as well as support from the system including counselors, probation officers and case workers. They are not left to fend for themselves. There are other kinds of foster homes beyond the usual: there are respite care homes for foster parents who need to get away for a period of time, emergency homes for children who need to be put into a safe place quickly, and intensive care homes for kids with more severe problems. Many choices are available for those who are interested in this endeavor. Always, the main emphasis is on reuniting the child with his/her biological family if at all possible after one year. After that, long term foster care or adoption is a possibility.

For more information on the Brown Bag Campaign or on how to become a licensed foster or adoptive parent call Child and Family Services at 321- 946-8975. Also, see the Brown Bag insert in this week's Courier for more on the foster parent program.

FUNDRAISER

Coyne said she's expects that number may go up a bit more as a few more checks were expected to trickle in.

"We're ecstatic," Coyne said of the results of the fundraiser. "We are so grateful to everyone in the community who contributed to this event. It was just wonderful."

All proceeds from the event will go to an account at Charlevoix State Bank to help the Drebenstedt family cover expenses. Organizers noted costs for the event were minimal because much of the goods and services were donated. What costs there were will be split four ways between the VFW, American Legion and their respective auxiliary organizations.

From the time the doors opened at 4 p.m. until well into the event's fourth hour, a steady stream of people filled donation jars with cash and checks as they made their way into the hall for dinner. Many others also opened their wallets to buy raffle tickets or bid in a silent auction for dozens of donated items ranging from gift certificates and artwork, up to a shotgun.

In the meantime, Troy, who is the son of Charlevoix County Commissioner Bob Drebenstedt and his wife, Marlys, continues to recover from his injuries at an Army medical facility in San Antonio, Texas.

Speaking to the Petoskey News-Review from Texas Tuesday, Bob Drebenstedt provided an update on Troy's recovery.

He said Troy still has a lot of stitches in both legs, but is walking with the help of a walker and his strength builds up each day.

"Thank God he's got hairy legs. It will cover the scars," Bob Drebenstedt said.

He said his son has tried to make contact with the other wounded soldiers and the wife of the soldier who died and spends a lot of time reflecting on the explosion.

"He does the 'what if' thing all the time," Bob said.

Medical officials recently transferred Troy to a rehabilitation hospital, where he is expected to remain for at least a couple weeks.

Bob said he and the family are grateful for all the support they've had from the community, including Tuesday's fundraiser.

"I can't thank all those working women enough. All they've done is so wonderful," Bob said.

The Drebenstedts remain unsure how much money they've spent so far, as well as how much it will take to stay near Troy during his recovery. The family is grateful that Troy's brother, Reagan, happens to live in San Antonio, so they can stay at his apartment, reducing possible hotel expenses. However, they have dipped into their retirement savings, they just don't yet know by how much.

"It's a roller coaster ride for us parents here," Bob said. "But everything is moving in a positive direction now."

"We really want to thank all our friends for all their care, concern and their prayers. It means so much," Bob said.

And if Troy's injuries weren't enough, the family's situation was further complicated recently when Bob was hospitalized to be treated for pneumonia.

Bob said he is unsure when they will return to Charlevoix.

City resident Stuart Kaufman said he was among a group of supporters for Roth's request, saying the red color is more difficult to see from Lake Michigan.

"When it was white, you could see it when it comes over the horizon," Kaufman said. "I think the (white) lighthouse was one of the iconic symbols of Charlevoix."

However Mike Burgeon, who has served among the historical society's leadership, said there was good reason why the color was changed back to red.

"The lighthouse color wasn't arbitrarily chosen," Burgeon said. It was an historical restoration."

Burgeon noted that the lighthouse is listed on the National Register of Historic Places which places significance on the period of 1948-1955 — at which time the lighthouse was red.

"There has been a red lighthouse on south pier more years that white," Burgeon said. "The Coast Guard has signed off (on the color). They help get it historic designation."

Burgeon also noted that, had the city and society not sought to take possession of and preserve the lighthouse, the Coast Guard would likely have replaced it with a simple post with a red light — similar to the post hearing the green light on the north pier.

He also pointed out that because of the light's historic designation, no major modifications are permitted without approval of state officials.

Residents also voiced concerns Monday about another structure in a prominent city location.

Shirley Gibson, who is running for election to one of the city council's Third Ward seats against incumbent Shane Cole in November, led a chorus of people complaining about the city's recent decision to accept a gift from anonymous donor of a gas-fueled fireplace to be constructed in East Park's "Plaza B," near Bridge Street.

The council voted at a special meeting on Thursday, Aug. 9 to move forward with the fireplace construction plan. The donor had requested that the project be completed before this year's Apple Festival.

Gibson was concerned about the cost of the gas for the fireplace said she felt the project was "rammed through" and that more public input should have been sought. Others — many of them downtown business owners in the area where the fireplace will be constructed, voiced similar concerns.

City officials have estimated that the fireplace will cost about $6,700 per year to run.

Leon Perron of Celeste Murdick's Fudge, located across the street from the fireplace location, said, "In the past the city spent a whole lot of money getting possession of buildings to tear them down to get a view of round lake. This is going backwards from that."

After hearing the complaints, however, the council appeared not inclined to reconsider its decision.

Huskey makes history

Charlevoix native becomes first woman to win major pro fishing title

On Sunday, Aug. 19, Marianne Huskey made professional fishing history when she won the Anglers Insight Marketing Angler of the Year award. This marked the first time in the history of major professional fishing tournament circuits that a female angler has won an Angler of the Year award.

The Angler of the Year award goes to the angler who amasses the most points over the course of a season. Huskey edged out Wisconsin's Robert Blosser and Illinois' Scott Duncan in a race that came down to the last day of the last event of the season.

Huskey, 37, grew up in Charlevoix and first learned to fish for perch and salmon on Lake Michigan and Lake Charlevoix with her grandfather. She moved away from the area when she was 23 and now lives in Shawano, Wis.

Huskey said, "I always say, 'It's not what is on the other side. It's the climb.' I've been on the climb for four years and I'm not at the top just yet, but this sure feels good."

This year's AIM tournaments traveled to Lake Superior in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan, Lake Erie in Lorain, Ohio, Lake Michigan's Green Bay at Oconto, Wisc., and Lake of the Woods at Baudette, Minn. Huskey made history at the Lake Superior event when she finished in second place, the highest finish ever in a major professional fishing tournament by a female angler.

Wisconsin's Huskey has been an AIM professional angler since the circuit was founded in 2009, fishing in every event the circuit has held. She has also fished on the FLW National Guard Walleye Circuit.

In 2011, Huskey was awarded the Dave Anderson Sportsman of the Year Award by a vote of over 100 of her peers. The award is given to the angler who has done the most to promote the sport of fishing and has portrayed the best example of professionalism in competitive fishing.

Huskey is known for her passion for and involvement in charity, youth and educational events through organizations like VFW, Christmas for the Children, The Make a Wish Foundation, Fishing Has No Boundaries, Walleyes for Tomorrow, and the NPAA Youth Clinics.

FOOTBALL

The Charlevoix High School football team opens the 2012 season on Friday, Aug. 24, at home against St. Ignace. Team members are front (from left) manager Evan Krueger, assistant coach Derek Woodgate, Luke Klinger, Logan Eckhardt, Sam Eakes, Charlie Hamilton, Tannar Catt, Corbin Turkelson, Jarod Reibel, JJ Bottomley, assistant coach Nick Barnum; back, coach Joe Pruchnicki, Bryan Noirot, Nate Moon, Andrew Mitchell, Drew Seymour, Logan Hess, Tommy Zipp, Shane Sutherland, Greyson Spegele, Devin Drain, assistant coach John Haan.

Coach: First three games will test Rayder varsity

Despite small roster, first-year Rayder coach likes what he sees so far

The first-year Charlevoix coach has been in the business for more than four decades, and he has had three weeks of practice and a scrimmage to get to know the Rayders' personnel.

But there is nothing like real competition to find out what you've got, and Pruchnicki knows that three weeks from now, he and his team will have a good idea where they stand.

"I think we've got an opportunity to be a good football team if we stay healthy," Pruchnicki said. "We play three great teams right off the bat. We'll know early how tough we're going to be."

The Rayders open the season on Friday, Aug. 24, at home against St. Ignace, then go to Maple City Glen Lake, then open Lake Michigan Conference play at Grayling.

St. Ignace finished 12-1 last season, advancing to the Division 8 state semifinals; Glen Lake was 5-4 a year ago, with three of those losses coming by four points or less; and Grayling went 9-2 in 2011, and finished second to Traverse City St. Francis in the Lake Michigan.

Pruchnicki, 65, replaces Don Jess who stepped down after leading the Rayders to a 4-5 mark last season. Three of those losses came by a touchdown or less.

Charlevoix hired Jason Katt, a longtime assistant at Lowell High School, in the spring. But Katt left in June expressing concerns over long-term job security in Charlevoix.

Up stepped Pruchnicki, who, after leaving Flat Rock after the 2011 season, had accepted an assistant coaching position in Gaylord. Pruchnicki coached at Flat Rock from 2006-11, compiling an 18-36 record.

He has also made head coaching stops at Oscoda, Flint Central, Flint Southwestern Academy, Lake Fenton and Goodrich high schools. He served as an assistant at Flint Powers Catholic and Swartz Creek high schools.

He has 19 on the roster of his first Charlevoix team. Clearly, a few more bodies would help. But he's not lamenting the fate.

"I'm pleased with the effort," he said. "I just wish we had more of them. We must stay healthy. If we have a few injuries it could really hurt. They're quality athletes and quality young men.

"If we have one strength, I'd say it would be our overall team quickness."

Pruchnicki has installed the Wing T offense, and he has a good number of experienced returnees to run it.

"Everything is new," he said. "It's a big learning curve. We've got to get over that hump.

"The Wing T has really evolved from what it was in the '70s and '80s. You can pass out of it, run wide, run up inside, play power football. It encompasses a lot of things. You try to pick and chose and match your talent to what the Wing T offers.

"I was pleased with the scrimmage, pleased with the effort. Now we have to refine things. The kids play hard, that's the big thing."

The Rayders return five starters on offense including tackle Drew Seymour, a 6-foot-3, 310-pound tackle. Jarod Reibel, a 6-foot, 160-pound senior guard, is another starter back up front, as is senior Tommy Zipp, a 6-3, 215-pound tight end.

Halfbacks Tanner Catt and Charlie Hamilton return to the backfield, where they will be joined by sophomore fullback Bryan Noirot and junior quarterback Nate Klinger.

Senior Logan Hess, who is listed at 245 pounds, will start at the tackle spot opposite Seymour. Senior Greyson Spegele is penciled in to start at a guard spot, and junior Andrew Mitchell, who is listed at 230 pounds, will start at center.

Devin Drain, a 6-1, 180-pound senior, will start at split end.

Corbin Turkelson, who, at 5-7 and 200 pounds, is the prototypical noseguard, anchors the defensive line as he begins his third year as a starter.

"If you're going to have a good team, (defense is) where it all starts and you've got to have a kicking game," Pruchnicki said. "The rest of it falls in line."

Zipp and Seymour are also returning starter along the defensive front, while Reibel and Sam Eakes are penciled in to start.

Spegele is a returning starter at linebacker and he will line up alongside junior Shane Sutherland. Hamilton, Catt, sophomore Nate Moon and junior Logan Eckhardt comprise the secondary.

Mackenzie Wright finished with 48 kills, Victoria Rybinski had 40, and Tori Kirsch added 24 to lead the Hornets.

Pellston went 2-0-3 in pool play, beating Harbor Light Christian and Inland Lakes, and splitting with Charlevoix, Forest Area and Boyne City.

The Hornets topped Cheboygan, 26-24, 25-22, in a quarterfinal match; then defeated Kingsley, 22-25, 25-19, 15-7, in a semifinal.

Boyne City finished 5-1-1 in the tournament, bowing to Onaway, 21-25, 23-25, in a semifinal match.

Also for Boyne, setter Heather Nichols had 89 assists and 16 aces on the day, Mallory Karaszewski had 36 digs, and Rainy McMeune finished with 33 digs. Taylor Baker served at 100 percent for Boyne.

Boyne went 4-0-1 in pool play, beating Forest Area, 25-13, 25-12; Harbor Light, 25-14, 25-18; Charlevoix, 25-22, 25-20; and Inland Lakes, 25-18, 25-12. The Ramblers split with Pellston, 25-21, 20-25.

Boyne then topped East Jordan, 25-15, 25-21, in a quarterfinal match.

They Rayders will head to the Leland Tourament Saturday, Aug. 25.

Rayders fall to Ramblers in tennis season opener

Boyne City won three of the four singles matches Tuesday in downing Charlevoix, 4-3, in a Lake Michigan Conference boys tennis match.

Singles results: 1-Logan Orban, BC, defeated Brandon Arp, 6-0, 6-0; 2-Jordan Fair, BC, def. Ryan Erskine, 6-1, 6-1; 3-Andrew Deneau, BC, def. Hunter Isaac, 6-2, 6-0; 4-Charlevoix won by default.

Doubles results: 1-JJ Wachler-Noah Certa, CX, def. Wyatt Long-Travis Porter, 6-0,6-4; 2-Richy Carpenter-Logan McGeorge, BC, def Joe Rich-Brody Robarge, 6-1, 6-1; 3-Nate Lindfors-Erik Oshaben, CX, def Dominic Frechette-Kevin Hautz, 6-7, 6-3, 10-6.

"We have a young team," Charlevoix coach Eric Lundteigen said. "We've got five freshmen and two first-year seniors.

"We've got a lot of them learning the game. The emphasis is on gaining in experience and playing points. Not looking at the wins and losses. In that regard, we're moving in the right direction."

Hickory Hundred

On Monday, Aug. 20, Belvedere Golf Club golf professional Dennis "Marty" Joy played 100 holes of golf Monday for the fourth time in as many years as a fundraiser for the Charlevoix County Junior Golf Program. Dubbed "The Hickory Hundred," Joy does his annual marathon golf round "old school" by playing with hickory-shafted clubs and wearing clothes to match the period. This year, to mix things up a bit, Joy played each of his five 18 hole rounds from each of the courses different tee boxes. Joy started playing around 6:30 a.m. and finished up around 3:30 p.m. His scores, for each 18 were (in order played): white tees, 74; green tees, 76; blue tees, 78; black tees, 85; red tees, 69. He played the final 10 holes from the tees used for the course hickory tournament posting a 44 for the 10 holes. Joy said although the round was challenging because of the windy conditions, the highlight of the day was making an eagle on the par 5, hole 15 on his last full round. Fundraising totals were not available at press time, but the event has typically raised more than $8,000 for the Junior Golf Program.

Rayder games to appear in MHSAA online broadcasts

STEVE ZUCKER
Courier Editor

Three of this season's Charlevoix Rayder Varsity football games will be delayed-broadcast on the Michigan High School Athletic Association's online television site MHSAA.tv.

In a press release issued earlier this week, association officials announced that Charlevoix High School is among 10 new schools that have joined the MHSAA's School Broadcasting Program in cooperation with the Michigan Interscholastic Connection. Several other Northern Michigan schools are also among the ten. In addition to Charlevoix, the schools are AuGres-Sims, Cheboygan, Ellsworth, Hillman, Indian River Inland Lakes, Lincoln Alcona, Onaway, Petoskey and Rogers City.

The coverage of the Rayders kicks of with this Friday's season opener against St. Ignace.

The schools representing the following leagues and conferences: Big North Conference, Huron Shores Conference, Lake Michigan Conference, North Star League, Ski Valley Conference and the Straits Area Conference. They join approximately 60 downstate schools and Calumet from the Upper Peninsula in the program, which is in its fourth year.

As of Aug. 20, here's the schedule of schools planning to cover Week One football games, which will be available at MHSAA.tv shortly after each game's conclusion:

Gaylord at Cheboygan Thursday

Big Rapids Crossroad Academy at AuGres-Sims Friday

Indian River-Inland Lakes at Onaway – Friday

Rogers City at Lincoln Alcona – Friday

St. Ignace at Charlevoix – Friday

Eagle River Northland Pines (WI) at Calumet

According to the schedule on MHSAA.tv, two more games will be broadcast including home games against Kalkaska on Sept. 21 and Traverse City St. Francis on Sept. 28.

Further details on if or when other games or sports might be broadcast through the program were not available before press time.

Mortgage Foreclosure Sale

THIS FIRM IS A DEBT COLLECTOR ATTEMPTING TO COLLECT A DEBT. ANY INFORMATION WE OBTAIN WILL BE USED FOR THAT PURPOSE. PLEASE CONTACT OUR OFFICE AT THE NUMBER BELOW IF YOU ARE IN ACTIVE MILITARY DUTY.
ATTN PURCHASERS: This sale may be rescinded by the foreclosing mortgagee. In that event, your damages, if any, shall be limited solely to the return of the bid amount tendered at sale, plus interest.

MORTGAGE SALE

Default has been made in the conditions of a mortgage made by Isabel Crozier, a single person, original mortgagor(s), to Wells Fargo Bank, NA, Mortgagee, dated January 7, 2008, and recorded on January 9, 2008 in Liber 833 on Page 183, in Charlevoix county records, Michigan, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date hereof the sum of Eighty Thousand One Hundred Eleven and 91/100 Dollars ($80,111.91).
Under the power of sale contained in said mortgage and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the mortgaged premises, or some part of them, at public vendue, at the place of holding the circuit court within Charlevoix County, at 11:00 AM, on September 14, 2012.
Said premises are situated in Township of Wilson, Charlevoix County, Michigan, and are described as: The South half (South 1/2) of the South half (South 1/2) of the Northwest quarter (Northwest 1/4) of the Southwest quarter (Southwest 1/4) of Section 3, Township 32 North, Range 6 West: Excepting therefrom: Commencing at a 1/2 inch rod at the West 1/4 corner of Section 3, Town 32 North, Range 6 West; thence along the West line of said section, South 00 Degrees 00 minutes 20 seconds East 984.54 feet; thence along the North line of the South 1/2 of the South 1/2 of the Northwest 1/4 of the Southwest 1/4 of said section, South 89 Degrees 44 minutes 04 seconds East 230.00 feet to a 1/2 inch rod, being the Point of Beginning of this description; thence continuing along the aforementioned line, South 89 Degrees 44 minutes 04 seconds East 1083.48 feet to a 1/2 inch rod on the West 1/8 line of said section; thence along said 1/8 line, South 00 Degrees 04 minutes 17 seconds East 327.66 feet to a 1/2 inch rod on the South 1/8 line of said section; thence along said 1/8 line, North 89 Degrees 45 minutes 24 seconds West 1083.85 feet to a 1/2 inch rod; thence parallel with said section line, North 00 Degrees 00 minutes 20 seconds West 328.08 feet to the point of beginning; being a part of the Northwest 1/4 of the Southwest 1/4 of Section 3, Town 32 North, Range 6 West.
The redemption period shall be 6 months from the date of such sale, unless determined abandoned in accordance with MCLA 600.3241a, in which case the redemption period shall be 30 days from the date of such sale.
If the property is sold at foreclosure sale under Chapter 32 of the Revised Judicature Act of 1961, pursuant to MCL 600.3278 the borrower will be held responsible to the person who buys the property at the mortgage foreclosure sale or to the mortgage holder for damaging the property during the redemption period.

Petitions fuel fireplace flap

Downtown merchants gather signatures opposing fireplace

STEVE ZUCKER
Courier Editor

Discontent among some downtown merchants and property owners over a recent city council decision to accept an anonymous donor's offer to finance the construction of a gas-fired fireplace went from simmer to boil this week.

Earlier this week several petitions were turned in to the Charlevoix City Clerk's office bearing several hundred signatures of people apparently apposed to the Charlevoix City Council's decision at a special meeting on Aug. 16 to move forward with a proposal to build the fireplace in East Park's Plaza B — a semi-circle area on along the western edge of East Park on the east side of Bridge Street about half way between Mason and Clinton streets.

Plans call for the fireplace and chimney to be made out of the same stone and constructed in the same style as other features in East Park. According to drawings the lower fireplace portion of the structure will be 8 feet square by about 7 feet tall and from there the chimney is shown to taper to about 4 feet wide at the top for a total structure height of about 20 feet.

In the petitions, opponents to the fireplace complain that the project was hurried through council approval without seeking sufficient input from the community and that the fireplace will block views of Round Lake.

> "We did what we thought was best for the whole community."

The timeline

— Charlevoix Mayor Norman "Boogie" Carlson told the Courier Wednesday that he was first approached by city resident John Winn in June about an anonymous donor who would like to pay for the construction of a fireplace in East Park.

— The proposal first showed up on the city council agenda at its regular semi-monthly meeting on July 16 meeting where Winn laid out the plans, presented drawings of the fireplace and chimney. The council did not take a vote on the proposal, but by consensus told Winn they were generally supportive enough of the idea for him to continue with his work on the project.

— In the July 20 edition, the Courier published a story on the Aug. 16 council meeting, including a report on the fireplace proposal and the drawings provided by Winn.

The fireplace matter was not on the agenda for the next regular city council meeting on Aug. 6. However, in his report to the council, city manager Rob Straebel updated the council that he had just received estimates for gas line installation and usage costs, and asked to have two weeks (until the next council meeting) to firm up some details before officially bringing it to the council for consideration.

However, during the public comment portion of the meeting, Winn reminded the council that the benefactor of the project was elderly and wished to see the project completed by Apple Festival or he would likely withdraw his offer of funding. Winn was concerned that a two-week delay would put the project in jeopardy of not being completed in time. Winn reported that the estimated cost for the gas to fuel the fireplace (running on a timer for six hours per day for eight months of the year and three

STEVE ZUCKER

COURTESY PHOTO
This aerial image shows the former Camp Sea-Gull property on the north shore of Lake Charlevoix in Hayes Township.

Hayes Township officials will host an open house walking tour of the former Camp Sea-Gull property from 1-4 p.m. on Saturday, Sept. 1.

For many years the property was home to an all-girls summer camp, until the owners closed the camp and put the 20 acre parcel, which includes 1,700 feet of Lake Charlevoix shoreline, up for sale. Township leaders are seeking a grant from the state that would pay for a sizable portion of the cost to purchase the property to turn it into a township park. The property is located at 8580 Boyne City-Charlevoix Road.

Township supervisor Ethel Knepp and clerk Marlene Golovich wrote in a press release on the open house, "This is the public's opportunity to see this pristine property. This property and the need to preserve it will speak for itself. It may not look that impressive from the road but once you tour the property you will be awed by its grandeur."

Hayes Township representatives will be on site to answer questions and give tours. Golf cart rides will be provided for those unable to walk the property.

"If we are fortunate enough to acquire this property we will be holding public meetings to get everyone's input on what amenities to provide" the release reads.

The release goes on to list several points of information about plans for the property:

— The township has a conceptual plan with a wish list of amenities;

— The township envisions a launch for small boats of the type that township residents might use for fishing, as an example. There is no plan to compete with large commercial boat launches but only to provide a place for the use of modest craft. The township is seeking engineering information on exactly how a small boat launch could be created. Hours of operation would be established along with other park rules by township ordinance.

Ready for duty

Former City of Charlevoix firefighter Doug Bergmann Sr.drives Charlevoix Fire Department fire truck 5302 — the department's second-line engine down Mason Street late Wednesday afternoon after he and fire chief Paul Ivan retrieved the truck from Grand Rapids where it recently had its ruined manual transmission replaced with a new automatic transmission. City officials had planned to get rid of the truck after the recent purchase of a 1996 aerial truck, until a donor came forward offering to pay for a large portion of the cost to repair it. Ivan said the truck, which was purchased through a large fundraising effort by the city's firefighters at the time, still has value for the city — including four-wheel drive and a high capacity, 2,000 gallon-per-minute pump. After a few more minor body repairs, the truck is expected to be back in service in a week or two.

Charlevoix man injured in diving incident

A Charlevoix man was injured Saturday after diving off the back of his vessel on Lake Michigan near Fisherman's Island State Park, according to a Charlevoix County Sheriff's Office news release.

The sheriff's office responded to the incident about 7:36 p.m. Alex Mitchell, 58, was transported to Munson Medical Center in Traverse City.

The extent of Mitchell's back and neck injuries were unknown at the time the release was issued, authorities said.

The sheriff's office was assisted by the United States Coast Guard, Charlevoix Fire and EMS, Charlevoix Police Department and Charlevoix Township Fire Department.

An investigation is ongoing.

Charlevoix Middle School builds a safe route to school

MORGAN SHERBURNE
Northern Michigan Review

Charlevoix Middle School principal Travis Garrett was worried: Every day, he had to think about close to 40 of his students crossing the four-lane U.S. 31 highway to get to school.

"A ton of my kids come across there, and we have St. Mary's kids who come over for band ... we used to have them sign a waiver to cross the street," said Garrett. "It's four-lanes of heavy cross traffic, very fast."

So Garrett began looking into ways to make that crossing safer, finding grants available through the Michigan Department of Transportation to build a cross walk at Garfield and Bridge Street (U.S. 31).

He found this project dovetailed well with the Safe Routes to School Program, a program sponsored by the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

"The main focus for me, selfishly, was that cross walk. That's what I really wanted to do with the Safe Routes to School grant money," said Garrett, later adding, "I needed someone like Jim to push me in the right direction."

Jim Harrington is a building healthy communities consultant at the Health Department of Northwest Michigan. The Charlevoix County Community Foundation's grant to the Charlevoix School District allowed the district to bring Harrington on to spread the Safe Routes program through the whole community.

With Harrington, the school district will be able to map a safe route through downtown Charlevoix that students can walk or bike.

And more than a safe route, the project will help students in the classroom, as well.

"You can see it, you don't have to be a scientist to notice students who have walked to school versus those who haven't. They're half asleep in first hour, second hour, while those who have walked or biked have a lot more pep, a lot more focus to them," said Harrington.

Harrington said students have the ability to concentrate and learn better because of the energy that a morning walk or bike gives them.

Harrington and Garrett worked to sketch out a walking and bike route along May Street, which will include a drop-off spot by the bus garage less than a half a mile away from the middle school on May Street.

Parents who drive their students in from outside Charlevoix city limits can drop their students there, and once a week, said Harrington, the buses will drop off students at the remote site so staff members can escort them to school.

This, too, will hopefully cut down on bus and car congestion right at the middle school and on U.S. 31, said Garrett.

To mark the 31 crossing, MDOT will help the district paint a crosswalk and post signs on the both northbound and southbound lanes, asking motorists to slow to 20 miles per hour from 35 for a half hour before school and after school. A radar gun will tell drivers how fast they're going.

Lights will be embedded in the pavement across the sidewalk that will tell drivers whether a student is crossing, but most importantly, says Garrett, he will work on educating the students on using the crosswalk.

"We want our kids to know that just because they're in the crosswalk, you don't have free rein of the street," Garret said.

The district has to apply for grants and funding through MDOT before the crosswalk can be put in place, and hopes to have the safe route and remote drop-off established by this fall. Parents will be notified when that aspect of the program will begin.

Whitefish-less fishing woes

MORGAN SHERBURNE
Northern Michigan Review

Commercial fishers have been heading out to Lake Michigan this summer, but haven't been able to haul in netfuls of whitefish.

June Cross, along with husband John, owns John Cross Fisheries of Charlevoix.

"It's been awful," she said. "We get a little bit every once in a while, but it seems like forever that there isn't any whitefish."

Cross says the warm water has been pushing whitefish to deeper water, where the fish are harder to catch.

The Crosses fish with a trap net, said Cross. The net is set on the bottom of the lake, and moving it is difficult. To get the fish from the trap net, the commercial anglers use a smaller boat, then transfer the fish to a larger boat.

"When it's windy, you can't do it. The boat is just too small," said Cross, adding that the wind has been a problem this summer as well. "We've had the Norwegian salmon and perch and walleye and some lake trout. That and only some whitefish. Everybody screams for it."

Randy Claramunt, fisheries research biologist for the Charlevoix Fisheries Research Station, said the whitefish have retreated into deeper, colder water.

"When we were out doing a survey using sonar, we were seeing what looked like whitefish targets suspended 150-200 feet from the surface in 400-800 feet of water," said Claramunt.

Trap nets can reach upward from the bottom of the lake only about 15-40 feet — but the whitefish were well above that.

"Basically, they're uncatchable at that point," said Claramunt. "You can't get gear to suspend 200 feet above the lake bottom."

The only way to catch fish like that is with a trawl or an ocean net called a "purse seine," which cinches around the fish, said Claramunt.

Cross Fisheries' lack of whitefish is not because of a problem with overall population numbers — at least not yet, said Claramunt.

But water as warm as this year after year will hurt whitefish populations. According to the Michigan Sea Grant Coastwatch buoys, surface water temperatures hovered around 70 degrees on Aug. 30. The long-term average — between 1992 and 2011 — peaks at around 70 degrees in August. This year, buoys from around Lake Michigan recorded temperatures of upper 70s and 80 degrees in July and early August.

"I will say the warm water is not great for whitefish, and continued high temperatures will not be good for whitefish. Their natural mortality rates will increase over time," he said. "Lake Michigan is the farthest south of whitefish distribution in North America, so this is an element of that. It's just one of those things where they will have to wait until the water cools down and the whitefish move back to shore."

June Cross hopes temperatures will turn around soon.

"We're hoping it'll cool down and the wind will go down," she said. "That fish has never been stocked. The good Lord provides it for us."

Claramunt hopes temperatures will go down and stay down.

"Over the long run, if the water stays this warm, I'm pretty concerned," he said.

Yorktown freed after grounding in Detroit River Aug. 28

WYANDOTTE (AP) — The U.S. Coast Guard says a cruise ship carrying 120 people has been freed after running aground and becoming stranded in the Detroit River.

The Coast Guard says the 216-foot Yorktown ran aground about 8 p.m. Saturday south of Detroit, near Wyandotte.

Petty Officer Tyler Andrews tells the Detroit Free Press that no injuries were reported and the ship wasn't taking on water.

Petty Officer 2nd Class Levi Read in Cleveland says it was a soft grounding, and a commercial tug was able to free the Yorktown about 1:30 a.m. Sunday. He says an inspection found no significant damage, and the Cleveland-bound ship was under way near Lorain, Ohio, late Sunday morning.

The Great Lakes Cruise Company's ship made the last of its seven scheduled stops in Charlevoix this summer last week as part of its Voyage to the Great Lakes cruise itinerary. The ship is in the midst of three trips between Detroit and Quebec City, Quebec as part of it North American's Enchanting Seaway cruise.

Garden 'volunteers' serve as food for body and mind

EAR TO THE GROUND

Roger Knutson

Everyone who has ever been called a teacher knows that more learning than teaching is the norm. Lifelong learning is what teachers do. Since I am mostly deprived of students in recent years I have had to learn from what is around me. My modest vegetable garden is that place of learning. Each year is different from the one before so the learning process is endless.

While I plant the usual garden things most years (tomatoes, zucchini, potatoes, lettuce, beets et. al.), much of my learning comes from the always-longer list of plants that I do not sow. Some would be weeds in most gardens, but I prefer to think of them as volunteers.

Every other year I get a crop of teasels. The plants take two years to mature or flower, but are worth waiting for. The teasel fruits have been used for centuries to fluff up the surface of hand-woven wool fabric. Any weavers out there who might want a handful of teasels to authenticate their work should feel free to contact me.

The giant white trumpet shaped flowers of datura or thorn apple are especially spectacular in bright moonlight. One plant can grow to the size of a card-table, and seeds always germinate from the past year's crop.

I grow an annual artemesia (wormwood) to make home-brewed vermouth. And while the seeds are so small as to be nearly invisible, I never have to collect any of them. New plants come up in any untilled space.

Cilantro is another annual volunteer. Not only do we get the leaves for pesto, but later the tiny spherical fruits are dried into the spice coriander.

The common garden weed lamb's quarters, grows as a volunteer and provides some of the earliest delicious greens each year.

I have at least two types of curly endive that crop up each year with no help from me. And I let at least a dozen shoo-fly plants grow and flower each year. I think they help reduce the incidence of insects in the rest of the garden. They are relatives of nightshade, tomatoes and potatoes, and like those plants have been considered by some people to be poisonous. Even if they don't keep the bugs away, they have beautiful blue flowers and Japanese-lantern-shaped seed pods.

We have prospects of a longer than usual growing season here at the 45th parallel, and for the first time I may be harvesting real sweet potatoes. They are certainly not volunteers, but it is always fun to grow something from the grocery store.

It is worth mentioning that this has been a banner year for crabgrass in the garden. It is another one of those plants that I do not place in the garden, but in this case, it does not seem to have any potential as a food plant for people. Any crabgrass recipes out there would be appreciated.

I cherish the 10 or so kinds of plants that appear each year in the garden. They are not weeds, they are teaching devices. I learn from them.

Roger Knutson is a professor emeritus of biology from Luther College in Decorah, Iowa, where he taught for 30 years. He holds master's degree and a doctorate from the botany department at Michigan State University.

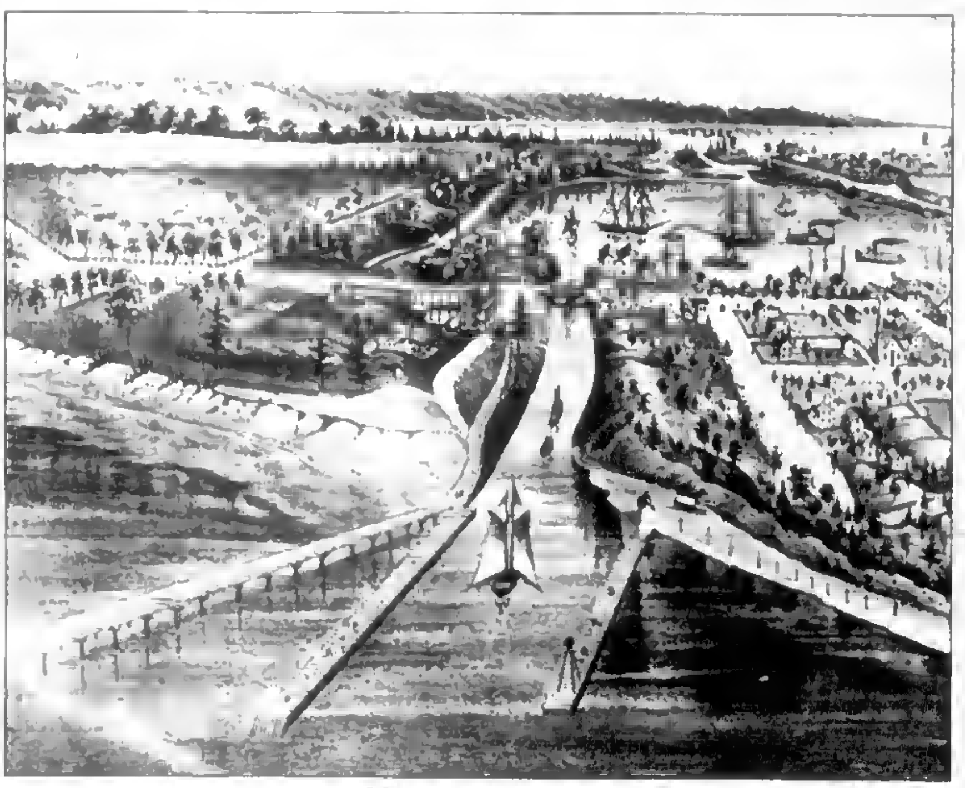
LOOKING BACK…



COURTESY IMAGE/CHARLEVOIX HISTORICAL SOCIETY

This is what Charlevoix looked like in 1880. The lithograph can be dated to that year by means of the buildings which appear on the Belvedere resort, top right, whose first six structures went up in 1878. The resort clubhouse stands on the corner where future Belvedere Avenue turns into Ferry Avenue. To the left, across the upper channel, no buildings appear where the Chicago Club began construction in 1881. The first lighthouse, at the end of the south pier, was put up in May of 1880. Dixon Avenue, to the left of Round Lake, shows residences only on its south side. Thick woods cover the street's north side. The great Fox and Rose dock, at lower left, was within two years of being outmoded when the channel reached its present width in 1882 and the largest lake vessels could finally make it into the harbor.

This image is one of 850 in the Charlevoix Historical Society's most recent DVD titled "Charlevoix, Michigan — A Pictorial Journey through 16 Decades."The disc is available at the Society's Harsha House Museum, 103 State St. next to the Congregational Church, from 1-4 p.m. Monday-Saturday. It is also available at the Central Drug Store, Round Lake Books, Castle Farms, and Ell-Air Gallery. Docents are needed for the society's Harsha House for July and August. LETTERS to the editor

Thanks to Drebenstedt fundraiser contributors

Editor,

A huge "thank you" to everyone who helped make the benefit for Troy Drebenstedt and his family a huge success. This event could not have been possible without all the help from Terry Left at the Villager Pub. Thank you to Sue Erber, Joan Coyne, Charlene Novotny and Ed Holm who worked with me to organize the benefit. Thank you to all the merchants and individuals who gave gifts for the silent auction. To all the ladies of the American Legion Auxiliary, St. Mary's School, the VFW Auxiliary, and the Church of the Nazarene, and all those who baked the best treats in the world, I say a big "thank you."

It was heartwarming to see our community come together in support of the Drebenstedt family. May God continue to bless them, and all who helped. God bless this wonderful country we live in.

Birdie Whitley,
American Legion Auxiliary President, Post 226

Business owner thanks fire responders

Editor:

A vote of thanks to Tom, Paul and the Charlevoix Fire Department crew. For those of you who are unaware, on Monday, Aug. 13 in the early morning, a major fire was discovered by my next door neighbor Tom Keie at my antique shop "The Garage Sale," located at 755 Petoskey Ave., in Charlevoix. Tom called 9-1-1 and proceeded to make sure no one was inside and sprayed water with his garden hose until the Charlevoix Fire Department arrived. Fire chief Paul Ivan and his crew of 15 firefighters extinguished the fire and were on the site for about three hours.

Although the exterior of the shop doesn't look too bad and still stands, the interior of this 90-plus year-old structure suffered very significant damage. I am very thankful no one was hurt and wish to thank Tom Keie for is quick action and Paul Ivan and his dedicated crew for their fine efforts on my behalf.

Most gratefully,
Jim Haggard

Reader questions fireplace wisdom

Editor:

When I first heard that a benefactor was offering to finance the building of a fireplace in East park, I had two reactions. The first was how nice it is that someone wants to do something nice for the city and people of Charlevoix. The second was what on Earth is the purpose of a fireplace? I was willing to keep an open mind on the subject.

I have since learned that the fireplace is to be located along the Bridge Street sidewalk at approximately the north/south midpoint of the park, where the tree was recently removed, and that the structure will stand some 20 feet high. I am reminded that it was in the 1930s that the city fathers first had the vision to create East Park and open up a view to the Round Lake harbor. Since then there have been many changes to the park and the harbor, but in each case, care has been taken to ensure that the changes expanded and enhanced the view. The cumulative results of the past 75 years of improvements is astounding. The view today for people strolling along Bridge Street is unrivaled in the world. The erection of this fireplace would blot out a portion of this view and would erode 75 years of progress and, in my opinion, be a terrible, terrible mistake.

As to the purpose of the fireplace, the best answer I have heard is that it would unusual and it would create interest. I'm sure it would, but the same could be said for the Oscar Mayer Wiener Mobile — and that has the advantage of being portable once the novelty wears thin.

I still think it is wonderful that there is a benefactor that wishes to do something nice for Charlevoix. His or her motives are laudable, but the cost of accepting this particular generosity are too great. I hope there is an opportunity to rethink this before it is too late.

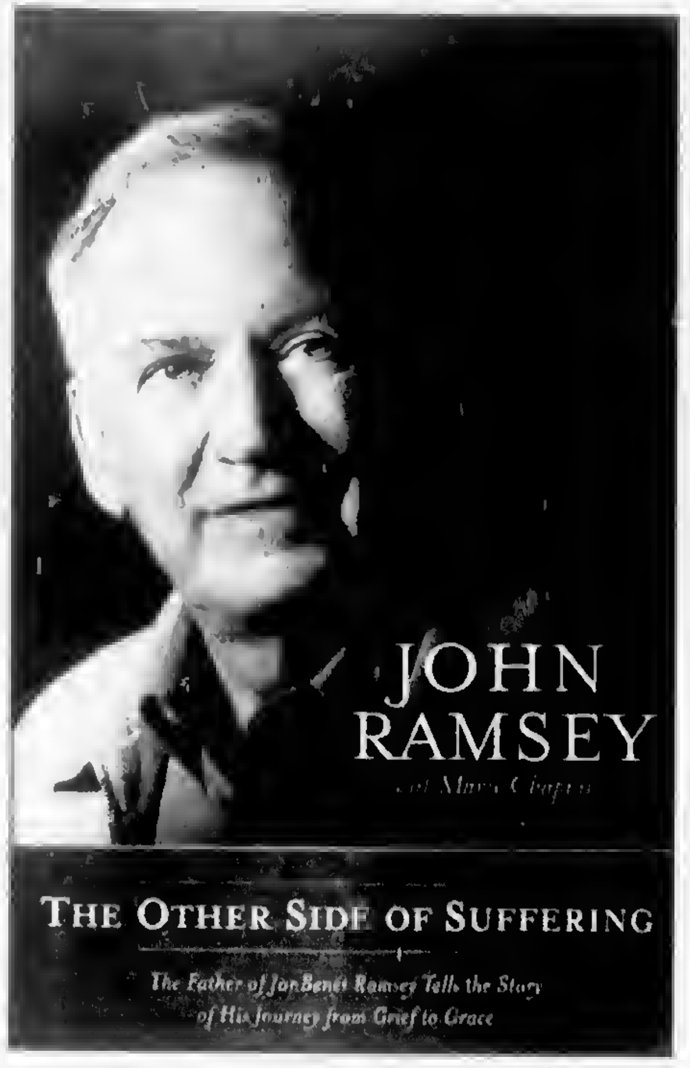
John Ramsey to share his story at Sept. 4 book signing



JOHN RAMSEY
with Marvin Chapman
THE OTHER SIDE OF SUFFERING
The Father of JonBenét Ramsey Tells the Story of His Journey from Grief to Grace

John Ramsey, author of "The Other Side of Suffering: The Father of JonBenet Ramsey Tells the Story of His Journey from Grief to Grace," will share the story of how he survived tragedy and learned to hope again at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 4, at the Charlevoix Public Library.

Ramsey first lost his oldest daughter in a car accident and then four years later in 1996 his daughter JonBenet was murdered. Both he and his wife went through a time of not just sadness, but suspicion and international media intrigue. After 10 years of living through a parent's worst nightmare, Ramsey's wife, Patsy, died from ovarian cancer.

In his book, Ramsey tells the story of how he was able to overcome the darkness of his life and bring hope and encouragement back to his life and to those around him. Round Lake Bookstore will be on hand to sell copies of "The Other Side of Suffering: The Father of JonBenet Ramsey Tells the Story of His Journey from Grief to Grace." Ramsey will be signing after his presentation.

Historical society offering narrated sunset cruise aboard Keweenaw Star

The Charlevoix Historical Society is sponsoring a fundraising sunset cruise aboard the Keweenaw Star from 7-9 p.m. on Thursday, Sept. 6. Boarding is at 6:45 p.m. at the boat's dock next to the Beaver Island Boat Company dock below Bridge Park.

The cruise will be narrated by Harsha House Museum co-director David L. Miles in conjunction with the recent appearance of the Charlevoix Historical Society Press's fifth historic publication, "The Historic Shores of Charlevoix — A Mariner's Guide." This 44-page guide with 111 illustrations describes, from a mariner's point of view, what once appeared, and in some instances still appears, along the town's 11 distinct shorelines from 1859 to the present. The guide will be available for purchase for $10.

Tickets for the sunset cruise are $25 per person, including snacks and one soft beverage. A cash bar is available on board. Tickets are available at the Harsha House Museum, 103 State St., beside the Congregational Church, from 1-4 p.m. Monday through Saturday (except Labor Day) through the day of the cruise. Early purchase is advised because of limited capacity aboard the Keweenaw Star.

Renaissance the theme of Hospital Foundation's annual Holly Daze event

The Charlevoix Area Hospital Foundation's annual Holly Daze event, scheduled for Saturday, Dec. 1, at Castle Farms in Charlevoix, will have a Renaissance theme this year.

Attendees will be surrounded by the Renaissance theme from the moment they arrive and throughout the entire evening from the decorations, ambience and food presentation.

Holly Daze has become known as the kick-off to the holiday season in our area and this year's event will live up to that expectation, organizers said. Celebrate with your family, friends and neighbors with a spectacular silent auction, hors de oerves and cocktails before enjoying a Renaissance-themed dinner and live auction with auctioneer Scott MacKenzie. Proceeds from this year's Holly Daze will be used to support the purchase of special surgical equipment for the new minimally-invasive spinal surgery now being offered at Charlevoix Area Hospital.

Items for both the silent and live auctions are needed. To donate an item, contact Faye at the foundation office.

Invitations and registration for reservations are now available. To request an invitation or to reserve a table, call the Charlevoix Area Hospital Foundation office at (231) 547-8502.

District hires six new staff members, buys 300 iPads

MORGAN SHERBURNE
Northern Michigan Review

The Charlevoix school district welcomed four new teachers into its fold at Monday's board of education meeting at the Charlevoix Middle School.

New teachers Nick Barnum, Allison Ivy, Rachel Manther and Khristy Wissen were welcomed as seventh and eighth grade English teacher, special education teacher, half time special education teacher and just over halftime high school history and English teacher, respectively. The district also added a special education aid in Amy Putnam and an administrative assistant in Karen Lape.

"It's nice to be hiring new teachers," said Valerie Snyder, referencing the tough budget the school has had to deal with in recent years.

To that end, the school board also heard from Angie Roelofs, accountant with Baird, Cotter and Bishop out of Cadillac. The accounting firm performed the school's yearly audit.

Roelofs presented the board with a five-year summary of their finances, which showed the district's current fund balance at $952,000. That's just over four percent of its operating budget of nearly $10.5 million.

"While (the percentage) is very low, you're not unlike many other districts we work with," said Roelofs. "Many are under 10 percent of their operating budgets, and three to four districts are in deficit."

Making use of the last $1 million from the 2008 technology, building, improvement and transportation bond, the board moved to purchase 300 iPads for $143,700. Students will use the tablet computers in the classroom and for homework. The district hopes ultimately to put a tablet computer into the hands of every student in the school district.

The district requested only 300 tablet computers at this point in order to keep from overloading their system with the new technology, which will use the school's wireless Internet.

"We want to test the waters before making the (rest of the) purchase," said Scott Mays, the district's technology coordinator. "We'll be testing the infrastructure as we go."

The board also approved the $55,138 purchase of 64 projectors and Apple TV devices, which can sync with a projector or television to make the device Internet-capable.

Mays said the students can hook wirelessly to the Apple TV. The projector then can show each student's work from their iPad, helping teachers to use each student's work in their

"I'm glad to see we're going to spend a chunk of it on technology," said Snyder.

The board accepted the resignation of middle school English teacher John Prescott, approved the hiring of seven coaches and approved to list two board vacancies open for the November election. Nancy Allison and Valerie Snyder will run again uncontested.

The board will meet next at 6 p.m. on Monday, Sept. 17, at the Charlevoix Middle School.

Charlevoix band director Duane Willson leads the Rayder Marching Band across Kipke Field before the Rayder varsity football team's first game of the season on Friday, Aug. 24.

Meet the new director

MORGAN SHERBURNE
Northern Michigan Review

There's at least one person in Charlevoix who's looking forward to the start of school.

New band director Duane Willson will begin his new position alongside the students after Labor Day, and "Right now I'm just looking forward to starting school. I'm ready to see these kids every day," he said.

Willson takes over as the band director of grades six 12. His first task has been overseeing band camp and the marching season, which takes up the first third of the school year.

For the marching season, Willson's band is playing a show comprised of jazz tunes, including the songs "Mercy, Mercy, Mercy," "Land of Make Believe," and "Chameleon." The band will be playing at all the home football games as well as traveling down to a Traverse City expo for marching bands in October.

Willson hopes to foster interest in later programs such as the marching band through his beginning sixth-grade band.

"With the sixth-graders, my goal would be just to create an exciting and fun musical experience for them in band," he said.

Seeing a student's love of music and growth as a musician throughout his or her high school career is something Willson is also looking forward to.

"Some programs are so big that they have a middle school director as well as a high school director," he said. "With Charlevoix, it's a little bit smaller, but it still allows me to be thinking about the program as a whole. So I'm really prepping my sixth-grade students for seventh and eighth grade, and my seventh- and eighth-graders for high school. It's really nice to be able to do all of that."

Willson, a Petoskey native and Petoskey High School graduate, holds a bachelor of arts in music education from Alma College. He previously taught at Concord Academy of Petoskey.

"I'm just looking forward to starting with the kids," he said. "They bring a lot of energy, and it's going to be a great year."

Find help and healing for the hurt of separation and divorce through Community Reformed Church's DivorceCare program

You don't have to go through it alone...

DivorceCare is a friendly, caring group of people who will walk alongside you through one of life's most difficult experiences. Don't go through separation or divorce alone.

Most people will tell you that separation and divorce are the most painful and stressful experiences they've ever faced. It's a confusing time when you feel isolated and have lots of questions about issues you've never faced before. Our DivorceCare group meets weekly to help you face these challenges and move toward rebuilding you life.

A Seminar with Experts

DivorceCare seminars and support groups are led by people who understand what you are going through and want to help. You'll gain access to valuable DivorceCare resources to help you deal with the pain of the past and look forward to rebuilding your life. DivorceCare is

During the first 30-40 minutes of the meeting, each DivorceCare group watches a video seminar featuring experts on divorce and recovery subjects. These videos are produced in an interesting way to watch television, a magazine format featuring expert interviews, real-life case studies and on-location video.

A Support Group with Focus

Community Reformed Church of Charlevoix offers DivorceCare recovery support group that meets on Thursday evenings, beginning Sept. 13, from 7-9p.m. for 13 weeks (join anytime). The program is designed to meet you where ever you are in the divorce process, not divorced yet or divorced for years, we are here to help. Community Reformed Church also offers a special program for couples only who are considering divorce but aren't sure that's the right path.

Two drug drop-off days coming up

There are two upcoming Prescription and Over-the-Counter Drug Drop-off Days in September. The first is on Sept. 8 from 9 a.m.-2 p.m. at the Boyne City Road Commission Building in Boyne City. The second is Sept. 15 from 9 a.m.-noon at the Emmet County Drop-off Center. Both events allow people to safely dispose of unwanted or expired pharmaceuticals.

"Through the Prescription and Over-the-Counter Drug Drop-Off Program, or POD, community collection events, we have collected over 1,500 pounds of pharmaceuticals in just 3 years, including over 100 pounds of controlled substances in two counties," said Jennifer McKay, policy specialist of Tip of the Mitt Watershed Council. "By safely disposing of prescription, over-the-counter pharmaceuticals, and personal care products for free, residents are doing their part to help protect our Northern Michigan waters."

Additionally, the collection events help keep area communities safe. Keeping medicines around the home can lead to possible poisoning from accidental ingestion, particularly among young children and pets, or illegal use or theft.

According to a National Survey on Drug Use and Health, people between the ages of 12 and 17 abuse prescription drugs more than cocaine, heroin, and methamphetamine combined and prescription drug abuse is second only to marijuana use. Michigan has one of the highest rates of teen prescription drug abuse in the nation.

"The POD collection event offered in collaboration with the Charlevoix County Recycling Program's Hazardous Waste Day is a good disposal option for residents and an opportunity for the community to be educated on the problems associated with improper disposal of unwanted medications," said McKay. "Properly getting rid of unused medicines through the POD collection event reduces the risk that prescriptions will be mishandled and end up on the street, prevents avoidable poisoning of both children and adults, and prevents contamination of water resources."

Residents are encouraged to bring prescription medicines and over the counter pharmaceuticals to either of the drop-off events. Organizer's request that residents keep the medicines in the original container for easy identification of the medicine but erase or black out all personal information from the prescription bottles. We will accept non-prescription over-the counter medications, prescription medications, and even pet medications. Controlled substances are also accepted at the events.

"There has been a growing concern about the effects of medicines in our waters over the years. In an effort to prevent contamination of our water resources and to protect citizens from prescription misuse and abuse, the community is offering a solution," said Kelly Martin, coordinator for the Charlevoix Conservation District. "Through the POD program, we strive to provide community members with a safe and accessible method of properly disposing of unused and expired pharmaceuticals."

The POD program is made possible through the cooperation of the following partners: HARBOR Inc., Emmet County DPW, Little Traverse Bay Bands of Odawa Indians, Tip of the Mitt Watershed Council, McLaren-Northern Michigan, The Michigan State Police, Prescription Services Pharmacy, Charlevoix County Recycling Program, Charlevoix County Conservation District, Northwest Michigan Community Health Agency, Charlevoix Area Hospital, Charlevoix County Commissioners, County Commission on Aging, Central Drug Store, Antrim County Sheriff's Office, Boyne City Police Department, Charlevoix County Sheriff's Office, City of East Jordan Police Department, City of Petoskey Department of Public Safety, Cheboygan County Sheriff Department, Cheboygan Department of Public Safety, Elk Rapids Police Department, Emmet County Sheriff's Office, Harbor Springs Police Department, Little Traverse Bay Bands of Odawa Indians Tribal Police, Mackinaw City Police Department, and Tuscarora Township Police Department.

West Nile blamed for Michigan woman's death

West Nile Virus is blamed for the death of a Washtenaw County woman, marking Michigan's first death from the mosquito-borne illness this year.

The woman, who was between the ages of 75 and 85, was reportedly in good health prior to showing symptoms of the virus and being hospitalized earlier this month.

According to the Michigan Department of Community Health, Michigan is one of several Midwestern states reporting an increased number of West Nile cases, occurring earlier than in past seasons. Health officials say Michigan's unusually hot, dry summer weather has favored mosquitoes that can carry the virus.

Most cases of West Nile Virus occur in August and September. This year, the state's first confirmed case occurred in late July, involving a 44-year-old Oakland County man.

"There are simple precautions that will minimize the risk of exposure to mosquitoes carrying the virus," said Joshua Meyerson, medical director for the Health Department of Northwest Michigan. "Standing water is a breeding ground for mosquitoes. Prevent water from being collected and remaining stagnant in buckets, kiddie pools, old car tires or anything else that could attract them, especially around dwellings."

Meyerson added that EPA-approved insect repellents with DEET and covering as much skin as possible with light colored clothing should also be practiced. This is especially important around dusk and at dawn, when the mosquitoes are the most active.

People should also be careful to keep door and window screens intact and closed, to prevent mosquitoes from entering buildings.

"There are no immediate signs of illness in someone bitten by a mosquito carrying the virus," Meyerson said. "Symptoms may develop in a few days, but these are usually limited to mild illness and fever that resolve normally. Most people do not become seriously ill, although older people — those 50 and above — are more susceptible. The worst-case scenarios involve encephalitis or meningitis, marked by unexplained stiffness in the neck, disorientation, muscle fatigue or paralysis."

The Michigan Department of Community Health urges physicians to test patients for West Nile Virus if they have any of these symptoms, or other signs of possible encephalitis or meningitis. Last year, the virus accounted for two deaths and 34 serious illnesses among Michigan residents.

The Centers for Disease Control reported 712 cases and 34 deaths nationwide.

Swine flu reported in Michigan

The first Michigan case of variant H3N2 influenza has been identified, according to the Michigan Department of Community Health.

The victim is a child from Washtenaw County who was exposed to the swine at the Ingham County Fair on Aug. 1. The child had a mild illness and was not hospitalized. Preliminary test results indicate the presence of the H3N2 virus, and the specimen will be sent to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention for confirmatory tests.

According to the CDC, 145 cases of the H3N2 virus had been reported as of last week, with most of them — 113 cases — occurring in Indiana. Thirty were reported in Ohio, one in Illinois and one in Hawaii. Most of those afflicted are children under 18 years of age, and most cases have been mild.

The CDC has also stated that, although the outbreaks will continue to be monitored closely, they do not constitute a pandemic.

Direct exposure to infected pigs has been the primary cause, and there is no clear evidence of sustained human-to-human spread of the virus.

With the arrival of Northern Michigan's county fair season, Joshua Meyerson, medical director for the Health Department of Northwest Michigan, offers some special precautions for those attending the fair, and anyone else who may be exposed to pigs or areas where swine are kept, such as livestock barns.

"High-risk people — that is, people with underlying lung, heart or immune system problems — should avoid contact with pigs, and the barns where they are held," Meyerson cautioned.

"Everyone should avoid eating or drinking while in these facilities, and never take children's 'sippy cups' into the barns. Hand-washing stations or hand sanitizers should be available, and should be used."

The CDC also recommends avoiding close contact with swine, particularly those that appear or act ill. Individuals who develop flu-like symptoms should follow normal precautions, seek medical treatment and follow physician recommendations.

Any recent exposures to swine or livestock facilities should be reported to the physician at the time of treatment, for possible follow-up investigation.

EAST JORDAN

'Up North' scenes depicted at 'Impressions' exhibit

"Up North Impressions, An Artist Gathering Showcase" opened recently at the Jordan River Art Center in East Jordan.

The exhibit started with barns in 2006. Pat Tinney had just finished teaching an adult art class and her students wanted to continue meeting to draw and paint. At the same time, Babs Young was involved in a project photographing and documenting barns in Antrim County. They decided to invite artists to meet at interesting barns throughout the county on a weekly basis to work en plein air. The works were created and displayed with a folk art exhibit that fall. The program evolved into an annual summer tradition with "gatherings" at at least 60 different locations.

All artists who participated since 2006 were invited to exhibit their work in "Up North Impresssions" whether it was shown previously or not. This is the first collective showing of the the artist gathering creations. A video by Rick Beemon, "Plein Air Impressions, What It Is and How We Do it," is available for viewing and purchase.

The exhibit runs through Sunday, Sept. 16, and is open 1-4 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday. The Jordan River Art Center is located at 301 Main St., East Jordan.

Teachers back to school before students

Educators from throughout the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District and other neighboring districts, recently attended two professional development opportunities aimed to get them ready for school.

Throughout the week of Aug. 20, approximately 100 teachers attended a five-day workshop to help students at the secondary level in reading across all subjects.

RAISE, which stands for Reading Apprenticeship Improving Secondary Education, was offered in partnership by Char-Em ISD and North Central Michigan College. The reading instruction helps students develop the knowledge, strategies and dispositions they need to become powerful readers. A key component of the training is to help students with reading in the content areas or disciplines.

Attending the week-long workshop at the college were teachers of biology, U.S. history, English, as well as building administrators.

A second professional development, Summer Leadership Institute, took place on Aug. 22 and attracted more than 250 educators from across the intermediate school district.

Workshops included "A Framework for Planning Units of Study in Writing Grades K-8," "Career and Technical Education Teacher Alliance," "Strengthening Attachment Relationships in Young Children," "Get Your Permission Slip for a Field Trip to the Next Decade of Technologies," "Using Technology to Flip Your Classroom for Grades 6-12," "Google Docs for Educators Grades 5-12," "Whole Brain Teaching for Challenging Kids" and "Extreme Makeover 2012."

Char-Em ISD hosts a series of professional development workshops for teachers, bus drivers, custodians, secretaries, administrators and others throughout the summer and year to help educators improve their skills, motivate students, and help students achieve.

Volunteers still needed for Day of Caring

Char-Em United Way will host the annual Day of Caring in observance of the National Day of Service and Remembrance. Hundreds of local volunteers along with thousands of other groups statewide and millions of people nationwide plan to pay tribute as part of the single-largest charitable service effort in the United States.

The goal of the annual September National Day of Service and Remembrance is to bring Americans together in the same spirit of compassion, unity and service that existed after the 9/11 attacks.

Day of Caring for Charlevoix and Emmet County nonprofit organizations, schools and government agencies still need volunteers to complete service projects on Wednesday, Sept. 19. Day of Caring is an event for people in the community to get involved and volunteer their time to benefit local organizations that don't have the staff, time, or funds to complete without help. Volunteers can assist with a variety of projects from painting and landscaping to stocking a food pantry and sorting at a resale shop.

All available projects are listed online through Char-Em United Way's Volunteer Connections at http://volunteer.truist.com/charemunitedway/volunteer/home/, or call the United Way office at (231) 487-1006 to volunteer.

Joppa House progressing, more donations needed

STEVE ZUCKER
Courier Editor

The Rev. Ginger Stevens, pastor at Third Day Ministry and Outreach in Charlevoix is grateful for all the support the community has shown for her church's Joppa House Women's Transitional Home project, but she and others involved in the project are hopeful there might be some folks in the area that might give the project the financial nudge it needs to see it to completion.

The project got a little of that nudge on Monday when a group of volunteers spent the day at the project house at the corner of Garfield and State streets doing a bunch of interior framing work on the former St. Mary's Church convent building that was moved to the site earlier this year.

Another work bee is planned in September during the upcoming United Way Day of Caring.

Stevens had hoped to have the home open by June, but all the pieces to the puzzle haven't fallen into place quite as quickly as she had hoped. And there is still a long way to go to meet the new goal of having the home open by January.

As much as all the offers of labor and materials have been helpful, what the project really needs the most right now is cash — about $100,000 to finish the project.

Here's a breakdown of some of the project's needs:

— Kitchen renovation: $3,500
— Heating: $24,000
— Electrical: $15,000
— Parking lot: $3,000
— Basement finishing: $15,000
— Landscaping: $3,000
— Exterior entry stairs: $800
— Front Ramp: $800
— Entry Enclosures: $1,000
— Play Area Fence: $500

Stevens describes the Joppa house thus: "A Christ centered transitional home for women and children who find themselves homeless or facing homelessness due to a lack of support, resources, and/or life skills. The primary purpose is to provide a place where the Holy Spirit can work as we provide a safe, rehabilitative, and structured environment in which women may come to know and accept the love and forgiveness of Christ resulting in changed lives, whereby achieving a self-sufficiency through a dependency on Christ the Lord. Transitional housing is intended to empower, mentor and train women through participating in a six month coaching course to learn the life skills necessary to permanently resolve the situation of facing homelessness."

Anyone wishing to make a tax-deductible contribution to the Joppa House may send checks payable to: Third Day/Joppa House, Third Day Fellowship & Outreach/ Joppa House, P.O. Box 174, Charlevoix, Mich. 49720

For more information on the Joppa House project contact Stevens at (231) 547-8040.

FIREPLACE

STEVE ZUCKER/CHARLEVOIX COURIER

This photo illustration was created using a photograph taken Wednesday from a parked car across Bridge Street from the location where the outdoor fireplace in East Park's Plaza B is currently under construction. The photograph was merged with the original fireplace drawing presented to the city council. The drawing's size was scaled so that the base of the drawing matches the foundation pad that was poured at the site on Wednesday.

hours per day four months of the year) would cost the city an estimated $6,700 per year. After hearing Winn's comment, the council decided to schedule a special meeting for three days later, Thursday, Aug. 9. The meeting was to include a work session in East Park to look at a proposal to plant more shade trees in the park and to look over the proposed fireplace location. The city's Downtown Development Authority board was also invited to attend the meeting to give its input on both proposals.

— At the special meeting, council members Jill Picha, Greg Stevens, Bryan Vollmer, Shane Cole, Lyle Gennett, and Dennis Kusina were present. Mayor Carlson was absent. Downtown Development Authority members Hugh Mason, Dan Barron, Fred DiMartino were also present, but because the DDA board did not have a quorum present it could take no official action as a body. At that meeting, after visiting East Park, the council voted 5-0 to approve the fireplace proposal with the provision that it should be centered in the plaza and a tree in that location removed to make room for the fireplace. (Council member Cole abstained from the voted because his wife works for DTE Energy, who will supply the natural gas for the fireplace.)

Charlevoix City Clerk Carol Ochs, who was present at the special meeting and took the minutes, told the Courier earlier this week that despite claims made by one of the petitions turned in to her, an opportunity for public comment on the fireplace proposal was offered during the special meeting and no one made any comments.

— At the council's next regular meeting on Aug. 20 — after the tree had been removed and site excavation begun for construction of the fireplace foundation, several people — many of them downtown business and/or property owners in the area of Plaza B — voiced objections about the fireplace plan and asked the council to reconsider its earlier action. The council remained silent to the request.

— Late last week several of the same business owners began collecting the petition signatures that were turned in to the city clerk's office this week.

The petitions

In an emailed memo sent late Tuesday, Ochs reported that she had not spent a great deal of time looking into the signatures, but said a cursory inspection of the petitions that had been turned it at that time, showed 226 total signatures of which about 46 are registered voters of the city and 56 of the signatures were by people who live outside the Charlevoix area.

Another petition was turned in late Wednesday afternoon, that had about 60 names on it, with only a short time to look the list over, Ochs counted about 22 names who "could be" registered city voters.

What's it all mean?

Ochs said that all of the petitions submitted so far serve only as information on public opinion to the council. She said the only way for a petition to have any legal leverage on the council is one that seeks a referendum vote on a matter. She said there are specific procedures that must be followed for such petitions and no one has asked her for the appropriate instructions for referendum petitions. She said even if they did, she's not sure something such as the fireplace matter is something that can be forced to a referendum vote by a petition.

Indeed the city's charter (Article VI) provides an avenue by which the voters, by petition can force the council to reconsider or put an ordinance to a referendum vote. The vote on the fireplace was not an ordinance.

Additionally, the city's "Rule's of Procedure for City Council" limit the council's ability to reconsider motions that have already been adopted. The rules only allow motions to reconsider a previously-decided question at the same or next regular council meeting. There is, however, a provision in the rules that allows the council to suspend the reconsideration restriction by a two-thirds vote of all council members.

A policy on gifts

One criticism voiced by opponents of the fireplace was that the council allowed the benefactor offering to pay for the fireplace too much sway in their deliberations — in particular that the council hurried the proposal through in deference to the benefactor's requirement that the project be completed in time for Apple Festival.

Asked if the city or city council has a policy on accepting gifts, city manager Rob Straebel provided a copy of the city's "Code of Ethics and Conflict of Interest Policy" that reads, in part, "City Representatives shall not, directly or indirectly solicit or accept any gift or loan of money, goods, services or other thing of value which tends to influence or creates the appearance that it influences the manner in which they perform their Official Duties or is intended or as the appearance of being intended as a reward for the performance of an Official Duty."

The policy does not specifically define who qualifies as a "City Representative" under the policy. The policy does use the example of a city council member in one of its sections, but does not address if it applies to the council acting as a whole body.

The mayor's thoughts

Although he does not get to vote on city council actions unless a tie-breaking vote is needed (something he's done only once in his tenure as mayor) Mayor Norman "Boogie" Carlson Jr. said he supports the fireplace project and is frustrated with the turmoil it has created in the community.

Carlson said he thinks it's unfortunate that Winn has been criticized for his involvement in the project, especially in light of the efforts he's made to help with East Park improvements over the years.

"It's too bad that everyone attacks him," Carlson said of Winn. "There's no personal gain there for him."

Responding to objections some have raised over the cost of the gas for the fireplace (estimated at about $6,700 per year), Carlson noted that the figure amounts to about a third of the annual cost to operate the interactive fountain in East Park and is less than it costs to operate and maintain the lights in the downtown trees each year.

"Nobody complains about those things," he said.

He compared that cost, relative to the city budget, to an average city taxpayer having an additional $10 gas bill per year.

Addressing concerns about the fireplace blocking the view, he said he believes the tree that was removed to make way for the fireplace blocked more of the view of Round Lake than the fireplace will.

He echoed the comments of several city council members and the city manger who said that they believe the fireplace will be beneficial to the community. He noted that officials in Holland, Mich., where a similar fireplace was constructed, reported that the fireplace has been very popular and become a gathering place for people.

"What does council have to gain from (the fireplace project)," Carlson said. "We did what we thought was best for the whole community."

OPEN HOUSE

The township wishes to preserve as many of the existing cabins and buildings to be rented out for overnight and short term visitors. At some time in the future rustic camping may be discussed.

The township plans to use the year-round residence on the property to house an individual who will be present to manage the property. This is practiced in many other parks. The use of the residence would be a substantial part of the resident manager's compensation. This would be implemented as soon as possible after acquisition of the land.

Regarding land preservation, the township has received a wetland delineation for the property, and all plans will involve protection of those wetlands.

We understand people's desire for more specific information. It is a tough balancing act because on one hand, the township wants to provide as much information as possible to residents. On the other, there is no guarantee that the grant for acquisition will be approved and so we don't want to spend too much money on a detailed site plan that might be premature. The Township has drawn on the experience of other jurisdictions in the area which have parks, to look at budgets, relations with neighbors, etc. regarding the feasibility of the project, and has gained a lot of information from other jurisdictions who have created and who operate parks.

— Though development of facilities such as a boat launch would take time, the township plans to open the property to the public as soon as possible if it is acquired for recreation and nature study. We anticipate access for beach use, walking trails, and similar activities very soon after acquisition. Access in winter for ice fishing and other recreational uses can be made of the property as planning and funding is secured for more development. The park is envisioned as an ongoing community project.

Earlier this year the township board approved making a grant application to the Michigan Natural Resources Trust Fund for $3,375,000 to pay for the purchase of the property. Trust fund officials will announce their decision on the grant application in December. The money in the trust fund comes from the proceeds from mineral rights leases on state-owned land. If the township is awarded the grant, it will have to come up with $650,000 in matching funds contributions.

To that end, a pledge campaign has been started by a group called the Friends of Camp Sea-Gull. The organization notes in its fundraising literature, that the pledges will only be called in if the township is awarded the grant. Anyone wishing to make a pledge to the matching funds effort can send their pledges to Hayes Township — Camp Sea-Gull Park Acquisition, 3264 Powell Road, Harbor Springs, Mich. 49740. Pledges and any future funds for the Camp Sea-Gull effort will be held in the township's behalf by the Little Traverse Conservancy.

The plan to turn the former camp property into a township park has met with some resistance, in particular from a group called The Committee to Protect Hayes Township. Members of that group, complain that the park is a waste of taxpayer money, and the township has not done the proper "due diligence" work to study the feasibility of the park project, and that the park is not needed because nearby Young State Park provides enough recreation and lake access, among other issues.

VARSITY FOOTBALL

Rayders fall to St. Ignace in opener

Defense holds Saints scoreless in second half

Although the Charlevoix Rayder varsity football team's season opening game against St. Ignace on Friday, Aug. 24 will go down in the record books as a 34-0 loss, there were some small victories to be found — especially in the second half.

Facing Saints, who are returning 16 seniors from a team that reached the Division 8 state semifinals last year, the Rayders struggled on both sides of the ball in the first half, generating little offense and allowing 34 points in two quarters.

Facing that big of a halftime deficit, they could have folded, given up, let the game get out of hand in the second half. But they didn't.

Perhaps building on the momentum of a late second quarter drive that was cut short by the clock, the Rayders emerged from the locker room after the break and started making some bigger plays on offense, and kept the Saints from scoring in the second half.

The game marked the first in Rayder maroon for new head coach Joe Pruchnicki.

Tanner Catt rushed for 27 yards on nine carries and Charlie Hamilton added 28 on seven for the Rayders.

Rayder quarterback Luke Klinger completed 5-of-10 passes for 57 yards.

Catt had two receptions for 38 yards, while Tommy Zipp had two catches for 13.

The Rayders were slated to travel to Maple City Glen Lake, 1-0, on Thursday, Aug. 30, for a non-league game. The Lakers opened with a 47-7 victory over East Jordan.

JV FOOTBALL

Rayder JV falls to Saints, rolls past Lakers

STEVE ZUCKER

After falling come up on the short end of a 40-30 offensive shootout in its season-opening game against St. Ignace last week, the Charlevoix Rayder JV football team roared back with a 41-6 victory over Maple City Glen Lake Wednesday at Kipke field.

In the season opener at St. Ignace the Rayders trail 14-28 at the half and could, with all of the first half scoring taking place in the first quarter.

The Rayders and Saints traded touchdowns in the second half, with the Rayders only gaining ground on a pair of missed St. Ignace PAT attempts.

The Rayders rushing leaders were, Will Telgenhof, who gained 35 yards on six carries; Sam Hovie who picked up 42 yards on 13 carries and Austin Putman who had 44 yards on seven carries. Quarterback Austin Putman was 6-for-13 for 96 yards and Forrest Noirot was 1-for-1 for 4 yards.

Ben Boss caught 4 passes for 79 yards and Telgenhof caught 3 for 21 yards.

Justin Atkins led the Rayders with 12 tackles, while Hovie, had 10, Telgenhof 9 and Putman and Largent 7 each.

JV head coach Todd Klinger said the Saints were a tough opponent for a first game.

"St. Ignace was a very explosive team. The first quarter was kind of a blur with six touchdowns between the two teams," Klinger said. "We are a pretty young team starting six freshman on defense. But once the players settled down, they improved as the game went on. We made some mistakes but after watching the film, they were correctable mistakes. This team is a bunch of good kids who will learn from this game."

And learn they did.

When the Lakers came to town Wednesday, the Rayders wasted no time getting on the scoreboard and never looked back. Charlevoix led 22-0 at the and of the first quarter and tacked on another touchdown and PAT to lead 29-0 at the intermission. The Rayders added one touchdown in each of the remaining two quarters holding the Lakers scoreless until the fourth quarter.

Telgenhof led the Rayders in rushing, racking up 124 yards on 10 carries, Hovie had 60 yards on 12 carries and Atkins had 29 yards on 6 carries.

Putman went 2-for-4 in passing for 30 yards and Telgenhof caught two passes for 30 yards.

Hovie led the Rayders on defense with 8 tackles while Putman had six, Atkins had 4, and Dan Zipp had 1. Zipp's and one of Putman's tackles were for sacks.

"The team came out fired from the beginning of the game and played a great game," Klinger said. "Everyone on the team contributed to this win. The defense created three turnovers that we were able to convert in to touchdowns. It was great to see the kids play so well, they came back after the St. Ignace ready to work hard and improve. This victory is a credit to the work ethic of the young men on this team."

Rayder boys take second, girls third

EAST JORDAN — Charlevoix's Amber Way won the girls race and Jackson Buday took second in the boys race to lead their teams to third- and second-place finishes under warm and sunny skies at the East Jordan Invitational Wednesday at the East Jordan Community Park.

The Harbor Springs girls — who opened their season Saturday at the Central Lake Ryan Shay Memorial with a win — picked up a second straight meet victory.

Four Ram runners finished within the top 12 as the girls team finished first in the 11-team event with 56 points. Grand Traverse Academy was second with 76 points, while Charlevoix was third with 80 points.

The Harbor boys followed suit as they won with 40 points, placing three runners within the top 10. Charlevoix was second with 64 points, while Traverse City Central was third, 69.

For the Charlevoix boys, Jackson Buday was a team-best second as he finished in 17:40, while Chris Young was seventh, 18:26. Other Charlevoix boys runners were: 12-Tristen Rudolph, 18:51; 25-CJ Rice, 19:30; 35-Noah Jeakle, 40-Lucas Vonlau; 53-Parker Skeel.

Way led the Charlevoix girls with her individual win, while teammate Olivia Certa was fourth in 19:46. Other Charlevoix girls runners included 22-Anna Voei, 23:44; 23-Cora Taylor, 23:48; 36-Cassidy Bonar; 37-Cortney Putman; 51-Pauline Sheets.

East Jordan junior Josh Wojan won the boys' race as he finished in 17 minutes, 14.5 seconds, while Charlevoix's Amber Way won the girls' race in 18:58.4.

For the Harbor girls, Rhi Cullip finished a team-best seventh in 21:07, while Kaitlyn Alessi was ninth, 21:44; and Betsy Simons placed 10th, 22:06. Other Harbor girls' runner were: 12-Jessica Worm, 22:16; 21-Taylor Sydow, 23:30; 31-Demi Trabucchi, 24:25; 40-Alexa Wespiser, 25:42.

The top 30 finishers in each race earned medals.

Kayla Keane led the East Jordan girls — who placed eighth — as she finished third overall in 19:28. Other East Jordan girls runners included 32-Holley Carson; 47-Brittanie Moses; 56-Tess McNitt; 58-Tori Goodrich; 73-Ellen Brandell.

For the East Jordan boys, Gabe Hawley was fourth overall in 17:44, followed by 43-Donvee Burks; 52-Teddy Nachazel.

The Boyne City girls finished in 10th place as Katelyn Banner finished 30th in 24:22. Other Boyne girls' runners were: 42-Hannah Knitter; 48-Rachel Brillinski; 60-Brianna Burnell; 61-Alison Burnell; 63-Molly Korthase; 68-Ashley Lotterbach.

Garrett Fogo paced the Boyne City boys as he was ninth overall in 18:44. Also for the Rambler boys, 34-Trevor Day; 48-Logan Orban.

Rayder girls take sixth at Benzie Central

Traverse City won the division with 74 points, followed by Grand Rapids Christian, 93; and Benzie Central, 117. Charlevoix finished with 201, while Petoskey was 15th with 360 points.

Saginaw Heritage won the boys' large-school division with 77 points, followed by T.C. Central, 97; and Grand Rapids Christian, 119. Petoskey was 14th with 358, while Charlevoix placed 18th, 429.

Amber Way paced the Rayders girls as she was third overall in 18 minutes, 38.1 seconds, while teammate Olivia Certa was eighth in 19:20.0.

Charlevoix's Caroline Boss placed 23rd in 20:24.7. The top 30 finishers in each race earned a medal.

Jackson Buday placed 29th in 17:09.2 to lead the Rayder boys, while Chris Young was 73rd. Other Charlevoix boys: 95-Tristen Rudolph; 114-Parker Skeel; 119-Noah Jeakle; 128-Nicholas Plude; 133-Lucas Von Lau.

In the small-school boys' race, Boyne City sophomore Garrett Fogo place 12th in 17:50.8. The Ramblers' Trevor Day was 43rd and Logan Orban finished 55th. David Zinger of Evart won in 16:28.9.

The Boyne City girls competed in the JV race and placed 10th. Katelyn Banner finished a team-best 37th, followed by Jessica Dowty, 71st; and Hannah Knitter, 98th. Charlevoix's Kourtney Putman was 55th.

In the JV boys race, Petoskey was fifth overall as Quentin Fettig was 34th, followed by Jacob Kromm, 77th; and Cameron Shock, 97th. Charlevoix's C.J. Rice was 76th.

Rayders on the rebound

After struggling through a season that nearly ended because of low roster numbers and managing only two wins last year, the Charlevoix Rayder boys varsity soccer Jon Boss is already seeing the fruits of his players' hard work.

After playing in two tournaments an opening regular season play Monday against Elk Rapids' JV squad, the Rayders have already posted three wins.

On Aug. 18 the Rayders played in the four team Leland Invitational defeating Manistee 4-0 in as semifinal matchup before falling to host Leland 8-2 in the final.

Against Manistee the Rayders got two goals from Justin Pearl, both on an assists from Nick Snabes; Walker Drost on an assist from Justin Pearl; and Sawyer Golovich unassisted from the backfield.

Nate Moon earned the shutout in goal

In the final against Leland, Charlevoix had goals from Nick Snabes who scored on a penalty kick and Brendan Britt who scored on a breakway on an assist by Walker Drost.

"I felt very good about how we played," Boss said. "It's exciting to see the growth in the players skill and abilities. To come out and score four goals in their first game, after winning only two games last season is a big confidence builder."

Then last weekend the Rayders added another tally to the win column when they posted a 1-1-1 record at the Harbor Springs Invitational.

The Rayders opened with a 3-1 win over the host Rams; lost to Gaylord, 3-2; and tied Harbor Light Christian, 2-2.

Justin Pearl and Walker Drost each had a goal and an assist for Charlevoix in its victory over Harbor. Nick Snabes also scored, Ryan Joy picked up an assist, and Connor Currier earned the win in goal.

Snabes and Drost scored for the Rayders in their loss to Gaylord, while Pearl and Brendan Britt scored in the tie with Harbor Light. Drost picked up an assist.

"The guys are playing well. Walker Drost is a freshman and he's a workhorse out there."

Harbor Light finished 0-2-1 on the day.

The Swordsmen lost to Gaylord, 4-3, and to Harbor Springs, 1-0.

On Monday the Rayders opened their regular season and Lake Michigan Conference play with a 6-3 victory over Elk Rapid, which sent its JV squad with some varsity players mixed in to face Charlevoix on their home field.

Nick Snabes had three goals and two assists while Brendan Britt added two goals, Justin Pearl had a goal and an assist, and Connor Currier and Jordan Jelinek each had an assist for Charlevoix.

Currier and Nate Moon split the game in goal for the Rayders, who improved to 3-2-1 overall and surpassed their win total from 2011.

"It was a solid game for the entire team," Charlevoix coach Jon Boss said. "We possessed the ball, we moved the ball around the field very well. The guys were able to make the plays and make the passes the way we've been working on them, and it paid off for them.

"We probably had the ball down in their half of the field about 70 percent of the time."

Boss lauded the play of forward Walker Drost along with that of sweeper Eric Tripplehorn.

VOLLEYBALL

Rayders fall in Leland tournament semifinal

The Charlevoix Varsity Volleyball Team travelled to for the Leland Tournament where they advanced to the semifinal round before bowing to the eventual tournament winners, Leland, 25-13, 25-13.

In pool play the Lady Rayders defeated Northport 25-12, 25-14, then defeated Frankfort 25-10, 25-12, Traverse City St. Francis then defeated the Rayders 25-16, 25-16.

In bracket play the Rayders defeated Manistee 25-12, 25-22, and finally falling to Leland in the semi-finals.

"I am proud of the girls and their improvement from one week ago at the Pellston tournament, varsity coach Audra Randall said. "They work hard at becoming a better balanced team. They realize the hard work they need to put in each day at practice. They also adapted to the line up adjustments and roles each players has for the team."

Madeline Boss had 43 kills,13 aces and 20 digs. Karley Pearsall had 29 kills, 3 aces, 15 digs and 6 blocks, Gloria Greene had 31 assists, 8 aces and 8 digs, Jessica Paramo had 27 assists and 11 digs, Cassidy Peebles had 19 assists, 7 digs. Jennaca Holecheck had 21 digs and 11 aces.

The Rayders were slated to travel to Boyne City Thursday for the season's first tri meet against Harbor Springs and Boyne City.

FLAG FOOTBALL

Flag football returns

After a successful inaugural season that saw participation from nearly 50 boys and girls, the Rayder Gridiron Club and the Charlevoix Recreation Department will partner again this fall to offer a youth flag football program for elementary school-aged children.

The program is available to girls and boys entering grades 1-4 and organizers expect to offer a five-week season featuring two four-team leagues with 1st and 2nd graders making up one league and 3rd and 4th graders comprising the other. Teams are slated to include seven players with five players from each team on the field at one time. Practices are scheduled for Monday evenings with games slated to be played on Wednesday evenings on Kipke Field.

The first practice is scheduled for 6-7 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 12, at the city hall fields on Carpenter Avenue with the first games expected to take place on Wednesday, Sept. 19, on Kipke Field.

Registration forms will be sent home with all students the first week of school. Additional registration forms may be picked up from the Charlevoix Recreation Department at Charlevoix City Hall, 210 State St. or downloaded at www.rayderfootball.com. Organizers request registration and payment be submitted to the Charlevoix Recreation Department by Tuesday, Sept. 11. Registration is $20 per player and scholarships are available for those in need.

Parents who wish to coach and those seeking additional information are asked to contact Don Jess (231) 881-1471.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE

This firm is a debt collector attempting to collect a debt. Any information we obtain will be used for that purpose.

Default has occurred in the conditions of a mortgage made by DULCIE M. TANNER, a single woman ("Mortgagor"), to GREENSTONE FARM CREDIT SERVICES, FLCA, a federally chartered corporation, having an office at 3515 West Road, East Lansing, Michigan 48823 (the "Mortgagee"), dated October 6, 2005, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for Charlevoix County, Michigan on October 18, 2005, in Liber 710, Page 984 (the "Mortgage"). By reason of such default, the Mortgagee elects to declare and hereby declares the entire unpaid amount of the Mortgage due and payable forthwith. Mortgagee is the owner of the indebtedness secured by the Mortgage.

As of the date of this Notice there is claimed to be due for principal and interest on the Mortgage the sum of One Hundred Thirty Thousand Seven Hundred Sixty Two and 89/100 Dollars ($130,762.89). No suit or proceeding at law has been instituted to recover the debt secured by the Mortgage or any part thereof.

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in the Mortgage and the statute in such case made and provided, and to pay the above amount, with interest, as provided in the Mortgage, and all legal costs, charges and expenses, including the attorney fee allowed by law, and all taxes and insurance premiums paid by the undersigned before sale, the Mortgage will be foreclosed by sale of the mortgaged premises at public venue to the highest bidder at the main lobby of the Charlevoix County Courthouse in Charlevoix, Michigan on Friday the 5th day of October, 2012, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon. The premises covered by the Mortgage are situated in the Township of Marion, County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, and are described as follows:

Unit No. 24, Pine Bluff Estates Condominium, according to the Master Deed recorded in Liber 354, Page 25 through 81, Inclusive, as amended, and designated as Charlevoix County Condominium Subdivision Plan No. 77, together with rights in the general common elements and the limited common elements as set forth in the Master Deed and as described in Act 59 of the Public Acts of 1978, as amended.

Together with all fixtures, tenements, hereditaments, and appurtenances belonging or in any way appertaining to the premises.

P.P. #15-009-570-024-00

Notice is further given that the length of the redemption period will be six (6) months from the date of sale, unless the premises are abandoned. If the premises are abandoned, the redemption period will be the later of thirty (30) days from the date of the sale or upon expiration of fifteen (15) days after the Mortgagor is given notice pursuant to MCLA §600.3241a(b) that the premises are considered abandoned and Mortgagor, Mortgagor's heirs, executor, or administrator, or a person lawfully claiming from or under one (1) of them has not given the written notice required by MCLA §600.3241a(c) stating that the premises are not abandoned.

If the premises are sold at a foreclosure sale, under MCLA §600.3278 the Mortgagor will be held responsible to the person who buys the premises at the mortgage foreclosure sale or to the Mortgagee for damaging the premises during the redemption period.

STATE OF MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF ENVIRONMENTAL QUALITY WATER RESOURCES DIVISION

PO Box 30458
Lansing, Michigan 48909-7958

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

TAKE NOTICE that the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality's (MDEQ) Water Resources Division (WRD) will hold a public hearing at the Hayes Township Hall, 09195 Old U.S. Highway 31 North, Charlevoix, Michigan 49720, on Tuesday, September 11, 2012, at 7:00 p.m.

The purpose of this hearing is to secure the views of interested persons concerning the following application for permit:

Application for permit 12-15-0031-P under Part 301, Inland Lakes and Streams, of the Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Act, 1994 PA 451, as amended, by Douglas and Maria DeVos, 2020 Devonwood, Grand Rapids, Michigan 49546. The applicants propose to construct a private marina for family use. The project site is located on Lake Charlevoix at 07480 Indian Trails Road. A total of 30,658 cubic yards of soils, 27,000 cubic yards of which will be from below the ordinary high water mark, will be excavated/dredged for an approximately 315-foot by 130-foot marina basin up to approximately 17 feet deep with an approximately 55-foot wide by 220-foot long by 7-foot deep entrance channel and an approximately 40-foot wide by 220-foot long by 2-foot deep "exchange" channel. A temporary siphon tube will be installed between the basin and Lake Charlevoix to fill the basin. Dredge spoils will be disposed of at Argonne Supper Club, 11929 Boyne City Road, Charlevoix. A 6-foot wide by 60-foot long wooden bridge will cross the exchange channel to provide access to a 30-foot diameter helicopter landing pad on the Lake Charlevoix shoreline. A 49.5-foot deep by 60-foot wide boathouse over the water will be constructed at the northwest corner of the basin with an open deck 18 feet above 581.5 International Great Lakes Datum of 1985. The boathouse will extend an additional 38.5 feet landward with a roof and car garage above. Two fixed docks and two floating docks inside the boathouse, each 4 feet wide by 49 feet long, will provide dockage for 3 watercraft. Two 4-foot wide by 20-foot long floating docks will be installed in front of the boat house. To the west of the boathouse will be a 90-foot long "L" shaped dock with a 6-foot wide by 16-foot long section providing access to a 6-foot wide by 80-foot long section. East of the boathouse a 6-foot wide by 36-foot long dock with a 6-foot wide by 70-foot long floating "T" dock will be constructed. The boathouse and exterior docks will provide dockage for a total of 8 watercraft. A 75-foot beach area will be constructed at the northeast corner of the basin with the placement of approximately 182 cubic yards of sand up to 1 foot deep in an area approximately 70 feet by 70 feet. Approximately 160 cubic yards of the sand will be placed below the ordinary high water mark. Approximately 690 feet of shoreline around the basin will be stabilized with approximately 460 cubic yards of rock rip-rap 1 foot deep extending approximately 18 feet from the basin bottom and up the bank. Biologs will be placed along 460 feet of the rip-rap and native vegetation planted behind that. The project is located in T34N, R7W, Section 30, Hayes Township, Charlevoix County, Michigan.

The application is available for review at the MDEQ web site, http://www.deq.state.mi.us/CIWPIS, or at the MDEQ, WRD, Gaylord Field Office, 2100 West M-32, Gaylord, Michigan 49735-9282, by calling Scott Rasmusson at 989-705-3437.

The public hearing record will remain open for ten days after the public hearing date. Any written comments to be submitted for the public hearing record must be received at this address on or before the close of the record.

The hearing will be held pursuant to Section 30105 of the cited statute. The hearing will not be a court-type proceeding, witnesses will not be sworn, and there will be no cross examination. Public hearings are primarily informational and are held to encourage the expression of views and presentation of facts.

The MDEQ will, upon written request, provide a copy of the MDEQ's decision on this application.

Businesses report strong summer numbers

Officials believe marketing efforts are paying off

STEVE ZUCKER
Courier Editor

With the Labor Day holiday marking the end of the typical busy summer tourist season in much of Northern Michigan, and especially in Charlevoix, many area businesses which do the bulk of their business during the summer months are reporting that traffic seemed to be up this year.

Wilkin

Charlevoix Convention and Visitor's Bureau director Amanda Wilkin said tourism in the area was definitely up this year.

"In comparison to last year, the Convention and Visitors Bureau saw a definite increase in lodging occupancy and assessment intake.

The bureau gets the bulk of its funding from a small percentage assessment charged on rooms rented in the area, and then uses the money for promotional programing.

Wilkin said it's difficult to put a finger on what exactly was the direct cause in the spike in visits to the area, but there are several likely factors she suspects.

"I think the warm/early spring got people thinking summer vacation earlier than normal this year. The warm weather across the entire country this summer had people thinking, 'Go up north,'" Wilkin said.

She said the Charlevoix-specific Pure Michigan campaign that the bureau undertook in the late spring and early summer — which included a radio spot with a voiceover by actor Tim Allen — seemed to pay big dividends.

She noted that the Charlevoix page on Michigan.org was visited 1,000 percent more than last year and that in July Charlevoix ranked the 14th most visited page on Michigan.org.

"There is definitely a trend of out-

Fireplace on hold

City council sets meeting to consider options

STEVE ZUCKER
Courier Editor

After hearing more than 90 minutes of community comments — nearly all of them objections — to an outdoor fireplace project in the city's East Park, the Charlevoix City Council on Tuesday voted 5-0 to put the project on hold so that it can consider its options for possibly changing the fireplace's location and design.

More than 100 people packed the city council chambers on the second floor of Charlevoix City Hall, many standing along walls and some spilling out into the hallway to weigh in on the project that has had much of the town buzzing for the past week or more.

At issue is a gas-fueled outdoor fireplace on which construction began last week in East Park's Plaza B — a semicircular area on the west side of the park along the east side of Bridge Street about halfway between Clinton and Mason streets.

In July, city resident John Winn approached the council with a proposal from an anonymous benefactor who wished to donate the fireplace to the city as a downtown attraction. As originally proposed, the fireplace was to be 8 feet square at its base and then, starting at about 7 feet high, the chimney would taper to about 4 feet wide for a total structure height of about 20 feet. The fireplace and chimney were to be constructed out of Onaway stone — the same stone used in the other buildings and structure in East Park

The donor had made a condition of his gift that the fireplace be completed in time for Apple Festival in October.

Community members pack the Charlevoix City Council chambers Tuesday, many of them to voice opposition to a community fireplace project in the city East Park.

After discussing the proposal at two regular semi-monthly meetings, the council voted 5-0 to approve the fireplace project at a special meeting on Aug. 9 (Council member Shane Cole abstained from the vote because his wife works for DTE Energy, which would supply the natural gas for the fireplace.)

The estimated annual cost to operate the fireplace presented by city staff at the council meetings was about $6,700.

However, as the work began and word of the project began to spread, more and more objectors came forward.

City officials have received phone calls, letters, and several petitions bearing hundreds of signatures have been turned in to the city clerk's office objecting to the fireplace.

A wide array of objections were voiced both before and during Tuesday's meeting, including: The project was rushed through, the community wasn't given enough time to give its input, a tree had to come down to make room for it, the operating costs are too high and that burning natural gas for the fireplace is

Charlevoix teen injured in crash

An 18-year-old Charlevoix man was injured at about 5:30 p.m. Monday when the motorcycle he was riding struck a berm, according to a Charlevoix County Sheriff's Office news release.

According to the release, Myles Matthew Kerr was riding a 2005 Yamaha TW200 dual purpose motorcycle near his home (off Murray Road) when he was turning and struck a berm.

"The front tire dug in and Kerr went over the handlebars injuring his lower back and left thigh," the release reads.

Kerr's mother drove him to Charlevoix Area Hospital that day where he was treated and released, according to authorities.

Clarification

The article "Charlevoix looks at safe routes to school," in the Friday, Aug. 31 edition of the Charlevoix Courier, should have indicated that the "Safe Routes to School Program" is a program of the Federal Highway Administration, funded through the federal transportation bill. The Michigan Department of Transportation administers the program in Michigan.

Woman injured in crash

On Tuesday, the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Office responded to a two-vehicle crash in Charlevoix Township, in which a 65-year-old Charlevoix woman was injured.

According to a sheriff's office news release, the crash happened as Jill Yeager was traveling north on M-66 when she slowed down to make a left turn. Deputies said Jesse Resch, 36, also of Charlevoix, was driving a 2005 Pontiac Sedan when he failed to yield and struck Yeager's vehicle, a 1997 Buick.

Yeager was transported to Charlevoix Area Hospital where she was treated for injuries.

The crash remains under investigation.

New township ballfield taking shape

Dilapidated diamond replacement expected to be ready by spring

STEVE ZUCKER
Courier Editor

"If you build it, they will come."

But this isn't Iowa, and the new baseball field currently under construction at Charlevoix Township's Shanahan field athletic complex is well on its way from dream to reality.

After demolition of the old field began in late July, visitors to the township park for tennis matches and youth soccer games have watched in recent weeks as a new and improved field rose from the dirt.

Charlevoix Township Supervisor Dale Glass said the new field was part of a long term recreation plan for the park.

"The old field had been used a long time. It was shot," Glass said. "It really needed total replacement. There is a high water table in the park, and we had a water problem every time we got any amount of rain. It became unplayable.

That meant one of the first solutions was to raise the height of the field by bringing in fill dirt — lots of it, and a proper drainage system was also installed.

The field will also include new dugouts, a pressbox and storage building behind home plate and a grass infield and irrigation throughout.

The field is expected to be ready for play next spring.

Township treasurer Theda Williams said the township has set aside $425,000 for the project, which includes the ballfield, fencing and some other elements that make sense to do at the same time as the ball field.

> "It's going to be really nice when it's done. We are really proud of it,"
> — Theda Williams, Charlevoix Township Treasurer

She said those other elements, which are also part of the recreation plan, include some parking lot improvements, landscaping around new basketball court and area around the ballfield

Williams noted that the parking lot improvements were a particular priority and will include some island curbing in an effort to make the parking lot safer, especially for pedestrians.

Williams said the money for the project will not come from any new taxes or assessments, but rather from township recreation budget funds that are set aside each year. However, she said township officials have high hopes that one or more grant applications they've filed with the state will come through, which could significantly reduce the township's out-of-pocket expense for the projects.

She said other improvements in the long term plan for the park include creating a walking path round the complex with some benches and picnic areas

"We have a nice picnic area that is used a lot. One side handicapped accessible the other not. So, we want to address that. Also we have a playground area that needs upgrading."

Williams said township officials didn't take the decision to create another baseball field in the space lightly.

"We considered the idea of adding more soccer fields ... but we thought that going with softball or baseball we were keeping opportunities for a wider variety of sports at the park," she said.

Williams said township officials have been working closely on the project with officials from the school district and youth leagues to make sure the field meets with specifications for those uses. With the only other quality baseball field in the area being at Charlevoix High School, township officials expect to see the field used a great deal by the junior varsity team and for tournaments.

And with the field's dimensions, it could be a hitter-friendly park. The outfield fences will be 250 feet down the left and right field lines and 300 feet to center. To make up for the relatively "short porches" the outfield fences will be built to 12 feet in left and right field, and 8 feet in center.

Williams said she expects some sort of dedication ceremony will be slated for the new field in the spring.

"It's going to be really nice when it's done. We are really proud of it," she said.

Avian botulism season could be earlier, more active

MORGAN SHERBURNE
Northern Michigan Review

Recently, Greg Reisig was hiking along the Lake Michigan beach north of Cross Village when he came across a dead loon.

Then another, and another — all within the space of about 1,500 feet.

"I was aware of the last outbreak of avian botulism, so the dead loons caught me right away," said Reisig, who has been the chairman of the Northern Michigan Environmental Action Council, an environmental advocacy group based in Traverse City, since 2007. "It's rare to see a dead loon on the beach. You see gulls, but three dead loons got me suspicious."

He marked the loons' locations, then contacted the Watershed Center of Grand Traverse Bay and the Tip of the Mitt Watershed Council, as well as Peg Comfort, a loon expert in Northern Michigan.

Avian botulism is a bacteria that produces a toxin under certain conditions — namely, the bacteria needs warmth, a protein source, and an oxygen-free environment. Birds, then, take in the toxin by eating the toxin directly or eating something that contains the toxin.

This summer, low Great Lakes levels may have provided that exact circumstance, said Mark Breederland, Traverse City extension educator for Michigan Sea Grant, who keeps tabs on avian botulism for Michigan Sea Grant, though he warns that evidence for that is slight.

"The weight of evidence is extra low, and we think that there's less oxygen in the water when it's warmer," he said. "Some papers put out a somewhat general correlation between lower lake levels and higher incidences of botulism, but it's not with great certainty that we can stay that. Still, until someone shows me evidence that it isn't, (low lake levels) could be a cause."

Kevin Cronk, monitoring and research coordinator, says Tip of the Mitt has gotten reports of avian botulism earlier than usual this year.

Tip of the Mitt and the Emmet County Lakeshore Association will provide an educational Avian Botulism Workshop for volunteers and interested property owners beginning at 4 p.m. on Wednesday, Sept. 19, at the Birchwood Inn in Harbor Springs.

Information to be covered includes disease ecology of avian botulism, monitoring protocols and bird identification. Monitoring kits and instructions will also be provided. For more information about the upcoming workshop, visit www.watershedcouncil.org/events or contact Dan Myers at (231) 347-1181.

Outbreaks usually peak around Halloween, says Breederland. That time of year marks migration time for birds such as loons, grebes and long-tailed ducks.

"We think that the early onset of avian botulism and more active season are related to the warm water and possibly decreasing Great Lakes water levels," Cronk said. "We have had many reports of excessive algae growth and seen it ourselves in the field of both Great and inland lakes."

Breederland and Cronk explain that botulism can be traced back to a type of native algae called "cladophera algae" — that stringy, green, slimy algae which has been able to grow more easily because of clearer water

"We have these quagga and zebra muscles that filter water and make water clearer," said Breederland. "We've seen the water clarity double in Grand Traverse Bay over 20 years."

What happens is sunlight penetrates further into the water column, hitting the floor of Grand Traverse or Little Traverse Bay. The light provides more energy for more algae to grow.

"Then a wind storm pulls that stuff off rocks and it comes ashore and starts smelling and rotting," said Breederland. "When that stuff is rotting, it probably allows the natural botulism spores to germinate. ... When those spores germinate, we get one of nature's most potent toxins out there in the system."

Breederland emphasizes that scientists don't fully understand the conditions that botulism requires — whether botulism's bloom is thanks to lower water levels, warm water or something else. He says while some areas of lakes do have low oxygen, other areas don't. Larger incidences of botulism could even relate to invasive species in birds' diets.

"It could be all related to these invasive species, because we have these invasive fish that shouldn't be there, and are easy pickings for the

Charlevoix teen injured in crash

An 18-year-old Charlevoix man was injured at about 5:30 p.m. Monday when the motorcycle he was riding struck a berm, according to a Charlevoix County Sheriff's Office news release.

According to the release, Myles Matthew Kerr was riding a 2005 Yamaha TW200 dual purpose motorcycle near his home (off Murray Road) when he was turning and struck a berm.

"The front tire dug in and Kerr went over the handlebars injuring his lower back and left thigh," the release reads.

Kerr's mother drove him to Charlevoix Area Hospital that day where he was treated and released, according to authorities.

Clarification

The article "Charlevoix looks at safe routes to school," in the Friday, Aug. 31 edition of the Charlevoix Courier, should have indicated that the "Safe Routes to School Program" is a program of the Federal Highway Administration, funded through the federal transportation bill. The Michigan Department of Transportation administers the program in Michigan.

Woman injured in crash

On Tuesday, the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Office responded to a two-vehicle crash in Charlevoix Township, in which a 65-year-old Charlevoix woman was injured.

According to a sheriff's office news release, the crash happened as Jill Yeager was traveling north on M-66 when she slowed down to make a left turn. Deputies said Jesse Resch, 36, also of Charlevoix, was driving a 2005 Pontiac Sedan when he failed to yield and struck Yeager's vehicle, a 1997 Buick.

Yeager was transported to Charlevoix Area Hospital where she was treated for injuries.

The crash remains under investigation.

New township ballfield taking shape

Dilapidated diamond replacement expected to be ready by spring

STEVE ZUCKER
Courier Editor

"If you build it, they will come."

But this isn't Iowa, and the new baseball field currently under construction at Charlevoix Township's Shanahan field athletic complex is well on its way from dream to reality.

After demolition of the old field began in late July, visitors to the township park for tennis matches and youth soccer games have watched in recent weeks as a new and improved field rose from the dirt.

Charlevoix Township Supervisor Dale Glass said the new field was part of a long term recreation plan for the park.

"The old field had been used a long time. It was shot," Glass said. "It really needed total replacement. There is a high water table in the park, and we had a water problem every time we got any amount of rain. It became unplayable."

That meant one of the first solutions was to raise the height of the field by bringing in fill dirt — lots of it, and a proper drainage system was also installed.

The field will also include new dugouts, a pressbox and storage building behind home plate and a grass infield and irrigation throughout.

The field is expected to be ready for play next spring.

Township treasurer Theda Williams said the township has set aside $425,000 for the project, which includes the ball field, fencing and some other elements that make sense to do at the same time as the ball field.

> "It's going to be really nice when it's done. We are really proud of it,"
> — Theda Williams, Charlavoix Township Treasurar

She said those other elements, which are also part of the recreation plan, include some parking lot improvements, landscaping around new basketball court and area around the ballfield.

Williams noted that the parking lot improvements were a particular priority and will include some island curbing in an effort to make the parking lot safer, especially for pedestrians.

Williams said the money for the project will not come from any new taxes or assessments, but rather from township recreation budget funds that are set aside each year. However, she said township officials have high hopes that one or more grant applications they've filed with the state will come through, which could significantly reduce the township's out-of-pocket expense for the projects.

She said other improvements in the long term plan for the park include creating a walking path round the complex with some benches and picnic areas.

"We have a nice picnic area that is used a lot. One side handicapped accessible the other not. So, we want to address that. Also we have a playground area that needs upgrading."

Williams said township officials didn't take the decision to create another baseball field in the space lightly.

"We considered the idea of adding more soccer fields ... but we thought that going with softball or baseball we were keeping opportunities for a wider variety of sports at the park," she said.

Williams said township officials have been working closely on the project with officials from the school district and youth leagues to make sure the field meets with specifications for those uses. With the only other quality baseball field in the area being at Charlevoix High School, township officials expect to see the field used a great deal by the junior varsity team and for tournaments.

And with the field's dimensions, it could be a hitter-friendly park. The outfield fences will be 250 feet down the left and right field lines and 300 feet to center. To make up for the relatively "short porches" the outfield fences will be built to 12 feet in left and right field, and 8 feet in center.

Williams said she expects some sort of dedication ceremony will be slated for the new field in the spring.

"It's going to be really nice when it's done. We are really proud of it," she said.

Avian botulism season could be earlier, more active

MORGAN SHERBURNE
Northern Michigan Review

Recently, Greg Reisig was hiking along the Lake Michigan beach north of Cross Village when he came across a dead loon.

Then another, and another — all within the space of about 1,500 feet.

"I was aware of the last outbreak of avian botulism so the dead loons caught me right away," said Reisig, who has been the chairman of the Northern Michigan Environmental Action Council, an environmental advocacy group based in Traverse City, since 2007. "It's rare to see a dead loon on the beach. You see gulls, but three dead loons got me suspicious."

He marked the loons' locations, then contacted the Watershed Center of Grand Traverse Bay and the Tip of the Mitt Watershed Council, as well as Peg Comfort, a loon expert in Northern Michigan.

Avian botulism is a bacteria that produces a toxin under certain conditions — namely, the bacteria needs warmth, a protein source, and an oxygen-free environment. Birds, then, take in the toxin by eating the toxin directly or eating something that contains the toxin.

This summer, low Great Lakes levels may have provided that exact circumstance, said Mark Breederland, Traverse City extension educator for Michigan Sea Grant, who keeps tabs on avian botulism for Michigan Sea Grant, though he warns that evidence for that is slight.

"The weight of evidence is extra low, and we think that there's less oxygen in the water when it's warmer," he said. "Some papers put out a somewhat general correlation between lower lake levels and higher incidences of botulism, but it's not with great certainty that we can stay that. Still, until someone shows me evidence that it isn't, (low lake levels) could be a cause."

Kevin Cronk, monitoring and research coordinator, says Tip of the Mitt has gotten reports of avian botulism earlier than usual this year.

Tip of the Mitt and the Emmet County Lakeshore Association will provida an educational Avian Botulism Workshop for volunteers and interested property owners beginning at 4 p.m. on Wednesday, Sept. 19, at the Birchwood Inn in Harbor Springs.

Information to be covered includes disaase ecology of avian botulism, monitoring protocols and bird identification. Monitoring kits and instructions will also be provided. For more information about the upcoming workshop, visit www.watershedcouncil.org/events or contact Dan Myers at (231) 347-1181.

Outbreaks usually peak around Halloween," says Breederland. That time of year marks migration time for birds such as loons, grebes and long-tailed ducks.

"We think that the early onset of avian botulism and more active season are related to the warm water and possibly decreasing Great Lakes water levels," Cronk said. "We have had many reports of excessive algae growth and seen it ourselves in the field of both Great and inland lakes."

Breederland and Cronk explain that botulism can be traced back to a type of native algae called "cladophera algae" — that stringy, green, slimy algae which has been able to grow more easily because of clearer water.

"We have these quagga and zebra mussels that filter water and make water clearer," said Breederland. "We've seen the water clarity double in Grand Traverse Bay over 20 years."

What happens is sunlight penetrates further into the water column, hitting the floor of Grand Traverse or Little Traverse Bay. The light provides more energy for more algae to grow.

"Then a wind storm pulls that stuff off rocks and it comes ashore and starts smelling and rotting," said Breederland. "When that stuff is rotting, it probably allows the natural botulism spores to germinate. ... When those spores germinate, we get one of nature's most potent toxins out there in the system."

Breederland emphasizes that scientists don't fully understand the conditions that botulism requires — whether botulism's bloom is thanks to lower water levels, warm water or something else. He says while some areas of lakes do have low oxygen, other areas don't. Larger incidences of botulism could even relate to invasive species in birds' diets.

"It could be all related to these invasive species, because we have these invasive fish that shouldn't be there, and are easy pickings for the

One season ends, a new one begins

A LOOK AT LIFE

Gayle Gennett

This morning I turned the page of my calendar and September jumped out reminding me all too well that summer is fading. I stood by the open window taking a breath of air that is cooler than usual and caught a glimpse of the sun that's still playing tag with the clouds. In my hand I clutch my latest good read and head out to a quiet part of the beach, home to a few sea gulls hoping I've brought snacks. Directly above a turkey vulture soars catching a new current to play upon.

The day after Labor Day brings change to a resort community quicker than you can say "Jiminy Cricket." It's as if a switch was flipped at the edge of town. Though our tourists provide financial support it's nice to be able to drive down the street without the occasional visitor who steps out in between parked cars and into traffic admiring the shops or pointing to the direction they will take next. I appreciate the surge of business for retailers and farmers but it's nice to settle in to the routine of quiet streets and enjoy what others enjoy for just a week or two and walk in their steps with new eyes appreciating the splendor that abounds.

School has begun and there's nothing that beats the smell of new Crayolas, a fresh notebook to write on and deciding which seat you'll call home for a semester. As we start a new year I want to remind parents that even as busy as your schedule is, it helps to follow a daily routine that your family can follow. At the end of the school day just as you may ask your spouse how their day was, it's important to make every effort to ask your child how their day was too. Being heard is often times more important on most occasions than taking action. Patience is a virtue as it takes a while to tweak out the routine of school, extra-curricular activities, homework, transportation, meals, and when to hit the hay when you still have not completed everything you had set out to do.

This time of year you'll see the nervous energy of new teachers and also the student starting a different school. You may witness the occasional camera carrying leaf-peeker and the camper who loves a cool evening by the fire knowing that most bugs and snakes have already begun to hibernate. It's also a great time to take a trail ride as bugs are few and the horses love the cooler temps. It time to start sorting clothes putting away the shorts and T-shirts replacing them with pants and sweaters.

We each have our own favorite season and fortunately for those of us living in Michigan we get a taste of all four albeit one seems to last longer than the rest. When I was a child and thought of September I worried a bit about whom my teacher might be and who I would sit next to at lunch or play with at recess. My worries dissipated after the first day of school and sleep always came easier by the end of the week. Now, as a retired educator, I still think of plaid, uniforms, lunch boxes and homework. It's much more fun focusing on our kids and grandkids as they begin each school year and we find ways to support them whenever we are able.

Fall means leaf raking although age has turned it to leaf blowing. Burning the crispy foliage has become disposal through another means but that doesn't mean we can't fall or jump into a pile of leaves. OK, scratch this activity and leave this one for the grandkids. Our grandsons love the sound an ambulance makes but we don't need to see it up close and personal. This is the season the moon seems fuller, the stars brighter and with it brings a desire to bake cookies to warm up the house welcoming guests or children returning home from school. Soon our warm summer will only be a memory. The voice of Stanley Horowitz, another educator, aptly said, "Winter is an etching, spring a watercolor, summer an oil painting and autumn a mosaic of them all."

Gayle Gennett is a retired educator and counselor with more than 30 years experience. She is currently a licensed professional counselor in private practice focusing on youth and couples counseling. She also oversees the Lay Chaplaincy Program at Charlevoix Area Hospital. She holds a bachelors degree in art education, a masters degree in guidance and counseling and post graduate work in administration all from Eastern Michigan University.

LETTERS to the editor

Community owes thanks to John Winn

Editor:

Lost in all of Tuesday evening's city council meeting was a hearty thank you for all that John Winn does for our community. Without his efforts as chairman of the Michigan State Waterways Commission, we would not have a new marina. Without his spearheading a city-wide referendum and raising private donations, we would not have an interactive water fountain in our park. Without his fundraising for the Venetian Festival every year, we would be hard-pressed to have two nights of fireworks and many other enjoyable activities through the third week in July.

Like the fireplace or not, the next time you see John Winn, please stop him, introduce yourself and thank him for all that he does to make Charlevoix a better place to live.

We are glad that John and Zita live in our community, and we support their efforts to make Charlevoix a better place to live.

Historical society regrets long-standing tree must go

Editor:

Close to the side door of the Charlevoix Historical Society's Harsha House Museum on State Street stands a mighty oak. She measures 13 feet 2 inches at five feet above the ground level and we wonder if she might be the largest and oldest oak in the area. We estimate that she is 150-200 years old and that would mean she started when or even before Charlevoix was settled.

We wonder if any one can tell us of a larger or older tree in the area?

Unfortunately she has aged and has some severe structural difficulties, and some huge branches extending out over the museum are in danger of falling and crushing our roof. So with heavy heart the (historical society) board has decided she must come down. The silver lining is that when gone, we will be able to make a much better handicap-accessible entrance to the museum.

I wonder if any of our citizens might want to have a look at her before her downfall and maybe would even like to have a small piece of her as a souvenir of a tree that has been looking down on our town through all its history.

Come over to Harsha House and see her and perhaps take a look inside at our great exhibits as well.

For more information call 547-0373.

Respectfully submitted,
Jack MacKenzie

Coach search committee member praises administrators

Editor:

Before the new school year starts, I wanted to write this open letter to the Charlevoix community in support of high school principal Suzanne Klinger and athletics director Brian Certa.

Earlier in the year I had the opportunity to serve the Charlevoix Public School district as a member of the search committee to find and hire a new head football coach. Although rocky at times, the process was sound and the professionalism shown by both Suzanne and Brian was impeccable as they led the committee through the process. The hiring of head coach Joe Pnichnicki in June met all of our stated goals even though the circumstances to reach this goal were certainly unusual.

Through the entire process it was evident that both Ms. Klinger and Mr. Certa had the best interests of the young people of this school district as their highest priority. Having worked in an educational setting for over 30 years and being a multi-term school board member myself, I have seen a variety of management styles and effective and ineffective administrators. This community should feel blessed to have individuals the caliber of Suzanne and Brian who bring their level of professionalism to their jobs. This outstanding work was being done in spite of the fact that some of the members of the school board were trying to meet their own personal agendas rather than what was in the best interest of the school district.

Throughout our country it is evident that we desperately lack strong leaders with moral conviction that can provide our youth with great mentoring. We have that here in this community in Ms. Klinger and Mr. Certa. I am confident that if we just support them in doing the job they have been hired to do we can't go wrong. And, it will be best for the kids of this community GO RAYDERS!

LOOKING BACK…

The First Congregational Church in Charlevoix can trace its roots back to a few interested parties in 1866. They held their first organizational meeting in the schoolhouse in 1879. Later a council was formed that gathered on Sept. 19, 1882 in the parlor of the Methodist Church parsonage on State Street where the official Congregational Society and Church was formed.The first sermon, by the Rev. C. F. Auken, was preached on Aug. 30, 1883. A lot on the corner of State and Main Street (later Park Avenue) was purchased for $800 the same year. Most of the materials and labor to build a church were donated. A constant round of fundraising social events kept the coffers partially full. In the spring of 1884, a three-quarter ton bell was hung in the new steeple. Then, on a stormy Jan. 18, 1885, hardy and determined parishioners trudged through howling winds and snow from all over town to fill the sanctuary and dedicate the debt-free church, one of the most beautiful structures ever to go up in Charlevoix, at a total cost of $5,541.71.

This image is one of 850 in the Charlevoix Historical Society's most recent DVD titled "Charlevoix, Michigan — A Pictorial Journey through 16 Decades."The disc is available at the Society's Harsha House Museum, 103 State St. next to the Congregational Church, from 1-4 p.m. Tuesday -Saturday. It is also available at the Central Drug Store, Round Lake Books, Castle Farms, and Ell-Air Gallery. Call (231) 547-0373 for mailing and society membership information or to volunteer as a docent. BUSINESS

Mittens Frozen Yogurt offers tasty treats

MARK LINDSAY
Courier Staff Writer

Charlevoix residents and visitors have a new, healthier alternative to ice cream with the opening of Mitten's Frozen Yogurt bar earlier this year.

Jan and Scott Breithaupt have partnered in opening the new yogurt bar, and have plans to run the business year round. The Breithaupt family previously owned the Sears Hometown Store in Petoskey, but sold it last year giving Jan the availability to try the new yogurt concept.

Jan and Scott are a mother and son team, both with extensive experience in business. Long time local residents, Scott had been out of the state working as a photographer until recently.

"I've always loved the area, and wanted to return to be closer to my family," he said. "The business opportunity was just good timing for me too."

According to Scott, he and his mother had both visited this style of yogurt shop in different states previously and very much enjoyed the concept.

"It was something we felt the area was lacking," he said. "When my mother presented me with the idea of opening the shop, I immediately knew it was a good plan and would work."

Mitten's offers their customers six different flavors of yogurt to choose from and allows them to make it themselves. Each customer makes their own treat, in the style they prefer it by choosing from the approximately 40 different toppings on their topping bar.

"Customers can choose from fresh fruits to gummy bears, and also from a wide variety of syrups," Breithaupt said.

Once a customer has created their personalized dessert, it gets weighed at the register and they're charged just 49 cents an ounce. They also offer a make your own smoothie, which allows the customer to choose all the ingredients as well.

"By choosing their own ingredients, they can have as healthy or decadent a treat as they want," Breithaupt said.

The new store seems to be attracting people of all ages, according to the owners.

"We're finding that the children are bringing their parents in, and both are having a good time once they're here," Breithaupt said. "We're hoping to build on that by offering to host parties here in the fall," he added.

Mitten's also overlooks the water and has a deck which customers can relax on and enjoy their desserts. By building on the appeal to people of all ages, the Breithaupts say that business has been very good this summer, even with their late start having opened in mid June.

Mitten's is located in downtown Charlevoix at 212 Bridge St. Regular business hours for the summer are noon-9 p.m., Monday-Saturday, and noon-8 p.m. Sunday. Winter hours will be reduced, so they recommend calling directly at (231) 437-3338.

Pantry preparations

Equipment and supplies are visible outside the future home of the Charlevoix Community Food Pantry as crews make final preparations for the pantry to relocated to its new home at 100 West Hurlbut St. later this month. Pantry officials will host an open house to give the community a first look at the newly renovated facility from 6-8 p.m. on Monday, Sept. 10. The new pantry location is expected to begin operating on Monday, Sept. 24.

Benefit concert to bolster auditorium funds

'Reach for the Stars Reunion' show marks 10th anniversary of original event

Ten years ago this month, the new Charlevoix High School was preparing to open its doors for the first time. Part of the brand new building plans included, what could be described as, an "entry level" school auditorium.

The Rotary Club of Charlevoix saw an opportunity to take those plans for a very average school auditorium and make it a professional level performance venue, and the Reach for the Stars fundraising effort was launched. When it was completed, the Rotary Club coordinated a fundraising effort that went on to raise about $250,000 and created a world class performing arts center. This included professional grade lighting, sound system, seating and one of the few orchestra pits north of Grand Rapids.

During the last 10 years the center has hosted everything from opera to Motown. Charlevoix's students have walked the stage in graduation ceremonies and students have been able to perform in a multitude of plays and musical shows, in a state of the art facility.

To commemorate the 10 year anniversary of the event, the Rotary Club is hosting a Reach for the Stars Reunion concert on Saturday, Oct. 6.

The concert will bring back the same two groups that performed in the inaugural concert in 2002. 3 Men and a Tenor and a group who asked to lead off the opening night, who didn't even have a name yet. This group went on to become Horton Creek, who, 10 years later has cut three CD's and performed all over the Midwest.

Ten years ago the Rotary Club started an endowment for the future upkeep on the center with $20,000. However, organizers said this has proven not to be enough to keep the facility where it needs to be. All of the profits from the reunion concert will go toward enhancing the endowment account with the Charlevoix County Community Foundation.

Tickets at $20 and are available from any Rotarian or at the Clothing Company or Peacock Salon in Charlevoix.

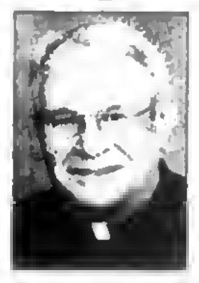
OBITUARIES

Oscar Bradfor 'Brad' Ward, 70

Oscar Bradford "Brad" Ward, 70, of Charlevoix, and Zephyrhills, Fla., passed into eternal life Sept. 2, 2012, at McLaren Northern Michigan in Petoskey. Brad was born Aug. 17, 1942, in Ypsilanti, the son of Oscar Wilson and Dorothy Eugenia (Miller) Ward. He attended Charlevoix Schools graduating in 1960, and joined the U.S. Navy in 1961. He attained the rank of Corpsman and was stationed in New London, Conn., and San Diego, Calif. He was honorably discharged in 1965. In business, Brad was the proprietor of Charlevoix's local pool room and later was the owner of Charlevoix's Reliable Auto. On Sept. 16, 1982, Brad and Dana Mareene Ferguson were married in Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. They made their home for a time in Findlay, Ohio, and for several years in Wilmington, N.C. before returning to Charlevoix in 1996. Brad enjoyed the hunt of Michigan's white-tailed deer, boating, and reading; but, his most favorite pastimes were riding one of his motorcycles or detailing one of his prized cars. He was an astute businessman with a great love of Harley Davidson motorcycles, fast boats, and American automobiles. His interest began as a four-year-old when he would correctly name the make and year of every car that passed on the highway. He had an adventurous spirit and when he wanted a two-wheeled bicycle, and his parents felt he was too small, he removed the left rear wheel of his tricycle and leaned to the right for balance as he peddled it around the neighborhood. He was quite mischievous as a lad of 10 and went surfboarding across Round Lake standing on his mother's discarded wooden ironing board as someone towed him with an outboard motorboat at full throttle. Brad's love of beautiful cars grew into his life-long career of being a connoisseur of autos. He traveled the circuit of many states attending car auctions and car shows as a wholesale dealer supplying dealerships with good used cars and collecting many fine vehicles of his own namely Corvettes, El Caminos, antique autos, and a few Harley Davidsons. His fascination with the automobile was ever-present and most recently, along with his 1972 442 Oldsmobile, he attended the Charlevoix Street Legends Car Show and the Boyne City Antique Car Show. Brad was a unique individual and possessed a very quick mind. He made friends easily and will be greatly missed by those who loved him, those who appreciated his knowledge and input in their quest for an automobile, those he left with happy memories, and those who just enjoyed the camaraderie of fellow automobile, motorcycle, and speedboat enthusiasts. Brad is survived by his wife, Dana; father, Oscar W. Ward of Charlevoix; daughter, Rhonda Jean (Glen) Thornan; granddaughters, MiKayla, Marnie, and Maggie Thorman all of East Jordan; sister, Kaye (Kenneth) Balch; uncle and aunt, David and Marilyn Miller all of Charlevoix; mother-in-law, Arloa Ferguson of East Jordan; brother-in-law, John (Glenda) Ferguson; sisters-in-law, Robin Ferguson, and Lisa (George) Kleiber all of Charlevoix; many cousins, nieces, and nephews. He was preceded in death by his mother, Dorothy E. Ward, May 24, 1994, and infant brother, Ronald Wilson Ward. At Brad's request, there will be no funeral. A memorial service is planned in the near future. Brad's ashes will be interred in Brookside Cemetery near his mother. Donations in Brad's memory would be greatly appreciated to the Charlevoix Historical Society, 103 State St., Charlevoix, MI 49720; Charlevoix County Humane Society, 614 Beardsley, Boyne City, MI 49727, or the American Cancer Society, 525 West 14th Street, Unit 5, Traverse City, MI 49684. It is said, best men are molded out of faults, and for the most, become much more the better — for being a little bad. Please sign Brad's guestbook at www.winchesterfuneralhome.com.

Msgr. Walter Ziemba, 85



A well-known Monsignor from Orchard Lake, Michigan and good friend to many passed away on June 8, 2012 after a brief stay at Charlevoix Area Hospital and McLaren Northern Michigan Hospital. He was born, Nov. 26, 1926, ordained a priest on June 2, 1951. He had established a closeness with many Northern Michigan friends who joined him traditionally in celebrating the feast of the Blessed Virgin with a rosary recited in the Rosary Garden of local resident Eleanor Sadowski. News of his passing filled downstate papers for many weeks where a service took place at the Shrine Chapel of our Lady of Orchard Lake. Cardinal Adam Maida presided over the funeral Mass June 12, 2012. Msgr. Ziemba's family and friends living in Northern Michigan would like to honor him by having a Mass in remembrance of a priest who did so much for so many. The Mass will be said at 7 p.m. on Monday, Sept. 17, 2012 at St. Mary Church in Charlevoix with Bishop Hebda of the Diocese of Gaylord as the principal celebrant assisted by Fr. Matt Wigton.

Msgr. Ziemba affectionately known as Fr. Wally, was well respected for his tenure at the Orchard Lake Schools. He attended St. Mary's Preparatory at Orchard Lake and graduated from St. Mary's College in 1947. In 1966 he received a doctorate from the University of Michigan. This iconic, intelligent and gifted priest founded the Center for Polish Studies and Culture, the Center for Pastoral Studies, the Polish American Liturgical Center and the Orchard lake Ambassadors. Msgr. Ziemba was a member of PRCUA (Polish Roman Catholic Union of America) Society #798. He hosted visits by Cardinal Karol Wojtyla-Pope John Paul II- to the campus of Orchard Lake in 1969 and 1976. He served as translator-interpreter for the Cardinal's visits to other areas of the U.S. He continued to be a lifelong friend to Pope John Paul II until his death in 2005. He also managed the construction of a $5 million dollar residence hall and field house for the Orchard Lake Schools.

Msgr. Ziemba translated the prison notes of Cardinal Stephen Wyszynski titled "A Freedom Within," for which he received the Christopher Award. As a talented priest, teacher and administrator he treasured and shared his love of God, the Blessed Mother and Poland. In 1971 Msgr. Ziemba and Edward Piszek, then president owner of Mrs. Paul's Kitchen inaugurated "Project: POLE"; a $500,000 nationwide public relations campaign to promote a positive image of Polish culture and heritage.

In 2001, Msgr. Ziemba was awarded the OLS 2001 Fidelitals Medal for "fidelity in serving God and country through the realization of the religious and cultural ideals of the forefathers of Polonia." In Sept. 2005 Pope Benedict XVI conferred the title of Monsignor upon Rev. Walter Ziemba. The strength and vigor of Orchard Lake Schools is due in large part to the influence of this witty, intelligent and articulate priest. His positive attitude and leadership will be missed by many. Please join us in prayer as we celebrate Mass in his honor at 7 p.m. Monday, Sept. 17, 2012, St. Mary Church, Charlevoix, Michigan. Msgr. Walter Ziemba is buried at Holy Sepulchre Cemetery in Southfield, Michigan. Eternal Grant unto him Lord.

Shirley Kay Keys, 76

Shirley Kay Keys, age 76, passed away at her home in Torch Lake Village on Aug. 28, 2012, with her family at her bedside. She was born Shirley Kay Brown in Charlevoix and attended Charlevoix schools. She leaves her husband Henry, two daughters Dorothy Tournat of Jacksonville, Fla., and Teresa Chapman of Clio, Mich. Sisters Patricia Ackett of Harrison, Mich. and Bonnie Voorhees of Charlevoix. Brother Gerald Bowersox of Hudsonville, Mich. Grandchildren Matthew Sustic of Charlevoix, Danny Sustic of Columbia, Tenn., and Amanda Chapman of Clio. Great grand children Lorelie, Hanna and Charlotte Sustic all of Charlevoix and Colby Sustic of Columbia, Tenn. She also leaves many nieces, nephews and cousins. Shirley was known and will be remembered for her devotion to family and friends, her faith and her great sense of humor. Memorial services will take place 1 p.m., Saturday Sept. 8, 2012 at the Torch Lake Township park, located three miles south of Eastport, Michigan on public dock road off U.S. 31 in Torch Lake Village. In accordance with her wishes the body will be cremated and her ashes will be scattered at one of her favorite spots along Lake Michigan. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made in Shirley's name to First Congregation Church Parish Nurse Program at PO Box 326, 8066 West State St., Central Lake, MI 49622.

The Crooked Tree Arts Center is proud to announce the recipients of the 2012 eddi Awards. The ceremony will take place on Friday, Sept. 21 at Crooked Tree Arts Center, downtown Petoskey. The eddi Awards began in the fall of 2001 and not take place in alternate years.

Those who will receive eddi Awards for 2012 are: Visual artist, Harry Boyer, Harbor Springs; Performing Artist; Peter Sims, Petoskey; Arts and Cultural Organization, Charlevoix Public Library, Charlevoix; Arts in Education, Maggie Van Wagoner, Petoskey; Arts and Cultural Leadership, Jil Brien, Petoskey; Benefactor, Stafford Smith, Petoskey; and Lifetime Achievement, Sis Fisher, Harbor Springs.

The eddi recipients are chosen by a nine person jury, lead by eddi Award co-chairs, Marilyn Davies and Steve Spencer. The jury for 2012 included Jane Diller, Lynn Dinning, Roy Harvey, Joyce Herbert, Cheri Leach, Jim Kochensparger, Kirby Snively, Sue Sheets and Ima Williams. The jury, which includes many previous eddi Award recipients, reviewed more than 30 nominations for 2012 eddi Awards.

"Nominations can be made at anytime for the 2014 awards and a nomination form is available on our website," arts council executive director Liz Ahrens said.

The master of ceremonies for the 2012 event will be Steve Spencer.

The eddi Awards are named on memory of eddi Offield, a much loved and admired patron of arts and culture in Northern Michigan and a founder of the arts center.

"Seating in the theater is limited to 220 guests so we encourage people to reserve their tickets now," Crooked Tree Arts Center Board President Kurt Wietzke said. "We are anticipating a full house as each year we invite the winners from previous eddi Awards to be part of the evening's festivities" continued Wietzke.

Past award recipients are encouraged to attend as a group photograph will be taken at the beginning of the evening. For a full list of previous winners, go to www.crookedtree.org.

Sponsors of the 2012 awards include Bay View Association, Blissfest, CMU Public Broadcasting, Granite and Quartz Countertops of Petoskey, McLaren Northern Michigan, Odawa Casino Resort, Petoskey Plastics, and PNC Bank. The evening includes appetizer buffet, awards ceremony followed by dessert. Tickets are $50 per person and reservations can be made by calling Crooked Tree at (231) 347-4337, on line at www.crookedtree.org, or in person at the Arts Center in downtown Petoskey. Tickets are not available at the door.

Community music series resumes September 8

The new season of the Back Porch Community Music Series will begin on Saturday, Sept. 8. The music begins at 7 p.m., and the first gathering will feature Melissa Welke.

Welke is from Indian River and works in Petoskey. She began her song writing shortly after she bought her first 12 string guitar as a gift to herself, for graduating from nursing school. Never intending to write music, the guitar was her constant companion while she traveled the U.S. working as a travel nurse. When she was not working, she was playing music. Believing that music can connect people, she writes of difficult times and humorous situations, all the while, making the listener realize, that life really is full of choice. Always an optimist, she touches the lives of many people not only the ones closest to her. Her song and vibram personality will keep you coming back for more

The Community Music Series will take place at the Charlevoix Senior Center building on the second Saturday of each month, September through May. The featured performer will share music from 7-8:30 p.m., followed by a circle jam session with musicians and poets. Suggested donations are $5 per person, $10 per family. All donations are for the scheduled performers. Light refreshments available at no charge. All ages are welcome.

The senior center is located just south of the intersection of Carpenter Street and Norwood Road, just south of the ballfields. For more information call (231) 622-2944.

Pool to host event: 'Splash 2012!'

In recognition of 15 years of service to the surrounding community, the Charlevoix Area Community Pool is hosting Splash 2012!

Splash 2012 is for kids of all ages and will offer fun activities for the entire family. Pool officials expect more information about the event will be released soon.

The Charlevoix Area Community Pool staff will be on hand showcasing live programming including: Stingray Swim Team, water fitness and Swim School.

Splash 2012 will take place from 1-5 p.m. on Sunday, Sept. 30.

The Charlevoix Area Community Pool is a non profit organization that provides an environment that promotes fun, fitness and safety in and around the water. For more information about the Charlevoix Stingray Swim Team and other Charlevoix Area Community Pool programs visit www.charlevoixpool.org or call (231) 547-0982.

Youth choir to perform in Canada

Choir auditions set for Saturday, September 8

The Little Traverse Youth Choir recently received invitations to tour several locations in Ottawa and Canada's French speaking provinces as it begins planning its first international concert tour.

The youth choir, under the direction of Heather Marvin, is in its third year and has served as the host choir for the Children of the World in Harmony Festival in Northern Michigan for the past two years. As a result, the choir has received several invitations to tour to Canada, Hong Kong, Hanoi, Bangkok, Mexico City, Buenos Aires and Ulaan Baatar, Mongolia.

The youth choir is a program of Voices Without Borders which produces the international youth choir festival in the Little Traverse Bay area.

"A Canadian tour seemed to the (Voices Without Border) board to be the next logical and appropriate step in the development of LTYC's international touring experiences," said Jack Kukuk, executive director of Voices Without Borders.

As president of the board, Dale Hull explains: "This Canadian tour will actually be the third 'let's take this show on the road' tour for our youth choir but its first international trip. In the future, when we have the time it will take to raise the funds to cover the higher travel costs associated with more distant locations, the board will help organize and fund tours overseas to some of the more distant and exotic locations around the world to which our young singers have been invited."

Current plans include concerts in Toronto, Ottawa and Quebec, and the city of Elmira in New York. The choir will visit Canada's premier museum, the Museum of Civilization, as well as the Canadian parliament in Ottawa. The young people will visit Niagara Falls, the home of Mark Twain, and the Corning Museum of Glass in Corning, N.Y. The trip may also include a stop to a Six Flags amusement park and a visit at Howe Caverns in Albany, N.Y. Tour planners expect this to be a fun filled trip with many recreational, cultural and educational opportunities for the Little Traverse Youth Choir members.

The leadership of Voices Without Borders has a wealth of experience in organizing travel for young students and performers. Marvin serves as the activities coordinator at the Petoskey Public Schools and has organized several tours for school groups over the years. Kukuk and his wife, Sara, have organized several international choir tours, having traveled with young performers to six of seven continents. They have been working with choir directors and the leadership of other organizations in Canada for the past two months to organize this tour.

The Little Traverse Youth Choir will hold auditions and begin rehearsals this month.

The Touring Choir will begin its rehearsal schedule 6:30-8 p.m. on Thursday, Sept. 13, at Cross of Christ Lutheran Church on Mitchell Street in Petoskey. Since the choir will be adding tenor and bass voices this fall, young men are invited to attend auditions (see below). The Touring Choir is for young men and women 12-19 years old.

The Treble Choir, under the direction of Jamie Platte, is created for boys and girls between the ages 8-12. Treble Choir participants will present two or three local concerts during the school year in the months of December, March and May. The Treble Choir will start rehearsals 4-5 p.m. on Thursday, Sept. 13, at Cross of Christ Lutheran Church.

Auditions for new members of both the Treble Choir and the Touring Choir will take place 10-11 a.m. on Saturday, Sept. 8, and 4-5 p.m. on Monday, Sept. 10, at Cross of Christ Lutheran Church. Under special circumstances, those singers unable to attend the scheduled auditions may be offered an appointment to audition individually by calling Marvin at (231) 348-1049. The audition environment is created purposefully to be low-stress and relaxed.

The choir is supported by contributions to the Friends of the Choir Fund. Anyone wishing to support the choir either by making a monetary contribution or by volunteering is encouraged to contact either Brenda Bell at (231) 347-0402 or Sara Russell at (480) 610-2807. Financial contributions are tax deductible and may be sent to Voices Without Borders, 507 Alcan Road, Petoskey, Mich. 49770. For additional information, visit the choir's website at www.littletraverseyouthchoir.org or on FaceBook.

Bereavement support groups to be offered

A five-week teen loss support group, facilitated by hospice spiritual advisor and bereavement specialist David Behling, begins on Monday, Oct. 1, and meets 6-8 p.m. every Monday in October in the community room at the East Jordan Fire Ambulance barn. Dinner is provided.

The teen loss group is an interactive support group focused on exploring the pain and process of grief. Participants will hear from peers in their age group who have experienced loss and their process of working through it. The goal of the program is to introduce life skills and coping strategies to enhance physical, emotional, mental, social and spiritual well-being. The first four sessions are for teens, age 13-17, specifically. The fifth session invites parents and families to talk about the grief process and how to continue to communicate and support one another as they move forward. There is no charge for participation in this group, however preregistration and parental consent are required.

An adult support group will meet for four weeks from 4:30-6 p.m. on Tuesdays, Sept. 18-Oct. 9, at the Boyne City library community room.

The annual "Handling the Holidays" workshop is scheduled for Thursday, Nov. 8, at Charlevoix Area Hospital.

There is no charge to participate in these groups. Hospice asks those interested to register by calling (231) 547-7659.

Find help and healing for the hurt of separation and divorce through Community Reformed Church's DivorceCare program

You don't have to go through it alone...

DivorceCare is a friendly, caring group of people who will walk alongside you through one of life's most difficult experiences. Don't go through separation or divorce alone.

Most people will tell you that separation and divorce are the most painful and stressful experiences they've ever faced. It's a confusing time when you feel isolated and have lots of questions about issues you've never faced before. Our DivorceCare group meets weekly to help you face these challenges and move toward rebuilding you life.

A Seminar with Experts

DivorceCare seminars and support groups are led by people who understand what you are going through and want to help. You'll gain access to valuable DivorceCare resources to help you deal with the pain of the past and look forward to rebuilding your life. DivorceCare is

During the first 30-40 minutes of the meeting, each DivorceCare group watches a video seminar featuring experts on divorce and recovery subjects. These videos are produced in an interesting way to watch television, a magazine format featuring expert interviews, real-life case studies and on-location video.

A Support Group with Focus

Community Reformed Church of Charlevoix offers DivorceCare recovery support group that meets on Thursday evenings, beginning Sept. 13, from 7-9p.m. for 13 weeks (join anytime). The program is designed to meet you where ever you are in the divorce process, not divorced yet or divorced for years, we are here to help. Community Reformed Church also offers a special program for couples only who are considering divorce but aren't sure that's the right path.

After viewing the video, DivorceCare group participants spend time as a support group, discussing what was presented in that week's video seminar and what is going on in the lives of group members.

She also said an increase and change in focus for the bureau's marketing efforts over the past few years has increased public awareness. Increasing marketing to areas that are at least a few hours distance from Charlevoix brings in more tourism, she said.

"With the turning around of the economy, the increase and new direction in marketing, and the hot summer weather, the stars were in alignment for tourism in Charlevoix this summer," Wilkin said.

Charlevoix Area Chamber of Commerce executive director Erin Bemis agreed that summer tourism has shown an upward trend in recent years.

Bemis

"One of the obvious differences we noticed was higher foot traffic mid-week, which is a definite increase over previous years," Bemis said. "Reports from individual business owners vary, of course, but collectively they agreed that it was a good year."

Bemis also attributed much of the growth trend to efforts in marketing among many organizations.

"I would say that we are seeing results of consistent marketing to outside areas and regions, promoting Charlevoix as a destination," she said. "This is an impact of our Downtown Development Authority, Convention and Visitors Bureau and Chamber of Commerce collaborating and supporting each other's efforts for the last few years.

Bemis also noted that many area businesses and organizations are also working to put together tour packages for group travel.

"The Charlevoix Historical Society, Castle Farms, and the Keewanau Star are just a few that I know are doing their own direct marketing to those groups."

She also pointed to some of the extensive positive press the area has received in recent months touting it as a premier vacation destination including Lake Charlevoix recently voted runner up in a USA Today "America's Best Lake" poll; and Charlevoix being named one of America's Prettiest Towns by Forbes magazine in 2011 and one of Yachting Magazine's 50 best yachting towns in the world in 2011.

loons and the grebes," said Breederland.

Cronk said while this year, reports of dead birds have come in early, and the season so far has been active, Tip of the Mitt expected the same thing last year.

"But our volunteers observed very few dead birds and fish," he said.

Still, this year's 80-degree week in March led to heavy algae growth by mid-May, and Tip of the Mitt is bracing itself for a potentially busy botulism season.

In addition to contacting the Tip of the Mitt Watershed Council at (231) 347-1181, those who believe they have found a bird dead because of avian botulism can contact their nearest Michigan Department of Natural Resources operations service center.

not environmentally friendly — among others. However, the thread running through most, if not all of the objections was the impact the fireplace will have on the view of the park and Round Lake.

The matter was back before the council Tuesday as an agenda item which proposed that the council consider slightly reducing the size of the fireplace, in light of the objections.

But it became clear from the comments, that a small size reduction was not going to appease the crowd.

Several of those who spoke said they weren't opposed to the idea of the fireplace, but said it should go in another location.

When Winn spoke in defense of the project, he clarified that the idea for the fireplace was his.

Winn, who has been instrumental in fundraising for many of the amenities that appear in East Park today, told the council and the audience Tuesday, that the benefactor had originally contacted him about contributing to the interactive fountain on the north end of the park. Winn said he suggested the fireplace idea to the donor, after he saw a similar one in Holland, Mich., that has been very popular in that community.

After hearing all the comments Tuesday, many of the council members (Cole again abstained from both the discussion and the vote) reminded the audience that they heard no objections to the project from anyone at the three meetings at which it was discussed. In fact, they all said all the input they had prior to the decision was in favor of the project.

Several council members told the audience that any changes at this point are likely going to put the city on the hook for more expenses. Several audience members spoke up during the meeting that they believe the money could be raised quickly to make up the city's costs to relocate or scrap the project.

The council had three options Tuesday, it could have taken a three-step process to completely rescind the motion to approve the fireplace on Aug. 9, it could vote to modify the plan, or it could take no action and the project would have proceeded as planned.

The motion ultimately approved was to put the project on hold while city staff drafts some proposed options for changes to the project that take into consideration location, height and views of Round Lake. As part of the motion, the council also set a special meeting for 7 p.m. on Wednesday, Sept. 12, to consider any proposed changes to the plan. The city's planning commission will also be invited to the special meeting in response to complaints by some that the commission wasn't involved in the decision the first time around.

STEVE ZUCKER/CHARLEVOIX COURIER

Crews from Drost Landscape set the first few courses of block for a community fireplace in East Park's Plaza B Tuesday afternoon. A few hours later the Charlevoix City Council voted to suspend work on the fireplace so that it may consider options for possibly modifying and/or relocating the fireplace at a special meeting at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, Sept. 12.

What now?

Speaking to the Courier on Wednesday, Charlevoix City Manager Rob Straebel said just about all options are on the table for the council as it considers what to do about the fireplace. However, he said the choices fall into three general categories: Move it, change it (make it smaller), or completely scrap the project. The council could also choose to go forward with the plan as originally approved, however, that appears unlikely given the community outcry and comments made at Tuesday's meeting. Straebel said city officials will be working with the architect and others to come up with options for the project to present the council. He said the biggest challenge for the redesign/relocate options are finding a place that doesn't impact Round Lake views, but still allows the fireplace to be easily seen and easily accessed.

Council members and the mayor said Tuesday, if the project were halted, the city would likely need to reimburse the donor for the cost expenditures to-date. Straebel said it's difficult to estimate how much money has been sunk into the project already. Expenses, which would include restocking fees for materials already purchased, and labor would likely extend into the thousands, he said. Several community members spoke up at the meeting (and since, Straebel said) offering to contribute the money to offset costs, should the project be scrapped

Responding to a Freedom of Information Act request filed by the Courier requesting any documents between the city and the anonymous donor, or any documents identifying the donor, city officials responded that no such documents exist. Other documents provided showed that the city has been working with the Charlevoix County Community Foundation, which is serving as the custodian of the donor's funds. The money is not passing through the city, rather, the foundation has simply asked city officials to confirm that work and materials have been properly invoiced.

Turnovers hurt Rayders in loss to Lakers

MAPLE CITY — Charlevoix committed four turnovers Thursday, Aug. 30, in falling 32-0 to Glen Lake in a non-league game.

Brian Noirot led Charlevoix's rushing attack with 34 yards on nine attempts, while Charlie Hamilton added 25 yards on six carries, and Tanner Catt had 20 yards on nine attempts.

"Our defense played pretty well, it's just that Glen Lake had great field position every time they had the ball," Charlevoix assistant coach Nick Barnum said.

Greyson Spegele made 14 tackles to lead Charlevoix's defense, while Sam Eakes made 12 stops, Tom Zipp had seven, and Shane Sutherland added six.

The Rayders, 0-2, open Lake Michigan Conference play at home on Friday, Sept. 7, against Grayling, 2-0. The Vikings defeated Houghton Lake, 47-6, last week.

Elsewhere in Lake Michigan Conference action, Harbor Springs earned their first win of the high school football season on Friday, Aug. 31, and the first under rookie coach Rob Walker as they rolled past Frankfort, 43-8, in a non-league contest.

The win snapped a 10-game losing streak. Harbor's last victory came on Oct. 22, 2010, over East Jordan, 15-14.

The Rams, 1-1, will face East Jordan, 0-2, in their Lake Michigan Conference opener on Friday, Sept. 7, at Harbor's Ottawa Stadium. The Red Devils fell to St. Ignace 53-0 last week.

Boyne City came back from a 13-9 halftime deficit to defeat Kent City 18-13 to improve to 2-0 in a non-conference home game on Thursday, Aug. 30

The Ramblers will host Kalkaska, 2-0, Friday.

Rayders beat Harbor Light, fall to Ramblers

The Boyne City Ramblers handed the Charlevoix Rayder soccer team its first regular season loss 6-0, Tuesday, the first stumble for a Rayder team that has come out strong after a tough season last year

The Ramblers jumped out to an early lead and never looked back

Alan Bielas, Jared Fleming and Luca Thomsen also scored as the Ramblers improved to 7-3 overall, 3-0 league.

Also for the Ramblers, who led 3-0 at halftime, Austin Gardner had three assists and Jacob Knitter added an assist.

Knitter made 12 saves in goal and posting the shutout.

"For the first 20 minutes of the game, we definitely stuck with them and we held our own," Charlevoix coach Jon Boss said. "But they scored three goals and we were back on our heels. We didn't get

Rayders beat Rams, fall to Ramblers

The Charlevoix Rayder Varsity Volleyball team opened its conference match action with a win over Harbor Springs and a loss to Boyne City in a tri-meet in Boyne City on Thursday, Aug. 30.

The Rayders opened against Harbor Springs and won 25-16, 25-14, 25-14.

"The girls were playing consistent and had 17 serving aces," Rayder coach Audra Randall said. "They had command of the court and did a really nice job at the net blocking and hitting."

The Rayders came back from being down 10-5, and got back into it taking a 12-10 lead.

"Then we fell into a bad rotation and Boyne scored points on a combination of their good offensive play and our errors.

The second game followed a similar pattern

Charlevoix started out falling behind 10-6, then took the lead 15-12

"A cycle of getting in a rotation that was hard to move out, put us behind again and losing the second game 27-17," Randall said. The Rayders lost game three, 25-16.

"I am confident that the girls are a fighting team, they want to compete and have high expectations of the team as a whole. Our consistency and positive game energy will influence the girls being able to be successful on the court and win games," Randall said.

Karley Pearsall finished with 16 kills and Madeline Boss added 14 to lead Charlevoix in its two matches.

Also for the Rayders, Gloria Greene finished with 19 assists, five aces; Pearsall added six aces, five blocks; Boss had 10 digs; Cassidy Peebles had 14 assists, nine digs; and Jennaca Holecheck and Anna Way had 13 digs apiece.

"This was a big match for us," said Boyne coach Casie Parker, whose team improved to 12-4-1 overall. "We have not beaten Charlevoix in a few years. Our girls were pumped from the very first point of the game and kept the momentum almost the entire match."

The Ramblers opened with a 25-23, 25-10, 25-15 win over Harbor, then topped the Rayders, 25-16, 25-17, 25-15.

The Rayders were idle this week but will travel to Petoskey for an invitational tournament Saturday, Sept. 8.

ourselves prepared for the game and we talked about that at halftime.

"The second half was much better. I thought we controlled the majority of the possession in the second half, but we just weren't able to capitalize on our opportunities."

"They were a tough team," Boss said. "Better than we expected, especially after graduating 12 players."

Last week the Rayders notched a non-conference win against Harbor Light Christian. Nick Snabes had a hat trick Thursday, Aug. 30 as Charlevoix topped Harbor Light Christian, 4-2.

Walker Drost had a goal and an assist for the Rayders, while Brendan Britt had two assists, and Justin Pearl added an assist.

Caleb Wendt had a goal and an assist and Kirk Muller scored a goal for the Swordsmen, 0-6-1.

Charlevoix is 4-3-1 overall and 1-1 in the Lake Michigan Conference.

The Rayders were looking to get back in the win column when they were set to host Kalkaska Thursday in another conference matchu The Rayders will then ho Harbors Springs on Monday

It's always wise to remember that if an offer sounds too good to be true, it probably is. If you are offered merchandise at an unbelievably low price, check it out thoroughly. A call to the Better Business Bureau (serving Eastern Michigan and the Upper Peninsula) will tell you whether other consumers have had problems with the firm that has offered the merchandises. (248)223-9400. But call the Bureau BEFORE you make a purchase. You'll be glad you did.

As of the date of this Notice there is claimed to be due for principal and interest on the Mortgage the sum of One Hundred Thirty Thousand Seven Hundred Sixty Two and 89/100 Dollars ($130,762.89). No suit or proceeding at law has been instituted to recover the debt secured by the Mortgage or any part thereof.

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in the Mortgage and the statute in such case made and provided, and to pay the above amount, with interest, as provided in the Mortgage, and all legal costs, charges and expenses, including the attorney fee allowed by law, and all taxes and insurance premiums paid by the undersigned before sale, the Mortgage will be foreclosed by sale of the mortgaged premises at public venue to the highest bidder at the main lobby of the Charlevoix County Courthouse in Charlevoix, Michigan on Friday the 5th day of October, 2012, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon. The premises covered by the Mortgage are situated in the Township of Marion, County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, and are described as follows:

Unit No. 24, Pine Bluff Estates Condominium, according to the Master Deed recorded in Liber 354, Page 25 through 81, inclusive, as amended, and designated as Charlevoix County Condominium Subdivision Plan No. 77, together with rights in the general common elements and the limited common elements as set forth in the Master Deed and as described in Act 59 of the Public Acts of 1978, as amended.

Together with all fixtures, tenements, hereditaments, and appurtenances belonging or in any way appertaining to the premises.

P.P. #15-009-570-024-00

Notice is further given that the length of the redemption period will be six (6) months from the date of sale, unless the premises are abandoned. If the premises are abandoned, the redemption period will be the later of thirty (30) days from the date of the sale or upon expiration of fifteen (15) days after the Mortgagor is given notice pursuant to MCLA §600.3241a(b) that the premises are considered abandoned and Mortgagor, Mortgagor's heirs, executor, or administrator, or a person lawfully claiming from or under one (1) of them has not given the written notice required by MCLA §600.3241a(c) stating that the premises are not abandoned.

If the premises are sold at a foreclosure sale, under MCLA §600.3278 the Mortgagor will be held responsible to the person who buys the premises at the mortgage foreclosure sale or to the Mortgagee for damaging the premises during the redemption period.

Compromise offer cools East Park fireplace debate

Council votes to further delay decisions, construction likely halted until spring

STEVE ZUCKER
Courier Editor

The Charlevoix City Council voted at a special meeting Wednesday to further delay decisions – perhaps until spring – about a community fireplace project in East Park, taking advantage of a donor's offer to compromise and an architect's offer of free services.

"Let's all take a deep breath ... and see if we can come together," John Winn said near the beginning of Wednesday's meeting, which drew another 100-plus-member crowd to the city council chambers.

Winn came to the council in early July with a proposal from an anonymous elderly man who wanted to donate the bulk of the cost for a community fireplace to be constructed on the western edge of East Park along the east side of Bridge Street about halfway between Clinton and Mason streets. Winn later said the donor originally approached him about donating to the park's interactive fountain, but, since that project is complete, Winn suggested the fireplace idea to him after seeing a similar one in Holland that has been popular in the community.

The donor had originally made a condition of his offer construction of the fireplace be complete in time for Apple Festival in mid-October.

Original plans called for the fireplace to be 8-feet square at the base and then taper to a width of about 4 feet, for a total structure height of 20 feet.

Although it had been discussed at three council meetings and a special meeting on Aug. 9, with the limited comments that had been received being positive, when preliminary construction work began, a swell of objections arose. Although community members objected to the speed with which the project was approved, the lack of input the council sought from the community and other city board, and the precedent the project might be setting, the thread running through the complaints was concern over the impact the structure might have on the views of Round Lake from Bridge Street.

Last week, after hearing nearly two-hours of community objections from an equally packed house, the council voted to put the project on hold temporarily to allow for more options – including moving forward with the project, relocating it, re-designing it or scrapping it all together – and set Wednesday's special meeting to consider the options.

Speaking Wednesday, Winn said on Tuesday he had been in contact with Mark Buday, the architect who designed the structures that are in East Park, and Buday offered to get involved in helping come up with alternatives for the fireplace plan for free. He added that earlier in the day on Wednesday, he had spoken to the donor, who is willing to consider options for re-designing, or relocating the fireplace within the park.

Winn then turned his comments to the donor, noting that many in the community said some unkind things about him or have suggested that he should use his donation money for something else. Winn said the donor is 85 years old and has cancer and has given to many other charities in the community such as the hospital and the library.

"If you want to be mad at anybody, be mad at me," Winn said. "It (the fireplace) was my idea."

Winn went on to say that, hearing of Buday's offer the donor is now willing to compromise on the construction deadline too.

"The donor knows ... by the time we come to a consensus ... it will be too

Charlevoix schools add six to staff

MORGAN SHERBURNE
Northern Michigan Review

Last week marked the first day of school for six new Charlevoix Public Schools staff members.

The new staff includes teachers Nick Barnum, who will teach seventh-grade English and one section of sixth-grade reading; Rachel Zehnder-Manthei, who will teach elementary special education; Khristy Wisson, who will teach primarily English and history; and Allison Ivey, who will teach special education.

Nick Barnum recently moved to the area after marrying Jill Barnum, (formerly Tabaczka) who teaches English at the high school. Barnum earned a bachelor of science in education from Central Michigan University, and taught history and English in Albion.

Barnum left Albion school district because of declining enrollment and budget issues, and was then hired to teach English in the Colon Community School District.

"My recent marriage prompted a relocation to beautiful Northern Michigan," Barnum said. "I'm looking forward to a great year of building positive relationships with students and members of the community and seeing these students succeed both in school and out."

Rachel Zehnder-Manthei was hired to teach elementary special education, and will primarily be working with third-, fourth- and fifth-grade students, she said.

Zehnder-Manthei attended Arizona State University for her undergraduate degree in elementary education, taught for a few years, then earned a certification and master's degree in special education from Grand Valley State University.

She has worked in the area for several years, including teaching a classroom of third- to fifth-graders in Harbor Springs as well as serving as an academic tutor at Petoskey Sheridan and in "various special education settings at Sheridan and Ottawa elementaries," she said.

"Since my experience has been largely elsewhere, I am excited to be involved in a new school system and develop new friendships," Zehnder-Manthei added. "I absolutely love teaching students and learning from them."

Khristy Wisson will be teaching English and history, as well as one section of ACT prep and one section of body fitness. She will also be teaching a computers class at St. Mary's School.

After earning a bachelors of arts in history at University of Colorado in Boulder, she completed a masters degree in literacy at University of Colorado in Denver, and is currently working on her masters degree

2-1-1 phone system now in place

Service will provide access to essential non-emergency services

RACHEL BROUGHAM
Northern Michigan Review

A new telephone system is now in place in Charlevoix and Emmet counties that will help residents who need essential, non-emergency services, but don't know who to call.

2-1-1 is an easy to remember telephone number that connects callers with non-emergency information and resources in the surrounding community.

"2-1-1 provides an essential lifeline to our community," said Martha Lancaster, executive director of the Char-Em United Way. "It gives residents peace of mind knowing they have someone to call 24-hours a day; someone who can connect them to the information and services they need without calling several numbers to be connected to the right person."

The service is available 24 hours a day, seven days a week, 365 days a year and residents who use the service will be instantly connected with a trained specialist. These specialists can help residents with a variety of needs, including where to volunteer, information about after school programs, senior care services, mortgage foreclosure and more.

"This is far more than directory assistance," Lancaster said. "Most of the services people are seeking through 2-1-1 are not easy to find in a phone book. Moreover, the information and referral specialists who take these calls help the callers identify additional needs in addition to their primary reason to call."

Char-Em United Way spearheaded implementation of 2-1-1 in Charlevoix and Emmet counties. Service is also available in Otsego County, with programs in the works for Cheboygan, Antrim and other neighboring communities.

Locally, the 2-1-1 service is the result of several years of planning and financial support from not just the United Way, but local businesses, foundations and organizations. The United Way is seeking financial partnership for the service from local governments, revenue sharing boards and other agencies.

The Frey Foundation has awarded a challenge grant which will match new support in the first three years of operation.

Currently, eight Michigan 2-1-1 call centers serve 95 percent of Michigan's population, with expansion projects under way in the remainder of the state.

In 2011, Michigan 2-1-1 call centers received more than 480,000 calls, an increase of 7 percent over the previous year. More than 90 percent of U.S. residents are also served by 2-1-1.

While 2-1-1 is a link to non-emergency services, it can also be useful in local emergencies. During the recent Duck Lake fires in the Upper Peninsula, 2-1-1 took pressure off the 9-1-1 system by providing a place to call for information on the boundaries of the fire, road closures, emergency shelters and access to damaged homes.

Those looking to be a financial partner for the 2-1-1 service, can call (231) 487-1006 or email info@charemunitedway.org.

County board, planners spar over staffing

AEBRA COE
Northern Michigan Review

The future of the Charlevoix County planning department is up in the air after county commissioners left no room in their proposed budget, to be adopted Sept. 26, for both a planning director and assistant. Instead, with the retirement of long-time planning director Larry Sullivan at the end of this month, the commissioners plan to allocate those duties to current planning assistant Kiersten Stark and GIS coordinator, Brian Kelly.

The planning department is currently made up of Sullivan and Stark. After Sullivan, who is running for a seat on the board of commissioners this fall, leaves, the commissioners' plan is to give both Stark and Kelly a $5,000 raise and eliminate Sullivan's $50,000 a year salary completely.

That is a bad idea, said Charlevoix County Planning Commissioners at their meeting Sept. 6, and in a letter to all planning officials in the county, including those at township and city levels. The letter stated the planning commission's official position and asked the officials to contact county commissioners and let them know what they think about the staffing change.

"The Planning Commission believes that in order to provide quality services throughout the county and continuity in planning on a county scale, current staffing levels need to be maintained in the planning department," said the letter.

"We've had a fully staffed, professional planner since 1968 or 1969," said Dennis Jason, chairman of the planning commission in an interview with the Petoskey News-Review. "We believe there is a need for a full-time planner that's professionally trained."

The planning commission is asking, he said, for funding in the 2012-13 budget for a planning director position and assistant, or additional money to hire consultants to do the work.

Hiring consultants to make up for the gap of the director could be one option, agreed Sullivan, but it wouldn't be ideal. It can be expensive to use consultants over a long period of time, he said, and knowledge gained during one project is often not carried over to future projects.

His department provides a lot of assistance to local units of government, asserted Sullivan, and would not be able to do so without both a planning director and assistant in the office.

"I don't care if they are superman or superwoman, nobody can do that alone," he said.

Administrative tasks would consume that person's time, he explained, leaving little space for planning.

Vice chair of the board of commissioners, Chris Christensen, disagrees.

"I think we need to reassess staffing when we have an opportunity like this," he said

The county is not eliminating the planner position, he reminded citizens at Wednesday's board of commission meeting, they are giving those responsibilities to Kiersten Stark.

After a good deal of discussion, the commission decided to not hire another planning director, said Joel Evans, chair of the commission.

"We hope other people in the department can pick up the slack," he said

The topic of whether or not to hire a replacement for Sullivan, he says, is just a matter of differing opinions

"We'll work this thing out and stay focused on what's best for Charlevoix County," he explained.

Perhaps after a year or two, the county could review the department and make any more changes as needed, he said

Evans does not think the letter was an appropriate way for the planning commission to express its concerns.

"I don't think it's appropriate. But, I'm sure Mr. Jason's intention was good," he said

Mike Spencer, Charlevoix's city planner, believes the county should maintain current staffing levels. The townships and cities rely heavily on help from the county planner, he said, and that resource is important to keep.

"I think the planning director position should be reserved for someone who has the related degrees and certifications required for that position," he said. "We need a planner and an assistant in that office."

The Charlevoix County Planning Commission members are individually sending letters to county commissioners voicing their opinions on the matter.

County commissioners will discuss staffing levels at their next personnel committee meeting at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday, Sept. 19

Charlevoix County's 2012-13 budget will be adopted Wednesday, Sept. 26, after a public hearing on the budget at 7 p.m. in the county building

Elks to host Show Your Colors Poker Run September 22

The Charlevoix Elks Lodge will host the fourth annual Show Your Colors Poker Run and Pig Roast fundraising event on Saturday, Sept. 22.

The festivities will begin with registration from 10-11:30 a.m. at the Elks Lodge, 104 Mason St. Pre-show events will take place at 11:30 a.m. and the poker run begins at noon. A pig roast with a live auction and entertainment will take place starting at 5 p.m. (The pig roast is open to all for $10 per person.)

The cost to participate in the entire event (poker run, pig roast and entertainment) is $25 per motorcycle. An additional rider is $10 for pig roast-only and $25 to also play poker.

The the theme for this year's event is "Freedom Don't Come Free," proceeds from the event will benefit the Wounded Warrior Project, Forgotten Eagles, and local veteran charities.

Through the proceeds from last year's event, $8,000 was distributed to the family of a fallen U.S. Navy Seal, the Forgotten Eagles, and gas and food cards for local veterans.

Donations for auction items are still being accepted.

Retiring planner reflects on 31 years working for county

AEBRA COE
Northern Michigan Review

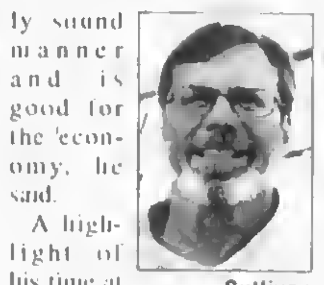
At the end of September, Larry Sullivan, 56, will retire as the Charlevoix County planning director after 31 years on the job. The county has gone through many changes in the last three decades, and sitting in his office in the county building, Sullivan reflected on his time spent working there.

After graduating from Michigan State University in 1977 with a bachelor degree in urban planning, he immediately began working with the Northeast Michigan Council of Governments and Northwest Michigan Council of Governments creating planning for solid waste in the region. In 1981 he was hired into his current position.

As a whole, he says, the county has grown and changed, often in good ways.

"We've seen a tremendous amount of development on our lake shorelines," he said, "Which is the case around Northern Michigan."

Much of the development is done in an environmentally sound manner and is good for the economy, he said.



Sullivan

A highlight of his time at the county is the closure of the county landfill near Ironton. Sullivan remembers the challenge involved in working to build consensus within the 14 person committee, that largely by law, involved in deciding whether or not to eliminate the landfill.

"We were able to come up with a solution that everybody could live with," he said.

What he enjoyed most about being the planning director was working with and discussing options with people in the county.

"I don't know everything and there are many different ways of looking at things," said Sullivan. "I liked working back and forth to come up with ordinances and plans that worked for them in their community."

There are several rivers Sullivan would like to canoe and kayak once he is retired. His first trip planned is a ride along the Manistee River from its headwaters to Lake Michigan. He would also like to spend more time with his two grandchildren.

"And my wife has things she'd like to see done around the house," he said, smiling.

He will leave his office in the county building at the end of September, but hopes to be back by January as a county commissioner.

"Then I can work on items and issues from a policy aspect rather than doing the grunt work of implementing policies," he explained.

Business model not right for all areas of human endeavors

EAR TO THE GROUND

Roger Knutson

There seems to be in American society a tendency to view many of our public activities as similar to business. For example, schools can be viewed as a sort of business that turns out students or credits or degrees as a product. We are likely to view health care as a business whose product is people cured of diseases. We are even encouraged to think of Government as a sort of business which should not accumulate debt and might even operate at a profit if expenses are small enough.

I would like to suggest that the business model is at least inappropriate for those other areas of social activity. Business in all its forms, whether producing a product or providing a service, exists primarily for the benefit of its owners. The maximum profit at minimum cost is a large part of that reason for being. Other than providing what people want or at least what they will buy, the larger social environment is of little concern in the development and operation of for-profit business.

I am in no way opposed to profit or the development of successful business. My objection is to using a business model as a way of understanding or providing for areas of human activity like health care, education or even government.

Education for profit has as its only interest, beyond profit, providing individual people with skills that might be useful to business. Real education is rather the effort of human societies to convey something of the history of humanity, concern with its collective continuation and satisfaction in learning. The acquisition of some particular skill is not likely to be valuable for more than a few years at most. The acquisition of a desire to continue learning can provide citizens capable of navigating whatever the future brings. For-profit education may be good at providing workers for the near future, but often fails to consider an uncertain future.

Widely-available mostly-public education produces citizens capable of navigating the always uncertain future. Education as a business is unlikely to do that.

Health care as a public responsibility is also supposed to produce a healthy population, not just healthy individuals. We have already demonstrated in America that health care on a business model has provided us with higher costs, poorer infant mortality figures, and a population with lower survival than most other industrialized countries. Those other countries (we live right next door to one of them) do not consider health care as a business but rather as a social obligation.

What are the products of health care on a business model? A profitable hospital is one product. Profit for a hospital is increased by more testing and more expensive devices, neither of which is an aid to greater public health. A well-provided-for litigation industry and healthy malpractice insurance companies are an additional product. If the goal is a healthy population for the long term, health care as a business does not provide it.

Finally, is government itself just another business? Should it be run on sound business principles? Like the two examples above, government is not about individual success, it is about collective success over a long term. Should the government pick winners and losers in business? Of course not. Government is about collective security and success, not the success of those closest to the levers of power. Should congress people be spending a large amount of time serving individual constituents? Not if they could pass laws that protect and serve their collective constituents. Serving wealthy individuals is perilously close to asking for a campaign contribution for the next election.

Be wary of anyone who suggests, "It's all simple. We just have to run government, education and health care like any sound business: paying attention to profit and loss." Certainly anyone in charge should know about business and how it works, but they also need to know about education, government and health care, which are not exactly like business.

Roger Knutson is a professor emeritus of biology from Luther College in Decorah, Iowa, where he taught for 30 years. He holds master's degree and a doctorate from the botany department at Michigan State University.

Land conservancy proposal is short-sighted

Editor:

Land conservancies represent the will of the land owners and funders to protect their property for those purposes that they deem appropriate. These include protection of endangered species, protection of natural resources, and allow for public use of the land without fees. Senator Casperson's proposal to require that conservancies pay taxes would destroy their valuable function and is to the detriment of visitors and the citizens of Michigan. His focus on the dog sled race prompting his actions was an inappropriate response. It was appropriate for TNC to request protection from liability for the June 24, 1943 saw the one and only entrance into Round Lake of the magnificent Milwaukee Clipper, one of the largest passenger liners ever to roam the Great Lakes. The city had invited her to come in many times before, but the owners were reluctant because they thought that negotiating the channel bend would prove too hazardous for her well over 300 foot length. Finally they were convinced, and in the Clipper sailed with no problem. But then--where to put her? Her rear port gangway had to be positioned at the city dock to disembark her passengers, which meant the bow had to nose over to the Charlevoix Lumber Company's old dock pilings (now the Edgewater Inn waterfront) and block all boat traffic through the channel for the few hours the Clipper was here. She was so big a person standing on the channel bridge could not see Round Lake. Once was enough for all concerned, so the Clipper sailed away and never came back. She is now docked in Muskegon awaiting an uncertain future.

Invest Early - and Wisely - for College

School is back in session. If you have school-age children, you're probably busy getting them acclimated to another year of hitting the books. But the school years go by quickly, so it won't be long before your kids are ready to head off to college. Will you be financially prepared to help them?

It's certainly a challenge, especially given rising costs of higher education. Consider these figures from the College Board: For the 2011-2012 school year the average cost (including tuition, fees, room and board) was $17,131 per year for an in-state student attending a public, four-year college or university. For a student attending a private four-year school, the comparable average cost was $38,589 annually. And these numbers are likely to increase in the years ahead.

So, what can you do to help meet the high costs of higher education? For starters, you need to save and invest — early and often. And you'll also want to choose investments that are particularly well suited for college. Here are a few suggestions:

• 529 plan — When you invest in a 529 plan, all withdrawals will be free from federal income taxes, as long as the money is used for a qualified college expense for your child, or even your grandchild. (However, non-qualified withdrawals may be subject to federal, state and penalty taxes.) Contribution limits are quite high so, in all likelihood, you'll be able to put as much as you want into a 529 plan; although you generally can't exceed the annual gift tax exclusion, which is $13,000 per beneficiary in 2012. Furthermore, if you participate in your own state's 529 plan, your contributions may be tax deductible on your state taxes.

• Coverdell Education Savings Account — Depending on your income level, you can contribute up to $2,000 annually to a Coverdell Education Savings Account (ESA) in 2012. Your Coverdell earnings and withdrawals will be tax-free, provided you use the money for qualified education expenses. (Any non-education withdrawals from a Coverdell ESA may be subject to a 10 percent penalty.) Unlike a 529 Plan, in addition to college expenses, Coverdell funds can be used for kindergarten through 12th grade expenses and you can place Coverdell ESA contributions into virtually any investment you choose - stocks, bonds, certificates of deposit, etc.

• Zero coupon bonds — A zero coupon bond is priced at a discount to its principal or face value. You receive the principal value when the bond matures. So, you could purchase a zero coupon bond that matures in the year your child is ready to go to college. Although you won't receive regular interest payments throughout the life of the zero coupon bond, you'll still be liable for the taxes on this interest. So, before purchasing a zero coupon bond, consult with your tax advisor.

These investments have proven popular among many parents and grandparents. However, you'll need to consult with your financial advisor to determine which college-savings vehicles are appropriate for your needs. But don't wait too long — because, before you know it, today's grade-schoolers will be packing for their college dorms.

Library hosts 'Tribute to Gordon Lighfoot'

"The Gordon Lightfoot Tribute" will be presented by Mackinaw City guitarist Mike Fornes at 6:30 p.m. Monday, Sept. 24, at the Charlevoix Public Library. The concert closes the library's SummerFolk series.

Five years ago, Fornes began expressing "up north" culture in a salute to Canadian balladeer Gordon Lightfoot. The effort has developed into a theater show that replicates the Lightfoot concert experience.

"It's been a lot of fun," Fornes said, "this is music from our culture, our way of life."

Fornes' playlist includes standards such as "If You Could Read My Mind," "Sundown," "Rainy Day People," and of course, "The Wreck of the Edmund Fitzgerald."

Fornes will accompany himself on rhythm six-string and 12-string guitars, authentic to the models used by Lightfoot on stage.

use of their land as would be needed with any other public use of their property. Senator Casperson's approach negates the land owners right to do with their land as they see fit. His proposal is short-sighted and would result in fewer lands being protected and available for the public to enjoy. Tourism is a huge industry for our region and these lands enhance that experience. Senator Casperson chairs the Natural Resources, Environment and Great Lakes Committee and he is a member of the Senate's Outdoor Recreation and Tourism Committee. We demand clearer thinking and more responsible actions from our legislators and a better vision from those caring for our future.

Next Artists in Action slated for Sept. 20

Sue Bleyaert will be the featured artist at the Charlevoix Public Library's next Artists in Action event.

Sue Bleyaert will demonstrate her painting floorcloths from 2-4 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 20.

Canvas floorcloths were used as durable, decorative floor coverings dating back to the beginning of the 18th century. The craft of painting these cloths is currently seeing a resurgence after the death of the industry in 1860 because of the patent of linoleum.

The Artist in Action series highlights local artistic talents by providing a venue for them to work and for patrons to watch, ask questions and sometimes create. The artists set up a small work area in the front lobby of the library to share their craftsmanship with the public and to answer questions.

Additional upcoming artists are:

10 a.m.-4 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 25, Lord of the Gourd carving gourds and pumpkins

2-4 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 15, the public will be invited to create "book wreaths" with library staff.

OBITUARIES

Lawrence Schaefer Jr., 82

Lawrence Schaefer Jr. died Sept. 3, 2012. He was born on July 31, 1930 the son of Lawrence Schaefer Sr and Dorothy Wilson Schaefer. He was also preceded in death by his two sisters, Jean Schaefer and Dorothy Humphrey. He attended Dearborn schools and graduated from Eastern Michigan University. A veteran of the Korean War, he worked for Ford Motor Company from which he retired after 45 years, the last several in the Ford Parts and Service Division. A life-long Catholic, he was a member of Dearborn Divine Child Parish and more recently celebrated liturgy with the St. Kenneth community in Plymouth. He is deeply mourned by his wife of 32 years, Gail (Navarre Zurawski), children; Kristine Garanich (Andrew), Julie Schaefer, Gail Edwards (William), Gregory Schaefer (Andrea), step-children; Suzanne Belding, Sheila Malone (James), Paul Zurawski (Richard Hengel), Stephen Zurawski (Dena), Mathew Zurawski (Lynn), Clare Zurawski, Andrea Zurawski (Jeremy Lewis), 16 grandchildren, three great-granddaughters, his former wife Margaret, and brother Robert. He was blessed to have spent many happy years with family and friends at the family cottage in Charlevoix. As he was nourished by the Word and Sacrament on Earth, may he delight at the eternal banquet of heaven. Visitation took place at 10 a.m. on Sept. 8 at St. Kenneth Church in Plymouth. The Funeral Liturgy followed at 11 a.m. Memorials may be made to the St. Paul of the Cross Retreat Center, 23333 Schoolcraft, Detroit, MI 48223.

Eleanor L. Freedman, 89

Eleanor L. Freedman, 89, of Charlevoix, died Monday, Sept. 10, 2012, at her home. She was born July 3, 1923, in Kansas City, Mo., to Irving and Mary (Slatkin) Levine. She graduated from Walnut Hills High School in Cincinnati, Ohio in 1941. On Feb. 12, 1945, Eleanor married Gordon L. Freedman. In 1947 they moved from Cincinnati to make their home in Charlevoix where Gordon established Freedman Artcraft Engineering Corp. Inc., now Harbor Industries, Inc.

Eleanor and Gordon were instrumental in the development of the Charlevoix Area Hospital when it moved to its current Boulder Park location in the mid 1950s. Eleanor was a long-time hospital volunteer and a member of the Charlevoix Hospital Guild. She conceived of and managed the gift cart that later became the hospital gift shop.

Eleanor enjoyed antiques and owned the Tin Lady Antique shop in Charlevoix for many years. She was an avid and award-winning gardener and a member of the Charlevoix Garden Club. Eleanor was a gregarious and giving woman who volunteered every summer at the Charlevoix Waterfront Art Fair.

Eleanor's Oral Traditions video interview can be found at the Charlevoix Library and accessed online from the following YouTube link. http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=6xl08mABcxM&feature=plcp.

DEATH NOTICE

Marabeth E. Belenski, 81

Marabeth E. Belenski, 81, of Charlevoix, died Saturday, Sept. 8, 2012, at Hiland Cottage in Petoskey. Her funeral was at 10 a.m., Tuesday, Sept. 11, 2012, at the Christ Episcopal Church in Charlevoix, the Rev. John David officiating. Interment took place at the Brookside Cemetery in Charlevoix. The Winchester Funeral Home in Charlevoix is serving the family.

Girl Scouts to host recruitment night

Girl Scouts of Charlevoix is hosting a recruitment night from 6-7:30 p.m. on Monday, Sept. 17, at Charlevoix Elementary School.

Girl Scouting is the largest volunteer organization for girls and women in the world. Organizers describe it is as a value-rooted, people-centered movement that complements basic family values and helps girls learn to make healthy choices.

Through Girl Scouting, girls come to understand themselves and their values and use their knowledge and skills to explore the world; learn to care about, inspire, and team with others locally and globally; and take action to make the world a better place.

Girl Scouting encourages families to participate with their girl instead of watching as their girl participates. Positive parent support is essential to a successful Girl Scout troop. Girl Scouting is a chance for adults to make a positive impact, not only in their girl's life, but in the lives of her friends and other girls.

Got questions? Ask your doctor

Susan Kroll, adult services librarian at the Charlevoix Public Library, will present a program on the 10 most important questions to ask your doctor 6:30-8 p.m. on Tuesday, Sept. 18.

This program will outline the questions and why you need to ask them. Kroll has been in the medical information profession for more than 35 years and was most recently the director of the Health Sciences Library at Ohio State University.

For more information about this or other programs at the library, call (231) 237-7340 or visit www.charlevoixlibrary.org.

Fiber art exhibit opens Sept. 23 in East Jordan

An upcoming exhibit at the Jordan River Art Center will feature more than 120 pieces from 50 fiber artists.

"Rare Threads" is a show in collaboration with the Jordan River Arts Council, the Dennos Museum in Traverse City and North Central Michigan College in Petoskey.

Artists from several states and many from Northern Michigan, including many nationally and internationally known artists, will have their work on display.

The exhibit kicks off with a meet and greet at 1 p.m. on Sunday, Sept. 23, and runs through Nov. 3.

"The fibers are diverse and fantastic," said the show's curator, Sylvia Walworth.

"Displayed are exquisite dolls, hand woven garments and scarves, wall hangings ranging in size from 50 square feet to miniatures, some abstract and others realistic. There's indescribable bead work and uniquely hand dyed materials."

Walworth, of Eastport, also created a piece for the exhibit titled "Toward the 45th Parallel," which is a wall hanging she created based on the Maple Bay farmhouse on U.S. 31 just south of Elk Rapids.

She noted that several works are emotionally evocative and historic as well. There's a replica Civil War quilt and quilt dedicated to the heroines of World War II.

Jordan River Art Center is located at 301 Main Street in East Jordan.

The gallery is open from 1-4 p.m. Tuesdays through Sundays.

For more information, visit www.jordanriverarts.com.

Free program offers help in managing health conditions

The East Jordan Family Health Center is hosting a free health workshop from Oct. 3-Nov. 7 to help individuals manage long-term health conditions.

The Personal Action Toward Health class will meet 9:30 a.m.-noon on Thursdays at the East Jordan Family Health Center, 601 Bridge St., East Jordan.

The workshop provides information and skills to adults with chronic health conditions such as arthritis, heart disease, chronic kidney disease, diabetes, bronchitis, asthma and depression. Workshops are run by trained leaders who hold informal, small group discussions and provide easy-to-understand course materials. Facilitators explain ways to reduce pain and stress, cope with fatigue, use medications wisely and benefit from exercise. Participants also learn about self-help devices that can enhance daily activities. They are encouraged to practice these skills by making weekly action plans and helping each other to achieve their goals.

The Personal Action Toward Health program is suited for both the newly diagnosed as well as those seeking more aggressive management.

Registration is necessary and enrollment is limited. To register, or for more information, contact the East Jordan Family Health Center at (231) 536-2206 or call Pam or Connie at (231) 536-2206, extension 120 or 208.

BookTalkers to discuss 'Sense of an Ending'

The Charlevoix Public Library BookTalkers group will meet at 6 p.m. Monday, Sept. 17, to discuss "Sense of an Ending" by Julian Barnes.

The BookTalkers read different books each month then gather on the third Monday of each month for discussion.

The BookTalkers will be reading with the C.S. Lewis Festival. "The Screwtape Letters" by C.S. Lewis, for discussion on Oct. 15.

For more information call the library at (231) 237-7340.

Knights to host banquet Oct. 25

The Charlevoix Knights of Columbus will host its 10th annual Hunters Banquet beginning at 5:40 p.m. on Thursday, Oct. 25 at the Charlevoix VFW Hall, 12735 US 31 North, Charlevoix.

Fellowship Hour will be from 5:30-6:30 p.m., dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m. and the evening's presentation will start at 7:30 p.m.

This year's event will feature Charlevoix resident Don Voisin taking the audience through his horseback Moose hunting trip, and Greg Whitley sharing some exciting hunting journal entries.

The dinner is menu of "Whitley Pig Roast," dressings, potatoes, desserts. Organizers noted that the event typically sells out every year.

All proceeds from the event go directly to the Charlevoix Community Food Pantry.

Dinner tickets are $15 per person and raffle tickets will also be sold at the door for a $1,000 shopping spree at Jay's Sporting Goods. For more information or to buy tickets contact Larry Campbell at (231) 547-4208 or Steve Seely at (231) 499-3674.

Attorney to speak at Progressive Women's event

The next meeting of the Progressive Women of Charlevoix County will be Tuesday Sept. 25 at the Boyne City Public Library in Boyne City. Members may arrive at noon and the speaker will begin at 12:30 p.m. Members may eat before attending, take out from a local restaurant or brown bag their lunch. The program is open to anyone interested in progressive issues, organization members, their friends and family, male or female. Those wishing to attend should RSVP by Sept. 24 by emailing progwomenchxcty@yahoo.com or calling (231) 582-9005.

The speaker will be Dan O'Neil, a practicing attorney and principal in the Thompson & O'Neil firm in Traverse City. O"Neil specializes in representing clients in discrimination, harassment and injury claims. He also serves on the executive board of the Michigan Association for Justice and the board of the Justice Caucus of the Michigan Democratic Party. O'Neil has said he committed to reforming the Michigan Supreme Court. He has been spending considerable time this summer speaking to groups about how the court functions and why he believes change is needed.

The Progressive Women of Charlevoix County meets on the fourth Tuesday of the month from noon to 2 p.m. Locations alternate between Charlevoix and Boyne City. Meetings are open to all. There are no membership fees and meeting announcements are by email only. For more information or to be added to the organization's mailing list, send an email to progwomenchxcty@yahoo.com.

Benishek's office accepting academy applications

U.S. Rep. Dan Benishek (R-Iron River) is currently accepting applications from residents of Michigan's 1st Congressional District interested in a nomination to the U.S. Military, Naval, Air Force, and Merchant Marine Academies. The deadline for applications is Friday, Oct. 26.

"Our region is home to many high caliber men and women who will make excellent candidates for our nation's Service academies. I am pleased that these young people will have the opportunity to serve our country while gaining a first-class tuition free education. Making nominations to the academies is a privilege that I take very seriously and I am honored to be part of this excepting process," Benishek said in a news release.

To qualify for nomination, applicants must:

— Be a citizen of the United States

— Be a legal resident of Michigan's 1st Congressional District

— Have earned a strong academic record

— Be 17-years-old, but not yet past one's 23rd birthday on July 1 of the year one enters a military academy

— Be medically qualified

— Score near or above the published averages on a candidate fitness assessment

Applicants will be required to fill out an application, submit academic transcripts, standardized test scores (ACT or SAT), three letters of recommendation, a resume and a short essay explaining why they want to attend a service academy. Additional application information and a downloadable application packet can be found at Benishek's official website, www.benishek.house.gov/servicenominations.

Applicants who are selected for entry to one of the service academies will be notified no later than April 2013.

Nominations to the U.S. Coast Guard Academy are not made through Congressional offices as that academy accepts candidates based on their own testing criteria. Those interested in applying to the U.S. Coast Guard Academy can learn more at their website: www.cga.edu.

Petoskey News-Review welcomes Aebra Coe

MORGAN SHERBURNE
Northern Michigan Review

Aebra Coe, the most recent addition to the Petoskey News-Review's reporting staff, brings a little bit of everything to the table.

Coe

A native of Indian River, Coe, 26, graduated with a degree in creative writing from the University of Michigan in 2007, where she wrote poetry and fiction.

And, she said, she played rugby — perhaps one of few rugby poets.

Rugby led her to unexpected places: specifically, to Auckland, in New Zealand.

"I had wanted to travel in high school and college, but didn't get a chance," she said. "So I saved money and was planning to go to Scotland."

But New Zealand intervened, and in 2008, Coe headed to there to play in a women's rugby league.

Though she first played rugby at University of Michigan, years of gymnastics, track, cross country, wrestling, kick-boxing, judo and even mixed martial arts kept her up to speed in the sports world.

"(Mixed martial arts) is like wrestling but with boxing," she said. "I mostly sparred with people ... I like those aggressive sports."

Coe stayed in New Zealand for six months, playing rugby and nannying, before heading back to Michigan.

Here, Coe began gaining experience in the journalism world. Having already completed an internship at the Straitsland Resorter as an undergraduate, Coe began freelancing for the Petoskey News-Review and Interlochen Public Radio — a gig she enjoyed doing.

"I really enjoyed learning the new technology, and loved making radio pieces," she said. "Getting the background sound and several different voices to mesh was challenging and really fun."

After freelancing for the Petoskey News-Review, Coe landed a full-time position with the St. Ignace News, a weekly paper, where she was able to get settled into a community.

"I love community, local journalism," she said. "I love getting to know people on your beat and covering community events."

Coe plans to apply that enthusiasm to her beats at the News-Review, which include coverage of Charlevoix County, Boyne City and its schools and East Jordan and its schools. She currently lives in Indian River with her black lab/golden retriever mix, Milo, where she likes mountain hiking and playing disc golf.

A series of dog attacks this summer to its meter readers has Consumers Energy again asking customers to help its employees work safely by making sure dogs are leashed or confined away from natural gas and electric meters.

In a release issued last week, Consumers officials said in just the last two weeks, company meter readers have reported six dog attacks, and there have been a record 14 dog bite incidents since the start of the year, compared to six during all of 2011, said Michele Kirkland, the utility's vice president of energy operations.

Consumers officials said five employees have been injured as a result of the 2012 attacks, compared to three injuries in all of 2011. These bites often required medical treatment to close wounds and to prevent subsequent infection and illness. One dog attack required the employee to be hospitalized and resulted in stitches to close wounds on his face and neck.

In some cases, dogs were released from the house as the employee attempted to read the meter. Those occasions are particularly dangerous to meter readers and Consumers Energy will be following up with those customers directly to protect the safety of its employees, Kirkland said.

"This is a serious situation that puts our employees who are out performing their jobs at risk of severe injury," Kirkland said. "Working safely is Consumers Energy's top priority and we need our dog-owning customers to help us accomplish this goal."

Fortunately, evasive action by the employee avoided injury during many of the attacks. Meter readers have begun carrying dog wands as a distraction tool enabling them to better escape dog attacks and avoid injury. One version looks like a stick with a tennis ball at the end and diverts the dog's attention away from the employee's body during an attack.

> "This is a serious situation that puts our employees who are out performing their jobs at risk of severe injury,"

Employees will not enter a yard to read a meter where there is believed to be an unrestrained dog. This will result in recording only estimated energy usage for the customer's next bill as well as a notation about the dog on the customer account, Kirkland said.

"Even the most gentle, well-mannered dog can become protective and aggressive around people it doesn't know," Kirkland said. "We sincerely appreciate the cooperation from our customers to help keep our employees safe."

Consumers Energy customers can obtain the meter reading schedule for their home by accessing the utility's website at www.consumersenergy.com Once there, an eServices profile can be quickly established or accessed and a meter reading schedule obtained by clicking on "My History," then "Energy Use," and then on the "Meter Reading Schedule" tab. This information will make customers aware of scheduled dates when a meter reader is expected to visit, and allow homeowners to take appropriate actions with their pets. Customers can also obtain the schedule by calling the utility's toll-free number, (800) 477-5050.

If a customer's dog must be loose near their meter, they can avoid estimated bills by reporting meter reads electronically through an eServices profile on the utility's website, or by reporting them through the toll-free number listed above.

Here are some tips provided by the United States Postal Service and the Humane Society of the United States on how to responsibly handle your dog and avoid having it bite.

- When a service provider comes to your home, keep your dog inside, away from the door, in another room or on a leash.
- Don't let a child or other family member get close to a service provider in the presence of your dog. A dog's primary instinct is to "protect" its family.

These additional tips for service providers could also help prevent dog bites:

- Don't run past a dog. The dog's natural instinct is to chase and catch prey.
- If a dog threatens you, try not to scream. Avoid eye contact; try to remain motionless until the dog leaves, then back away slowly until the dog is out of sight.
- Don't approach a strange dog, especially one that's tied or confined.
- Always let a dog see and sniff you before you pet the animal.

North Central announces lecture series schedule

North Central Michigan College's Luncheon Lecture series for the fall semester will begin on Friday, Sept. 21. A wide variety of topics will be featured, including hot Summer weather, unmanned aerial vehicles, flying in Alaska, a local steel fabricating company, a bit of Michigan history, the profitable business of recycling and the future of science education.

Meteorologists from the National Weather Service office in Gaylord will start the series on Friday, Sept. 21, with an assessment of this summer's heat and how it compares with historical records.

Unmanned aerial vehicles (UAVs) will be the topic on Friday, Sept. 28. UAVs have become an important tool for the military, but they also have great potential for business and industry. Bill Donberg of Traverse City will talk about his new company that uses UAVs for aerial imaging, video, surveillance and sensor data coverage. Donberg is an aeronautical and astronautical engineer as well as a certified flight instructor. He spent 30 years with Dow Chemical, serving as a global vice president before retiring to pursue a second career in aviation.

If you have ever wondered what it would be like to be a bush pilot in Alaska, the program on Friday, Oct. 19, will give you the answer. Mike Stock, a professional pilot for 48 years and former Alaska float plane pilot, will provide a glimpse into this exciting and sometimes dangerous occupation in The Last Frontier.

Moran Iron Works will be the topic on Friday, Nov. 2. Tom Moran started the company in Onaway after he graduated from high school in 1978. Today his company employs 90 people in Onaway, Cheboygan and Rogers City. It recently received "Michigan's 50 Top Companies to Watch" designation from the Lowe Foundation. Moran will talk about his business, his extraordinary ornamental sculptures that are on display throughout our area and the ornamental welding classes he teaches.

The "Pure Michigan" campaign of a century ago will be the topic on Friday, Nov. 16. One hundred years before the current campaign to promote tourism in Michigan, railroad and steamship companies teamed with local entrepreneurs to successfully market the Little Traverse Bay region, to tourists and settlers. Using historic images and publications, Michael Federspiel will explore that first campaign and the long-term impact it has had on the region. Federspiel is the author of "Picturing Hemingway's Michigan" and the forthcoming book, "Little Traverse Bay: Past and Present." He is also the new executive director of the Little Traverse Historical Society.

On Friday, Nov. 30, the business of recycling will be the topic. Over two decades, Elisa Seltzer, Emmet County's Department of Public Works director, has expanded the drop-off center on Pleasantview Road into a large, self sustaining enterprise. Mountains of discarded metal, plastic and paper are sorted, bundled and sold by the truckload to industries throughout the state. Seltzer, who began her career as a curb side recycling truck driver in Ann Arbor, will explain the many ways that her department benefits the environment, our community and the region.

The fall series will conclude on Friday, Dec. 14 with a look at the importance of something called "STEM." For years, educators have been saying that the continued success of our country will depend on our ability to inspire students to study and pursue careers in science, technology, engineering and mathematics, often referred to as "STEM." Christine Hammond, Ph.D., North Central's dean of instruction and student success, and Pete Olson, Ph.D., associate dean, will give an overview of this topic and provide a photographic tour of North Central's new Health Education and Science Center that is designed to support instruction in those vital areas.

All Luncheon Lecture programs are held at noon in the Library conference room. Reservations are preferred. Call (231) 348-6600 or e-mail cmcinnis@ncmich.edu to reserve your place at the table. Cost is $9 and lunch is included.

late for this year. He's willing to wait until next spring," Winn said.

Winn emphasized that the donor is open to consider a different location, but won't pay for the additional costs associated with the move. He also said if the city decided to ultimately scrap the project, he would expect to be reimbursed for lost expenses on the project to date.

Ultimately the council voted 4-1 in favor of a motion to postpone its decision about possible modifications to the fireplace plan to allow for community input and for Buday to devise some suggested alternatives.

During the meeting Gennett noted, as many council members have, that all of the feedback — including phone calls — he received after the first three meetings during which the fireplace was discussed were in favor of the project. He said since, everyone who has spoken with him has been opposed to it. He said as a council member, it's his job to represent the wishes of the people in his ward, but he wants the people who have offered to reimburse the donor for the costs incurred for the project so far to come through with their promises, (before the council decides to kill the project). Following the meeting, Gennett clarified that he voted no, because he thinks now the best thing for the city to do is scrap the project, and that it's a waste of time to spend more city resources debating the matter.

Council member Shane Cole was at Wednesday's meeting, but as in previous votes on the fireplace, he abstained from the discussion and the vote because his wife works for DTE Energy, which would be supplying the natural gas for the fireplace if it is built.

Fielding several questions from the audience, mayor Norman "Boogie" Carlson Jr. assured the crowd that the community would have multiple opportunities in the coming weeks to weigh-in on the proposed options for the project.

The exact timeline for the fireplace revision proposals was still up in the air as of the Courier's press time Thursday. Winn told the council that Buday needed about 60 days to complete some projects he has lingering for this year's construction season, but it was unclear if that meant he could have some proposals ready by then, or if that was when he would have time to start working on the project.

In the meantime, with it appearing likely that the roughly 4-foot high foundation that had already been constructed at the site will likely remain as-is through the winter, Carlson said city staff will take appropriate measure to make sure the site is presentable in the interim.

What projects should the planning commission review?

The Charlevoix City Planning Commission had its first opportunity to comment on the East Park fireplace project at its regular monthly meeting Monday, two days in advance of Wednesday's city council meeting on the topic.

And while the commission could have passed some kind of motion to give its official recommendation to the city council — even a suggestion to put the project on hold — it chose to only approve a motion to postpone its recommendation pending further study.

However, despite no formal recommendation, the consensus among the commission — and many of those objecting to the fireplace, was that city officials did not follow the proper process in vetting the project through the city's various boards and commissions. Among the boards many have said should have been consulted in addition to the planning commission are the parks and recreation commission, the shade tree commission and the downtown development authority.

(The downtown development authority board was invited to the special meeting at which the city council voted to move forward with the fireplace project, however only three members were able to attend, and therefore the DDA board could take no formal action because it did not have a quorum present.)

Several residents have claimed at recent meeting that the law, in fact, requires that a project such as the fireplace be reviewed by the planning commission.

However at Wednesday's special city council meeting, Charlevoix Mayor Norman "Boogie" Carlson Jr. said the city's legal counsel's opinion is that no such requirement exists.

That legal opinion notwithstanding, city planner Mike Spencer told the audience Wednesday, that even if it wasn't legally required, it probably should have gone at least before the planning commission for its review.

"The council has taken a lot of hashing over this not going to planning commission before it was approved. That's my responsibility (to see that items are brought before the planning commission)."

But Spencer explained the reason he didn't initially bring it to the planners was because there have been many features added to city parks over the years (some during and some before his tenure) that did not go before the planning commission before they were approved and constructed.

Spencer showed a quick series of photos of some of those features including the clock near the end of Mason Street, the large flagpole and flag at Michigan Beach, and the recent Art in Public Places sculptures as just a few examples.

He said one of the things he plans to do in the wake of the fireplace dust-up, is work with the city council and the planning commission on developing a policy for what types of projects or changes in the city's park should be reviewed by the planning commission in the future.

in special education through Western Governors University, which is based in Salt Lake City.

Originally from Port Huron, Wisson lived in Colorado for eight years, teaching language arts for four years at a school district in Denver. She moved back to Michigan in 2011 and taught for a semester as a substitute in health and physical education at Pellston.

"I am really looking forward to working with and getting to know the high school students," She said. "I can't wait to have some dynamic discussion about exciting texts. The staff in Charlevoix has been very welcoming and I am pumped to work with them this year."

The district also added full-time special education teacher Allison Ivey, special education aide Amy Putman and administrative assistant Karen Lipe.

"Everybody's so positive and upbeat," said Lipe. "It's just really a positive atmosphere. How could you not want to be here? I'm just looking forward to serving the best way I can, learning the ropes and working out the kinks, but it's actually been quite smooth."

Lipe previously worked as a secretary in a K-sixth-grade elementary at Flint Community Schools for 11 years, and recently moved to the area.

Have a Good Community Service Project Idea?

Charlevoix County organizations are asked to submit requests for help with their organization's needs. Each year, the current Leadership Charlevoix County class completes a Community Service Project over the nine-month course, in which they select a pertinent need within the county and work together to address that need. The project addresses an issue that class participants are passionate about. Submitting a request helps to create awareness for your organization's needs. If you would like to submit a need or a project idea, visit the Submit a Need page at www.leadershipcharlevoixcounty.com. If you have any questions, contact Program Coordinator Mishelle Shooks at mshooks@c3f.org or call 231.536.2240.

CROSS COUNTRY

Taking the lead

Certa, Way lead Rayder girls to 2nd in Mud Run

The Harbor Springs High School cross country teams continued their solid start to the season on Saturday.

Competing in the 21st annual Charlevoix Classic Mud Run at Charlevoix High School, the Rams swept the Division III-IV portion of the race which featured 23 boys and 24 girls teams.

The Harbor girls finished first in the division with a combined time of 1 hour, 51 minutes, 15 seconds, followed by Charlevoix, 1:53.13 and Johannesburg-Lewiston.

The Harbor boys finished first in 1:34:56, while Charlevoix was second, 1:36:35; followed by Inland Lakes, 1:45:08.

Gaylord was the overall boys winner and Division I-II champion as the Blue Devils finished in 1:32:38. Cadillac was second, 1:33:56;, and Petoskey was third, 1:34:46

Traverse City Central won the overall girls and Division I-II title with a combined time of 1:44:04, while Cadillac was second and Gaylord third. Petoskey finished 10th.

Charlevoix senior Olivia Certa won the 11th-12th grade girls race in 20:34, while teammate Amber Way, a sophomore, won the girls 9th-10th grade race in 19:44.

"Both Amber and Olivia ran very smart races and looked relaxed at the end," Charlevoix.. coach Mary Plude said. "Amber took a wrong turn and had to wait at the two-mile to see where the next girl was going.

"(Certa) is really growing up as a racer. She didn't go out with the pack, but she ran a very smart race."

Also in the 11th-12th boys race, Jackson Buday of Charlevoix finished fourth in 18:20, while Petoskey's Mark Smith was sixth in 18:29. Charlevoix's Tristen Rudolph placed eighth, 18:45; and Petoskey's Logan Hensley was 10th, 18:50.

"Both Ken (Plude) and I were happy with our team results," Mary Plude said. "We hardly see our athletes, except when they finish. Tristen Rudolph ran a great race to medal. I know Ken was very happy with his race and (Rudolph) looked strong coming in."

Rhi Cullip led Harbor in the 11th-12th girls race as she placed third in 21:09. Teammate Kaitlyn Alessi was 10th in 22:22.

Petoskey's Thomas VanSlembrouck and Max Meyerson led the Northmen boys in the 9th-10th race. VanSlembrouck was second in 18:38, while Meyerson was fourth in 18:51.

"Overall the boys had a fantastic day with many outstanding performances," first-year Petoskey coach Jim Harrington said. "We really took a step forward and made some dramatic improvement."

Also in the 11th-12th girls race, Harbor's Betsey Simons was 12th and Autumn Kihnke placed 14th; Inland Lakes' Hannah Passino was 20th. Claire Brummler came in 39th to lead the Northmen.

"The (Petoskey) girls ran well despite missing a few key runners because of the ACT and other commitments," Harrington said. "We will be much stronger in our next race."

In the girls 9th-10th race, Harbor's Jessica Worm was 11th, Claire Fleming was 16th and Kyra Larue was 20th. Petoskey's Sydney Hopp was a team-best 17th, while Melissa Myers was 22nd.

For the Harbor boys, Trevor Rohrer was 15th in the boys 11th-12th race, while Jeffrey Howard was 19th.

Also in the boys 11th-12th race, Charlevoix's Chris Young was 12th and CJ Rice was 14th, while Pellston's Hunter Kilpatrick was 18th, and Inland Lakes' Duane Vizina was 24th.

In the boys 9th-10th race, Harbor's Michael Gorman was 12th; Petoskey's Jacob Kronm was 13th; Charlevoix's Parker Skeel placed 16th; and Jacob Drogowski of Inland Lakes placed 17th.

VOLLEYBALL

Rayders split three, lose one at Petoskey invitational

It might not look all that good on paper, but Charlevoix Radyer varsity volleyball coach Audra Randall saw some good things in her teams ability to split three out of four matchups in the 31st annual Petoskey Invitational Tournament at Petoskey High School on Saturday, Sept. 8.

Host Petoskey did not a drop a set all day en route to its fifth consecutive year winning the title in their own tournament. Petoskey, 17-2-2, downed Mount Pleasant, 25-14, 25-18, in the title match.

The Northmen went 4-0 in pool play. They topped Harbor Springs, 25-6, 25-8; Pellston, 25-8, 25-12; Traverse City St. Francis, 25-21, 25-14; and Onaway, 25-8, 25-17.

Charlevoix went 0-1-3 in pool play. The Rayders split with Cheboygan, 20-25, 25-22; Mount Pleasant, 16-25, 25-19; and Sault Ste. Marie, 25-17, 18-25; and fell to Boyne.

"These teams were challenging and that's really what we want," Charlevoix coach Audra Randall said. "We are a young team and being able to split with three out of four teams is a good indicator for the team. Their consistency is a factor and we're finding longer stretches of that very thing — consistency."

For the Rayders, Karley Pearsall had 29 kills, 21 digs, six blocks; Madeline Boss, 19 kills, 32 digs, five aces; Jessica Paramo, 21 assists, 100 perfect serving; Gloria Greene, 21 assists, 22 digs; Anna Way, 13 kills, nine digs; and Katie Paramo had 14 digs.

Boyne City went 3-1-1 in the tournament and fell to Mount Pleasant, 25-23, 21-25, 15-9, in the semifinals.

The Ramblers finished 3-0-1 in pool play. They defeated Charlevoix, 25-11, 25-22; split with Sault Ste. Marie, 21-25, 25-21; defeated Mount Pleasant, 25-23, 25-17; and topped Cheboygan, 26-24, 25-22.

"We played Mount Pleasant in the semifinals and it was a close match with lots of rallies," Boyne coach Casie Parker said. "We missed a few key serves and tipped a little too much on them. They (Mount Pleasant) are a good team."

Boyne juniors Kylie Hicks and Heather Nichols were each named to the all-tournament team. Nichols finished with 85 assists and 32 digs, while Hicks had 45 kills, 63 digs and seven blocks.

Also for the Ramblers, Erin Baker had 48 digs; Mary Myers, 16 kills, six aces; Randy McCune, 13 kills, eight blocks, six aces; and Courtney Weldon served at 100 percent on the day. Parker also lauded the efforts of Dani Matthews.

Pellston finished with a 1-2-1 record in pool play. The Hornets defeated Harbor Springs, 25-19, 25-17; split with St. Francis, 17-25, 25-19; fell to Petoskey, 25-8, 25-12; and to Onaway, 25-15, 25-12.

SOCCER

Rayders roll past Kalkaska, fall to Rams

Nick Snabes had two goals and Walker Drost had a goal and three assists Thursday as Charlevoix rolled past Kalkaska, 7-1, in a Lake Michigan Conference boys soccer match.

Brendan Hrin, Justin Pearl, Eric Tripplehorn and Nate Moon also scored, while Jordan Jehnek and Ryan Joy each had an assist.

It was the first career goal for Tripplehorn, a senior sweeper.

"He was pretty excited after that goal," Charlevoix coach Jon Boss said of Tripplehorn's tally on a free kick from just beyond the 18-yard circle.

Connor Currier, Moon and Britt each took a turn in goal for the Rayders, who improved to 5-3-1 overall, 2-1 league.

Boss lauded one of Currier's saves on a breakaway as a catalyst in the game.

"It was really good to see the guys play the way we did, Boss said. "I told the guys they have to move the ball much quicker and faster and after halftime they came out and played one- or two-touch ball."

But the Rayders couldn't find the back of the net when they hosted conference rival Harbor Springs on Monday, falling 3-0

The Rams' John Bailey notched his second hat trick of the season, while Harbors Forrest Lundgren had two assists and Mitch Wallin added one as Harbor improved to 5-8 overall, 2-2 league.

With the loss, the Rayders fell to 5-4-1 overall and 2-2 in the Lake Michigan Conference. They Rayders were looking to get back in the win column when they travel to Grayling on Thursday and the will host Marqutte on Friday. Kickoff for both games is 5 p.m.

VARSITY FOOTBALL

Strong start not enough

Despite early lead, Rayders drop conference opener to Grayling

After being shutout in their first two games of the season, the Charlevoix Rayder varsity football team's offense came to life and posted the Rayders to an early lead in their game against Grayling at Kipke Field on Friday, Sept. 7.

But the early offensive surge wasn't enough, and the Rayders ultimately fell to the Vikings 27-13 in the team's Lake Michigan Conference opener.

The Rayders, 0-3, led 13-7 after one quarter behind a Tanner Catt 4-yard TD run and a Charlie Hamilton 52-yard TD run, JJ Bottomley kicked an extra point.

Grayling, 3-0, 1-0, responded late in the first half to take a 14-13 halftime lead, then added two more scores in the second half to put it away. The Rayder offense struggled in the second half, hampered by turnovers.

Catt finished with 87 yards rushing on 13 carries, while Hamilton added 55 yards on four attempts, and Bryan Noirot had 33 yards on 11 carries.

Defensively, the Rayders were led by lineman Grayson Spegele and defensive back Shane Sutherland.

This Friday, Sept. 14 the Rayders will travel to Elk Rapids (1-2, overall; 0-1 leauge). The Elks lost to Traverse City St. Francis last week 12-7.

Rayder JV comes back from halftime deficit to beat Grayling

STEVE ZUCKER
Courier Editor

After allowing 22 points in one quarter, the Charlevoix Rayder junior varsity football team's defense shut the door and its office climbed out of a halftime hole to notch a 30-22 win over conference rival Grayling on Thursday, Sept. 6.

The Rayders got on the board first with 2:20 remaining in the first quarter when Austin Putman hit Ben Boss for 22 yards and a touchdown. The PAT was no good and the score remained 6-0 at the end of the first.

The Vikings then evened the score at 6-all with a TD run with 10 minutes remaining in the second quarter. The point after was no good. With 4:18 left in the half, Grayling went up 14-6 on another TD run followed by a successful two-point conversion.

The Rayders knotted things back up with 2:08 left in the half when Will Telgenhof scored on a 20 yard TD run. The two-point conversion was good on a Putman-to-Boss pass.

Grayling then countered with a 15-yard TD pass as time expired in the first half followed by a two-point conversion run to take a 22-14 lead into the locker room.

Neither team could find the goal line in the third quarter, but the Rayders took the lead for good just 35 seconds into the fourth quarter when Sam Hovie scored on a 28 yard TD run. A Putman-to-Telgenhof pass was good for the two point-conversion.

The Rayders put the game out of reach when Hovie scored on a 7-yard TD run with a little more than a minute left in the game. Another Putman-to-Telgenhof pass two-point conversion rounded out the Rayders' scoring.

The Rayders were led on offense by Hovie who gained 92 yards on 18 carries and Telgenhof who had 70 yards on 12 carries. Justin Atkins also had 23 yards on five attempts.

Putman was 10 for 17 in the air for 151 yards, hitting boss five times for 108 yards and Telgenhof five times for 43 yards.

Devin Largent led the Rayders on defense with eight tackles an five assists. Atkins had five tackles (including one sack) and four assists. Putman and Spencer Bruch each had two tackles and four assists and Hovie notched one tackle and nine assist.

Forrest Noirot and Boss each also had an interception.

Head JV coack Todd Klinger said he was pleased to see his players bounce back from costly turnovers and missed tackles in the second and third quarters.

The win lifts the Rayder JV's record to 2-1.

"The boys kept their composure and never got down about the mistakes," Klinger said. "They kept playing hard and fought hard to earn this win."

Klinger also lauded the defense for its stingy second half play.

"Forrest Noirot had a key drive stopping interception in third quarter. Ben Boss's interception at beginning of fourth set up tying TD by Hovie, which occurred on first play after interception," he said.

Klinger also praised the efforts offensive linemen Adam and Andrew Michaud, Devin Largent, Spencer Stewart, KeNen Borths, Jordan Adkins, and Hunter Cox — especially on the Rayders' final 15-play, 92-yard scoring drive that chewed more than nine minutes off the clock.

"The key to this drive was how our offensive line was able to control the line of scrimmage," he said.

"As a coach, the most enjoyable part of this win was seeing the emotion and enthusiasm that the boys played with during the second half. It became contagious from player to player. I believe this was difference in the game because we were able to wear Grayling down during the fourth quarter."

The Rayders were slated to face Elk Rapids at home on Thursday, Sept. 13. Kickoff is set for 6 p.m.

TENNIS

Rayders beat TCSF, fall to Glen Lake

The Rayders are set to next be in action on Friday, Sept 7 when they take part in the Boyne Invitational.

POP WARNER FOOTBALL

Midgets win season opener

The Charlevoix Pop Warner program's Midget team defeated Harbor Springs 22-0 in it's season-opening game at Central Lake on Saturday, Sept. 8.

The team's scoring was led by Colin Smith who had three touchdowns with extra points added by Smith and Josh Carlson.

Results of the other two Charlevoix Pop Warner teams' games were not available at press time.

The Charlevoix teams host games this Saturday, Sept. 15 at Kipke Field, with games kicking off at 10 a.m., 11:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE

This firm is a debt collector attempting to collect a debt. Any information we obtain will be used for that purpose.

Default has occurred in the conditions of a mortgage made by DULCIE M. TANNER, a single woman ("Mortgagor"), to GREENSTONE FARM CREDIT SERVICES, FLCA, a federally chartered corporation, having an office at 3515 West Road, East Lansing, Michigan 48823 (the "Mortgagee"), dated October 6, 2005, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for Charlevoix County, Michigan on October 18, 2005, in Liber 710, Page 984 (the "Mortgage"). By reason of such default, the Mortgagee elects to declare and hereby declares the entire unpaid amount of the Mortgage due and payable forthwith. Mortgagee is the owner of the indebtedness secured by the Mortgage.

As of the date of this Notice there is claimed to be due for principal and interest on the Mortgage the sum of One Hundred Thirty Thousand Seven Hundred Sixty Two and 89/100 Dollars ($130,762.89). No suit or proceeding at law has been instituted to recover the debt secured by the Mortgage or any part thereof.

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in the Mortgage and the statute in such case made and provided, and to pay the above amount, with interest, as provided in the Mortgage, and all legal costs, charges and expenses, including the attorney fee allowed by law, and all taxes and insurance premiums paid by the undersigned before sale, the Mortgage will be foreclosed by sale of the mortgaged premises at public venue to the highest bidder at the main lobby of the Charlevoix County Courthouse in Charlevoix, Michigan on Friday the 5th day of October, 2012, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon. The premises covered by the Mortgage are situated in the Township of Marion, County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, and are described as follows:

Unit No. 24, Pine Bluff Estates Condominium, according to the Master Deed recorded in Liber 354, Page 25 through 81, inclusive, as amended, and designated as Charlevoix County Condominium Subdivision Plan No. 77, together with rights in the general common elements and the limited common elements as set forth in the Master Deed and as described in Act 59 of the Public Acts of 1978, as amended.

Together with all fixtures, tenements, hereditaments, and appurtenances belonging or in any way appertaining to the premises.

Commonly known as: 12701 Two Pines Drive, Charlevoix, Michigan 49720
P.P. #15-009-570-024-00

Notice is further given that the length of the redemption period will be six (6) months from the date of sale, unless the premises are abandoned. If the premises are abandoned, the redemption period will be the later of thirty (30) days from the date of the sale or upon expiration of fifteen (15) days after the Mortgagor is given notice pursuant to MCLA §600.3241a(b) that the premises are considered abandoned and Mortgagor, Mortgagor's heirs, executor, or administrator, or a person lawfully claiming from or under one (1) of them has not given the written notice required by MCLA §600.3241a(c) stating that the premises are not abandoned.

If the premises are sold at a foreclosure sale, under MCLA §600.3278 the Mortgagor will be held responsible to the person who buys the premises at the mortgage foreclosure sale or to the Mortgagee for damaging the premises during the redemption period.

MORGAN SHERBURNE
Northern Michigan Review

He calls himself a 'one-dimensional' guy, but longtime Charlevoix band director Gary Stutzman seems anything but.

Here's how Stutzman describes his approach to education: "I'm one-dimensional," he says. "I'm a band guy. I'm a band guy. I'm a band guy."

But here's what Stutzman has done throughout his career, which he recently ended at Northwest Academy in Charlevoix.

He began his career as a student at Charlevoix public schools, taught in Flint as a new graduate, came back as a young teacher, left for Colorado, but couldn't stay away, came back to Michigan, started marketing, and finally, in 1996, started as Northwest Academy's part-time band director.

Say goodbye to the blues

New 'warmer' lights coming soon to downtown trees

STEVE ZUCKER
Courier Editor

If you are one of the many people who don't like the hue of the lights in the trees lining Bridge Street in downtown Charlevoix, the blues won't be getting you down much longer.

At its regular monthly meeting on Monday, the Charlevoix City Council voted 5-1 to provide $10,000 out of the city's electric fund to help pay to replace the lights in the trees. Council member Greg Stevens cast the sole dissenting vote.

Charlevoix Downtown Development Authority Executive Director Keith Carey presented the proposal to the council after the authority's board recently decided to re-allocate $4,500 it had set aside for light maintenance and instead put the money toward replacing the lights.

Carey explained that the city has had a light display in the trees along Bridge Street for many years. However, in 2007 — looking to improve, and expand the display to more trees and also to a year-round endeavor, while also seeking energy conservation, the authority decided to replace the incandescent lights with much more efficient LED (light emitting diode) lights.

Carey said that lights were problem from the start.

First, and likely the most noticeable, was the color. He explained that the "cool" or bluish white color is not what officials had originally ordered, but difficulty with the vendor made fixing the color problem more difficult.

But the largely unpopular color hasn't been the only problem. He said the manner in which the lights were installed did not properly allow for tree growth or normal movement in the wind. Consequently many of the light strands were damaged. He said because of these issues, keeping the strands lit has been a struggle.

"We've done our best to maintain what many would consider a very average downtown tree lighting display," Carey said. "We've been looking for a way to improve it, but the DDA hasn't had the funds available."

He said the authority's plan had been to do its best to keep the current lights patched together until money became available to do a complete replacement.

Carey explained, however, that recent efforts, among downtown business owner and led by Linda Mason, have netted $3,400 in pledges and contributions, another offer of a $3,400 match by Todd Wyett and other contributions totalling about $7,500 toward the lights.

Carey said working with a local contractor, the authority has worked out a plan that will include removing the old lights, and purchasing and installing the new "warm" LED lights on 36 trees from Memorial Bridge to Antrim Street for $22,000.

So, with $12,500 already accounted for, that's what prompted the authority to ask the city council with help for the rest.

Carey said there are many factors that play into the life — especially for an outdoor, year-round display — but his best guess they will last about three to four years when they are installed properly.

"I've learned that tree lighting is more of an art than a science," Carey said. "Most of what you are banking on doesn't usually work out, especially when you are dealing with Mother Nature."

Carey noted that although funding for the display appears well on its way to being complete, the authority would still be interested in receiving additional contributions to the lighting effort, which might allow the display to be expanded north of the bridge.

Anyone interested in contributing may make checks payable to "City of Charlevoix," indicate "downtown tree lights" in the memo section, and mail them to: Charlevoix DDA, 201 State St. Charlevoix, Mich. 49720.

He said he expects the new lights to be installed in October.

Stevens he's not opposed to the lighting project, but he voted no because he'd rather see the downtown development authority use the money for other obligations, such as money promised, but not yet paid to the library.

The bluish-tinted "cool white" lights of the current downtown tree light display, shown here shortly after they were installed in November of 2007, will soon be replaced by a new batch of new "warm white" lights thanks to money recently allocated by the city, downtown development authority and several donations.

May among judges to be honored

HEATHER LOCKWOOD
Northern Michigan Review

May

Emmet and Charlevoix counties' 90th District Court Judge Richard W. May is one of 12 trial judges from across the state who, along with the Michigan Supreme Court, are being honored for their involvement in Michigan's comprehensive jury reforms.

They are to be presented with the 2012 G. Thomas Munsterman Award for Jury Innovation given annually by the National Center for State Courts at a ceremony next month, according to a Michigan Supreme Court news release.

"I was asked (to participate in the pilot project) by the supreme court because I have a history over the years of doing a lot of jury trials," May told the News-Review.

May, who will be retiring at the end of this month, said the effort began in 2005 and since then he and the other trial judges involved have been implementing the reforms in their courtrooms.

One such change allows jurors to take notes — something May said he has allowed jurors to do for the last 17 years. Another allows jurors to have copies of the jury instructions relating to the elements of the offense, rather than just hear them read aloud, he said.

"I think the jurors have indicated to me that they find that helpful to have that in writing," May said.

National Center for State Courts vice president and general counsel Robert Baldwin will present the award to the court and pilot project judges on Oct. 9, according to the news release. The ceremony is to take place at 10:45 a.m. in the old supreme court courtroom in the Michigan State Capitol building, according to the release.

As of Thursday, Sept. 13, May was unsure of whether he would be able to attend the ceremony.

"Michigan's jury reform pilot project demonstrated a sustained and comprehensive commitment to enhancing jury service through thorough testing of in-court reforms and revisions of procedural rules," National Center for State Courts president Mary C. McQueen stated in the release.

According to the release, "Effective Sept. 1, 2011, the Michigan Supreme Court adopted a comprehensive package of jury reform court rule amendments, despite initial and intense opposition from some Michigan attorneys and judges who feared the changes, Chief Justice Robert P. Young, Jr., explained. Before adopting the rules, the Court conducted a two-year pilot project in which 12 judges tested proposed reforms in actual trials and reported on their experiences. The court also surveyed jurors, who strongly favored the reforms, such as permitting jurors to take notes, submit questions for witnesses in both civil and criminal cases, and discuss the evidence among themselves before final deliberations."

Young continued, "These wide-ranging reforms allow jurors to be more truly involved in the process — and, as a result, to make better-informed decisions."

The 2011 jury reforms included:

— In civil cases, the judge "may instruct the jurors that they are permitted to discuss the evidence among themselves in the jury room during trial recesses."

— Jurors can, with the judge's permission, submit questions to witnesses through the judge. Criminal procedure court rules already contained such a provision, but the new rule includes jurors in civil cases as well.

— Jurors can, if permitted by the judge, take notes during trial; if the judge allows note taking, jurors must be allowed to use those notes during the jury's deliberations.

— The jury can request to view "property ... or a place where a material event (such as a crime scene) occurred."

— After the jury is sworn, the judge "shall provide the jury with pretrial instructions reasonably likely to assist in its consideration of the case," covering "the duties of the jury, trial, procedure, and the law applicable to the case ..." The rule also requires the court to give jurors copies of the instructions.

— The judge may "authorize or require" attorneys to provide jurors with "a reference document or notebook," which would include a list of witnesses, relevant provisions in statutes, and copies of any documents at issue, such as a contract. Other items, such as preliminary jury instructions, trial exhibits, "and other admissible information," can also be added to the notebook.

— Where it is appears likely that a deposition will be read to the jury, the judge "should encourage the parties to prepare concise, written summaries of depositions" for the jury instead of having the full deposition read aloud.

— In addition to making opening and closing statements, attorneys may, "in the court's discretion, present interim commentary at appropriate junctures of the trial."

South Fox Island Light Station focus of history society program Monday

The Fox Island Lighthouse Association and its efforts on the South Fox Island light station will be the featured topic of the Charlevoix County History Preservation Society's September 2012 speaker series event.

The ongoing effort to presever the South Fox Island Light Station (shown here) will be the topic of tha September Charlevoix County History Preservation Society Speaker Series event on Monday at the Charelvoix Depot Museum.

Catherine F. Allchin, vice president of Fox Island Lighthouse Association, will present "FILA Mission: Saving the South Fox Island Light Station" at 7 p.m. Monday, Sept. 24, at the Charlevoix Depot Museum, 307 Chicago Ave., Charlevoix.

Allchin will explain how with no funds, no boat and not exactly knowing how or what to do, the Fox Island Lighthouse Association has grown from a small group to an increasing number of like-minded persons unified in preserving this historic part of Great Lakes maritime history. The group began with a singular desire: to save the light station. That vision has grown and there is a plan for the future. Allchin will discuss the organization's initial goal to rekindle the efforts of former groups for rescuing the South Fox Island light station, the challenges they face, the work that has been accomplished, and the future plans for this 115 acres of maritime history.

In the summer of 2006, the 1867 lighthouse was surrounded with heavy overgrowth, the lantern room exposed to the elements, roofs leaked and it was endangered by dead trees and moss. The Fox Island Lighthouse Association formed in 2004, and by early summer 2012 overgrowth and dead trees were removed, walkways dug out, the lantern room protected, metal structures painted after rust removal, and the damaged roof on the 1867 lighthouse capped and protected. In addition, the 1895 boathouse was rebuilt and repairs were made to the 1897 workshop. An Historic Structures Report for the station has been completed and work is under way for a listing on the National Registry of Historic Places.

Allchin, of Suttons Bay, has been active with South Fox Light Station since 2002. Her educational background includes degrees in marketing and graphic design. She is a yacht broker, member of Maritime Heritage Alliance, past board member of Traverse Area Community Sailing and recipient of both the Robert Allor award in 2002 and Working Mother of the Year in 2000. Her current position is "ambassador of fun" at the Great Wolf Lodge in Traverse City.

The Sept. 24 program is free and open to the public. Light refreshments will be served. For more information, call (231) 582-5326.

Disagreeing, if done right, can be beneficial

A LOOK AT LIFE

Gayle Gennett

While attending high school, a class I became interested in was debate. I enjoyed it because with fact and persuasion you could change the thinking of individuals sitting in the room from feeling one way to a completely different point of view.

I likened debate to the art of selling a car, house, boat and even encouraging others to try new things. Looking at different points of view is good. It's democracy in action. Unfortunately it often leads to some discord, unhappiness and words said that aren't always meant to be spoken.

We've heard the term about "fighting fair" or not being "dealt a fair hand" and other quotes that are inspired from the art of disagreeing. Spouses disagree, children disagree, even employers and employees disagree at times, but it's how we approach this art that may lead to being satisfied or just an angry person.

People seem to be particularly motivated to do more agreeing when they find like-minded individuals. When you don't agree with someone, it's new territory. Unfortunately, with the advent of the Internet, there are more negative things said because it's not face-to-face. The number of individuals who agree to disagree may add up to an increasing number of angry people.

There is an upside to not agreeing with someone. You can [illegible] various points of view and also see how a person deals with stress up close and personal. The benefit of disagreeing creates interesting conversations; some individuals actually feel happier because they felt they've been heard. Sometimes meanness steps in, but you don't have to become mean spirited to make a point. Most of us do not enjoy saying anything mean, but sometimes we can't help themselves because it's human nature. Meanness or name-calling is considered weak in the debate world.

Refuting is the best way to disagree with someone. This requires more effort because you need to actually look at the central points of concern. This is then followed by quoting the person's passages you can't agree with and then explain your point of view as to why you disagree. This creates a healthy discussion and one with which you can live. Often times discord brings a falling out of a friendship. There really isn't a need to draw a line in the sand when you don't see eye to eye.

Some of us avoid confrontation at all cost. This, in part, is because of our upbringing or our personality. I relished a good disagreement from time to time growing up as the middle child who grew tired listening to both sides but never felt heard. This may also be why I enjoyed debate so much — a classroom full of students who could not escape my thoughts that I felt needed sharing. My parents enjoyed a good conversation but reminded us growing up that the way to bring an end to any party was to bring up religion or politics. Never have I forgotten this. I am amazed it's still true today.

As I continue reading and listening to local disagreements and different points of view in the political arena I am reminded of something my college speech/debate professor would tell me: "There once was a French philosopher named Voltaire and he said, 'I do not agree with what you have to say, but I'll defend to the death your right to say it.'"

So be it. I guess debate is still one of my favorite classes because it creates healthy discussion if done tactfully, it uncovers many points of view, it gives the opportunity to be heard and, most importantly, good things can come from what may look like a bad situation.

LETTER to the Northwest staff thanks Stutzman

Editor,

The staff of Northwest Academy would like to express our sincere appreciation for the years of service offered by Gary Stutzman. After 16 years, Mr. Stutzman has retired from his work at Northwest Academy. Over those 16 years, Mr. Stutzman built our award-winning band program, taking students on trips all over the country, from Colorado to Washington D.C. His hard work and dedication to the youth of Charlevoix has impacted the lives of many, and will continue to resound through the lives of the students be served.

In additiob to his work as band director, Mr. Stutzman built ties with the community of Charlevoix through participation in a variety of community events including petunia planting, band concerts at Boulder Park Terrace and the senior center. Northwest Academy students have also had the opportunity to contribute to their community by assisting with decorating our downtown with corn stalks in the fall, playing and participating in our community tree lighting event, and preparing for, planting, and playing during Petunia Planting. In addition to these community activities, Mr. Stutzman has led our band to participate in the Venetian Parade and to assist throughout the week of Venetian in a variety of ways.

Mr. Stutzman will continue to build the community of Charlevoix through his work with the Charlevoix City Band and building a new Northern Michigan student band that debuted at this year's Venetian Festival. Northwest Academy also looks forward to his continued support and friendship as a volunteer and supporter of our programs.

Thank you, Stutz, for all of the hard work and dedication you have shown to our school and to the youth of Charlevoix! We look forward to working with you in this new chapter of your journey.

Phoebe Gohs,
on behalf of the Northwest Academy staff

Bridging our past with our future

LOOKING BACK…

On the blustery, snowy evening of Dec. 6, 1867, the local ladies hosted a fair to raise money for a second schoolhouse. As pioneer teacher Lottie Stockman phrased it, "We all went to work with a will, as ladies always do, when they undertake to do anything." The admission fee was $2 per couple, with oysters, a rarity in these parts, part of the meal. Fund-raising games were played, the evening ended with a dance, and $75 was in the coffers. The next spring, a frame house went up on Antrim Street close to the site of the present entry door of Oleson's store. Charlevoix's first lawyer, Civil War veteran E. H. Green, taught here his first year in town, for $4 per week, part of it in flour and potatoes "for the purpose of keeping meal in the barrel." The structure later became a private home, and was moved to its present location at 403 Mason St., one of the oldest surviving buildings in Charlevoix.

This image is one of 850 in the Charlevoix Historical Society's most recent DVD titled "Charlevoix, Michigan — A Pictorial Journey through 16 Decades." The disc is available at the Society's Harshe House Museum, 103 State St. next to the Congregational Church, from 1-4 p.m. Tuesday -Saturday. LOCAL Highlights

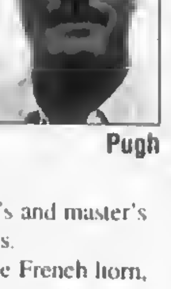
Six new teachers join staff at Northwest Academy

MORGAN SHERBURNE
Northern Michigan Review

The six new teachers at Northwest Academy in Charlevoix offer a range of experience, from brand-new graduates to veterans with more than a decade of teaching under their belts.



Pugh

Dave Pugh takes over as K-12 music director from longtime director Gary Stutzman. A graduate of Central Michigan University, Pugh earned both a bachelor's and master's of music degrees.

Pugh plays the French horn, trumpet and is a vocalist, and in Northern Michigan, performs with the Up North Big Band, the Northern Michigan Brass Band and the Pine River Jazz Band.

Previously, he taught at Lakewood High School in Lake Odessa, at Byron Center High School in Byron Center, at Concord Academy in Petoskey and Concord Montessori and Community School in Mancelona.

"I love the Charlevoix community and plan to relocate here from Petoskey as soon as possible," he said.

Eanes

Northwest added a new middle and high school social studies teacher in Christina Eanes. Eanes, originally from Traverse City, graduated from Central Michigan University with a dual major in history and social studies and a degree in secondary education. She is currently finishing a master's degree in political science.

Eanes' previous teaching experience ranges from tutoring elementary students to teaching college freshmen.

"Before coming to Northwest, I taught at Bradford Academy in Southfield where I gained an appreciation for the potential of public school academies to fill a need for students who did not want to be just a face in the crowd," she said. "I am looking forward to an incredibly productive year of teaching, learning, and growing with our students."

Kaiser

Desiree Kaiser joins Northwest Academy's staff as the secondary English language arts teacher, teaching English, drama and yearbook. She attended Grand Valley State University and graduated with a bachelor's in English with a minor in history.

As a student teacher, Kaiser taught for a year at Kalkaska Public Schools, where she also spent a semester volunteering.

She says the most rewarding aspect of teaching is seeing a student succeed.

"That moment when the light bulb clicks on and you know you've actually done something," she said. "What I'm looking forward to this year is getting to know my students. Northwest is rather unique in that, with such small classes, I'm able to get to know my students better than I have been able to in other classrooms."

Teuscher

Trista Teuscher will begin her first teaching job at Northwest. The Petoskey resident will teach third and fourth grade at Northwest Academy. She earned a bachelor's of arts in elementary education, majoring in social studies with an integrated science minor.

Teuscher graduated in May from Spring Arbor University after attending the university center in Petoskey after student teaching under Carolyn Matzinger at Petoskey's Central Elementary. She also worked as a substitute teacher in the area and as an online credit recovery teacher at Petoskey High School.

"I am looking forward to the rewarding part of my job where I am able to observe the growth students will have," said Teuscher. "At the third and fourth grade level, students are making huge leaps in reading and math. It will be exciting to be part of this."

Kathy Lycka will bring more than 12 years of experience to Northwest Academy. Before returning to school to earn her bachelor's of science in education, Lycka taught preschool for 12 years. Now, she's certified to teach a wide range of grade levels and abilities. She is currently working on a master's degree at Grand Valley State University.

"There are many facets of secondary education that are new to me. As a lifelong learner, I am eager to learn all that I can and to use the resources at hand to help the students be successful," said Lycka. "The students and their families, along with the staff at Northwest Academy are very supportive."

Finally, John Thompson will fill in as a long-term substitute math teacher. Thompson, who earned his undergraduate degree at Spring Arbor University and did his graduate work at Saginaw Valley State University, brings a lifetime of experience to the job. He began teaching in 1979 in Midland, and has worked as a teacher and administrator in Connecticut and Massachusetts in private religious schools.

In 2007, he took an early retirement and moved back to Michigan, where he and his wife, Evelyn, could be "nearer to our aging parents," Thompson said.

He says he is looking forward to working with students in the classroom and through Northwest's online courses.

"The online courses are rather new to me, so there are a lot of things that I am learning about managing the online courses," said Thompson. "But, being a long-time computer geek, I've seen the progression of computer-aided learning over the years. It has come a long way. At present, we can 'tailor make' a class for a student to meet their individual learning program. It is simply an amazing thing."

Splash event to mark pool's 15th anniversary

Officials with the Charlevoix Area Community Pool will celebrate 15 years of service to the surrounding community by hosting and event dubbed "Splash 2012" from 1-5 p.m. on Sunday, Sept. 30.

Activities and attraction planned for the event include a dunk tank, bounce house, and "Toothpic" the Clown & "Crash" with face painting and Balloon animals. Complimentary popcorn and cotton candy plus live and interactive demonstrations of the Stingray Swim Team, water fitness, Twinges in the Hinges and water safety.

Pig Eatin' Ribs will be on hand with a menu of food for purchase.

Previews of the pool's new giant pool inflatable will be available and a free open swimm will be offered from 4-5 p.m.

Pool officials are planning for the Splash 2012 to be the kick-off for a year-long celebration.

The Charlevoix Area Community Pool is non-profit organization which provides an environment that promotes fun, fitness and safety in and around the water. Girl Scouts attend rally

Charlevoix Girl Scouts recently attended the 26th annual International Scout Rally, Sept. 14-16 in Heaseli. Troops 10253, 10269 and 10262, comprised of Cadettes, Juniors and Brownies, spent the weekend enjoying rustic camping, scout games, activities and challenges, flag ceremonies and camaraderie. The girls won prizes for their campsite and their total points earned from the games. The Cadettes placed second for song performance. This was the fourth year Troop 10253 has attended and the second year for Troops 10269 and 10262. The Rally brings together 600-1,000 Boy Scouts, Venture Crew, Girl Scouts and Girl Guides from the United States and Canada.

ENGAGEMENT

Sheri McWhirter - Timothy O'Donnell

JAN STUMP PHOTOGRAPHY

Sheri McWhirter and Timothy O'Donnell will be married Oct. 5 at Castle Farms in Charlevoix.

Bride-elect Sheri Erin McWhirter is engaged to be married on Friday, Oct. 5 to Timothy Hugh O'Donnell, both of Elmira in Antrim County. The wedding ceremony and reception will take place at Castle Farms in Charlevoix.

Sheri is the middle child of Gary and Donna McWhirter, of both Kalkaska and Salem, Ill., while Timothy is the youngest child of Heather O'Donnell, of Tecumseh, and the late Gary O'Donnell. Sheri graduated in 1997 from Highland High School, in Highland, Ill., and in 2001 from Southern Illinois University — Edwardsville. Timothy graduated in 1989 from Ypsilanti High School and in 1997 from Spring Arbor College.

Sheri currently works as the niche products editor for the Petoskey News-Review, responsible for the paper's Saturday edition, The Graphic newspaper, HomeLife magazine, GoodLife magazine, Up North Bride magazine and both the winter and summer Guides. Timothy currently works as the aquatics director at the Otsego County Sportsplex in Gaylord.

Additionally, Sheri also serves as the board secretary for nonprofit Raven Hill Discovery Center in East Jordan and is a 2012 graduate of the Leadership Charlevoix County program. Timothy also serves as a lifeguarding and water safety instructor trainer for the American Red Cross.

The couple's engagement portrait is by Jan Stump Photography of Traverse City.

Hello. My name is Richard Clem (sometimes known as Shirley's Richard). I am the Independent candidate for Charlevoix County 6th district commissioner (City of Charlevoix and Charlevoix Township). I've been a resident of Charlevoix for 20 years. Many of you know me from area golf courses and some others know me from motorcycle riding (my hobbies). My background is in sales and marketing and I think that background will be an asset as county commissioner. For the last several years, I've been a member of Charlevoix's zoning board of appeals. That experience and the fact that I don't have an agenda, other than making Charlevoix County the best that it can be, make me the best choice for your commissioner. In the next few weeks I will be visiting your neighborhoods and I hope to meet and shake hands with all of you. I want to hear your views. You may also e-mail me at: rlclem@chartermi.net I want to see your concerns and views on the issues that are important to you.

Medusa Creek's low rate of return is a good thing

MORGAN SHERBURNE
Northern Michigan Review

STEVE ZUCKER/CHARLEVOIX COURIER

The Medusa Creek, which flows out of limestone quarries at St. Marys Cement in Charlevoix, flows wider and deeper now after it was recently dredged to allow salmon to swim upstream.

Recently, the Department of Natural Resources had some dredging to do.

After obtaining the necessary permits from the Department of Environmental Quality, DNR employees began pulling sandbags that held back the banks of Medusa Creek, a man-made creek that flows out of the St. Marys Cement plant in Charlevoix.

The creek exists only thanks to a pump that drains the limestone quarries of the cement plant.

The creek was becoming too shallow for the salmon, planted each year at the creek, to return. They were beaching themselves along the edge of the water and among the sand bars of the creek.

Even so, the salmon don't have far to travel: about 150 feet from the mouth of the creek is a weir that feeds into a raceway. The same raceway where many of the chinook salmon begin their lives in the lake is where they end their lives, says Dave Clapp, station manager at the Charlevoix Fisheries Research Station. The rate of return salmon to Medusa Creek is the lowest of any stocked tributaries in Lake Michigan.

This is a good thing, explains Randy Claramunt, fisheries research biologist at the station. Each year, the DNR plants about 200,000 chinooks in the creek. They began planting Medusa Creek in 1984, switching the planting site from the Jordan River, which they began stocking in 1970. Now, only about 5,000 return to the creek.

"In a very good river, fish have high site fidelity," said Claramunt. "Their tendency to stray outside that system is low. But the Medusa is a small, artificial stream."

Salmon "with any common sense" return to other streams, said Claramunt; because the Medusa is man-made and tiny, there is no natural reproduction there, as there might be in rivers such as the Bear or the Manistee.

The fish that do return to Medusa are harvested. Fresh fish during a good run, like the fall 2011 run, are sometimes given out to residents or sold to grocery stores around the weir, said Clapp. But most of the fish are sold wholesale to the American Canadian Fisheries. Because salmon die after they spawn, their bodies start degrading almost as soon as they enter the river system, making them suitable for only pet food.

Part of salmon's high survival rate and therefore high contribution to the fishery might be the way the salmon fingerlings are released to the system from Medusa Creek, said Jory Jonas, Charlevoix research station biologist. Before being released, the salmon fingerlings spend several weeks in the net pen — the same concrete raceway at the top of the creek into which returning salmon are shunted. In the spring, the salmon planters spend several weeks there, acclimating to the "real world and leaving at their own pace," said Jonas.

"They're making a choice, which improves their survival everywhere," said Jonas. "They have the best survival rate of stocked fish in Lake Michigan."

Each year, the DNR and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service implant the salmon with coded wire tags which can track where the fish end up. Eventually, says Clapp, the DNR hopes to tag all the fish released from a Michigan hatchery to track where they live, and where their lives end.

In exchange for a lure, anglers cut off the heads of the salmon and mail them to the Charlevoix station to determine where the fish were planted. Too, the DNR clips the adipose fin Medusa salmon, and anglers can identify where the salmon they caught came from.

"(A good return rate) means the salmon are caught by fishermen or go other places," said Claramunt. "By stocking Medusa, we stock the lake."

Officials seek opinions on county broadband needs

AEBRA COE
Northern Michigan Review

In August, Charlevoix County was recognized as the first "connected community" in the nation, a designation under the Connect Nation program. The award was the result of efforts of the Charlevoix County Broadband Committee and Connect Michigan, a nonprofit organization, to expand broadband access to more residents in the county.

The first step in reaching the groups' goals was the creation of a technology plan. The next step is to acquire feedback and information from residents on Internet accessibility and need in the form of a survey.

"This is important for improving broadband access in Charlevoix County," said Wilson Township Supervisor Todd Sorenson of the 22 question survey.

It is available and can be submitted online at www.charlevoixcountybroadband.org. All county residents and businesses are encouraged to relate their experiences and desires in regards to Internet accessibility through the survey.

School gets benches from Eagle Scout project

COURTESY PHOTO

The project included casting six concrete benches that are surrounded by an area of new brick pavers, located along each side of the main entrance to the school.

Nathan said the intent of his project was to enhance the main entrance, help welcome visitors, and provide a nice place for people to sit.

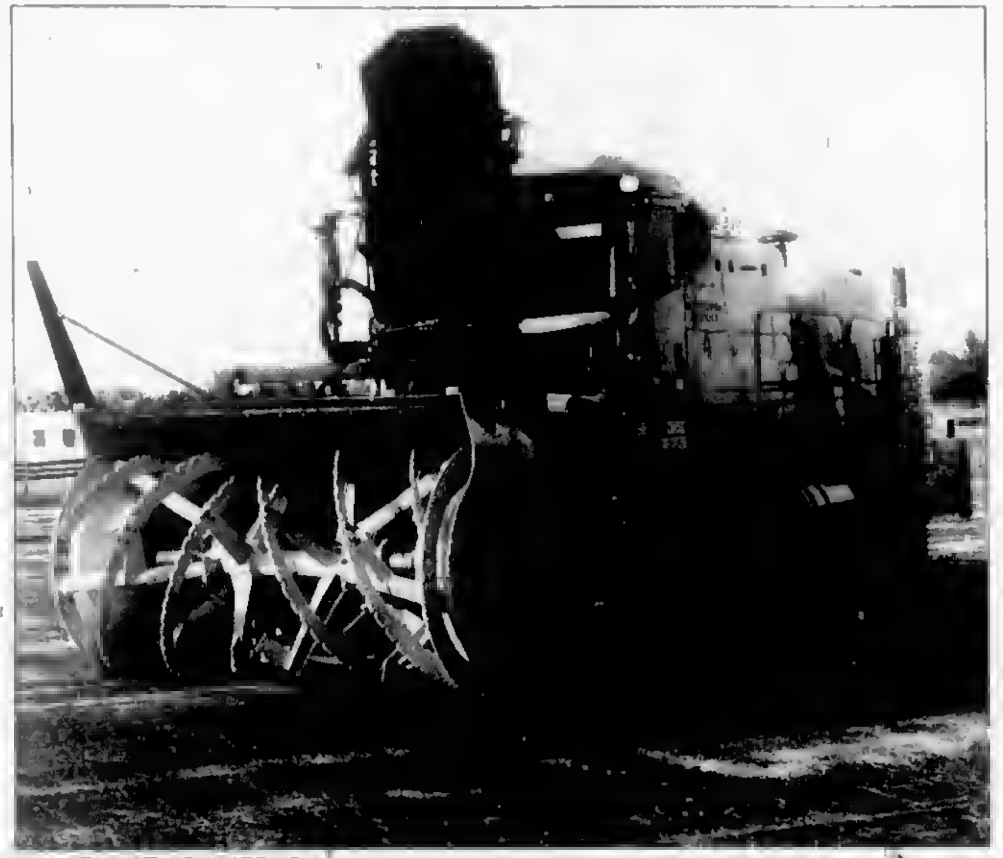
"The main reason I wanted to complete this project was to give the kids a place to sit when they have to wait outside before the first bell rings," Nathan said.

The main focus of the Eagle Scout project is to have the scout provide leadership to others in completing a significant project that benefits a non-profit entity in their community. The Eagle Scout rank is the highest rank in the Boy Scouts of America and achieved by only a small fraction of the boys that enter the character developing scouting program. 2012 represents the 100th anniversary of the Eagle Scout Rank.

Earlier this year Nathan's older brother Jonathon completed his Eagle Scout project, which was replacing the welcome sign on the Pine River Channel.

Troop 11 is currently seeking boys ages 11-18 who are interested in outdoor adventures such as camping, hiking and canoeing. For additional information about scouting or visiting Troop 11, contact Scoutmaster Bryan Lindfors at (231) 675-3475.

Grant money pays for most of new Charlevoix airport snowblower cost



COURTESY PHOTO

This newly purchased snow removal truck will be keeping the runways at the Charlevoix Municipal Airport clear this winter and for many winters to come.

Unlike most years, maintenance crews at Charlevoix Municipal Airport are probably eager for the first significant snowfall of the season this year so they can try out the new Oshkosh all-wheel-drive snow blower the city recently purchased to keep the runways, taxiways and tarmacs clear.

The snow blower can move up to 3,000 tons of snow per hour.

The purchase of the blower, with a value of $920,000, was made possible by state and federal enplanement grants.

Airport officials said enplanement grants are determined by information the Federal Aviation Administration extracts from a database containing passenger boarding data at the Charlevoix airport. That database supports the FAA's Airport Improvement Plan and must be spent on airport improvements. Charlevoix qualifies for these grants because of the large volume of passenger flights to Beaver Island.

"Charlevoix is one of a select few airports across the country which is fortunate enough to receive these improvement grants. The grants have allowed us to move our airport up to another level of service that would be difficult to achieve with local funding," Dana Dvoracek, the airport's acting manager, said.

He added that the City of Charlevoix contributed 2.5 percent of the total grant amount.

Dvoracek said the snow blower will allow city employees to quickly and efficiently move large amounts of snow during storm events. This efficiency will allow the airport to serve the community when other means of travel may be limited.

Charlevoix City Manager Rob Straebel added: "The FAA grants we receive are a win/win for the taxpayers of Charlevoix. We can leverage an investment of $23,000 into a $920,000 piece of equipment that will greatly enhance airport operations."

REFORMS

— Judges may "fairly and impartially sum up the evidence" after closing arguments, while also reminding jurors that they must decide fact issues for themselves. The rule bars judges from commenting on a witness's credibility or stating a conclusion "on the ultimate issue of fact before the jury."

Judges are required to give the jury a copy of the final jury instructions to take into the jury room for final deliberations. In addition, judges must invite jurors to ask any questions they may have to clarify the instructions.

— In addition to jurors' notes and final jury instructions, the judge "may permit the jurors to take into the jury room the reference document as well as any exhibits and writings admitted into evidence."

— The judge "may not refuse a reasonable request" from jurors to review evidence or testimony as they deliberate.

— If the jury appears to reach an impasse during deliberations, the judge "may invite the jurors to list the issues that divide or confuse them in the event that the judge can be of assistance in clarifying or amplifying the final instructions."

The court can schedule expert testimony to assist jurors' understanding of the issues – for example, by having expert witnesses testify sequentially. Another option is to allow each expert to be present for the opposing expert's testimony, so that the expert can "aid counsel in formulating questions to be asked of the testifying expert on cross-examination."

Despite what has been a mostly blustery and rainy week, Mother Nature cooperated just in time to allow Charlevoix Middle School's first-ever "Walk and Roll to School" event to go off without a hitch Wednesday.

Timed to coincide with International Walk To School Day, the event is part of a bigger Safe Routes to School program at the school headed up by middle school principal Travis Garrett.

The event was designed to encourage students to walk or ride their bikes to school to promote exercise. To that end, school buses dropped students off at the bus garage on May Street — about a half-mile away from the school's entrance — and parents who normally drop their children off to school were encouraged to do the same. The students then walked (a couple rode bikes, one rode a skateboard) in a group to the school. Once at the school, students gathered for an assembly, complete with prizes.

The school's participation in the program initially grew out of Garrett's concern for the safety of students who walk or ride their bikes to school and must cross Bridge Street (U.S. 31) to get there.

The Charlevoix Safe Routes to School team began conducting required assess-

STUTZMAN

And it is from Northwest that Stutzman has recently retired.

His position started with the school. It too opened in 1996.

"It's been a blessing in my life," he said. "I've done everything from cleaning floors to painting walls. I built my own band room."

He built his own band, too. Northwest Academy, a charter school, is small. Enrollment hovers around 115 for K-12 (and online students), and Stutzman said his band classes averaged in the tens of kids rather than hundreds. That experience was a little different from the bands he led as an assistant to Clarence Odmark, Charlevoix's well-known band director for whom the performance pavilion in East Park is named.

Stutzman began teaching at Charlevoix High School in 1970 after a short stint at Flint Northern High School. Stutzman, who served as Odmark's assistant, helped oversee the hundreds of students that were at that time in the Charlevoix marching, symphonic, concert and jazz bands.

Soon, Odmark retired, leaving Stutzman in charge of the entire band program — beginning band through all the high school bands.

"There were more than 400 kids," said Stutzman. "It was huge. I couldn't do it alone anymore."

So Stutzman left the job, spending 11 years in Colorado as a representative for a professional fundraising company.

But he missed education, and he missed Michigan, so Stutzman returned to Charlevoix and its lakes.

At Northwest, Stutzman didn't let small class sizes stop him from building a good band.

The key, says Stutzman, himself a tuba player, is to build a band from the bottom up.

Ron Winchester, owner of Winchester Funeral Home in Charlevoix, can attest to Stutzman's love of low-brass. Though Winchester was a student of Stutzman's from 1970-75, while Stutzman was at Charlevoix, he convinced Winchester to switch instruments from trumpet to tuba.

"He got me to play tuba and then I never forgave him for that," Winchester joked.

Winchester said Stutzman's teaching gift was obvious.

"The band parents used to refer to him as the pied piper. Kids would go anywhere with him," said Winchester. "He was able to retain a lot of that energy right throughout his career. He was able to pull music out of people."

Those people included the young students at Northwest Academy. In 1999, just three years after the school opened, the band played at the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association's State Band and Orchestra Festival. To attend that festival, bands have to earn an overall rating of "1" at a district festival — not an easy feat.

In 2004, the academy's advanced band played at the Michigan band association's annual convention in Ann Arbor.

Stutzman's involvement doesn't stop inside classroom walls. He also directs the Charlevoix City Band and plays in several bands, including the Pine River Jazz Band, the Northern Michigan Brass Band, Castle Brass. He was instrumental, Winchester said, in both band shell projects in downtown Charlevoix — as well as keeping music alive within people who are no longer in school.

"He's good at getting kids involved in music, and keeping people interested in music," said Winchester. "That's really his biggest gift, I think, is to keep people interested in music."

Stutzman will continue working to promote and raise funds for the school.

ments last fall. Student and parent surveys about walking and biking to school, and classroom tallies of walking/biking students, have been completed. The team also conducted a biking audit to see what students experience while riding to and from school, noting safety concerns.

Wednesday's event was one of the products of the effort so far. Ultimately, among other programs, officials hope to apply for a Michigan Department of Transportation infrastructure grant. Requests up to $200,000 can fund improvements such as sidewalks, paths, plan design, bike lanes and educational programs.

Garrett said he hopes the Walk and Roll days are here to stay.

"We hope tu do one a month until it snows, and then pick up again in the spring, once a month," Garrett said.

"The community has really pulled together with lots of donations to give away as prizes for students that have participated," he added. "Revolution Bike Shop, DCL, Screenmasters and Latitude 45 have all donated prizes fur the kids. The community has responded well, but the kids may be a bit leery at this point. The goal is to really pump them up on Wednesday with prizes and fun, to pave the way for future Walk and Roll to School days."

Garrett estimated that about 240 of the school's 270 students participated in the event.

"The student response was great, especially when they saw the two mountain bikes that were donated by Revolution Bike Shop and DCL," Garrett said. "The kicker was when I told them that they were going to be given away later in the year so we need to keep participation up."

Garrett thanked the other donors who provided prizes: Screen Masters and Latitude 45, and volunteers who assisted including Charlevoix Middle School staff, Kiwanis members, Charlevoix High School National Honor Society students, and the city's fire and police departments.

A grant from the Charlevoix Community Foundation enabled Charlevoix Middle School to develop and implement a Safe Routes to School action plan. To learn more about Walk & Roll to School Day and Safe Routes tu School, visit saferoutesmichigan.org.

Penalties plague Rayders in loss to Elk Rapids

The Charlevoix Rayder varsity football team finds itself still looking for its first win of the season after a number of untimely penalties contributed to a 48-21 loss to conference foe Elk Rapids on their home field Friday, Sept. 14.

The Elks' Thais Grays carried nine times for 201 yards and two touchdowns to lead his team in the win over the Rayders.

Tanner Catt rushed for 127 yards on 14 carries fur the Rayders, who slipped to 0-4 overall, 0-2 Lake Michigan. Elk Rapids improved to 2-2 overall.

"We had several penalties that stopped drives or called back good returns," Charlevoix coach Joe Pruchnicki said. "The penalties stalled drives. Elk Rapids was able to use the stupped clock, to get some quick plays off offensively late in the half."

Charlevoix quarterback Luke Klinger completed four passes for 92 yards and a touchdown to Catt.

Charlie Hamilton added 69 yards on three carries for the Rayders, while Bryan Noirut rushed for 33 yards on eight carries.

Hamilton and Tommy Zipp each had five tackles to lead Charlevoix's defense.

The Rayder hope to get the season's first tally in the win column Friday, Sept. 21 when they host Kalkaska at Kipke Field. Kickoff is set for 7 p.m.

Last week the Blazers rolled passed East Jurdan 48-0.

In that game Kalkaska returned three interceptions for touchdowns and led 41-0 at halftime as the Blazers improved to 3-1 overall, 1-1 league.

East Jordan slipped to 0-4, 0-2.

In other area Lake Michigan Cnnference football action, Boyne City defeated Harbor Springs 14-7 led by Maceo Vroman who made three straight receptiuns on the game-winning drive, the last a 34-yarder for a touchdown with 2 minutes, 29 seconds remaining in the game.

Vroman's TD and Bradley Fouchia's ensuing two-point conversion brought the Ramblers back from a 7-6 deficit as they remained unbeaten, 4-0, on the season.

JV FOOTBALL

JV Rayders win a thriller over Elks

An interception by Ben Boss' on the Rayders' five yard line with 10 seconds remaining in the game preserved a 26-20 home victory over Elk Rapids for the Charlevoix JV football team on Thursday Sept. 13.

After both teams came up empty in the first quarter, the Rayders put up all 26 of their points in the second and then hung on for the win.

The Rayder drew first blood on a Austin Putman to Will Telgenof 14-yard pass just one minute into quarter. The point after attempt failed.

But the Elks came right back 40 seconds later scoring on a 92 yard run. The point after was good put the Elks up 7-6

Just over a minute later the Rayders scored again, this time un a one-yard TD plunge by Putman. Again, the point after failed putting the Rayders up 12-7.

The Elks again answered with a touchdown on a 48 yard run with 8:20 left in the half. The point after was good, putting the Elks up 14-12.

Then the Rayders tacked two more touchdowns on before the end of the half. The first on a 33-yard Putman to Boss pass with 6 minutes remaining in the half. The point-after was no good. The Rayders final TD came with 2:20 remaining in the half on a 7-yard run by Sam Hovie, and this time the Rayders tacked on the two-point cunversion on a run by Telgenhof, giving the Rayders a 26-14 lead at the half.

The Elks closed the gap with 8:45 left in the third on an 8-yard run. The point after failed.

That's when the Rayder defense stepped up, Charlevoix coach Todd Klinger said.

"The defense came up really big," Klinger said. "Elk Rapids had the ball inside our 20 yard line on three consecutive possessions, and each time the boys held them out of the end zone.

Klinger praised the efforts of defensive linemen Andrew Michaud, Spencer Bruce, Devin Largent, Turner Havens KeNen Borths and Adam Michaud, who combined for five sacks.

"They did a great job pressuring the quarterback to help stop Elk Rapids from scoring late in the game," he said.

Hovie led the Rayders on offense with 127 yards on 27 carries, while Telgenhof had 66 yards on 14 carries and Justin Atkins picked up 14 yards on five carries.

Putman was 6-for-7 in passing for 84 yards, hitting Telgenhof on two for 17 yards and Boss for four for 67 yards.

Telgenhof also lead the way on defense with six tackles and four assists. Hunter Cox had five tackles and two assists. Andrew Michaud and Largent had two sacks each, Bruce had a sack and three assists, Hovie had one tackle and five assist and Borths had six assists.

"Our team is really starting to develop," Klinger said. "This was a tight game right down to the end, but the boys kept fighting right up until the last play. The coaching staff is really proud of the effort everyone on the team gave for this game."

The win lifts the Rayders record to 3-1. The JV will travel to Kalkaska Thursday. Kickoff is set for 6 p.m.

ments last fall. Student and parent surveys about walking and biking to school, and classroom tallies of walking/biking students, have been completed. The team also conducted a biking audit to see what students experience while riding to and from school, noting safety concerns.

Wednesday's event was one of the products of the effort so far. Ultimately, among other programs, officials hope to apply for a Michigan Department of Transportation infrastructure grant. Requests up to $200,000 can fund improvements such as sidewalks, paths, plan design, bike lanes and educational programs.

Garrett said he hopes the Walk and Roll days are here to stay.

"We hope to do one a month until it snows, and then pick up again in the spring, once a month," Garrett said.

"The community has really pulled together with lots of donations to give away as prizes for students that have participated," he added. "Revolution Bike Shop, DCL, Screenmasters and Latitude 45 have all donated prizes for the kids. The community has responded well, but the kids may be a bit leery at this point. The goal is to really pump them up on Wednesday with prizes and fun, to pave the way for future Walk and Roll to School days."

Garrett estimated that about 240 of the school's 270 students participated in the event.

"The student response was great, especially when they saw the two mountain bikes that were donated by Revolution Bike Shop and DCL," Garrett said. "The kicker was when I told them that they were going to be given away later in the year so we need to keep participation up."

Garrett thanked the other donors who provided prizes, Screen Masters and Latitude 45, and volunteers who assisted including Charlevoix Middle School staff, Kiwanis members, Charlevoix High School National Honor Society students, and the city's fire and police departments.

A grant from the Charlevoix Community Foundation enabled Charlevoix Middle School to develop and implement a Safe Routes to School action plan. To learn more about Walk & Roll to School Day and Safe Routes to School visit saferoutesmichigan.org

Penalties plague Rayders in loss to Elk Rapids

The Charlevoix Rayder varsity football team finds itself still looking for its first win of the season after a number of untimely penalties contributed to a 48-21 loss to conference foe Elk Rapids on their home field Friday, Sept. 14.

The Elks' Thais Grays carried nine times for 201 yards and two touchdowns to lead his team to the win over the Rayders.

Tanner Catt rushed for 127 yards on 14 carries for the Rayders, who slipped to 0-4 overall, 0-2 Lake Michigan. Elk Rapids improved to 2-2 overall.

"We had several penalties that stopped drives or called back good returns," Charlevoix coach Joe Pruchnicki said. "The penalties stalled drives. Elk Rapids was able to use the stopped clock, to get some quick plays off offensively late in the half."

Charlevoix quarterback Luke Klinger completed four passes for 92 yards and a touchdown to Catt.

Charlie Hamilton added 69 yards on three carries for the Rayders, while Bryan Norrot rushed for 33 yards on eight carries.

Hamilton and Tommy Zipp each had five tackles to lead Charlevoix's defense.

The Rayder hope to get the season's first tally in the win column Friday, Sept. 21 when they host Kalkaska at Kipke Field. Kickoff is set for 7 p.m.

Last week the Blazers rolled passed East Jordan 48-0.

In that game Kalkaska returned three interceptions for touchdowns and led 41-0 at halftime as the Blazers improved to 3-1 overall, 1-1 league.

East Jordan slipped to 0-4, 0-2.

In other area Lake Michigan Conference football action, Boyne City defeated Harbor Springs 14-7 led by Maceo Vroman who made three straight receptions on the game-winning drive, the last a 34-yarder for a touchdown with 2 minutes, 29 seconds remaining in the game.

Vroman's TD and Bradley Fouchia's ensuing two point conversion brought the Ramblers back from a 7-6 deficit as they remained unbeaten, 4-0, on the season.

JV FOOTBALL

JV Rayders win a thriller over Elks

An interception by Ben Boss on the Rayders' five yard line with 10 seconds remaining in the game preserved a 26-20 home victory over Elk Rapids for the Charlevoix JV football team on Thursday, Sept. 13.

After both teams came up empty in the first quarter, the Rayders put up all 26 of their points in the second and then hung on for the win.

The Rayder drew first blood on a Austin Putman to Will Telgenhof 14 yard pass just one minute into quarter. The point after attempt failed.

But the Elks came right back 40 seconds later scoring on a 92 yard run. The point after was good put the Elks up 7-6.

Just over a minute later the Rayders scored again, this time on a one yard TD plunge by Putman. Again, the point after failed putting the Rayders up 12-7.

The Elks again answered with a touchdown on a 48 yard run with 8:20 left in the half. The point after was good, putting the Elks up 14-12.

Then the Rayders tacked two more touchdowns on before the end of the half. The first on a 33 yard Putman to Boss pass with 6 minutes remaining in the half. The point after was no good. The Rayders final TD came with 2:20 remaining in the half on a 7 yard run by Sam Howie, and this time the Rayders tacked on the two-point conversion on a run by Telgenhof, giving the Rayders a 26-14 lead at the half.

The Elks closed the gap with 8:45 left in the third on an 8 yard run. The point after failed.

That's when the Rayder defense stepped up, Charlevoix coach Todd Klinger said.

"The defense came up really big," Klinger said. "Elk Rapids had the ball inside our 20 yard line on three consecutive possessions, and each time the boys held them out of the end zone."

Klinger praised the efforts of defensive linemen Andrew Michaud, Spencer Bruce, Devin Largent, Turner Havens, KeNen Borths and Adam Michaud, who combined for five sacks.

"They did a great job pressuring the quarterback to help stop Elk Rapids from scoring late in the game," he said.

Howie led the Rayders on offense with 127 yards on 27 carries, while Telgenhof had 66 yards on 14 carries and Justin Atkins picked up 14 yards on five carries.

Putman was 6 for 7 in passing for 84 yards, hitting Telgenhof on two for 17 yards and Boss for four for 67 yards.

Telgenhof also lead the way on defense with six tackles and four assists. Hunter Cox had five tackles and two assists. Andrew Michaud and Largent had two sacks each. Bruce had a sack and three assists. Howie had one tackle and five assist and Borths had six assists.

"Our team is really starting to develop," Klinger said. "This was a tight game right down to the end, but the boys kept fighting right up until the last play. The coaching staff is really proud of the effort everyone on the team gave for this game."

The win lifts the Rayders record to 3-1. The JV will travel to Kalkaska Thursday. Kickoff is set for 6 p.m.

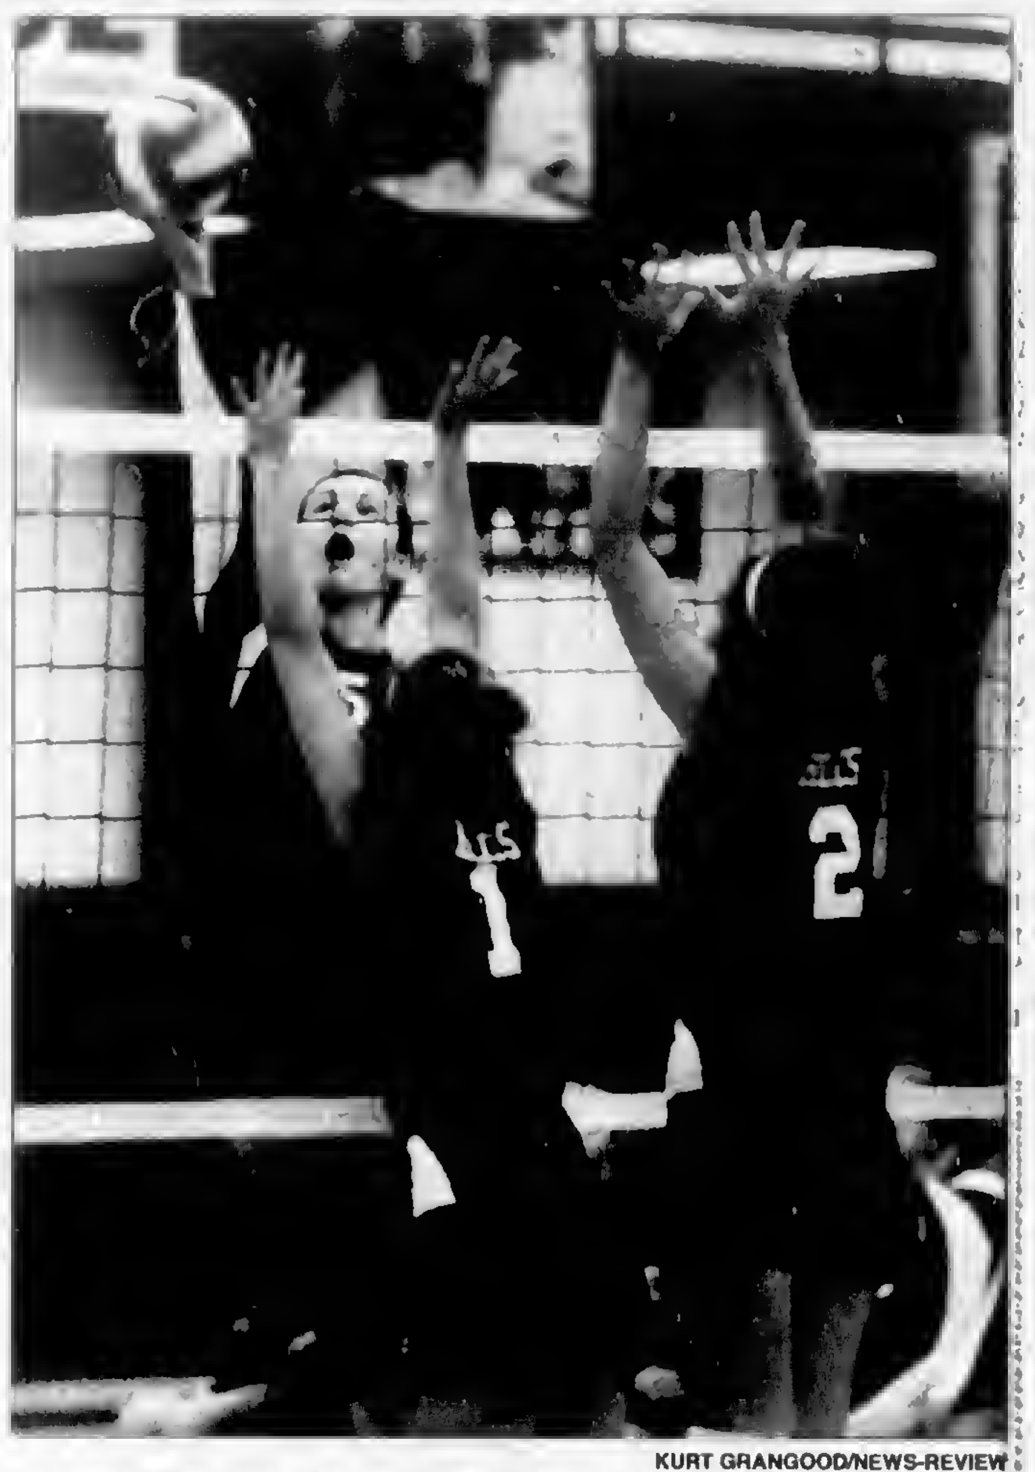
Rayders beat Elks, Red Devils, take third in tournament



KURT GRANGOOD/NEWS-REVIEW

Charlevoix's Madeline Boss (left) tips the ball over Harbor Light's Katie Walker (middle) and Courtney Blair during the Charlevoix Volleyball Invitational on Saturday at Charlevoix High School.

On Thursday, Sept. 13, the Rayders traveled to Elk Rapids where Karley Pearsall had 10 kills and Anna Way added nine to lead Charlevoix to a 25-16, 25-17, 25-23 victory in a Lake Michigan Conference volleyball match.

Madeline Boss added seven kills, five aces and eight digs for the Rayders, who improved to 7-6-5 overall, 2-1 league.

Charlevoix setter Gloria Greene finished with 13 assists, while Pearsall had three aces.

On Saturday, Pellston defeated Cheboygan, 25-18, 25-13, in the championship match to win the Charlevoix Volleyball Invitational.

The Hornets, who are 25-5-4 and ranked sixth in the Class D state coaches poll, went 3-0 in pool play, then downed Harbor Light Christian, 25-18, 25-13, in the quarterfinals; and in the semifinals topped Charlevoix, 25-23, 21-25, 15-9.

In pool play, the Hornets defeated Brimley, 25-15, 25-18; Harbor Springs, 25-11, 25-21; and Elk Rapids, 25-22, 25-21.

Charlevoix finished third in the tournament.

In pool play, the Rayders, 10-8-5, defeated Harbor Light, 25-17, 25-11; Inland Lakes, 25-20, 25-17; and Harbor Springs, 25-18, 25-2; and lost to Cheboygan, 23-25, 24-26.

Karley Pearsall finished with 38 kills, 30 digs and 19 blocks to lead Charlevoix, while Madeline Boss had 33 kills, 32 digs, and was 34-of-35 serving.

Also for the Rayders, Gloria Greene had 58 assists, 15 digs, six blocks; Jennaca Holecheck had 25 digs; Katie Paramo finished with seven aces, 21 digs; Cassidy Peebles added 19 assists, nine digs, and was 22-for-22 serving; and Jessica Paramo added 17 assists and 10 digs.

"This was a wonderful team effort by the girls," Charlevoix coach Audra Randall said. "They made all positive contributions and played with more poise when they encountered adversity and were coming from behind.

"Progress is a key word for us, and we continue to move forward. I am very proud of the girls and all of their efforts."

On Tuesday, the Rayders traveled to East Jordan where Madeline Boss had nine kills, four aces, 11 digs and was a perfect 10-for-10 on serve receive as Charlevoix swept East Jordan, 25-14, 25-22, 25-23, in a Lake Michigan Conference volleyball match.

Also for Charlevoix, 11-8-5 overall, 3-1 league, Karley Pearsall had 10 kills and five blocks; while Jennaca Holecheck added 11 digs, four aces; Katie Paramo had seven digs and was 15-of-16 passing; and Gloria Greene added 17 assists and eight digs.

Charlevoix coach Audra Randall lauded the all-around play of Kelsey Pischner, Madi Carey and Cassidy Peebles.

For East Jordan, Valerie Peters and Angie Watkins finished with seven kills apiece, while Kiersten Malpass added five.

Peters had 10 digs and served at 100 percent, and Malpass added two aces.

Charlevoix won the JV match, 25-11, 25-21, 15-9. Yogi Hang had seven aces and eight assists, while Kelsey Engstrom added two aces, two kills and two assists.

SOCCER

Offense struggles in three shutouts

After racking up several early-season wins the Charlevoix Rayder boys soccer team has struggled to find the back of the net, falling in three straight shutouts over the past week.

On Thursday, the Rayders dropped a Lake Michigan conference game to Grayling 3-0. Charlevoix coach Jon Boss pointed to Walker Drost as a standout for the Rayders, who were 5-6-1 overall, 2-2 league after the game.

On Friday, after the game's start was delayed 40 minutes because the officials did not arrive on time, the Rayders dropped a non-league game at home to Marqutte 4-0

Connor Currier was a standout in goal for the Rayders, Boss said.

On Tuesday, the Rayders were again blanked 8-0 when they traveled to Traverse City to face Traverse City Christian

"We played a better second half, as our defense stepped up the play," Boss said. "T.C. Christian is a very skilled team. We could not take advantage of our opportunities."

Connor Currier started in goal for the Rayders, now 5-7-1, and made 15 saves.

Next up the Rayders will travel to Elk Rapids for a 5 p.m. game on Thursday and then to Suttons Bay for an 11 a.m. game on Saturday.

Rayder 2012 homecoming next week

Game, coronation to cap week full of fun events

Although the school year is just a few weeks old, it's already time for Charlevoix High School students, alumni and the rest of the community to kick up the school spirit an extra notch as the 2012 Charlevoix High School homecoming week kicks off next week. Here's a look at what's on tap:

— On Sunday homecoming week kicks off with "Float Frenzy," from 12:30-5 p.m. at Kipke field. Members of each of the four classes in the high school will gather at the football field to build their respective class floats for the parade later in the week.

— Monday is "Pajama Day" during which students may wear pajamas to school. At 2:30 p.m. the members of the homecoming court will be auctioned off to students who will then serve as servants to the respective winning bidders on Thursday. The event is a fundraiser for homecoming.

— Tuesday is "Game Board Day." The theme for this year's homecoming is "Board Games" with each class being assigned a particular game. On this day students can come to school dressed as their class's game board. The evening will feature the girls Powder Puff football game at Kipke Field at 7 p.m.

— On "Wacky Wednesday" students will be able to wear all sorts of crazy attire to school and in the evening it will be the boys turn for the "Powder Buff" volleyball matches. Games start at 7 p.m. at the high school gym.

— After three days of silliness, students will be encouraged to dress up for school on Thursday for "Classy Day." Thursday will also be "Student Service Day" during which court members will serve as servants to their respective winning bidders from Monday's auction.

— Friday, of course, is the pinnacle of homecoming week and is Rayder Day. Dressed in all their maroon-and-white glory, students will have a homecoming assembly from 11 a.m.-3:05 p.m. full of fun activities. The homecoming parade will take place at 6 p.m. and will travel from the downtown south on Bridge Street to Garfield Street. (The parade usually begins on Clinton Street, but because of the ongoing construction on that street, the parade is tentatively slated to depart from Mason Street.) Kickoff of the varsity football game against Traverse City St. Francis is set for 7 p.m. and the homecoming king and queen will be crowned at halftime.

— On Saturday, homecoming activities wrap up with the homecoming dance which takes place from 8-11 p.m. at Charlevoix Elementary School.

KURT GRANGOOD/NEWS-REVIEW

Charlevoix's Madeline Boss (left) tips the ball over Harbor Light's Katie Walker (middle) and Courtney Blair during the Charlevoix Volleyball Invitational on Saturday at Charlevoix High School.

On Thursday, Sept. 13, the Rayders traveled to Elk Rapids where Karley Pearsall had 10 kills and Anna Way added nine to lead Charlevoix to a 25-16, 25-17, 25-23 victory in a Lake Michigan Conference volleyball match.

Madeline Boss added seven kills, five aces and eight digs for the Rayders, who improved to 7-6-5 overall, 2-1 league.

Charlevoix setter Gloria Greene finished with 13 assists, while Pearsall had three aces.

On Saturday, Pellston defeated Cheboygan, 25-18, 25-13, in the championship match to win the Charlevoix Volleyball Invitational.

The Hornets, who are 28-5-4 and ranked sixth in the Class D state coaches poll, went 3-0 in pool play, then downed Harbor Light Christian, 25-18, 25-05, in the quarterfinals, and in the semifinals topped Charlevoix, 25-23, 21-25, 15-[illegible].

In pool play, the Hornets defeated Brimley, 25-15, 25-18, Harbor Springs, 25-11, 25-21, and Elk Rapids, 25-22, 25-21.

Charlevoix finished third in the tournament.

In pool play, the Rayders, 10-8-5, defeated Harbor Light, 25-17, 25-11, Inland Lakes, 25-20, 25-17, and Harbor Springs, 25-18, 25-2, and lost to Cheboygan, 23-25, 24-26.

Karley Pearsall finished with 38 kills, 30 digs and 19 blocks to lead Charlevoix, while Madeline Boss had 33 kills, 32 digs, and was 34-of-35 serving.

Also for the Rayders, Gloria Greene had 58 assists, 15 digs, six blocks, Jennaca Holecheck had 25 digs; Katie Paramo finished with seven aces, 21 digs, Cassidy Peebles added 19 assists, nine digs, and was 22-for-22 serving, and Jessica Paramo added 17 assists and 10 digs.

"This was a wonderful team effort by the girls," Charlevoix coach Andra Randall said. "They made all positive contributions and played with more poise when they encountered adversity and were coming from behind.

"Progress is a key word for us, and we continue to move forward. I am very proud of the girls and all of their efforts."

On Tuesday, the Rayders traveled to East Jordan where Madeline Boss had nine kills, four aces, 11 digs and was a perfect 10-for-10 on serve receive as Charlevoix swept East Jordan, 25-14, 25-22, 25-23, in a Lake Michigan Conference volleyball match.

Also for Charlevoix, 11-8-5 overall, 3-1 league, Karley Pearsall had 10 kills and five blocks, while Jennaca Holecheck added 11 digs, four aces, Katie Paramo had seven digs and was 15-of-16 passing; and Gloria Greene added 17 assists and eight digs.

Charlevoix coach Andra Randall lauded the all-around play of Kelsey Pischner, Madi Carey and Cassidy Peebles.

For East Jordan, Valerie Peters and Angie Watkins finished with seven kills apiece, while Kiersten Malpass added five.

Peters had 10 digs and served at 100 percent, and Malpass added two aces.

Charlevoix won the JV match, 25-11, 25-21, 15-9. Yogi Hang had seven aces and eight assists, while Kelsey Engstrom added two aces, two kills and two assists.

SOCCER

Offense struggles in three shutouts

After racking up several early-season wins the Charlevoix Rayder boys soccer team has struggled to find the back of the net, falling in three straight shutouts over the past week.

On Thursday, the Rayders dropped a Lake Michigan conference game to Grayling 3-0. Charlevoix coach Jon Boss pointed to Walker Drost as a standout for the Rayders, who were 5-6-1 overall, 2-2 league after the game.

On Friday, after the game's start was delayed 40 minutes because the officials did not arrive on time, the Rayders dropped a non-league game at home to Marquette 4-0.

Connor Currier was a standout in goal for the Rayders, Boss said.

On Tuesday, the Rayders were again blanked 8-0 when they traveled to Traverse City to face Traverse City Christian.

"We played a better second half, as our defense stepped up the play," Boss said. "T.C. Christian is a very skilled team. We could not take advantage of our opportunities."

Connor Currier started in goal for the Rayders, now 5-7-1, and made 15 saves.

Next up the Rayders will travel to Elk Rapids for a 5 p.m. game on Thursday and then to Suttons Bay for an 11 a.m. game on Saturday.

BE A WISE SHOPPER
It's always wise to remember that if an offer sounds too good to be true, it probably is. If you are offered merchandise at an unbelievably low price, check it out thoroughly. A call to the Better Business Bureau (serving Eastern Michigan and the Upper Peninsula) will tell you whether other consumers have had problems with the firm that has offered the merchandises. (248)223-9400. But call the Bureau BEFORE you make a purchase. You'll be glad you did.

NOTICE OF
Mortgage Foreclosure Sale

THIS FIRM IS A DEBT COLLECTOR ATTEMPTING TO COLLECT A DEBT. ANY INFORMATION WE OBTAIN WILL BE USED FOR THAT PURPOSE. PLEASE CONTACT OUR OFFICE AT THE NUMBER BELOW IF YOU ARE IN ACTIVE MILITARY DUTY.

ATTN PURCHASERS: This sale may be rescinded by the foreclosing mortgagee. In that event, your damages, if any, shall be limited solely to the return of the bid amount tendered at sale, plus interest.

MORTGAGE SALE

Default has been made in the conditions of a mortgage made by Michael Breimer and Shelly L. Breimer, husband and wife, original mortgagor(s), to Wells Fargo Bank, NA, Mortgagee, dated September 4, 2007, and recorded on September 10, 2007 in Liber 818 on Page 749, in Charlevoix county records, Michigan, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date hereof the sum of One Hundred Thousand Six Hundred Seventy-Three and 64/100 Dollars ($100,673.64).

Under the power of sale contained in said mortgage and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the mortgaged premises, or some part of them, at public vendue, at the place of holding the circuit court within Charlevoix County, at 11:00 AM, on September 28, 2012.

Said premises are situated in City of Boyne City, Charlevoix County, Michigan, and are described as: Lot 26, Lewis's Addition, according to the plat thereof as recorded in Liber 1, Page 14 of Plats, Charlevoix County Records.

The redemption period shall be 6 months from the date of such sale, unless determined abandoned in accordance with MCLA 600.3241a, in which case the redemption period shall be 30 days from the date of such sale.

If the property is sold at foreclosure sale under Chapter 32 of the Revised Judicature Act of 1961, pursuant to MCL 600.3278 the borrower will be held responsible to the person who buys the property at the mortgage foreclosure sale or to the mortgage holder for damaging the property during the redemption period.

NOTICE OF

This firm is a debt collector attempting to collect a debt. Any information we obtain will be used for that purpose.

Default has occurred in the conditions of a mortgage made by DULCIE M. TANNER, a single woman ("Mortgagor"), to GREENSTONE FARM CREDIT SERVICES, FLCA, a federally chartered corporation having an office at 3515 West Road East Lansing, Michigan 48823 (the "Mortgagee"), dated October 6, 2005, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for Charlevoix County, Michigan on October 18, 2005, in Liber 710, Page 984 (the "Mortgage"). By reason of such default, the Mortgagee elects to declare and hereby declares the entire unpaid amount of the Mortgage due and payable forthwith. Mortgagee is the owner of the indebtedness secured by the Mortgage.

As of the date of this Notice there is claimed to be due for principal and interest on the Mortgage the sum of One Hundred Thirty Thousand Seven Hundred Sixty Two and 89/100 Dollars ($130,762.89). No suit or proceeding at law has been instituted to recover the debt secured by the Mortgage or any part thereof.

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in the Mortgage and the statute in such case made and provided, and to pay the above amount, with interest, as provided in the Mortgage, and all legal costs, charges and expenses, including the attorney fee allowed by law, and all taxes and insurance premiums paid by the undersigned before sale, the Mortgage will be foreclosed by sale of the mortgaged premises at public venue to the highest bidder at the main lobby of the Charlevoix County Courthouse in Charlevoix, Michigan on Friday the 5th day of October, 2012, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon. The premises covered by the Mortgage are situated in the Township of Marion, County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, and are described as follows:

Unit No. 24, Pine Bluff Estates Condominium, according to the Master Deed recorded in Liber 354, Page 25 through 81, inclusive, as amended, and designated as Charlevoix County Condominium Subdivision Plan No. 77, together with rights in the general common elements and the limited common elements as set forth in the Master Deed and as described in Act 59 of the Public Acts of 1978 as amended.

Together with all fixtures, tenements, hereditaments, and appurtenances belonging or in any way appertaining to the premises.

Notice is further given that the length of the redemption period will be six (6) months from the date of sale unless the premises are abandoned. If the premises are abandoned, the redemption period will be the later of thirty (30) days from the date of the sale or upon expiration of fifteen (15) days after the Mortgagor is given notice pursuant to MCLA §600.3241a(b) that the premises are considered abandoned and Mortgagor, Mortgagor's heirs, executor or administrator, or a person lawfully claiming from or under one (1) of them has not given the written notice required by MCLA §600.3241a(c) stating that the premises are not abandoned.

If the premises are sold at a foreclosure sale, under MCLA §600.3278 the Mortgagor will be held responsible to the person who buys the premises at the mortgage foreclosure sale or to the Mortgagee for damaging the premises during the redemption period.

Sailing into the history books

Charlevoix's Stephen Beck takes part in historic USS Constitution sail

STEVE ZUCKER
Courier Editor

Charlevoix's Stephen Beck is both living and making history.

Beck, a 2009 Charlevoix High School graduate and the son of Penny Beck of Charlevoix, is a U.S. Navy Seaman assigned to the USS Constitution in Charlestown, Mass.

Just being assigned to the 215-year-old warship — the world's oldest commissioned warship afloat — puts Beck face-to-face with a hearty helping of history on a daily basis.

He explained that the primary function of the ship is to serve as a public relations tool for the U.S. Navy and to serve ceremonial purposes for numerous occasions each year.

But recently Beck had the opportunity to take part in a rare event — a sailing of the Constitution.

"Rare" might be an understatement.

On Aug. 19, USS Constitution departed its berth to set sail for the Donations keep tree lighting project on track

STEVE ZUCKER
Courier Editor

The final pieces of the puzzle appear to have fallen into place to clear the way for bigger, better, and less blue light display in the trees in downtown Charlevoix.

One big piece of that puzzle was the city council's approval at its Sept. 17 meeting of a motion to spend $10,000 out of the electric fund to help pay for the new lights. That money coupled with $4,500 from the Charlevoix Downtown Development Authority and pledges and donations made up the estimated $22,000 cost to replace the current light-emitting diode (LED) lights that have been problematic nearly since the day they were installed in 2007.

Many in the community were unhappy with the lights' bluish or "cool white" color, and authority executive director Keith Carey said because of the way the lights were installed, the strand became prone to breakage from tree growth and wind.

Carey explained to the city council last week that the authority's board had placed the light replacement on the back burner until sufficient funds were available, but that all changed recently when some downtown merchants and others began a fundraising effort to help pay for the light replacement.

Things were looking promising for the project after last week's council meeting, and since that time, the promises have been kept — and then some, Carey said.

On Monday, the authority's board received two bids for the work, and accepted a bid for $22,000 from Holiday Lighting Services out of Manchester, Mich. Carey said the board received one other for $22,150, but he said because it was from the same company that was involved in the 2007 installation he and the board were more comfortable going with Holiday.

The bid includes the purchase and installation of 28,600 "warm white" LED lights in 36 trees between the bridge and Antrim Street. It also includes a one-year warranty covering the replacement of any defective lights during that time frame. The bid documents called for the lights to be installed by the end of October, but Carey said it's likely the work will be done well before then.

He said the board chose to move forward with the effort because in addition to the money from the downtown development authority and the city council, all of the pledged money that made up the difference the light financing equa

Man arrested for rape, vehicle theft

The Charlevoix County Sheriff's Office has arrested a 22-year-old Boyne City man who they allege raped a woman in Eveline Township in July, stole her vehicle and then stole a second vehicle, according to a sheriff's office news release.

A warrant for Cody Michael Mittig was issued and Mittig voluntarily turned himself in and was arrested. He was arraigned Tuesday, before 90th District Court Judge Richard May, according to the release.

Mittig has pleaded not guilty and May set a $20,000 personal recognizance bond, according to the release.

Mittig faces three counts of first-degree criminal sexual conduct and two counts of unlawfully driving away a motor vehicle. The criminal sexual conduct charges carry a maximum penalty of up to life in prison. The other two charges carry a maximum penalty of up to five years in prison.

The 37-year-old woman reported to police that she had been raped by a man she didn't know after giving him a ride in her vehicle about 1 a.m. on July 25, according to the release. She said her attacker then stole her truck, which was abandoned a short distance away. Police say the man then stole a second vehicle that was later located in Boyne City.

Police said the woman, a Charlevoix-area resident was treated at Charlevoix Area Hospital.

The Charlevoix County Sheriff's Office has a policy not to release the names of sexual assault victims and the Charlevoix Courier also does not identify victims or alleged victims of sexual assault.

In the release, Charlevoix County Sheriff Don Schneider commended the work of investigators. The investigation is ongoing.

Sheriff warns of phone scams

Charlevoix County Sheriff Don Schneider is warning area residents about some scams that have recently been reported, according to a sheriff's office news release.

In one such scam, the victim receives a phone call from a person claiming to represent a collections company. The caller tells the victim they owe money and asks for their account numbers and other personal information. In another common scam, the caller tells the victim that a family member — often a grandchild who is visiting another country — is in trouble or has had an accident and needs to have money sent to them.

"Several citizens have sent thousands of dollars" as a result of these types of scams and "could not recover their money," according to the release.

If you receive a call, letter or email of this nature or if you receive any kind of communication that you suspect may be a scam, check with law enforcement before sending money, according to the release.

Schneider seeks to remind area residents to be aware that there are many types of telephone, mail and email scams.

County planning director position eliminated as of Oct. 1

AEBRA COE
Northern Michigan Review

Despite four letters and a statement from city and township leaders pleading with them not to do it, Charlevoix County commissioners left no room in their 2013 budget for both a planning director and assistant.

The county board of commissioners adopted the proposed budget as-is at its meeting Wednesday in a 4-0 vote, with commissioners Ronald Reinhardt and Shirlene Tripp absent.

After the retirement of long-time planning director Larry Sullivan at the end of this month, all planning department duties will be allocated to current planning assistant Kiersten Stark and GIS coordinator, Brian Kelly.

The planning department is currently made up of Sullivan and Stark. After Sullivan, who is running for a seat on the board of commissioners this fall, leaves, Stark and Kelly will receive a $5,000 raise and Sullivan's $50,000 a year salary will be eliminated completely.

County planning commissioner Nancy Ferguson expressed her hopes for the department during a public hearing before the adoption of the budget.

Not funding the same staffing levels would be "a step backward" for the county, said Ferguson. Clerical tasks are very time consuming, she explained, and she believes the director position should be supplemented by an assistant.

The townships are nearly all in support of keeping the same staffing levels, said Ferguson.

"That's part of why this works so well," she said of the current planning arrangement in the county. "Because there's someone there to smooth the edges."

She suggested the commissioners put funding in place for a planning director or community development director and only use it if it becomes necessary over the course of the year.

"We appreciate your opinions," said chair of the board, Joel Evans, "But we did give this some thought. We feel, as a board, we made the right decision."

The board will be attentive to the planning department's needs, he said, and provide funds as they are needed.

The budget of the planning department was cut by about 30 percent this year dropping from $162,600 last year to $114,500.

The GIS department budget rose from about $92,000 to $98,000, an approximately 6.5 percent increase, $5,000 of which is a raise for Kelly.

Charlevoix City Planner Mike Spencer wrote an extensive letter to the commissioners imploring them to maintain the county planning department.

"Simply stated, there is overwhelming evidence both within the State of Michigan and nationwide that coordinated planning efforts with city, township and county government result in safer and more efficient transportation systems, fewer lawsuits related to land use, stable property values and more attractive communities," wrote Spencer. "These are characteristics that are highly valued by the business community, both existing and potentially new businesses."

Spencer suggested the county hire a community development director, a position that would combine economic development, planning, zoning, building and GIS into one department.

"This allows for budget savings, better communication and higher quality delivery of service," he said.

Charlevoix Township trustee Nancy Rajewski, county planning commissioner Daniel Buday and the Hayes Township Board of Trustees as a group all sent letters asking the commissioners to maintain current, or at least comparable, funding and staffing for the planning department.

Commissioner Richard Gillespie suggested the townships and cities may not need to be supplemented by a county planning department and planning commission.

"For the past 30-some years we've funneled resources into a planning commission that doesn't have any real authority," he said.

"I think Brian and Kiersten are qualified and able to do the job we're asking them to do," said commissioner Chris Christensen. "The two of them meet and exceed the qualifications for that department."

Kelly believes the current planning director has an invaluable amount of knowledge and experience, he said, but all services currently provided will be continued.

"I think the planning department in the past has done a good job," he said, and the GIS department has worked with the planning department on "several major projects" over the past seven years, he added.

"I'm excited," he said of the reorganization, "I like utilizing technology to improve services to Charlevoix County. That's what we want to do."

Stark also expressed a positive outlook on the reorganization and budget cuts.

"I'm really looking forward to this opportunity and working with Brian," she said.

Also at their meeting, the board unanimously agreed to levy 0.6 rather than the 0.65 mill maximum allowed by law for the Commission on Aging this year. Executive director of the Commission on Aging Jack Messer recommended the smaller number. The department has been working on providing only essential services to seniors, switched to an income based fee system creating a smaller budget and has nine months of contingency funds in their fund balance, he said. "You don't need to levy the full amount. You will in the future, but this year, you do not."

County employees receive raise

A 2 percent raise for every non-contract and non-union employee was included in the 2013 budget approved by the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners Wednesday.

For retiring employees, or those voted out of office such as prosecuting attorney John Jarema, there is no exception to the pay increase. The approved budget is for the county's fiscal year beginning Oct. 1, and running through the end of September, 2013. Employees such as Jarema, who was defeated in August's Republican primary race by a large margin, will receive the pay increase for any remaining time in office this year.

Jarema will be paid about $22,000 for his last three months of work, an annual rate of about $88,000, up from $86,000 in 2012.

The new budget also included a 10 percent drop in pay for the incoming prosecutor — Republican Allen Telgenhof is running unopposed — and an overall 16 percent cut to the prosecutor's office budget.

Sheriff OK after crash

Charlevoix County Sheriff Don Schneider said he is sore but otherwise OK after he was involved in a traffic crash south of Charlevoix Wednesday.

Schneider said the crash happened at about 8:30 a.m. as he was travelling on M-66. He said the driver of a pickup truck pickup truck was trying to cross M-66 from Castleview Drive and struck his patrol car broadside on the left side.

Schneider was transported to Charlevoix Area Hospital by Charlevoix Ambulance where he was treated and released a short time later.

Schneider said he has small scrapes and bruises from the crash, and the airbag deploying, but otherwise he is OK.

Schneider said despite his wife's efforts to keep him home for the rest of the day, he had a staff member pick him up and was back in the office around noon.

Because the crash involved a sheriff's department employee, the Michigan State Police investigated the crash and ticketed the pickup driver for failing to yield at an intersection.

Citizens group to host fireplace forum Oct. 3

STEVE ZUCKER
Courier Editor

Although the fervor over a proposal to build a gas-fueled outdoor community fireplace in Charlevoix's East Park has died down since the city council decided earlier this month to put the project on hold until spring, the topic hasn't fallen too far off the radar.

In August the council voted to accept an offer from an anonymous donor, who wished to pay for the construction of an outdoor fireplace to be located on the west side of East Park along Bridge Street. Plans called for the fireplace to be 8 feet wide and to taper to 4 feet wide at the top of a 20-foot tall chimney. However, shortly after work began at the site, many in the community began to object to the fireplace's size and that it would block views of Round Lake.

After hearing the community outcry at several meetings, the council voted at a special meeting on Sept. 12 to put the project on hold until the spring to explore all the options.

Although the city has not yet laid out any specific plans or timeline for that process, a group of community members has decided to get the ball rolling on their own.

The group will host a forum at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, Oct. 3, at the Charlevoix Public Library.

The agenda for the event calls for a brainstorming session on options for the fireplace design and location and using breakout groups to evaluate some of the options. The agenda calls for the meeting to last about 90 minutes.

For more information on the forum, the agenda lists the following contacts: John Campbell, jwc@siteplanning.com; Ken Polakowski, kenpole@umich.edu; Shirley Polakowski, shirley.polakowski@gmail.com; Hilary Harrington, hilary@siteplanning.com; and Jodi Bingham, gagaforkids@hotmail.com.

Although city officials have not solidified any plans for how it will proceed through the fireplace planning process, as promised a new section containing information specific to the fireplace project has been added to the city's website at www.cityofcharlevoix.org.

OPINIONS yours & ours

Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press, or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances.

Oh, civility, where art thou?

EAR TO THE GROUND

Roger Knutson

Many commentators on the social and political scene have suggested that we now lack a civility which we had at some time in the past. Several members of our Congress have decided to leave or not seek reelection, and have cited among the important reasons, "a lack of civility in the Congress."

In an effort to find out what we are missing, I went to Webster's International Dictionary for clarification. Dictionaries can tell us not only what we believe words mean, but can also inform us about how meanings and usages change with time. Civility and civil behavior may have changed.

The word "civil" comes from the same root as citizen, and carries the strong implication that one is a member of a community, a "civilization," and that position requires a certain amount of deference toward others in the community. "Civility" has as prominent synonyms words like kindness, propriety and decency. I can't help but be reminded of one of the interrogators of the then Senator McCarthy in the 1950s Army McCarthy hearings. At one point after some of McCarthy's unsupported claims of "evil doing" by members of the State Department, the interrogator asked in exasperation, "Have you no decency, sir"? McCarthy was certainly uncivil by the standards of his time. The question is, would he be thought so today?

In a political climate where a congressmen can call the president a liar during the President's address to Congress, civility may not be considered a virtue.

Bullying, name-calling, overt intolerance are the product of incivility. It is not necessary to agree with someone before treating them with tolerance, respect or ordinary politeness. That is the act of civility due everyone.

Some radio commentators glory in making up demeaning, ridiculing nicknames for public figures with whom they disagree. We once had a president who gave what he considered humorous nicknames to aids and reporters. Rush Limbaugh's designation of the Democratic head of the Senate as "dingy Harry" is only one example. The pronunciation of the president's full name with emphasis on the "Hussein," can be described as just being accurate. But of course we know it is meant to carry the suggestion of his not being quite the American the rest of us are. That use of language is not just uncivil, it is bullying of the sort we consider inappropriate even on an elementary schoolyard.

One of the meanings that Webster gives to the word "civil" is "not rustic, rather educated, cultured and sophisticated." I suspect that most of the exercisers of public incivility directed at those with whom they do not agree might not like to be considered "rustic" or "unsophisticated" or even "uneducated." Maybe we could encourage civil behavior and the tolerance that goes with it by considering that specific meaning of the word civil.

In an effort to be as up to date as possible, I investigated the meaning of civility in the on-line dictionary "Encarta." Sadly, from my point of view, the more modern understanding of civility suggests, "Politeness, exercised in a cold, formal manner." Formal politeness seems to be an outdated social convention. It would appear that kindness and any form of restraint have disappeared with what may be an outdated social convention.

Language and society march on. I would like to know whether the direction we are marching is a good one.

Roger Knutson is a professor emeritus of biology from Luther College in Decorah, Iowa, where he taught for 30 years. He holds master's degree and a doctorate from the botany department at Michigan State University.

In 1883, the Lewis Grand Opera House opened, a splendid 800-seat facility next to the bridge on the southwest side of the channel. It was built by Levi Lewis, Charlevoix's first doctor, who had arrived in 1869, bringing with him the town's first horse-drawn buggy, which created a sensation. The opera house quickly became the center of many of the town's activities, including plays, musicals, lectures, graduation ceremonies, and movies. In 1910, with the auditorium seats removed, it was the site of Charlevoix's first high school basketball game. On July 27, 1887 J. S. Smithson presented "A Descriptive Lecture on Egypt and the Orient," with those depicted in costume including a pasha, an Albanian, a howling dervish, and a Kurd. Net proceeds went toward fixing up the Methodist Church. The opera house turned into the Alhambra Hotel in 1923, then was torn down in 1947 to make way for the present bridge. All that is left of the area is the sloping lawn across from the Weathervane restaurant.

Local environmental groups speak to state about oil and gas leases

MORGAN SHERBURNE
Northern Michigan Review

LANSING — John Richter, 60, is a veterinarian at the Jordan Valley Animal Clinic.

But in his time away from the clinic, Richter serves as president of the Friends of the Jordan River Watershed. As president, he's concerned about activity that might impact watersheds across Michigan. So on Thursday, Sept. 13 he traveled to speak during the public comments section of the September Meeting of the Natural Resources Commission in Lansing.

During the September meeting, a mineral auction was on the agenda for approval, an auction that could open more than 196,000 acres of state land in 22 counties, including land in Emmet and Antrim counties.

"This is done twice a year, but we feel, with the advent of this modern fracking (hydraulic fracturing), we're calling for a more stringent review of the potential impacts of this new, deep-shale, high volume slickwater hydrofracking," said Richter.

The oil and gas industry says Michigan's regulatory oversight is strong.

"A near 60 year safety track record of using hydraulic fracturing in more than 12,000 wells, without a single incident of harm, speaks to the effectiveness of Michigan's strict regulatory framework," said Deb Muchmore, representative for the Michigan Oil and Gas Association.

The hydraulic fracturing Richter is concerned about extracts gas with a mix of chemicals, sand and potentially more than five million gallons of water injected into the Utica and Collingwood shale, a rock layer that lies 5,000 or more feet below the Earth's surface.

The commission approved the auction — a decision, said Richter, he felt was a foregone conclusion.

More than 50 people were slated to speak during the public comments section of the meeting, including Richter, who represented Friends of the Jordan River Watershed. But because of the high volume of speakers slated, only one person per organization was allowed to speak.

"They asked that if your group has multiple speakers, assign one person to speak for the group, and they'll be allotted 10 minutes to speak," said Richter. "But they did not honor that agreement. So basically, people like myself were gaveled and cut off."

The Department of Natural Resources says that the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality needs to give permission for companies to extract oil or gas from the leased state land.

The auction is scheduled for Oct. 24.

Staff changes greet St. Marys students at year's start

MORGAN SHERBURNE
Northern Michigan Review

Three new teachers have started at St. Mary School in Charlevoix, and the duties of a fourth have changed.

The school welcomed Carol Deschermeier, Kelly Czubko-Fox and Jayne Bennett Winchester as the second and third grade teacher, kindergarten and first grade teacher, and part-time band director, respectively. Fourth and fifth grade teacher Kathleen Dvoracek has started as part-time principal as well.

Deschermeier, 61, is an alumna of Michigan State University and University of Connecticut, where she earned degrees in elementary education with an emphasis on gifted and talented youth. Previously, she has taught in St. Johns, Petoskey and Steamboat Springs, Colo.

Deschemeier

Czubko-Fox

"I'm looking forward to growing right along with my students, accepting and creating challenges as we reach for the stars together," said Deschermeier. "And to think that we get to do it all within our special St. Mary environment is awesome."

New kindergarten teacher Czubko-Fox has begun as the school's kindergarten and first grade teacher. She previously taught in Hawaii, teaching first grade for nine years and kindergarten for one. She also taught part-time in the Grand Rapids public school district for the 2011-2012 school year.

"I was excited about (finding a full-time position in Charlevoix) because I love the outdoors, and I think Charlevoix is beautiful," said Czubko-Fox, who is originally from Rockford. "I love working with kids every day and seeing their growth over a short period of time. I love their excitement about learning at this young age."

Czubko-Fox said she is looking forward to incorporating religion into the classroom.

"I have never taught at a Catholic school, and to be able to talk about religion and reinforce that in school I think is a wonderful thing for character building," she said.

Jayne Bennett Winchester, who recently retired from the Charlevoix Public School District, will now teach kindergarten through seventh grade music, an age she says she loves.

"Working with the younger students has always been a delight of mine," she said.

Winchester

Winchester graduated from Central Michigan University, and taught for the majority of her career in Northview school district near Grand Rapids. In Northern Michigan, Winchester taught in Petoskey and then, for a decade, in Charlevoix.

Winchester said she is looking forward specifically to the school's musical programs and starting the sixth and seventh grade students with band instruments.

The fourth and fifth graders learn recorders while Winchester teaches younger students "general music including singing, rhythms and melody and musical games."

"St. Mary's seems like a really great school in which to work. The parents and teachers are wonderful, and the students are excited. I'm looking forward to it," said Winchester.

Teacher Dvoracek has added principal to her duties at St. Mary's. She originally started teaching at the school in 1993 as the fourth and fifth grade teacher, then began teaching just fourth grade. Now, she will teach fifth grade as well as being principal for the school.

Dvoracek says the most challenging part of her job will be accomplishing all she wants to accomplish.

"I am an organized person, but I often wish there were more hours in the day," she said. "I'm glad to be in the classroom working with the students every day. I also find it rewarding to be the spiritual leader for the students and staff."

Dvoracek

This will be the first administrative position for Dvoracek, 45, who earned a degree in elementary education from Central Michigan University.

"I'm excited to be a part of the administrative end of things. My goal is to lead my teachers by example," she said. "I will not expect them to do something I am not able to do myself. I am looking forward to working with the staff to make St. Mary School the best it can be."

Hunger walk set for Saturday

Charlevoix County walkers will lace up their sneakers and hit the pavement at 9 a.m. Saturday, Sept. 29, for the 29th annual Charlevoix County CROP Hunger Walk.

The six-mile walk begins at three spots across the county, including Elm Pointe in East Jordan, Whiting Park near Boyne City and Charlevoix Middle School in Charlevoix. All walkers will end at the Congregational Church in Ironton, where they will eat lunch together.

The annual event raises money to fight hunger both locally and around the globe.

"It's important because it does two things. It raises the awareness of hunger throughout the world, as well as in our local community. It also raises money to be used around the world and 25 percent in our community," said John Young, the event coordinator for Charlevoix.

All local churches and residents are invited to attend the event, an annual fundraiser for area food pantries. At least 25 percent of all dollars raised will be returned to Charlevoix County to help support several local pantries, including The Good Samaritan of Ellsworth, Care and Share in East Jordan, the Charlevoix Food Pantry and the Seventh-day Adventist and Trinity Pentecostal Church of God in Boyne City.

Special this year is an offer from an anonymous donor to contribute $20 for each walker who participates in the annual event and individually raises at least $20 for the cause.

"That's a big addition to the effort," Young said.

Last year, approximately 90 walkers and volunteers raised more than $20,000 to fight hunger and improve sanitation for communities in the United States and around the world.

Of that money, $5,000 went to local food pantries, officials said.

Anyone interested in participating in the benefit event can call one of three local coordinators.

Marge Teske is in East Jordan at (231) 536-3128, Mary Richwine is in Boyne City at (231) 582-6035 and Young is in Charlevoix at (231) 547-2042.

Tree identification hike offered Oct. 6

The Little Traverse Conservancy will offer a tree identification hike from 10 a.m.-noon on Saturday, Oct. 6 at the Raven Ridge Nature Preserve.

Located just off of the East Jordan-Boyne City Breezeway, the Raven Ridge Nature Preserve is set among rolling hills. The hike will take place on the preserve's offers newly improved trails as the conservancy's Mike Lynch leads a hike exploring the forest with a closer eye.

The event will focus on identifying trees and their defining features, and discussions about the relationships trees have with their habitat, wildlife and climate.

OBITUARIES

Ruth Berg, 98

Ruth Berg, 98, of Hayes Township in Charlevoix County, Mich., died at Sunnybank Assisted Living on Sept. 24 after a lifetime on the farm where she was born on May 6, 1914. She was the daughter of John R and Anna (Sander) Struthers.

Ruth was a graduate of Charlevoix High School, Charlevoix County Normal, and Central Michigan University. Soon after their marriage she and her husband, Leo, bought the family farm from her parents. Ruth often managed the farm while Leo had other employment. She taught elementary school at Walloon Lake and Petoskey for 28 years. After she retired, Ruth volunteered at Northern Michigan Hospital for 15 years. She took pleasure in preserving food and handing out jam and sweet pickles to friends and family. With the gifts came her signature hug. She loved to help neighbors in any way she could. She was an active long-time member of the Charlevoix Church of God, the Friendship Centers of Charlevoix and Petoskey, and the Michigan Retired Teachers Association.

She left her family three clear directives: Love your neighbor, share with those in need, work hard because it builds good character. Her favorite Bible verse was, "Seek and you shall find, knock and it shall be opened unto you."

Ruth was preceded in death by her husband, Leo, in 1993. She is survived by five adult children: Betty M. Smith (James) of Traverse City, Mich.; Mary Ann Chew (Vincent) of Charlevoix; Donna Friedeberg of Norwich, Conn.; Donald Berg of Charlevoix; Daniel Berg of Charlevoix; and by daughter-in-law, Rebecca Berg, of Charlevoix. She leaves five grandchildren: Myriah Cummings of Sarasota, Fla.; Michael Chew (Lisa) of Elmhurst, Ill., Ted Friedeberg (Michele) of Southbury, Conn.; Matthew Berg of Charlevoix; and Mary Kurtz (Luther) of Harbor Springs. She also leaves two great-grandchildren: Connor and Evan Chew of Elmhurst, Ill. Only one of her eight siblings, Howard Struthers (Mona) of Charlevoix, survives her.

A memorial service for the family will take place at a later date. Anyone who would like to remember Ruth may do so by contributing to the Charlevoix Public Library, where she loved to go with her daughter, Mary Ann Chew, or to Hospice of Northwest Michigan.

Arlene R. Arbuckle, 70

Arlene R. Arbuckle, 70, of Traverse City and formerly of Charlevoix, died Sunday, Sept. 23, 2012, at her home.

She was born Dec. 29, 1942, in Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., to Keith and Marian (Bartlett) Arbuckle, and grew up in Charlevoix.

Arlene worked for Adult Sheltered Workshops. She was active in the Fellowship Church in Traverse City where she volunteered weekly serving meals to the homeless, and helped at a local resale shop. She loved to volunteer, and was proud of it.

Arlene is survived by her sisters, Janis (Dale) Glass of Charlevoix, Kathy Meekhof of California, brother, Michael (Wendy) Arbuckle of Austin, Texas; nieces, Marlayna Gossman, Laura Glass and her husband, Scott Thomas and their daughter, Lindsay Glass Thomas; nephew, Craig Glass and his children, Lauren and Hannah Glass; uncle, Robert Bartlett; cousins, Deanne (Bud) Balch, Vera Marie (Jerry) Keie, Sharon (Roger) Knutson.

A private service will be held. Interment will take place in Brookside Cemetery in Charlevoix.

Memorial contributions may be made to the church or food pantry of your choice.

The Winchester Funeral Home in Charlevoix is handling arrangements.

Veteran of the Month, Eugene Balogh

Balogh

The "Veteran of the Month" for September 2012 is Eugene William Balogh. He was born on Feb. 14, 1927 in Buffalo, New York, while his mother and father were there on business, and returning to their home in Detroit.

He later attended Holy Cross Elementary School and All Saints High School where he became a senior at age 15. Seniors at that time, with a parent's written consent, could enlist in the military at the age of 17 and Balogh, on Aug. 28, 1942, and using a fabricated parents consent, enlisted in the Army in Detroit. Following basic training, where he qualified as a marksman with the M-1 Garand rifle, and specialty training, as a radio repairman and instructor, on May 1, 1943 while serving in Headquarters Battery, 266th Field Artillery Battalion, Camp Shelby, Miss., he was promoted to the non-commissioned officer grade of corporal. On Oct. 8, 1943 at Leesville, La., Balogh was given an Honorable Discharge when the Army discovered he was not of lawful age. Returning to high school he graduated and went on to college graduating from Michigan State University, where he played football and was on the fencing team.

On Aug. 21, 1953, while attending college he enlisted in the U.S. Army Reserves Officers Training Corps and on Mar. 23, 1951, in Detroit, he entered into active duty at the grade of second lieutenant and was sent to Korea serving as a Psychological Warfare Officer. On Feb. 21, 1952 Balogh was promoted to first lieutenant and on Jan. 24, 1953, at Fort Custer, Mich., he received an Honorable Discharge and was awarded the following decorations, citations and medals: The Korean Service Medal with two Bronze Battle Stars, The United Nations Service Medal and one Overseas Service Bar representing six months foreign service.

Wanting to further his education, Balogh went on to get his masters degree and doctorate, graduating from Heed University School of Theology, Hollywood, Fla., on Aug. 20, 1976. On Dec. 22, 1976, at the First Methodist Church in Birmingham, Mich., Balogh married Virginia Adell Wilson making their home in Bloomfield Hills. Balogh began his career working for the Ford Motor Company in marketing and advanced product planning for the T-Bird and also worked on the Edsel Ford. During his career he had been an executive in several large corporations and later he became a management consultant and never really retired, as he was always in demand, even after retirement, as a national speaker.

On Feb. 14, 1989 Balogh retired and in 1990 moved to the Boyne City area. During retirement he and his wife traveled all over the world and he kept fit by climbing Avalanche Mountain in Boyne City. Although Balogh was an accomplished pilot, on July 16, 2011, Eugene William Balogh answered the final call, when his plane crashed on approach to the Boyne City Airport, and he is being honored by his wife Ginny, his children and their families.

To honor a veteran, call the program chairman at (231) 588-6067 or on Tuesdays call (231) 582-7811 between 3:30-8:30 p.m. The ceremony may be witnessed at 6:15 p.m. on the first Thursday of each month in front of the American Legion Post located on the corner of South Lake and Main streets in Boyne City.

Harvest dinner to benefit farmers market

Esperance of Charlevoix will be hosting a farm to plate harvest dinner on Saturday, Oct. 6 to help raise funds to support a location for the Charlevoix Winter Farmers Market.

The dinner will take place at [illegible] p.m. with an opening reception to start at 6:30 p.m. The event will include a six course menu comprised almost exclusively of seasonal food from local producers and prepared by Esperance's chefs. Each course will be matched with wine from the Esperance cellar.

"Esperance is really going above and beyond to help support the local food movement here in Charlevoix," market manager Bethany Pearson said. "They understand the importance of sustainable food, shopping local, and what those two things mean for the health of our community."

Harvest dinner guests will be served by, and will dine, with some of the local farmers who helped supply the bounty of food for their meal, giving them a firsthand experience into what it takes to keep our community fed. Participating farmers include Mike and Susan Kitely of Kitely's Farms in Charlevoix, Dave and Cathy Coveyou of Coveyou Scenic Farm in Petoskey, Tom and Waneta Cook of Cook Family Farms in Gaylord, and Rick and Sue Duerksen of Duerksen Turkey Farm in Mancelona.

The cost for dinner will be $75 per plate with all tips benefiting the market. Esperance will also be hosting a silent auction of some select bottles of wine to benefit the market. Reservation may be made by calling (231) 237-9300. Space is limited and reservations will be taken on a first come first served basis.

The Charlevoix Winter Farmers Market will take place from 9 a.m.-1 p.m. every Thursday from Nov. 1-May 30 at the Charlevoix Public Library's community room.

Charlevoix native and U.S. Navy Seaman Stephen Beck (middle, in white) leads other sailors in furling the main topsail aboard the USS Constitution. The sail weighs about 1,200 pounds, which requires a large number of sailors to pull it up, Beck said.

first time since 1997, during an underway demonstration commemorating Guerriere Day.

The underway honored the 200th anniversary of Constitution's decisive victory over the HMS Guerriere during the War of 1812, marking the first time a United States frigate defeated a Royal Navy frigate at or nearly equal in size. It's also the battle in which Constitution earned her famous nickname "Old Ironsides."

It was only the second time in more than a century that the ship has set sail.

To be clear, the crew of the USS Constitution typically sets its sails on an almost daily basis (in good weather) and the ship typically does leave its berth several times a year for special events. But the ship is always tethered to a tug.

For this sail, and the one in 1997, the ship was completely under its own power and control.

And Beck had more than just a deckhand's role in the event.

He explained that his job is that of "main top captain." That means he is in charge of ensuring the safety and smooth operation "of the platform on stations." That means its his job to oversee a group of about 25-30 people while keeping an eye on all lines and sails to make sure that nothing gets tangled and no one gets hurt.

"Essentially, I'm in charge of everything aloft," he said.

Beck came to Old Ironsides — the ship's well-known nickname — directly out of basic training. He said he ended up with the unique assignment somewhat as a fluke.

"I was in the right place at the right time," Beck said. Some people from the Constitution came to us and were looking for people to serve aboard the ship. I'm kind of a history buff, so I thought I'd look into it."

Beck said to be assigned to the ship sailors must go through and interview and screening process.

He said two of the most important qualities a sailor must have to work on the Constitution are an ability to work well with the public and having no fear of heights.

"You have to be a people person. We are open for tours six days a week and we have a half a million visitors per year.

"We're the face of the Navy. When we're on duty we give tours to the public and spend the majority of the day showing the ship — where we've come from to the modern Navy."

Beck said it was no easy feat learning all there is to learn about the history and operation of the ship.

"Even though I grew up in Charlevoix, I had no sailing training at all," Beck said. "When you get here you have to learn history of the ship, the battles and everything else — 215 years of history. Then there's the actual sail training."

Beck said the experience of working on the Constitution — and especially participating in the sail in August are something in which he takes a great deal of pride.

"It was something I'll never forget, a highlight of my life."

Beck expects to be stationed on the Constitution until next March at which time he expects to be assigned to a ship and noted that he's already take the test to become an operations specialist.

About the Aug. 19 sail:

— The ship got underway at 9:57 a.m. with tugs attached to its sides and 285 people on board, including many officers and dignitaries.

— At 10:27 a.m., a wreath was tossed into the ocean to honor and remember Constitution's battle with the HMS Guerriere.

— When the ship arrived at President Roads, a body of water of Boston Harbor, the crew then set three sails from Constitution's main, mizzen and fore masts, and at 12:25 p.m., it detached from it tugs and sailed west under her own power for 17 minutes. She sailed at a maximum speed of 3.1 knots, at an average of two knots, and at a distance of 1,100 yards.

— After tugs reattached to Constitution's sides, the ship headed to Fort Independence on Castle Island, where thousands of spectators waited to watch Constitution fire a 21-gun salute toward the fort at 1:14 p.m. Fort Independence is a state park that served as a defense post for Boston Harbor at one time.

— Finally, the ship returned to her pier at 2:05 p.m. and everyone departed once the brow was safely set and the ship was clean. Constitution re-opened to the public for tours of the ship's history at 4 p.m.

Constitution is the world's oldest commissioned warship afloat and welcomes more than 500,000 visitors per year. It defended the sea lanes against threat from 1797 to 1855.

Constitution's mission today is to offer community outreach and education about the ship's history.

LIGHTS

tion has already been collected — and a bit more.

Carey said that based on the funds already collected and others that have been pledged, there's a good chance it will be possible to extend the display a short distance north of the bridge. He said the potential for collecting money over and above the initial bid amount for the project left the board with three choices for how to use the additional money: Expand the display, enhance the display (more lights in the same trees), or save it for future maintenance cost. The board ultimately passed a motion giving Carey discretion for how to use money contributed toward the light display.

Carey said his goal would be to find a balance among those goals, giving as much deference as possible to the wishes of the donor.

Contributions for the lighting project are still being accepted at Charlevoix City Hall, 210 State St.

First win still eludes Rayders

A few big plays and a couple of fumbles were a big part of the Charlevoix Rayder varsity football team's unsuccessful quest for its first victory of the season, as they fell 27-7 to Kalkaska at Kipke field on Friday, Sept. 21.

Kalkaska's Zach Hill rushed for 102 yards and scored three touchdowns as the Blazers kept Charlevoix winless in the Lake Michigan Conference contest.

Kalkaska improved to 4-1 overall, 2-1 league. The Blazers are off to their best start since they went 9-0 in 1981. Charlevoix is 0-5, 0-3.

"It was another tough loss," Charlevoix assistant coach Nick Barnum said. "It was more (that) we beat ourselves than I think we got beat by Kalkaska. We shot ourselves in the foot and lost two fumbles.

"Offensively, we were able to move the ball, but Kalkaska had a big pass play and a big run for touchdowns."

Tanner Catt scored Charlevoix's touchdown on a 10-yard run and finished with 56 yards on 10 carries. He also caught three passes for 37 yards. Charlie Hamilton led the Rayder run game with 70 yards on 11 carries. He also made three receptions for 31 yards. Bryan Noirot added 51 yards rushing on 12 carries.

SCOTT RICHARDS/CHARLEVOIX COURIER

Charlevoix quarterbacks Nate Moon and Luke Klinger finished a combined 7-of-19 passing for 79 yards.

Greyson Spegele led Charlevoix's defense with 15 tackles, while Shane Sutherland had 12 stops, Tommy Zipp had seven tackles and forced a fumble, and Brad Rizzo recovered a fumble.

Hill scored on runs of 4, 55 and 12 yards, and he caught three passes for 66 yards. Kalkaska quarterback Will Noble completed 11 of 12 passes for 111 yards.

Up next, the Rayders will take on Traverse City St. Francis for this year's homecoming game on Friday, Sept. 28.

The Gladiators will be looking to bounce back from two straight losses. Last week Boyne City defeated St. Francis on their home turf 29-13. The win, which lifted the Ramblers to 5-0 on the season and dropped St. Francis to 2-3, marked the first time in 10 years that Boyne has defeated the Gladiators, and the first time since 2001 that St. Francis lost back-to-back games.

Kickoff is set for 7 p.m.

In other area Lake Michigan Conference action last week:

Harbor Springs couldn't hold on to a 21-14 lead going into the fourth quarter and fell to Grayling 35-21 after the Vikings scored three touchdowns in the final stanza to remain unbeaten.

The Rayders aren't the only team in the conference who have yet to find the win column as Elk Rapids rolled passed East Jordan last week 56-6, keeping the Red Devils winless.

Elk Rapids improved to 3-2 overall, 2-0 league.

JV FOOTBALL

Rayder JV on a roll

STEVE ZUCKER

A 400-plus-yard running attack, led by strong play by the offensive line, staked the Charlevoix Rayder JV football team to an early lead that it never gave up in a 41-20 victory over Kalkaska on Thursday, Sept. 20.

The Rayders racked up 22 points in the first quarter alone. Charlevoix opened up the scoring a little under two minutes into the game on a nine-yard TD run by Justin Adkins, followed by a Forrest Noirot-to-Sam Hovie pass for the two-point conversion.

Charlevoix came right back with two scores. First, with 2:12 remaining in the quarter, Adkins scored on a 79 yard scamper. The point after attempt was no good. Then, with 20 seconds remaining in the quarter, Hovie broke loose for a 44-yard TD run. A Noriot completed a pass Will Telgenhof for the two point conversion.

In the second quarter, the Rayders added to their lead when Hovie again broke free, this time for a 21-yard touchdown run. This time KeNen Borth added the point after kick to put the Rayders up 29-6 at the half.

Charlevoix would extend its lead in the third quarter when, with 7:40 left in the quarter, Adkins again found the endzone, this time on a four yard plunge. The point after kick was no good, putting the Rayders up 35-6.

The Blazers made up some ground with a five-yard TD run with 9:20 left in the fourth quarter. The point after was no good. Three minutes later, The Rayders answered with a 23-yard TD run by Ben boss. The point after attempt failed.

Kalkaska wrapped up the scoring with 20 seconds remaining in the game on a four-yard pass followed by a successful two-point conversion.

Telgenhof, Hovie and Adkin sracked up around 100 yards each for the Rayders. Telgenhof had 115 yard on eight carries, Hovie had 105 yards on 10 carries and Adkins had 99 yards on five carries. Boss chipped in 63 yards on five carries and Turner Havens had 24 yards on five carries.

Noirot completed his only two pass attempts of the night — both on two point conversions.

Telgenof led the Rayders on defense with five tackles four assists and an interception. Also for Charlevoix, Alex Kleiber had five tackles and one assist, Adkins had three tackles and six assists, Hovie had three tackles and three assists, Hunter Cox had two tackles and four assists and Devin Largent had a tackle and six assists. Largent, Adkins and Andrew Michaud each recorded sacks.

Charlevoix coach Todd Klinger praised the efforts of the Rayder offensive linemen including Adam Michaud, Andrew Michaud, Mick Hinkle, Spencer Bruce, Spencer Stewart, Jordan Adkins, Devin Largent, and KeNen Borths.

"We were able to control the game with our running attack," Klinger said. "We gained 429 yards on the ground which is a credit to our offensive linemen. We had a number of players rotating in on the line and they all did a great job."

Klinger also noted that the team responded well to a having a new quarterback.

"Forrest Noirot started the game as quarterback and did a nice job leading the offense. The players responded well to having a different quarterback," Klinger said.

He also highlighted Telgenhof's play on defense.

"Defensively, Will Telgenhof played his most aggressive game. He was attacking and was making tackles at the line of scrimmage and in backfield."

The win improved the Rayder JV's record to 4-1.

This week the Rayders travel to Traverse City St. Francis. Game time is 5 p.m.

VOLLEYBALL

Rayders beat Vikings, fall to Gladiators

GRAYLING — Madeline Boss had a team-high 15 kills along with eight digs and seven aces Tuesday in leading the Charlevoix High School volleyball team to a 25-11, 25-12, 26-24 Lake Michigan Conference win over Grayling.

With the win, the Rayders improved to 12-9-5 overall, 4-2 in the league.

"The girls knew they had to come out with some poise and focus and that's what gave them some early intensity," Charelvoix coach Audra Randall said. "I give them a lot of credit because Grayling gave us an incredibly hard match last year and their crowd was really into it."

Also for the Rayders, Cassidy Peebles had 16 assists, three aces; Karley Pearsall had 12 kills, eight digs, three blocks; and Gloria Greene finished with 14 assists and three aces.

On Thursday, Sept. 20, the Rayders dropped a 25-22, 25-23, 25-22 decision to Traverse City St. Francis in another Lake Michigan Conference match.

"All very close and intense games," Charlevoix coach Audra Randall said. "Our team never got down and persistence in each rally kept them in all three of the games."

For the Rayders, 11-9-5 overall, 3-2 league, Madeline Boss had 10 kills, was 10-of-10 serving and had seven digs, while Karley Pearsall had 12 digs, seven kills and two aces.

Jennaca Holecheck had 15 digs and three aces, Cassidy Peebles had 12 assists, was 13-of-13 serving with three aces while Gloria Greene added nine assists and eight digs.

Charlevoix is set to next head to the Morley Standwood Tournament on Saturday.

U12 travel team wins two

The Charlevoix Rayder U12 Girls Travel Soccer team notched two wins on Saturday, Sept. 22.

Charlevoix beat Harbor Springs 5-3 and defeated "a very difficult" Alpena team by the, 2-1, coach Pete Scholten said.

Baby Hang and Megan Scholten both scored twice against Harbor and Elise Stuck was responsible for the fifth goal. The Rayder defense was led by Jenna Good, Kiersten Bales, Lily Curtis, Rylynn Sladek and Emily Graham. Abby Cunningham, Jillian Edwards,

"Caroline Jarema, Payton Novotny, Abby Paramo, Emma Buday and Elise Stuck all did a tremendous job playing in the midfield to keep the pressure on both Harbor and Alpena," Scholten said.

Hang and Scholten each scored in the second game against Alpena.

"Emily Graham, Elise Stuck and Megan Scholten played strongly in keeper to stop many shots by the opposition," the coach noted.

The Rayders are back in action on Saturday in Petoskey facing off against Petoskey and Traverse City.

CROSS COUNTRY

Rayder girls take 2nd at Pet-O-Se-Ga

Certa, Way lead the way with wins in respective races

ALANSON — Mother Nature cooperated just in time, while several area runners laid down their best performances of the season.

The Petoskey 9th-10th grade boys and Charlevoix 11th-12th grade girls each finished runner-up in the 38th Annual Petoskey Cross Country Invitational Saturday at Camp Pet-O-Se-Ga.

Thirty-three teams participated in the event. South Lyon won the 11th-12th grade boys race, Kingsley captured the 11th-12th girls, Traverse City Central won the 9th-10th boys, and Manton won the 9th-10th girls.

TC Central boys won the boys 9th-10th race with 66 points, while Petoskey was second with 88. South Lyon placed third with 116.

Manton finished with 93 points to win the girls 9th-10th race, while Newberry, 104, placed second. Roscommon, 141, was third.

South Lyon claimed the 11th-12th boys race with 37 points, followed by TC Central, 91, and Charlevoix, 127.

Kingsley finished with 71 points to win the 11th-12th girls race. Charlevoix, 77, was second, and Petoskey, 123, finished third.

Two Charlevoix runners, Olivia Certa and Amber Way, won their respective races. Certa won the girls 11th-12th race in 20 minutes, 41 seconds; Way won the girls 9th-10th race in 18:43.

Kingsley's Jake Keena won the boys 9th-10th race in 17:12. Andrew Thomas of South Lyon won the boys 11th-12th race in 16:50.

Keane was second in the girls 9th-10th race in 19:55; Wojan was second in the boys 11th-12th race in 16:54; and Kihnke recorded a second-place finish in the girls 11th-12th race in 21:59.

The top 15 finishers in each race received a medal.

Four other runners from area schools medaled in the race. Gabe Hawley of East Jordan was third in 17:42; Harbor Springs' Marcus Garrow (17:47) and Michael Gorman (18:27) placed fourth and ninth, respectively; and Garrett Fogo of Boyne City was 11th in 18:29.

Also for Boyne, Trevor Day was 21st, Derek Willis, 30th, Ethan Hababasco, 68th; and Tanner Evans, 97th.

For Charlevoix, Noah Jeakle was 29th, followed by Lucas VonLau, 39th; Micah Peebles, 43rd; Parker Skeel, 48th; and Brendan Gregory, 61st.

Sydney Hopp led Petoskey in the 9th-10th girls race with a fourth-place finish in 21:05, while teammate Melissa Myers along with Harbor Springs' Kyra LaRue and Jessica Worm also medaled.

Also in the girls 9th-10th race, Charlevoix's Allie Hodge placed 31st, while teammates Kayla Illendon and Sarah Rockafellow finished 50th and 53rd, respectively. Harbor Springs' Demi Tarbucchi was 17th, Inland Lakes' Linsday Smeltzer was 30th, and the Bulldogs' Taylor Fletcher was 34th.

Jessica Dowty finished 23rd, Hannah Knitter was 25th; and Kayelyn Banner was 27th in leading Boyne City to a fourth-place finish in the 9th-10th girls race. The Ramblers' Hailey Richards was 35th, and Alexis Bieles was 39th.

TENNIS

Rayders drop matches to TC Central, Petoskey

The Charlevoix Rayder Boys tennis team dropped a pair of non-conference matches in the past week. On Thursday, Sept. 20, the Rayders fell to Petoskey 7-1 and on Tuesday, they fell 5-2 to the Traverse City Central Gold team.

"This was a tough week for us," Charlevoix coach Erik Lunteigon said. "We played two strong teams, under some difficult (windy) conditions. I always say, 'The wind blows on both sides of the court.' The more experienced players handle it better. We will keep working with the conference and regionals in mind."

Individual match results follow.

Charlevoix vs. Petoskey

No. 1 singles Brandan Arp lost 6-1, 6-1

No. 2 singles Brody Robarge lost 6-1, 6-0

No. 3 singles Ryan Erskine lost 4-6, 6-2, 6-1

No. 4 singles Nate Lindfors lost 6-2, 6-1

No. 1 doubles Noah Certa and JJ Wachler lost 6-2, 6-3

No. 2 doubles Addison Amstutz and Joe Rich lost 6-1, 6-3

No. 3 doubles Sawyer Russell and Justine Erskine lost 6-3, 6-4

No. 4 doubles Hunter Isaac and Erik Oshahen won 6-0, 6-0

Charlevoix vs. TC Central Gold

No. 1 singles Brandan Arp lost 6-1, 6-0

No. 2 singles JJ Wachler won 6-4, 6-4

No. 3 singles Noah Certa won 6-0, 6-0

No. 1 doubles Joe Rich and Addison Amstutz lost 6-1, 6-1

No. 2 doubles Sawyer Russell and Justine Erskine lost 6-3, 6-4

No. 3 doubles Erik Oshaben and Hunter Isaac lost 6-1, 6-3

No. 4 doubles Nate Lindfors and Ryan Erskine lost 6-2, 6-0

The Rayders are set to face Traverse City West on Thursday and Petoskey on Monday.

POP WARNER

Pirates beat Petoskey, Bucs fall to Boyne City

The Charlevoix Pop Warner Football Pee Wee Division teams were in action in Bellaire on Saturday, Sept. 22.

In the 11:30 a.m. game, the Charlevoix Bucs fell to 1-2 with a 32-6 loss to Boyne City II.

Quarterback Hank Simmons led the Bucs on offense, with a 15 yard touchdown run for the lone score. Walker Fogle also added some tough yards from scrimmage to lead the ground attack.

On defense, the Bucs were led by the strong tackling of Fogle and Tyler Ostrum.

The Bucs will be back in action at 2:30 p.m. on Saturday against Boyne City I in Boyne City.

In the 2:30 game, the Charlevoix Pirates improved their record to 2-0, with a victory over the Petoskey Panthers, 20-0.

The Pirates seized control on the first play from scrimmage, as Jacob Snyder ran for a 60 yard touchdown. Cole Wright added a 40 yard score and Tylan Fry had a three-yard score to lead the offensive attack.

On defense, coaches lauded the performance of Luke Stuck.

The Pirates continue play at 11:30 a.m. on Saturday at Boyne City against Boyne City II.

Charlevoix Midgets suffered their first loss of the season falling to Boyne City I, 6-0. It was a good game going back and forth all game until Charlevoix gave up a touchdown in the last three minutes of the game, coach Boogie Carlson said.

Charlevoix will travel to Boyne City Saturday to face the other Boyne City team at 10 am.

SOCCER

Rayders fall to Elks

ELK RAPIDS — Elk Rapids scored three goals in the first half and added five more in the second half en route to topping 8-1 Charlevoix Thursday, Sept. 20, in a Lake Michigan Conference match.

Elk Rapids is ranked No. 10 in the Division III state coaches poll.

"It was a pretty big challenge for us and it was tougher considering we've been on a losing streak," Charlevoix coach Jon Boss said. "We held it together, though, and we played much better in the second half. We had three or four good scoring opportunities each half, but we just couldn't finish or put the ball in the back of the net."

Charlevoix, now 5-7-1 overall, 2-4 league is set to travel to Boyne City on Thursday for another conference match against the Ramblers and then will host Bellaire on Friday in a non-conference game. Kickoff for both is 5 p.m.

Taking it downfield

STEVE ZUCKER/CHARLEVOIX COURIER

Audience members at a community forum at the Charlevoix Public Library Wednesday meet in small groups to discuss options and alternatives to a proposed community fireplace in East Park.

Organizers of a community forum that took place Wednesday night at the Charlevoix Public Library were hoping to get people to "think outside the box" about possible options for a contentious proposal to build a community fireplace in East Park.

The problem was, most of the people who showed up were more focused on simply getting rid of what's in the box — namely the green wooden box that now covers the beginnings of the hotly-debated fireplace on the western edge of East Park along Bridge Street.

In late July city resident John Winn brought the fireplace proposal to the city council on behalf of an anonymous 85-year-old man in the area who wished to donate to the city the bulk of the funds to build gas-fuled a community fireplace on the western edge of East Park. The council ultimately approved the project, but when work began in mid-August many in the community balked. Among several objections, the most common a concern about the impact the fireplace will have on the view of Round Lake from Bridge Street.

Last month, the council voted to put the project on hold when the donor agreed to move his original construction completion deadline of mid-October back to spring to allow time for the city to work with residents and architect Mark Buday (who was the original architect for the buildings in East Park) on possible options for the proposal that might be more widely accepted in the community.

Although city officials have not yet set out a timeline or process for how it will proceed on the fireplace matter, a handful of community members chose to get the ball rolling with Wednesday's forum.

Fanara files suit against Jarema, county

AEBRA COE
Northern Michigan Review

Charlevoix County's chief assistant prosecutor Shaynee Fanara has filed a lawsuit against both John Jarema, the county's prosecutor, and Charlevoix County on six counts.

The lawsuit was filed with the United States District Court Western District of Michigan, in Grand Rapids, on Oct. 1.

The counts include sexual harassment, defamation, retaliation, deprivation of free speech, deprivation of liberty and intentional interference with contractual relations.

"It was never my client's intention to file a lawsuit. She tried to resolve this matter with the prosecutor and with the county," said Fanara's attorney, Kathleen Bogas. "Nothing was done that was effective, so she was forced to file this lawsuit."

A long history of discord in the prosecutor's office has led up to this legal climax. At Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners meetings in April and May, Fanara pleaded with commissioners to step in and stop Jarema

Time is ripe for Apple Fest

Nothing says fall in Northern Michigan more than the annual Charlevoix Apple Festival.

This year's event, now in its 34th year, will take place Friday-Sunday, Oct. 12-14 on Bridge Street in downtown Charlevoix.

Of course, the festival's focal point is the apple. More than 30 types of apples will be on hand, as well as other fall harvest items, such as pumpkins, squash, jam, honey, maple syrup, pies and cider. About a half dozen area apple orchards are scheduled to be a part of the event.

Festival organizers said although this year's unusual spring weather took its toll on many Michigan growers, area orchards promise a hountiful crop of apples for the 2012 season.

During the three-day event, many local organizations will also offer food, such as chili, hot dogs, kielhasa and french fries. Commemorative Apple Festival T-shirts will also be available for purchase for $20 each.

The T-shirt, a new addition to this year's festival, is a collaborative effort between Charlevoix Area Chamber of Commerce and the Charlevoix High School.

Festival organizer Shelly Ferguson said everyone involved agreed that the result has been great.

"It is always a positive thing to get students involved with community events," Ferguson said "We look forward to working with the schools to provide a new and exciting shirt design every year."

Ferguson explained that in 2011, Charlevoix students in John Guirey's high school 2-D design class put their creative skills to the test to produce a variety of designs for this year's festival. A number of students entered the competition, but Tanesha Rogers design stood out from the rest.

"It is always a positive experience for young artist/designers to see their work displayed. Tanesha was very excited to hear her design was chosen for the shirt this year," Guirey said.

Fresh baked goods are just one of many popular features of the Annual Charlevoix Apple Festival. This year's event is slated to take place in downtown Charlevoix Oct. 12-14.

Rogers

Rogers is currently attending Michigan State University. When asked what Apple Fest means to her, she replied, "Apple Fest means family to me. Coming home to autumn leaves, pumpkins and cornstalk wrapped trees is one of the best feelings. Then to hundle up and walk through town with the family always tops it off."

Describing her design Rogers said, "Connecting my own perception of Charlevoix's Apple Festival with a design proved slightly challenging at first. I was trying to represent so many things until I realized that the audience wasn't going to be me, but a wide variety of people who may identify the festival with different emotions or memories. I felt it was important to keep things simple with a semi-spooky flare."

In addition to all the food, there is a holiday art and craft show with 125 exhibitor booths.

For the children, there will be face painting, pony rides and a petting zoo.

The community's second annual pumpkin-carving contest also will take place downtown in Bridge Park during Apple Festival weekend. To register for the free contest, bring your hand-carved pumpkin to the festival T-shirt booth in East Park between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m. on Friday or Saturday, Oct. 12-13. The entries will be judged in three categories: ages 5 and under, ages 6-12, and ages 13 years and older. Only one entry per person will be allowed. Pumpkins will be lit for judging at 6 p.m. Saturday in Bridge Park. Participation ribbons and prizes will be awarded to first, second and third place winners in each age group.

Another new addition to this year's festival, the Charlevoix Kiwanis Club will sponsor an Apple Fest Family Fun Run on Saturday. The run will include a 1 mile run that will start at 9 a.m. and a 5K race that will start at 9:20 a.m. Both races will start from the corner of Bridge and Belvedere Avenue. Check in will take place at the Odmark Performance Pavilion in East Park from 8-9 a.m.

The 5K race route will travel east on Belvedere to Ferry, then south on Ferry to Stover, then west on Stover to May, then a link hehind Charlevoix Middle School, then east on Garfield to Alice, and then north on Alice, back to Belvedere.

The mile course will also make a loop, going east on Belvedere, south on Alice, west on Garfield and hack north on May to Belvedere.

For more race information or to register, visit www.Active.com and search Charlevoix Apple Festival.

Festival hours are from 10 a.m.-6 p.m. Friday and Saturday, Oct. 12-13, and 10 a.m.-4 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 14.

City council gives manager high marks

Charlevoix City Manager Rob Straebel received high marks from the city council on his annual performance evaluation, completed in a closed session at Monday's regular semimonthly council meeting.

Straebel's evaluation had been placed on two prior agendas, but had been pushed hack because of full agendas and debate over the proposed community fireplace in East Park.

The written evaluation form, which Straebel provided to the Courier, asks the council to rate the city manager in six key areas and multiple sub-sections on a scale of one to five with the following definitions:

5 — Outstanding
4 — Exceeds expectations
3 — Satisfactorily meets expectations
2 — Improvement needed
1 — Unsatisfactory

According to notes on the evaluation, the council chose to give Straebel summary ratings in each major area instead of individual ratings on each subsection.

Here were Straebel's scores by category, followed by council comments, if any:

Category: Budgeting and Fiscal Management

Score: 4

Comments: "Praise (for the) teamwork by the city manager, treasurer and department heads. Council feels the city manager and treasurer do an outstanding job (with) budget and fiscal management, as (the city's recent audit) evidenced."

Straebel

Category: Supervision and Management

Score: 3.5

Comments: "Due to the lack of knowledge regarding relationships with individual employees, unable to evaluate. Overall satisfied with supervisory and management skills. Need to get out among employees more."

Category: Leadership and Professionalism

Score: 4

Comments: "Overall very satisfactory. Excelled in union contract negotiations. Unknown with relationships with other governmental entities."

Category: Community Relations

Score: 3.75

Comments: "Although time limits his ability to be out in the community for great lengths, manages time spent on (community) relations well."

Category: City Council Relations

Score: 4.5

Comments: "Does a very good job of informing council on happenings around the city involving projects and personnel issues. Always provides information in a timely fashion."

Category: Intergovernmental relations

Score: 4.5

Comments: "Good work — work with other cities on joint assessor, work on Lake-to-Lake Trail."

What things does the city manager do well?

"Being able to represent the city in a professional manner, in negotiations, airport relations and interviews."

What areas could the city manager improve upon?

"Get out more (to) interact with employees and the public."

Overall Performance Rating: Exceeds expectations

City trees to be pruned, removed

STEVE ZUCKER
Courier Editor

Every year around this time, Charlevoix Department of Public Works director Pat Elliott, has an unfortunate, but necessary job to do.

He travels through the city and marks trees in the right-of-way that need to be either trimmed or removed.

That process is set to begin later this month, but this year it will be more along one section of city street, thanks to the emerald ash borer.

Elliott said ash borer infestations will mean the removal of 10 ash trees along May Street that are either dead or dying. The bug has had an impact on other trees along city streets as well, while other trees will be removed or trimmed for other reasons.

He noted that all city trees slated for removal have been or will be marked with a pink X while trees to be pruned will be marked with a pink dot.

Elliott explained that city staff, in conjunction with the city's shade tree commission, has developed certain criteria which determines whether a tree requires removal or pruning.

"Ultimately the health, safety and welfare of the citizens is of the utmost importance," Elliott said.

Elliott encourages anyone with questions or concerns about the upcoming tree work to contact him at (231) 547-3276.

Elliott also noted that currently there is no replacement program for trees that are removed or that have been removed in recent years. However, he said the city plans to re-instate the planting program as funds are available.

Voter registration deadline nears

Michigan residents have until Oct. 9 to register to vote in the presidential election Tuesday, Nov. 6.

The state requires voters to be 18 years of age by election day and to be a U.S. citizen, as well as of residents of the city in which they register in Michigan.

All Secretary of State offices and county clerks can register people to vote in person. Townships and counties clerks accept voter registrations by mail.

However, first-time voters must vote in person in their first election, unless they hand deliver the application to their local clerk, are 60 years or older, are disabled, or are eligible to vote under the Uniformed and Overseas Citizens Absentee Voting Act.

Polls will be open statewide from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m., Tuesday, Nov. 6 for in-person voters.

Despite several news reports to the contrary and general confusion, voters who do not have photo identification at the polls may fill out an affidavit of identity form and still vote.

Can you vote absentee?

The following voters qualify to vote absentee:

— Persons 60 years old or older.
— Person physically unable to attend the polls without assistance of another.
— Persons expecting to be absent from the community they vote in the entire day Nov. 6.
— Persons in jail awaiting arraignment or trial.
— Persons unable to attend the polls for religious reasons.
— Persons appointed to work as an election inspector in a precinct outside of your precinct of residence.

Absentee voters must submit their application by 2 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 3, and can obtain in person an absentee ballot any time through 4 p.m. Monday, Nov. 5. Emergency absentee ballots are available under certain conditions through 4 p.m. on election day.

Don't miss the boat!

Cold is no match for souped-up cold remedies

A LOOK AT LIFE

Gayle Gennett

The leaves are turning and falling much too quickly for someone who relishes fall and spends most of the winter looking at the snow rather than playing in it. I am taking my usual walk down the beach and hear the rustling of leaves in the woods nearby and the heavy sounds of pounding surf from a northeastern wind. Then there is the resonance of the occasional cough and sneezing followed by nose blowing.

Yes, the sounds of fall include something less romantic than the whistle of a tea kettle or the strike of a match when a fire is lit. I return from my walk, wrap myself up with a flannel blanket, find a comfortable chair and gaze out the window in time to see a squirrel running wildly onto the porch to pick up an acorn or two to stash nearby. Then again it's the sounds of coughing and "oh my aching head." I thought I did my job. I drank water, washed my hands, took vitamin D, but bam, the common cold still hit me. Talking with others I realize at least I'm not alone. Misery really does love company.

Though a deep voice is considered sexy, my cold-induced voice, 12 octaves lower than usual and nasal passage totally blocked has become something more like Darth Vader meets Elmer Fudd. While cooking chicken broth in a sauce pan I can no longer wait until its ready for my sipping but instead I pull my hair back and feel the steam rise up into my nostrils. The warmth wafting upwards feels wonderful and now I think I can smell so I must be breathing better. Who knew chicken stock would make a great steam facial. It's my new "go to" remedy.

When my first cold of the season hits, I feel so horrible I ask God if this is my time and the reply is always the same: "OK wimp, you can get through this." By day two I wonder if I should I go to the doctor. Looking for a quick fix, I realize there isn't one and I go back to bed, pull the covers over my head and fall asleep. "Yes," I tell myself, sleep, liquids and rest and I'll be good to go. But it's helpful to know if you are dealing with a cold or some kind of allergy instead.

So I am going to play doctor here and I use that term loosely but if you find yourself sneezing more, coughing more and experiencing nasal congestion at the same time each year and it lasts longer than seven days chances are it's an allergy and not a cold. If you are someone prone to allergies in the winter, washing your face frequently reduces the allergens you carry. Hot showers and baths help relieve sinus congestion. When you're blowing your nose a lot it's easy to get dehydrated. Pump up your fluid intake. Hot drinks not only feel good going down but the steam reduces you nasal congestion. Allergies like dust, mold and pet dander are winter time culprits.

For now allergies are not my illness du jour. Fortunately, since I've added 16 ounces of water every morning before eating breakfast this cold went through me in record time; three days. This is unheard of for my body system. By day five I am usually sitting in a doctor's office convincing myself I have pneumonia and will cough up a lung if I am not careful.

Now that I am upright and making up for lost time and if you are reading this and not feeling well, consider me your quiet cheerleader. Get some rest, have some chicken soup or better yet a chicken broth facial. Know that your lungs will stay intact and it's physically impossible to cough one up. I'm sending healthy, healing thoughts your way as we enter the season when chicken soup is good for the soul and the sinuses.

LETTERS to the editor

Sheriff offers thanks to responders, community following crash

On Sept. 26, 2012, the rescuer became the rescued.

The rescued would be me.

I am well aware that I live and work in an exceptional area. This date would humble me beyond belief.

I was northbound on M-66 near Castle Farms when, without warning, the inside of my patrol exploded. I had no idea what had just happened and found myself spinning, still going down the road.

A gentleman approached my window to inquire if I was OK. At that point, I still had no idea what had just happened.

He provided me with a towel to wipe my face, which had been injured from the flying glass and crash airbag. I think he was the one who told me I had been hit by a pickup truck crossing the highway. If this gentleman sees this letter I wish he would contact me so I can personally thank him for his concern and kindness.

I was able to call 9-1-1 on my radio to alert them of the crash and would probably need EMS to respond to check both the other driver and me out. I soon found out I was unable to get out of the car due to the heavy damage to my door. Once again, I had to ask 9-1-1 to send someone to get my door open.

Here begins where I have been truly humbled by all the emergency responders who came to the scene to assist me. Two of my off duty deputies came within minutes of the crash to assist EMS and the fire department.

The EMTs , paramedics and firemen, the doctor and nurses at Charlevoix Area Hospital are all truly the best. To all of them, I extend my heartfelt thanks! It is an experience to have worked along side of these fine men and women for over 30 years, to find myself as the victim. I could not have been in better hands.

Again, I have been humbled by all of the calls, prayers, e-mails, text messages, and yes, visits from not only my friends and co-workers, but people I didn't even know. We, and especially me, are very fortunate to live in this great community. I have been blessed to be able to serve this outstanding community who came to serve me when I needed them.

Thank you everyone for your kindness, prayers, and concern.

Sincerely,
Don Schneider,
Charlevoix County Sheriff

"There was installed last week in the ice cream parlors of Geo. Glados ... what is unquestionably the finest soda fountain and serving counter this side of Grand Rapids.The plant cost a little over $2,000." So read the Charlevoix Courier account of its arrival in February of 1910. George, at right, was a Greek immigrant who had come to Charlevoix a few years earlier and established a candy making business on Bridge Street. He added ice cream to the line. Aided by brother John, center, George soon did a thriving business. Then he added a cafe. George was loved by the locals and known by resorters from all over the country because he treated them so well, ready with a greeting and a quip in his highly accented English. The Depression killed the candy end of the business, but the ice cream and food business lasted well into the 1950s. The magnificent fountain was 14 feet long, made of marble, mahogany, and both plate and colored glass, with ornamental metal tracery. John stands with his hand on the knobs of the actual fountain, a silver art nouveau flower on a gleaming white marble base. This is currently the location of Round Lake Bookstore at 216 Bridge St. (Photo loaned by Mary Anne Glados Kline of Oden.)

Petoskey High School FCCLA; Petoskey News-Review; Sunrise Rotary of Petoskey; RSVP; and St. Mary's Cement allowed their staff to assist with projects throughout the day. Without the participation of area agencies, schools, organizations, service clubs, businesses, and individuals Day of Caring would not be a success.

Business sponsors of the Day of Caring and the Campaign Kickoff Breakfast include Spartan Stores, Huntington Bank, Great Lakes Energy, EJ, Johan's, Phone Guide, Circuit Controls Corporation, Sunnybank, and Northwestern Bank. Special thanks go out to Harbor Industries and Fletch's for hosting our Campaign Kickoff breakfasts in Charlevoix and Petoskey. Big thanks to the Petoskey Madrigal's for providing wonderful entertainment.

A special thank you to the Day of Caring planning committee: Dee Vincent, Jennifer Kenney, Jennifer Rekasi, Terri Sevener, Denise Brown-Piajtas, Leslie Lake, Michelle Harrington, and Casey Adams.

Day of Caring made a huge difference for many agencies and individuals in Charlevoix and Emmet Counties. Your generosity was greatly appreciated and acknowledged throughout our communities. We look forward to another successful Day of Caring next year.

Sincerely,

How could anyone vote for Obama?

Editor:

Dear voter:

Do you consider yourself an intelligent, thinking person?

If so, answer this: Why, when you really look deeply at the terrible condition of our economy, the dismal amount of job creation, continual over-the-top unemployment, spiraling national debt, declining per family income, damaging class warfare, blatant misuse of presidential powers, gutting of our military, and four dead diplomats in Libya.

Then, how can you possibly, with intellectual honesty, consider voting to give Barack Obama four more years as President of the United States?

Jayne Irene Hermann and James Dee Watson Grubb were married at the Charlevoix United Methodist Church on Aug. 11, 2012.

The bride wore a Rivini gown from Houston,Texas and the bridesmaids all wore navy blue dresses with "hot pink" bouquets and shoes.

Following the service, the bride, groom, and the entire wedding party boarded the bride's family boat, GELE B VIII, from downtown Charlevoix and cruised their way back to their summer cottage at the Belvedere Club. From there, the party attended a cocktail party at Moreland Park (old site of Belvedere Hotel) and the wedding party walked down to a reception at the Belvedere Casino for dinner and danced late into the night. The bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. David W. Hermann of St. Louis, Mo., and family have been long time Belvedere Club summer residents for generations. The groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Grubb, and most of the wedding party hailed from Houston, Texas.

The beautiful flowers were provided by Petals of Charlevoix and the photography was handled by Weber Photography of Bay Harbor.

The bride and groom spent their honeymoon in Jumby Bay Island in the Caribbean and will reside in Houston.

OBITUARIES

Richard E. Moore, 85

Richard E. Moore, 85, of Charlevoix, died Sunday, Sept. 30, 2012, at his home. He was born Feb. 19, 1927, in Howell, to Clark and Lucille (Grant) Moore. He served in the U.S. Army from 1945-46, in the Army of Occupation in Germany. On April 14, 1956, he married Mary L. Dixon in Lansing.

Richard was employed by Will Flow/Vance in Charlevoix specializing in welding stainless steel.

He is survived by his wife of 56 years, Mary Moore; sons, Steven R. Moore of Lansing, Gary C. Moore of Virginia Beach, Va., James A. Moore of Houston, Texas, Thomas S. (Rita) Moore, and Joe R. (Denise) Moore all of Charlevoix; daughters, Dianne (Kirt) Eggers of Wadsworth, Ill., Lyddy E. (Thomas) Morrison of Charlevoix; 17 grandchildren, 10 great-grandchildren, sister, Martha Silvis of Florida; brother, Ralph (JoAnne) Moore of Arizona. Richard was preceded in death by his parents, a sister Eleanor Hyde and a brother Ernie Moore.

Visitation will be from 6-8 p.m. Friday, Oct. 5, at the Winchester Funeral Home in Charlevoix. There will be no funeral. Interment will take place at Brookside Cemetery in Charlevoix.

Colleen Sue Currier

Colleen Sue Currier, "The Flower Lady," of Charlevoix, died Sunday, Sept. 30, 2012, at Boulder Park Terrace in Charlevoix. She was born April 21, 1961, in Detroit and was raised by her parents, Desmond P. and Margaret "Peggy" L. (Lett) Currier in Birmingham. She graduated from Seaholm High School in 1979. She moved with her family to Charlevoix, and attended Northern Michigan University. After college, Colleen lived in St. Petersburg, Fla. for a short time before returning home to Charlevoix.

Colleen worked in several flower shops before opening her own shop in Charlevoix, Floral Designs By Colleen, that she ran for more than 15 years.

She was a member of St. Mary's Catholic Church in Charlevoix.

Colleen is survived by her siblings, Irene (Richard) Tanghe, Charlotte Currier, Maureen (Paul) Court, Joseph Currier, William (Maggie) Currier, and Vincent (Kim) Currier; many nieces and nephews and great nieces and nephews; and all of her wonderful friends. Colleen's long time boyfriend, Gary Cross, preceded her in death on March 31, 2011.

A Rite of Christian Burial will be 1:30 p.m., Friday, Oct. 5, at St. Mary's Church in Charlevoix, the Rev. Matthew Wigton officiating. Burial will take place at Holy Cross Cemetery on Beaver Island on Saturday.

Visitation will be from 6-8 p.m. Thursday, at the Winchester Funeral Home in Charlevoix where the Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m.

In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to Holy Cross Cemetery, P.O. Box 357, Beaver Island, MI 49782.

Those wishing to share a memory of Colleen, or condolences, may do so at www.winchesterfuneralhome.com

DEATH NOTICE

Richard 'Rick' Fochtman Jr., 61

A graveside service for Richard A. "Rick" Fochtman, Jr., 61, formerly of Charlevoix, who died June 29, 2012, at his home in Woodridge, Ill., will be 2:30 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 19, at Brookside Cemetery in Charlevoix. The Rev. Gayle Gennett will officiate.

Second public hearing on zoning ordinance update set

The Charlevoix City Planning Commission will conduct a second public hearing on a proposed overhaul of the city's zoning ordinance at 6 p.m. on Monday, Oct. 8 in the Charlevoix City Council Chambers at city hall.

At the meeting the commission will take public comments on the ordinance and also expects to go through the proposed zoning map to make sure they are supportive of all proposed zone changes. Once this is completed staff will notify affected property owners of proposed zone changes.

A third public hearing is set for 6 p.m. on Nov. 12. For updates on the proposed amended ordinance, visit the city's website at www.cityofcharlevoix.org.

EVENT calendar

SPECIAL EVENTS

Benefit concert — To commemorate the 10-year anniversary of the opening of the Charlevoix High School and its performing arts center, the Rotary Club is hosting a Reach for the Stars Reunion concert on Oct. 8. The concert will feature the same two groups that performed in an inaugural concert in 2002, 3 Men and a Tenor and a group now known as Horton Creek. Ten years ago the Rotary Club started an endowment for the future upkeep on the center with $20,000. This has proven not to be enough. All of the profits from the reunion concert will go toward enhancing the endowment account with the Charlevoix County Community Foundation. Tickets at $20 and are available from any Rotarian or at the Clothing Company or Peacock Salon in Charlevoix. For more information, call (231) 875-8701.

Art demonstration — Bier Art Gallery will be hosting an art demonstration and studio open house from 10 a.m.-5 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 13. The gallery is located six miles south of Charlevoix at the red and white schoolhouse. The event will offer an opportunity to meet and talk with working artists. Refreshments will be available. Call (231) 547-2288 for more information.

ORGANIZATIONS

Garden Club — The Charlevoix Area Garden Club meets at 1 p.m. the second Tuesday of each month at the Charlevoix Public Library. For more information contact Peggy Brennan at (231) 237-0368 or Bonnie Lenhart at (231) 875-6450.

Adult band — Pine Lake Winds Band will be playing from 7-8:30 p.m. on Tuesday nights at the Charlevoix Middle School band room. Everyone is welcome. For further information contact Ev Wujcik at (231) 547-6378.

Men's chorus — The Charlevoix Men's Chorus meets for weekly one-hour rehearsals take place each Friday at 12:15 p.m. downstairs at the Charlevoix Congregational Church. Any men who enjoy singing are invited to join. The group gives several performances each season. For more information call (231) 547-4157.

CHARLEVOIX CIRCLE OF ARTS

— The Charlevoix Circle of Arts gallery, located at 109 Clinton St. in Charlevoix has the following events planned. For more information about upcoming events and ongoing programs, visit the organization's website at www.charlevoixcircle.org.

Michigan Seasons — The Charlevoix Circle of Arts and the Charlevoix Photography Club's fourth annual Photography Show is slated to run from Aug. 30-Oct. 5. The theme of this year's show is "Michigan Seasons. Photographers were invited to submit photographs "depicting the abundant beauty of Michigan" in the categories of Realistic Photography, Photographic Art, Canvas Wrap, and Youth. The show was judged by Todd and Brad Reed, a father-son outdoor photography team based in Ludington.

Upcoming classes
— Jim Koeloskey, Palette Knife Painting: 5-9 p.m. Monday-Tuesday, Oct. 8-9
— Cal Kemppainen, Oil Painting: 5-9 p.m., Monday-Tuesday, Oct. 15-18

BLOOD DRIVES

— In this area, the Red Cross Great Lakes Blood Services Region provides lifesaving blood to hospitals across the state of Michigan and need approximately 700 people to donate blood and platelets each weekday to meet hospital demand. To schedule a donation time or get more information about giving blood or platelets, people can visit redcrossblood.org or call 1-800-RED CROSS (1-800-733-2787). Individuals who are 17 years of age, meet weight and height requirements (110 pounds or more, depending on height) and are in generally good health may be eligible to donate blood. Donors should bring their Red Cross blood donor card or other form of positive identification when they come to donate.

- East Jordan — noon-6 p.m. p.m. Oct. 9, East Jordan Civic Center, 101 Civic Center Lane
- Petoskey — 2-7 p.m. p.m. Oct. 11, Ottawa Elementary School, 871 Kalamazoo Ave.
- Petoskey — 10 a.m.-2 p.m. p.m. Oct. 15, North Central Michigan College, 1515 Howard St.

FORUM

Breaking the audience up into about 10 groups, organizers John Campbell and Ken Polakowski charged the roughly 60 people in attendance at Wednesday's meeting at the Charlevoix Public Library with this brainstorming task: "Give us your vision of the ideal community gathering place with fire."

Campbell and Polakowski challenged the groups to not to focus on too many specifics, but instead to think about — in general terms, where is it, who will use it, what will it look like, what type of fire is it?

Campbell and Polakowski explained that they understand that many are only interested in a "no fire" or "no gathering space project at all" option, but that injecting those discussions into the mix Wednesday would be counter-productive to the creative process they were hoping to stimulate for developing options or alternatives for the proposed fireplace

Many of the groups grudgingly went along with the exercise coming up with suggestions for locations and uses, but most group spokespersons, first offered the caveat that the consensus of the group was to have no fireplace at all.

Some of the suggested locations that were offered included: Michigan Beach, Ferry Beach, Veterans Park, and Mount McSauba.

Those suggesting Ferry Beach noted that the area has ample parking and is likely more protected from the wind than Michigan Beach. Others mentioning Mount McSauba suggested that a fireplace-like structure might be nice for ice skaters to warm themselves or might work well for gatherings such as small concerts.

Another group suggested that if the project had to include fire, it should be a wood-fueled fire so that it could be used for activities such as roasting hot dogs or marshmallows.

Yet another group suggested that an "eternal flame" sort of arrangement might work in Veteran's Park where it could serve the dual purpose of a tribute to those who have served in the armed forces.

After hearing a string of half-hearted suggestions, Polakowski implored the audience, "Instead of being negative, why not let this gentleman know what people do want?"

A few audience members threw out some ideas for other things the donor might consider putting his money toward instead such as scholarships, and endowment for the maintenance of the interactive fountain, among others.

"Is it possible for someone to talk to Mr. Anonymous and see if he is willing to look at other options?" one woman in the group asked.

Campbell and Polakowski have scheduled a second meeting for 7 p.m. on Nov. 14, also at the library, intended to follow up on Wednesday's discussions and perhaps come up with a list of options to present to the city council later that month.

LAWSUIT

Jarema

Fanara

from continuing behavior she alleged was "bullying."

"The county is her employer. They have done nothing to stop his actions or rein him in in any way," said Bogas. "The types of acts he's engaged in are not acceptable in this society and should not be allowed to happen."

Jarema did not return calls for a comment before press time.

Chair of the board of commissioners Joel Evans did not make himself available for comment on the matter and vice chair Chris Christensen said he is unable to comment because he was unaware of the lawsuit.

Fanara has accused Jarema of lying to county commissioners and a judge, refusing to pay her for work she did, launching a false investigation into her on-the-clock county hours, restricting her job duties, failing to register her for a student loan payback program, falsely accusing her of obtaining warrants without probable cause and perhaps the most egregious allegation — that Jarema spread false rumors about her having sex with a defense attorney in exchange for better plea bargains.

That came as retaliation, Fanara says, after she filed a grievance against Jarema with the Michigan Attorney Grievance Commission for alleged lies to commissioners and a judge.

After filing the grievance, Fanara was placed on medical leave by doctors after she experienced stress-related tension headaches she previously said are attributed to Jarema's poor treatment of her.

She was out of the office for 12 weeks on medical leave and came back to the office in July. She claims the bullying continued upon her return, so she used up her vacation time until the August primary election, after which she returned to work.

According to the lawsuit filed against Jarema and the county, after Fanara spoke out to commissioners and the public about the alleged harassment by Jarema, she was retaliated against through further harassment by Jarema, her job duties were scaled back and she was told her employment would not be continued, and would be terminated, in 2013.

Prosecutor-elect, Allen Telgenhof, will likely take over the prosecutor's office in January, and along with it control of staffing in the office.

"I don't think it's appropriate to comment," on whether Fanara will be terminated, said Telgenhof.

The rumors Jarema allegedly spread about Fanara having sex with defense attorneys are the top bullet point in Fanara's lawsuit explaining why she believes she has been sexually harassed. It is followed by claims that Jarema and the county threatened to file unfounded complaints against her with the attorney grievance commission, falsely accused her of submitting false time sheets and authorizing warrants without probable cause, refused to register her for a federal student loan payback program, reduced her pay, denied her access to the office and restricted her job duties.

It goes on to say that she spoke out against their treatment of her, but the alleged harassment did not stop, it instead increased, reads the lawsuit, thus the charge of retaliation.

The comments also qualify as defamation, claims the lawsuit, because they resulted in damage to Fanara's reputation in the community, her ability to find work, emotional distress, humiliation, sleeplessness, migraine headaches, tension headaches and anxiety.

Fanara is claiming she has been deprived of her freedom of speech by the county and Jarema because, after she spoke out to the public about Jarema's alleged harassment, the county retaliated against and terminated her because of, or on the basis of, "Her exercise of her constitutionally protected speech on a matter of public concern."

With the lawsuit, Fanara is demanding that the county stop the alleged discrimination, harassment and defamation and award her all lost wages, as well as compensatory and punitive damages and attorney's fees.

Jarema fires Fanara following lawsuit filing

AEBRA COE
Northern Michigan Review

Shaynee Fanara was fired Thursday three days after filing a lawsuit against her employers, Charlevoix County and prosecutor John Jarema.

County human resources director Kevin Shepard confirmed the termination but said he could not comment on it.

"It was a decision by the prosecutor," he said. "She is his employee."

Fanara's attorney, Kathleen Bogas, says Jarema had the lawsuit when he fired Fanara.

"It is clear that she was terminated because she filed this lawsuit," said Bogas.

Fanara and her attorney say they will now amend the lawsuit to add additional terms regarding the termination.

"Anytime an employee is retaliated against for asserting their civil rights, juries take that very seriously," said Bogas. "I believe in this matter the court will find that her termination was unjustified."

Write-in candidates file for city council, mayor

STEVE ZUCKER
Courier Editor

The field of candidates running for election to the Charlevoix City Council and mayor's offices grew recently when two people filed to run as write-in candidates in the Nov. 6 general election.

The seats up for re-election this year include Lyle Gennett's in the first ward, Greg Stevens' in the second ward, Shane Cole's in the third ward and the mayor's seat, currently held by Norman "Boogie" Carlson Jr. All four incumbents have filed to seek re-election and previously the only challenger that filed was Shirley Gibson, who is running for the third ward seat against Cole.

However, recently Leon Perron has filed to run as a write in for against Stevens for the second ward seat and Gabe Campbell has filed to run as a wrote-in candidate against Carlson for the mayor's seat.

The deadline to file with the Charlevoix City Clerk's office to run for city council or mayor in the Nov. 6 election is 4 p.m. on Oct. 26. To qualify to run in the election a person must be be a registered voter in the jurisdiction they wish to run.

The Courier will have more in depth coverage of the of the election in a upcoming edition.

Rayders fall to Gladiators 26-7 in homecoming game

ABOVE: Charlevoix's Charlie Hamilton looks for running room around the right end of the line in the second half of the Rayders' game against Traverse City St. Francis Friday, Sept. 28.

The Charlevoix Rayder varsity football team came up on the wrong side of a few key plays last week, tilting the scales against their efforts to win their first game of the season on homecoming.

The Rayders fell to Traverse City St. Francis 26-7 at Kipke Field on Friday, Sept. 28.

St. Francis racked up some 400 yards of total offense against the Rayders.

Bryon Bullough, Daniel Gallagher, Jake Khoury and Austin Currie all had touchdown runs as the Gladiators snapped a two-game losing streak, their first such streak since 2001.

The Gladiators are 3-3. The Rayders fell to 0-6.

"They (St. Francis) converted on a big fourth-down play after a roughing the punter penalty in which they scored to put them up 14-7," Charlevoix coach Nick Barnum said. "Offensively, we moved the ball alright and we had our chances, it's just the little things that kill."

The Rayders were led by Tanner Catt who finished with 144 yards on 10 carries. He scored Charlevoix's TD on a 30-yard run.

On one second-half possession, the Rayders got down near the St. Francis endzone, but could not punch the ball in and turned it over on downs.

Also for Charlevoix, Bryan Noirot added 36 yards on seven carries for the Rayders.

Charlevoix quarterbacks Luke Klinger and Nate Moon finished a combined 3-of-10 passing for 12 yards.

Catt and Shane Sutherland had 10 tackles apiece to lead Charlevoix's defense, while Noirot and Greyson Spegele had seven tackles each. Sutherland and Moon each made an interceptions.

"They (St. Francis) just pounded the ball and they had just one huge run where we lost contain and they hit us with a counter," Barnum said. "It was a tough loss for our seniors. They've been working their butts off and for it to be homecoming and to fall just short is tough. All of our seniors played with heart."

This week the Rayders travel to perennial rival Boyne City in hopes spoiling the Ramblers' homecoming with that elusive first win.

It won't be an easy task. Last week the Ramblers clinched a playoff berth, knocking off East Jordan 43-0.

With the win, Boyne City improved to 6-0 on the season. The Red Devils dropped to 0-6.

Elsewere in area Lake Michigan Conference action, Kalkasksa defeated Harbor Springs, 42-28. The loss drops the Rams' record to 2-4 for the season.

Early mistakes costly for JV in loss to TCSF

After stringing together our straight wins, mistakes arly in the game tripped up e Charlevoix Rayder junior arsity football team Thursay, Sept. 27 in a 39-8 loss to raverse City St. Francis.

The Gladiator's stingy de-nse held the Rayders to a ngle touchdown, which me with 8:20 remaining in e third quarter when Austin itman connected with Ben oss for a 65-yard pass play. eNen Borths ran the ball in o add the two-point conver-on.

St. Francis scored 16 of s points in the first quarter, cked on another 8 in the sec-nd and third quarters and 7 ore in the fourth.

Because of a technical probem with the game video, ore detailed game statistics were not available.

"This was a tough game for the whole team," coach Todd Klinger said. "Right from the beginning, we had trouble executing, starting with a fumble on our second play to set up St. Francis's first TD. During the first half, our mistakes kept us in a hole that we could not get out of. In all of our previous games, we have been able to come up with big plays early but with St. Francis' attacking defense, they preventing us from doing this."

Klinger added he believes his team will learn for their mistakes in the game and finish strong in their remaining three games.

The Rayders will host Boyne City on Thursday. Kickoff is set for 6 p.m. at Kipke Field.

POP WARNER

Bucs, Pirates notch wins, Midgets fall

The Charlevoix Pop Warner Junior Peewees were back in action last Saturday, Sept. 29 in Boyne City.

In the 11:30 a.m. game, the Charlevoix Pirates won a defensive battle in a 6-0 victory over Boyne City II. Coaches said the Pirates were able to make defensive adjustments to frustrate the competitive opponent throughout the game.

On offense, Carson Gauthier started the second half of the game with multiple carries for big yardage, leading to a Tylan Fry 3-yard touchdown run.

In the 2:30 p.m. game, The Charlevoix Bucs got back on the winning track, defeating Boyne City I 33-13.

On offense, the Bucs were led by the running of Walker Fogle, who had several runs over 20 yards on his way to four touchdowns and more than 100 yards rushing. Fogle credited his effort to good team blocking. Hank Simmons took a quarterback keeper into the endzone for the other score.

Defensively, the Bucs were paced by an improved team effort in tackling, led by Fogle, Simmons and Tyler Ostrum, coaches said.

Both Peewee teams will be playing their final home games on Saturday, Oct. 6, at Kipke Field. The Charlevoix Pirates will play the 11:30 a.m. game against Forest Area, while the Charlevoix Bucs will face Kalkaska at 2:30 p.m.

Charlevoix Midgets suffered their second loss of the season on Saturday, Sept. 29, losing to Boynce City II, 19-6

Charlevoix coach Boogie Calrson said his team managed to score once on a nice carry from Dylan Starr, but Boyne City put up 19 points against a good Charlevoix defense.

Charlevoix will face Kalkaska at 1 p.m. Saturday at Kipke Field when Midget team hopes to avenge its only loss of the 2011 season.

CROSS COUNTRY

Rayders take 8th, 12th at invitational

CARSON CITY — Charlevoix sophomore Amber Way won the Gold Division girls race Saturday Carson City Cross Country Invitational. She finished in 18 minutes, 11 seconds, leadin Charlevoix to a 12th-place finish.

"Amber ran a great race and did not take the lead until almost the two-mile mark and then she opened up a lead of 37 seconds over runner-up Rachel Sema of St. Louis," Charlevoix coach Mary Plude said. "Amber's time was the second fastest of the day."

Julie Bos — the defending Division I state champion from Grand Rapids Christian — finished first overall in 17:37.

Also earning a medal for the Charlevoix girls was Caroline Boss, who finished in 20:50 and was 26th overall.

"This was Caroline's first race since having a stress fracture in August," Plude said.

Other Charlevoix girls: 72-Anna Voci; 88-Alaska Dhaseleer; 89-Megan Clees; 90-Cora Taylor; 91-Shelby Robinson; 95-Pauline Sheets.

"The team had a major loss in Cassidy Bonar, who broke both bones in her shin during the race at the two-and-a-half mile mark," Plude said. "Cassidy is a senior and was the solid fourth runner on the team. We will really miss her strong presence in practice and in the races. The team will have to rise up and come together to solidify the middle of the pack."

The Charlevoix boys finished eighth in the Gold Division. Jackson Buday led the Rayders with a 23rd place finish in 17:23.

KALKASKA – Nick Snabes had a pair of goals as the Rayders snapped a losing streak with a 6-3 Lake Michigan Conference win over Kalkaska Monday.

Also for the Rayders, 6-8-1 overall, freshman Kyle Illenden scored his first career goal as did Ian Cavender.

"It was a good game and it gets the guys back on track," Charlevoix coach Jon Boss said. "We played well and we've been talking about getting better every game and every practice. We were able to move the ball around and it was a good game to bounce back after a tough couple of weeks."

The Rayders led 3-0 at halftime.

Illenden then scored his first career varsity goal off a Justin Pearl assist before Eric Tripplehorn scored on a penalty kick. Cavender then added his first career goal on a cross from Drost.

"The guys were really excited, especially for Ian's goal because earlier this year he had a goal called back."

Ryan Joy, Brendan Britt and Snabes shared the goalkeeping duties.

The win was a bounce back from a 5-1 loss at the hands of Boyne City on Thursday, Sept. 27.

Austin Gardner had a hat trick and Luca Thomsen scored two goals as Boyne City downed the Rayders to improve to 12-5 overall, 6-2 in the Lake Michigan Conference.

Alan Bielas had three assists and Thomsen added one for the Ramblers.

Alex Branim, Trevor Day, Eric Amy, Eric Patrick and Chris Moore were Boyne's defensive standouts, while Steven Halstead turned in a solid performance at forward, coach Nick Baic said.

Boyne goalkeeper Derek Willis made 10 saves for the victory.

Rayders defeat Blazers, go 3-1 in tournament

The Charlevoix Rayder varsity volleyball team improved to 13-12-5 overall, 5-2 league with a 25-13, 25-12, 25-15 win over Kalkaska Tuesday.

For the Rayders, Karley Pearsall had a career-high 27 kills, while Madeline Boss was 25-of-25 serving with three aces, was perfect on serve receive and added eight digs and six kills.

Also for the Rayders, Gloria Greene had 14 assists, three aces and was 27-of-27 serving with four aces, while Anna Way had four kills and Jennaca Holecheck had seven digs.

"The girls had an agenda of coming out strong to show our home crowd all the hard work they've been putting in to become a tough Rayder volleyball team," Charelvoix coach Audra Randall said. "They did do just that. Kalkaska had a tough time with our offensive line."

Over the weekend the Rayders traveled the Morley-Stanwood invitational where they posted a 1-3 record.

Madeline Boss had 28 kills and 15 digs in leading the Rayders in the tournament on Saturday.

The Rayders, opened the tournament, against the host Mohawks, the defending Class C state champions. Morley-Stanwood handed the Rayders a 25-20, 25-18 loss.

Charlevoix came back to defeat Cedar Springs, 25-15, 25-18; then fell to Detroit Cass Tech, 25-20, 25-11; and to Frankenmuth, 25-11, 25-20.

"This was a great tournament with some very talented and tough teams," Charlevoix coach Audra Randall said. "That's exactly what we needed to prepare ourselves for the second half of our season. We made it to the quarterfinals of this very difficult tournament."

Also for the Rayders, Karley Pearsall had 28 digs, 16 kills and eight blocks; Gloria Greene finished with 41 assists, eight digs, Jennaca Holecheck had 22 digs; and Katie Paramo had 11 digs.

"Our bench was not very deep due to injuries to setter Cassidy Peebles and Jessica Paramo who share responsibilities at that position," Randall said. "We adapted quickly to a 5-1 rotation with sophomore Gloria Greene at the helm and she demonstrated poise and control through this change. I give her a lot of credit under so much pressure to perform."

Up next, the Rayders will travel to Boyne City on Thursday and to an invitational tournament at Suttons Bay on Saturday.

PhoneGuide offers options for mobile phone listings

RYAN BENTLEY
Northern Michigan Review

In the past few years, more and more consumers have begun relying exclusively on mobile phones for telecommunications needs, rather than maintaining landline phone service at their homes.

A report released by the National Center for Health Statistics showed more than a quarter of U.S. homes — some 26.6 percent — had only wireless phone service available as of June 2010. In 2007, that figure stood at 13.6 percent.

This choice often has left those consumers without a listing in their local telephone directory. But in Northern Michigan areas served by the PhoneGuide telephone directories, there are ways to make mobile numbers visible to these phone books' users.

"We can put (a personal mobile number) in there at no cost," said PhoneGuide publisher Larry Hensley. "Even though you have a cell phone, there are still people that may want to contact you."

The residential numbers in PhoneGuide's white pages typically are landline listings acquired from telephone companies, but the Petoskey-based directory company offers several free options for mobile phone users to submit numbers directly for publication.

A form to request publication is included in the phone book's 2012-13 edition. It's printed on page 111 of the Antrim-Charlevoix-Cheboygan-Emmet-Mackinac version of the directory, and the completed form can be clipped and submitted to PhoneGuide by mail.

Mobile phone users also can stop by the PhoneGuide office, at 311 1/2 E. Mitchell St. in downtown Petoskey, to fill out the form, or submit the information electronically via the PhoneGuide website, www.thephoneguide.com.

Listing information typically is entered within 24 hours of receipt, and appears promptly in PhoneGuide's searchable online directory. Mobile phone users who would like their numbers to appear in the 2013-14 print edition of PhoneGuide should submit the information by the end of March in 2013, Hensley noted.

PhoneGuide also offers forms — included in print directories as well as on its website — which consumers can submit to correct their listing information if they've found that it's been published with errors. When incorrect listing information is printed, Hensley noted that it's sometimes the result of errors in the listings obtained from telephone service providers.

PhoneGuide publishes an edition covering Antrim, Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Emmet and Mackinac counties and some neighboring areas, and another focusing on the Gaylord, Grayling and Houghton Lake areas. Its parent company, Northern Michigan Review, also produces the CMD PhoneBook telephone directories covering communities in central Michigan, along with publications such as the Petoskey News-Review, Charlevoix Courier and Gaylord Herald Times newspapers.

PhoneGuide currently is preparing for the publication of its 25th anniversary print directory in 2013. The company also recently updated its website, with some of the changes intended to make it more friendly for mobile users.

The residential numbers in PhoneGuide's white pages typically are landline listings acquired from telephone companies, but the Petoskey-based directory company offers several free options for mobile phone users to submit numbers directly for publication.

A form to request publication is included in the phone book's 2012-13 edition. It's printed on page 111 of the Antrim-Charlevoix-Cheboygan-Emmet-Mackinac version of the directory, and the completed form can be clipped and submitted to PhoneGuide by mail.

Mobile phone users also can stop by the PhoneGuide office, at 311 1/2 E. Mitchell St. in downtown Petoskey, to fill out the form, or submit the information electronically via the PhoneGuide website, www.thephoneguide.com.

Listing information typically is entered within 24 hours of receipt, and appears promptly in PhoneGuide's searchable online directory. Mobile phone users who would like their numbers to appear in the 2013-14 print edition of PhoneGuide should submit the information by the end of March in 2013, Hensley noted.

PhoneGuide also offers forms — included in print directories as well as on its website — which consumers can submit to correct their listing information if they've found that it's been published with errors. When incorrect listing information is printed, Hensley noted that it's sometimes the result of errors in the listings obtained from telephone service providers.

PhoneGuide publishes an edition covering Antrim, Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Emmet and Mackinac counties and some neighboring areas, and another focusing on the Gaylord, Grayling and Houghton Lake areas. Its parent company, Northern Michigan Review, also produces the CMD PhoneBook telephone directories covering communities in central Michigan, along with publications such as the Petoskey News-Review, Charlevoix Courier and Gaylord Herald Times newspapers.

PhoneGuide currently is preparing for the publication of its 25th anniversary print directory in 2013. The company also recently updated its website, with some of the changes intended to make it more friendly for mobile users.

Erhart appointed district judge

LANSING — Gov. Rick Snyder on Wednesday, announced the appointment of James Erhart, of Harbor Springs, to the 90th District Court covering Emmet and Charlevoix counties.

Erhart

His appointment fills the vacancy created by the resignation and retirement of Judge Richard May.

Judge May announced his retirement earlier this year and officially retired on Sept. 30, but he has continued to serve as the district court judge for the two counties in a visiting judge capacity in the interim.

"James Erhart has a distinguished record of service in both his community and to his profession, and he will make an outstanding judge for citizens in Northern Michigan," Snyder said.

Erhart was admitted to the State Bar of Michigan in 1979 and has practiced law in the Petoskey area for many years. He is currently a partner and shareholder with the Stroop, Erhart & Lyons law firm.

In addition to practicing law, he previously worked as an adjunct profes-

Marie Gastritza reflects on a century of life lessons

ANNE KELLY
Courier Staff Writer

Charlevoix's Marie Gastritza may have never realized her dream of becoming a school teacher, but that doesn't mean that the soon-to-be 100-year-old doesn't have a lot of life lessons to share.

Marie, who enjoys the health and appearance of someone much younger, will celebrate her 100th birthday on Saturday, Oct. 13.

Surrounded by her own treasured possessions, she is able to manage everyday necessities on her own in her apartment at Charlevoix's Sunnybank Assisted Living.

According to Nancy Mollins, assistant manager of Sunnybank, Marie is a delightful resident.

"She doesn't use a walker, gets along with everyone, enjoys bingo, participates in daily exercise and Friday happy hours with a little wine," she said.

Marie's life has spanned a century of political turmoil and remarkable technological progress. She has witnessed inventions that have changed the face of technology from electric lights to lasers, from radios to iPads, from washboards to washing machines and push button appliances; from the Overland automobile to turbo jets.

She survived the Great Depression, two World Wars and countless others under 18 presidents from William Howard Taft to Barack Obama.

Marie said she is not out of touch with today's world, but said she does not watch a lot of TV.

She said it's the simple memories that she holds dear.

Born Caroline Marie Schwerin on Oct. 15, 1912, on a farm in Standish, Marie was one of seven siblings.

Her fondest memories of life as a child involve her mother's and father's love of dancing.

When it was time to add on to the farm house, they made sure the kitchen was big enough to have friends over to square dance.

"My uncle played the concertina and sometimes they had a fiddler join the party," Marie said. Everyone, including the kids, danced and had a wonderful time, she said.

"I was spared a lot of chores on my dad's dairy farm because I had two older brothers. I tried, but I never could get the hang of milking," Marie said.

However, being the oldest girl in the family, she became her mother's main helper and baby sitter.

"I remember being 10 years old and holding my twin baby sisters, one in each arm and giving them their bottles," Marie said.

She attended a one-room school house and walked the three quarters of a mile to and from each day.

"In the spring when the stream flooded my dad would transport us by horse and buggy. The buggy was lightweight so we would stand on the axle to hold it down."

Marie was just 7 years old when her dad bought an Overland automobile home to the family. Later, she learned to drive that car around the farm.

One of her early memories involved the end of World War I.

"I remember when the war ended. A neighbor had a touring car that had Isinglass sheets instead of glass windows, and he took us to see the welcome home parade in town. When we got to the depot in Standish, I was disappointed that I couldn't see anything, so a neighbor picked me up and put me on his shoulders. What I saw were sailors turning somersaults over the wrought iron fence. It was quite a sight!"

When it came time for high school, her mother had to be persuaded to let Marie attend. Harboring a desire to become a teacher, Marie persisted.

Tainted steroid not used here

Steroid linked to meningitis outbreak not at Charlevoix, Petoskey hospitals

RACHEL BROUGHAM
Northern Michigan Review

The epidural steroid injection that has been linked to a deadly outbreak of fungal meningitis in nine states including Michigan, was not used at Charlevoix Area Hospital or McLaren Northern Michigan hospital.

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention is coordinating a multistate investigation of meningitis among patients who received an epidural steroid injection used for spine pain, which was produced by the New England Compounding Center, a drug manufacturer in Massachusetts.

Meningitis is an inflammation of the lining of the brain and spinal cord. This particular form of meningitis is not contagious.

"McLaren Northern Michigan does not ose the affected product related to the recent outbreak of meningitis due to spinal steroid injection," the hospital said in a statement.

Charlevoix Area Hospital chief executive officer, Lyn Jenks, also confirmed that the Charlevoix hospital did not use the steroid.

According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, as of late Tuesday, 11 people had died nationwide in 119 cases related to the outbreak, including three in Michigan.

As of, Tuesday, there were 25 confirmed cases of the meningitis in Michigan. Health officials fear thousands more could have been exposed since 75 facilities in 23 states have been identified as having received the recalled doses.

Four Michigan facilities received the compound, including the Michigan Neurological Institute of Grand Blanc, Michigan Pain Specialists in Brighton, the Neorological and Rehabilitation in Traverse City and Southeast Michigan Surgical Hospital in Warren.

The injections were given starting in May of this year. Symptoms of meningitis include: fever, new or worsening headache, neck stiffness, sensitivity to light, new weakness or numbness, increasing pain and/or redness or swelling of the injection site. Infected patients have developed a variety of symptoms approximately one to four weeks following their injection.

A spokesperson for the CDC said each facility that carried the steroid should have contacted anyone who may have received an injection.

Patients who feel ill and are concerned about whether they received the steroid injection in question should contact their physicians.

A full list of the health care providers that received the suspect medicine can be found at www.cdc.gov.

Courier takes first in general excellence

Northern Michigan Review newspapers earn 26 Michigan Press Association awards

McBain

Speer

Zucker

The Charlevoix Courier won three awards, including a first place in the general excellence category in the Michigan Press Association's 2012 Better Newspaper Contest.

The Courier's other two awards — a third place for design, and an honorable mention for a feature photo by editor Steve Zucker — were among 26 awards Northern Michigan Review publications earned in the contest.

The judges comments on the Courier's general excellence award read: "The transition to broadsheet did improve this already excellent community newspaper. Very strong on community news, bold photos and headlines, strong news fronts, great ose of color and layout. All around clean design with well written stories. Overall, a delightful read. Well done!"

The Courier, which competes in the Weekly Class D (circulation less than 4,000) division, was selected for the award from among 10 entries.

The Courier's sister publications, The Petoskey News-Review and the Gaylord Herald Times won several awards as well.

A few notable awards earned by the newspapers include several in general excellence, sports, lifestyle, layoot, editorials and news enterprise reporting.

The Petoskey News-Review is also a finalist for the press association's public service award for its coverage and persistence in a Freedom of Information Act fight with Charlevoix County.

"The dogged coverage and lawsuit filed by the paper shows the important role that print journalism plays in standing up for the public's right to know, despite government leaders' attempts to drag the newspaper's name through the mud," read the judges' reasoning in the public service award category.

"I salute executive editor Jeremy McBain (Petoskey News-Review), and editors Jeremy Speer (Gaylord Herald Times) and Steve Zucker (Charlevoix Courier) and their editorial, graphic teams for an outstanding performance," said Northern Michigan Review Publisher, Doug Caldwell. "In reviewing the judges' comments, it is crystal clear, that our commitment to local news combined with clean, crisp layouts produces an excellent community newspaper source for our audience."

The News-Review won first place awards in three categories, with as many as 42 other entries in each, for best news enterprise reporting, lifestyle section and best headline. The newspaper competes in Class D Daily, for newspapers with a circolation under 15,000.

"I am proud of the hard work of all of our staff members at the Petoskey News-Review. The class we compete in In this contest is a very strong class with some outstanding newspapers. To be among them is an honor," said executive editor, Jeremy McBain. "The high quality communities we cover deserve a high quality newspaper like this."

The Gaylord Herald Times won first place awards against as many as 23 other entrants for general excellence, news enterprise reporting, local columnist, sports feature and special section.

Defendants have 28 days to respond to Fanara's lawsuit

AEBRA COE
Northern Michigan Review

Ten days after former Charlevoix County Assistant Prosecutor Shaynee Fanara filed a lawsuit against them, letters were mailed Wednesday to Charlevoix County Commissioners and Prosecutor John Jarema to let them know that they have been served.

Upon their receipt, the defendants will have 28 days to respond to six charges against them. The charges include sexual harassment, defamation, retaliation, deprivation of free speech, deprivation of liberty and intentional interference with contractual relations.

The lawsuit was filed with the United States District Coort Western District of Michigan, in Grand Rapids, on Oct. 1, and amended on Oct. 4, to include charges related to the firing of Fanara after the lawsuit was made public.

Of the six county commissioners, only Shirlene Tripp was willing to comment to the Petoskey News-Review on the matter. "I do feel for her," she said of Fanara, "I think we're headed for big trouble."

How should storm water be managed in Charlevoix County?

AEBRA COE
Northern Michigan Review

A uniform storm water policy across Charlevoix County is looking less likely after the county board of commissioners tabled signing an intergovernmental agreement at its meeting Wednesday.

Effective storm water management can be a useful tool to prevent household or yard chemicals from reaching watersheds and to prevent soil erosion, proponents of the ordinance have said.

The agreement would have set parameters for an ordinance that each of the townships and cities in the county could have adopted. But, all three cities in the county have already made clear they will not sign the agreement and whether the townships are willing to do so is still unclear.

Marc Seelye, soil erosion control officer for the county, asked the board to sign the agreement so that interested townships have the option to sign on.

"We're not forcing anyone to do this," he said, but he does want the option available.

"I'm no more ready to do this now than last spring," said commissioner Richard Gillespie of signing the agreement. "I don't think the townships are interested in adopting it."

Gillespie suggested the commission get letters of support from the townships before moving forward.

"If we have a soil erosion problem, our soil erosion officers will go out and deal with it," he said, "I don't understand why we need it."

It is very costly to the road commission, said commissioner Shirlene Tripp, to take care of the erosion that occurs as a result of noncompliance with appropriate storm water maintenance.

"I think we need to stick together on this," she said.

It worked in Emmet County, Tripp asserted, for the cities and townships to adopt the same ordinance countywide.

"We need that coordination," she said.

"I thought this was going to be county-wide," said commissioner Chris Christensen. Moving forward with the agreement, he said, wouldn't make sense if only a few townships are interested in signing it. "It's not uniform because not everybody is doing it."

The county is not permitted by law to force a uniform ordinance countywide, it must be the decision of the townships and cities. The matter will be taken up again at the county commission's next meeting Wednesday, Oct. 24.

Farmers market helps decorate for upcoming Apple Festival

As a way to show its appreciation for the community's continuing support, the Charlevoix Farmers Market has provided and set up the cornstalks throughout the downtown this fall.

The farmers have donated cornstalks, mums, and pumpkins to decorate the downtown area just in time for the fall colors and the Apple Festival celebration.

"This is just one way that the farmers market can give back to the community that helps to sopport us all year," said market manager Bethany Pearson.

The farmers market will continoe from 9 a.m.-1 p.m. every Thursday year round. Starting Nov. 1, the market will move into the Charlevoix Public Library.

Elks' Poker Run nets $8,500 for vets

Despite a less-than ideal weather forecast, organizers of the Charlevoix Elks Lodge #2856 Poker Run 2012, which took place on Saturday, Sept. 22, said the event was a huge success, raising $8,500 for various veterans causes.

The weather on the morning of the event was 50 degrees, windy and 60 percent chance of rain for the for the fourth annual Show Your Colors Poker Run.

Still a number of dedicated riders and veteran loyalists showed up to ride.

"One rider said, 'Troops don't stay home when it rains so neither should we,'" Elks officials said.

The morning preride ceremony included honoring 80 year old Purple Heart recipient Korean War veteran Jack Rogers. He was awarded a Wounded Warrior Project Flag.

This was followed by honoring all veteran riders with a Wounded Warrior pin and wrapped up with the National Anthem sung by Jessica Dominic.

As the bikes rolled out at high noon they met rain, hail and 40-degree weather on the way to their first stop at Boyne Mountain.

Other stops along the way included, Elkhorn Bar in Vanderbilt, Black Hawk/Brown Trout Tavern in Indian River, Papa Loo's in Petoskey, Giuseppe's in Charlevoix, followed by a pig roast, 50/50 raffles and live auction at the Charlevoix Elks Lodge.

Proceeds from this event benefit fallen Marine Justin Hansen from Kingsley, the Wounded Warrior Project, Forgotten Eagles and other local needy Veterans.

The organizers would like to thank all of the sponsors, riders and volunteers that made this day possible as well as a special thank you to Vicki Koteskey for organizing all the food and Kelly Dunlap for the promotion of this event.

"This is another record year and even despite the weather we made our goal and exceeded past years profits," organizers said.

Teen injured in crash

Charlevoix County Sheriff's office officials identified the injured person as the back seat passenger, Autumn Drost, 16.

Autumn was transported to McLaren Northern Michigan hospital by Charlevoix Ambulance where she was treated for head and neck pain, according to a sheriff's office news release.

Deputies said the crash happed shortly after 4 p.m. on Monday, Oct. 8 on Klooster Road west of Black Road.

Authorities said the crash happened when Jacie Lablance, 16, of Charlevoix was driving a 2008 Saturn four door west on Klooster Road. As the vehicle crested the hill and the pavement ended, Jacie lost control of the vehicle on the gravel road surface. The vehicle spun around clockwise, ran off the road to the right, slid along a deep embankment and rolled onto its side as it impacted a small group of trees, according to the release.

The City of Charlevoix Fire Department also assisted at the scene.

Deputies said speed and driver inexperience were contributed to the crash.

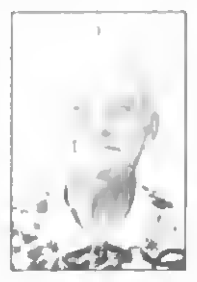
Commoner knowledge: Nuclear testing dangers uncovered



EAR TO THE GROUND

Roger Knutson

I don't usually do obituaries, but now and then some person needs to be remembered. Barry Commoner died two weeks ago at the age of 95. He probably had more impact on your life than you might realize.

In the early 1960s Barry Commoner was a molecular biologist working on the details of virus reproduction. He was most probably headed for a Nobel Prize for that work. I was working on a very small part of that same research problem. I was headed for a Ph. D from Michigan State University. We graduate students made jokes about sharing our Nobel Prizes with one another, but we all knew that Barry Commoner was going to get one and we were not.

And then, quite suddenly, Barry Commoner changed the direction of his life and the direction of much of the world. How he did that requires a little background.

Following World War II, the testing of new kinds of nuclear weapons was widespread. Older folks may remember all the images of mushroom clouds filling the newsreel movie screens. As long as the tests went on in distant places, far from human populations, they seemed safe enough to most people.

One of the little known products of such tests was the chemical element strontium 90. Ordinary strontium is a rare element on earth, which chemically mimics calcium. That means that it gets normally built into bones and teeth of any animal exposed to it. Strontium 90, produced by nuclear explosions and wafted high into the air, is radioactive. That means that its atoms periodically blow up releasing quantities of harmful radiation. The important question was, how much strontium 90 is getting into the bones and teeth of human children and adults? To find that out, you need thin slices of bones and teeth. Most people were unwilling to give up such samples.

Enter Barry Commoner. I don't know if it was his idea or that of someone else initially, but Barry Commoner was the person who first instituted a program involving children in the St. Louis area (he worked at Washington University there). Children would save their milk teeth (baby teeth) and turn them into laboratories where their content of strontium 90 could be carefully measured. The participating children were given badges that read, "I gave my tooth to the lab, not the tooth fairy." It was a very successful program.

The results of such measurement were indeed frightening. Concentrations of strontium 90 high enough to be hazardous to health were present in the teeth of children hundreds or thousands of miles from the nuclear test sites. Further examination of the same sort established that strontium 90 was spread worldwide by nuclear testing.

Such hard facts made it relatively easy for nations all over the world to agree that testing of nuclear weapons in the atmosphere should cease, and it did.

Thank Barry Commoner and co-workers that thousands of children did not die of childhood leukemia, and that nuclear testing in the atmosphere ceased, to the benefit of all of the world's population.

Barry Commoner wrote a book titled "The Closing Circle," detailing how interconnected the biological world is. As Garrett Hardin, another scientist of that time, concluded, as one of the basic rules of ecology," Everything is connected to everything else," a lesson we are still learning.

Barry Commoner came to be called "The Paul Revere of Ecology," a fine metaphor for his actions. We should remember Barry Commoner. We owe him.

Roger Knutson is a professor emeritus of biology from Luther College in Decorah, Iowa, where he taught for 30 years. He holds master's degree and a doctorate from the botany department at Michigan State University.

'Good Old Boy' politics has no place in government

Editor:

"Good Old Boy" politics sure has been evident in county commission actions these past few weeks.

Over the past few years, it has been evident there has been no love lost between certain county commissioners and the planning director. With the planning director's announcement of his upcoming retirement, the commissioners abolished his job. Maybe one of the most important jobs in the county as to planned and controlled growth and economic development. Someone needs to lead and coordinate between townships and cities. In the past it has been that position.

Then there is the issue of the prosecutor's pay. The outgoing prosecutor deserves the pay increase as does the incoming prosecutor. The pay for elected officials is normally based on the position and not the individual or experience. Do new county commissioners get less pay than incumbents because of the lack of experience?

"Good Old Boy Politics" does not belong in the decision-making or governing process of the county.

Writer opposes Proposal 3

Editor:

While I support renewable energy, I cannot support Proposal 3, the so called "25 x 25" proposal that will appear on the Nov. 6 ballot. This proposal would require the state's energy providers to supply 25 percent of their electric generation from renewable sources by 2025. On the surface the premise seems attractive. Deeper analysis reveals many flaws that would have negative impacts for all Michigan residents and businesses, including:

The proposal is an attempt to bypass the legislative process and enshrine energy policy in the Michigan Constitution. The constitution is a document meant to establish basic rights, not to establish the desires of special interest groups. If passed, Michigan would be the only state in the country with such a policy in its constitution.

It is estimated that it will cost $12 billion to meet the requirements of the proposal. Who will pay this cost?

Constructing the estimated 3,100 additional wind turbines it would take to meet the requirement of the proposal would dramatically change Michigan's landscape. It will take about 500,000 aces to site these wind farms. Who will secure this land and what would happen to local zoning control? Will residents support placing wind turbines in the Great Lakes?

Any consideration of raising the state's renewable energy standard should wait until after 2015, when the current 10 percent standard can be evaluated on a number of key factors. Then state policymakers can decide if the standard should be raised or if there are other options, such as raising energy efficiency standards, to meet the energy needs of residents in an economic and environmentally responsible manner.

For these and other reasons, I will vote NO on Proposal 3 and urge others to do the same.

In 1885 Hiram Rifenburg constructed the Rifenburg Roller Mills on the northwest side of the channel bridge to grind the grain harvested from the region's fertile fields, and send its highly regarded flour out nationwide. It later became the Charlevoix Roller Mills, and eventually the Argo Milling Company, by which name it was known until 1953. The business expanded to also offer coal and kindling. One of its customers was Adlai Stevenson, often a summer resident of Charlevoix since boyhood, who rose to become governor of Illinois and Democratic contender for the presidency twice against Dwight D. Eisenhower in the 1950s. Charlevoix's famed builder-in-stone, Earl Young, purchased the property in 1953 after a 10-year negotiation with the Craig/Swinton family owners and began to tear the beloved old eyesore down the same day. By July, 1954 its replacement, the world famous Weathervane Inn restaurant, was open for business.

LOCAL Highlights

Apple Festival on tap this weekend

The Charlevoix Apple Festival, now in its 34th year, will take place Friday-Sunday, Oct. 12-14, on Bridge Street in downtown Charlevoix.

The fall festival features everything from food vendors, local produce, a craft show and activities for children.

Shelly Ferguson, event coordinator with the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce, noted that the event always draws a large crowd, no matter rain or shine.

"It's just a great fall event that allows people to come out and support our local farms," she said.

Of course, the festival's focal point is the apple. More than 30 types of apples will be on hand, as well as other fall harvest items, such as pumpkins, squash, jam, honey, maple syrup, pies and cider. About a half dozen area apple orchards are scheduled to be a part of the event.

Ferguson said that despite some crop loss to apple farmers downstate, area farmers fared well and there will be plenty of the fruit for this year's festival.

In addition to apples, many local organizations will also offer food, such as chili, hot dogs, kielbasa and French fries.

Commemorative Apple Festival T-shirts will also be available for purchase for $20 each.

In addition to all the food, there is a holiday art and craft show with 125 exhibitor booths.

For the children, there will be face painting, pony rides and a petting zoo.

The city's second annual pumpkin-carving contest also will be held downtown in Bridge Park during Apple Festival weekend. To register for the free contest, bring your hand-carved pumpkin to the festival T-shirt booth in East Park between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m. on Friday or Saturday, Oct. 12-13. The entries will be judged in two categories: ages 12 years and younger and ages 13 years and older. Only one entry per person will be allowed. Pumpkins will be lit for judging at 6 p.m. Saturday in Bridge Park.

Festival hours are from 10 a.m.-6 p.m. Friday and Saturday, Oct. 12-13, and 10 a.m.-4 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 14.

Visit www.charlevoix.org under the links for events for more details, or call (231) 547-2101.

Belvedere Avenue to close for Apple Fest Fun Run

Belvedere Avenue in Charlevoix will be closed temporarily from Bridge Street to Alice Street for one hour, 8:50-9:50 a.m. Saturday, Oct. 13, because of the Apple Fest Fun Run.

The Bridge Street entrance will be closed to all traffic while entrances at Alice, May, and the east end of Belvedere will be open to local traffic only.

The run is sponsored by the Charlevoix Kiwanis Club and consists of a one mile and five kilometer race starting at 9 a.m.

Drivers are urged to use caution to avoid runners in the area. Questions can be directed to the Charlevoix Police Department at (231) 547-3258 or the race committee, (231) 547-2042, Applefestfunrun@gmail.com.

Some of the sugar-free peanut butter fudge affected by a Kilwins Quality Confections recall can be found in newer packaging of this type.

Kilwins issues fudge recall

RYAN BENTLEY
Northern Michigan Review

A Petoskey-based candy company that has a retail store in downtown Charlevoix is recalling packages of its sugar-free peanut butter fudge, noting that peanut butter used to produce it has the potential to be contaminated with salmonella.

Kilwins Quality Confections recently announced the recall for all 7-ounce packages of its sugar-free peanut butter fudge that bears bar code number 000648 and lot numbers 67936, 67105, 66959, 66413, 66248, 65123, 63124, 62693, 62612, 61658, 61621, and was sold in Kilwins retail stores between Oct. 1, 2011 and Oct. 5, 2012. The company noted that peanut butter used in the fudge was produced by New Mexico-based Sunland Inc., which has voluntarily recalled all products manufactured at its peanut butter plant as far back as March 1, 2010, because of concerns about potential salmonella contamination.

"This is a (Food and Drug Administration-mandated) recall and we're fully compliant," Kilwins spokeswoman Jean Hammons said Monday after the announcement concerning the fudge.

Kilwins noted that no illnesses had been reported in connection with the fudge. But on Friday, USA Today reported that samples taken at the Sunland plant tested positive for salmonella, and that peanut butter produced there had been linked to a nationwide salmonella outbreak. That outbreak had sickened 35 people in 19 states since mid-June, nearly two-thirds of them children younger than 10. The salmonella cases led to eight people being hospitalized, but no deaths has been reported.

Salmonella is an organism which can cause serious and sometimes fatal infections in young children, frail or elderly people, and others with weakened immune systems. Healthy persons infected with salmonella often experience fever, diarrhea (which may be bloody), nausea, vomiting, and abdominal pain. In rare circumstances, infection with salmonella can result in the organism getting into the bloodstream and producing more severe illnesses such as arterial infections (infected aneurysms), endocarditis, or arthritis.

The recalled sugar free peanut butter fudge packages were sold in Kilwins stores located in the following states: Colorado, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Maryland, Michigan, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia and Wisconsin.

The product comes in either a light beige box with a small window area, or a black and white box with a small window area and a yellow sicker across the top corner that states "Sugar-Free". The lot code can be found on the box label, just to the left of the bar code.

Kilwins has obtained Sunland's peanut butter directly from that company as well as from a third-party distributor, Hammond said, and plans to seek out a new source of peanut butter for use in its fudge.

Consumers who have purchased this product within the affected dates are urged to return the product to the place of purchase for a full refund. Consumers with questions can contact Jean Hammond at Kilwins (231) 758-3903, from 9 a.m.-4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday.

OBITUARIES

Thomas Leo Carey, 90

Thomas Leo Carey 90, of Charlevoix, passed away Sunday Oct. 7, 2012, at Munson Hospice House in Traverse City. He was born April 12, 1922, in Charlevoix, the son of Thomas Leo and Marion (Finney) Carey. He graduated from Charlevoix High School in 1940. He entered the U.S. Navy and served as a SeaBee during WWII, in the South Pacific Theatre. On Jan. 12, 1945, he married Esther Hansen in San Francisco, and after the war they returned home to Charlevoix.

Tom was a member of Christ Episcopal Church, serving on its vestry, and as Senior Warden. He was a member and past Master of Charlevoix Lodge #282, F&AM, OES Chapter 72, Charlevoix, the Northwest Shrine and several other Shrine organizations. He served on the Charlevoix Area Hospital Board for over 35 years, was a past president, and member emeritus. He served on Charlevoix City Council, and was co-honorary fund-raising chairman for the new Charlevoix Library. He and Esther were co-recipients of the Margaret Dueir Award for outstanding service to the community. Tom left a smile on the face of everyone he met.

Tom owned the Carey Oil Company, and later worked as a sales representative for Horner Equipment in Saginaw.

He is survived by his wife, Esther C.; sons, Dennis (Margaret) Carey of Belleville, Kan., Bradford (Cathy) Carey of London, Ont., Ross (Mary Beth) Carey of Farmington Hills, daughters, Christine (Dennis) Carter of Cincinnati, Ohio., Jean (John) Remillet of Grosse Pointe, Ellie Carey of Traverse City; 17 grandchildren; eight great-grandchildren; brother, William (Judy) Carey of Charlevoix; many nieces and nephews. Tom's son, Andy; brothers, Charles, Keith, Don and Bob; and sister, Marjorie Coleman preceded him in death.

Funeral took place at 10:30 a.m., Thursday, Oct. 11, at Christ Episcopal Church in Charlevoix, the Rev. John David officiating. Visitation took place from 6-8 p.m., at the Winchester Funeral Home in Charlevoix, where a Masonic Service will took place under the auspices of Charlevoix Lodge #282 F&AM at 8 p.m.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Munson Hospice House, c/o Munson Healthcare Regional Foundation, 210 Beaumont Place, Traverse City, MI 49684; or to the Peggy Carey Northway Nursing Scholarship, c/o Charlevoix County Community Foundation, PO Box 718, East Jordan, MI 49727.

Robert P. Scherer Jr.

Robert P. Scherer Jr. was born Jan. 17, 1933, and died Oct. 4, 2012, at home in Atlanta, Ga., after a very brief battle with lung cancer.

Bob was a life-long summertime resident of Northern Michigan. His childhood summers were spent on Walloon Lake and later Harbor Springs. In 1973, he purchased the old "Walker Marine" property on Round Lake in Charlevoix where he and his family lived and housed his extensive wooden boat collection.

Mr. Scherer attended Northwestern University in Evanston, Ill., until he was drafted into the Army during the Korean conflict. He later attended the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor, Mich.

In 1960 at age 27, Mr. Scherer became the president of R. P. Scherer Corporation after the death of his father, who invented the soft gel pharmaceutical capsule machine. Bob built the company and eventually took it public. In 1979, Bob separated the subsidiary companies from R. P. Scherer and relocated them to Atlanta, Ga. A holding company called Scherer Healthcare was formed consisting through the years of as many as 27 separated companies. Bob retired after the sale of the final business in 2003.

Mr. Scherer is survived by his beloved wife of 25 years, Claudia, his cherished sister-in-law, Jane Dinnen, and brother-in-law, James Dinnen of Atlanta, Ga.; his nieces, Claudia Reynolds Dinnen of Greenville, S.C., and Leslie Coonrod Dinnen of Chicago, Ill. He leaves behind his sisters, Josephine Beardslee of Grosse Pointe, Mich., and Karla Scherer of Chicago, Ill.; and brother, John Scherer, also of Grosse Pointe, Mich. His children, Robert Scherer, Leslie Scherer Reeves, Steven Scherer and Mark Scherer, reside in Colorado and California.

A memorial service for Mr. Scherer will take place on Saturday, Oct. 20, at H.M. Patterson & Son, Spring Hill, Atlanta Ga. Visitation will begin at 3:30 p.m., followed by a memorial service at 4 p.m. All guests are invited to attend a cocktail reception at the Piedmont Driving Club immediately following the service.

The family requests donations, in lieu of flowers, be sent to the following:

Thelma May Powell, 81

Thelma May Powell, 81, of Charlevoix, passed away at her home surrounded by her family Wednesday, Oct. 3, 2012. She was born Jan. 10, 1931, in Charlevoix, the daughter of William and Hulda (Reith) Thorp, and graduated from Charlevoix High School in 1950. On May 26, 1951, Thelma married John J. Powell at her family home. A life-long resident of Charlevoix, Thelma owned a housekeeping service, taking care of seasonal and year-round residences. Thelma was a member of the First Baptist Church in Charlevoix, and had served on the board of directors of the Rainbow Shoppe.

Thelma is survived by her daughters, Jo Anne (Mike) Patrick of Charlevoix, Nancy (Richard) Melke of Johnson City, Tenn.; son, John (Barbara) Powell of Scottsboro, Ala.; grandchildren, Stacey (Andy) Stewart, Tracey (Chris) LaCroix, Diana Patrick, Michael (Crystal) Patrick, Keith Patrick, Heather (Adam) Jones, Ian Powell, Amanda (Jesse) Smith, Tiffany Melke; 13 great-grandchildren; sisters, Agnes Christ of Florida, Wilma (Ron) Sitzema of Ellsworth, Alice (Chuck) Bricker of Petoskey; sister-in-law, Peggy Thorp of Charlevoix. Thelma was preceded in death by her brothers, John, Albert and Edward; and sister, Hildabelle.

Her funeral took place 1:30 pm, Monday, Oct. 8, at the First Baptist Church in Charlevoix, where visitation was from 5-8 p.m., Sunday evening. The Rev. David Behling will officiate and burial will be in Brookside Cemetery in Charlevoix.

Memorial contributions may be made to the First Baptist Church in Charlevoix.

The Winchester Funeral Home in Charlevoix is serving the family.

Should You Prepare for "Fiscal Cliff"?

As an investor, you can sometimes still feel you're at the mercy of forces beyond your control. This may be especially true today, when the Federal Reserve has warned of an approaching "fiscal cliff." What can you do in the face of such a dire prediction?

First of all, you need to understand what led to the Fed's remarks. Here's the story. Some $1.2 trillion in spending cuts are scheduled to begin in 2013 while, simultaneously, the Bush-era tax cuts — including the reduction in capital gains and dividend taxes — are set to expire. This combination of spending cuts and higher taxes could take some $600 billion out of the economy, leading to a possible recession — and maybe something much worse, at least in the eyes of the Fed.

Still, there's no need for panic. Despite its political infighting Congress is likely to reduce the "cliff" to a smaller bump, though it probably won't happen until after the election. But as an investor, you may need to be prepared for two significant events: market volatility, at least in the short term, and higher taxes, probably for the foreseeable future.

To combat market volatility, you need to own a broadly diversified portfolio that can handle "bumps," "cliffs" and other rugged investment terrain. This means you'll need a mix of stocks, bonds and other securities that are suitable for your needs. (Keep in mind, though, that while diversification can reduce the impact of market volatility, it cannot guarantee profits or protect against losses.) You may also need to "rebalance" your portfolio to ensure that it's still aligned with your goals, risk tolerance and time horizon, despite the impact of volatility.

Now, let's turn to taxes. Even if taxes on income, capital gains and dividends do rise, they will still, in all likelihood, be much lower than they've been at various points in the past. Nonetheless, you may want to consider a variety of steps, including the following:

• Take advantage of tax-deferred vehicles. Contribute as much as possible to your traditional IRA, your 401(k) or other employer-sponsored retirement plan, and any education savings accounts you may have, such as a 529 plan.

• Consider converting your traditional IRA to a Roth IRA. A Roth IRA provides tax-free earnings, provided you don't start taking withdrawals until you're 59½ and you've had your account for at least five years. (Be aware, though, that this conversion is taxable and may not be appropriate if you don't have money readily available to pay the taxes.)

• Consider municipal bonds. If you're in one of the upper tax brackets, you may benefit from investing in "munis," which pay interest that's free of federal taxes, and possibly state and local taxes as well.

Not all these choices will be suitable for your situation, of course. Before taking action on these items, you may want to consult with your tax and financial advisors. But give these options some thought because they may prove helpful in keeping your financial goals from going "over a cliff."

Gales of November: The Shipwrecks of the Great Lakes

COURTESY PHOTO

The Charlevoix Public Library will host the series "Gales of November: The Shipwrecks of the Great Lakes" at 6:30 p.m. on three consecutive Tuesdays, beginning Oct. 23.

The series kicks off with "The Wreck of the Edmund Fitzgerald" on Oct. 23, presented by Terry Begnoche, Great Lakes Shipwreck Historical Society diver and underwater photographer.

The Great Lakes Shipwreck Historical Society conducted three expeditions to the Edmund Fitzgerald which sank in Lake Superior on Nov. 10, 1975. On the third and final expedition, they recovered the ship's bell, now on display at Whitefish Point, which serves as a memorial to the lost crew. Begnoche participated in each of the expeditions and will provide pictures and insights from both above and below the surface of Lake Superior.

Begnoche has a lifetime of experience with environmental safety and historical research. He holds a bachelor's degree in environmental science from the University of Michigan at Dearborn, and an master's degree in quality and operations management from Madonna University. He began his environmental career in 1981 at Great Lakes Environmental Services, Inc. He is a life member of the Great Lakes Shipwreck Historical Society and served as board president from 1998-2006. In 2011, Begnoche began serving as the site manager for the Great Lakes Shipwreck Historical Society's Great Lakes Shipwreck Museum and Light Station at Whitefish Point in Michigan's Upper Peninsula.

On Oct. 30, "The Ship that Time Forgot: The Carl D. Bradley" will be presented by Ric Mixter, shipwreck researcher. The Carl D. Bradley capsized after a storm in 1958. Thirty-three men were lost in the tragedy and mystery quickly surrounded its sinking near Gull Island. Two survivors were plucked from icy Lake Michigan after a rescue run by the Cutter Sundew. Mixter will dive into the mystery surrounding the loss and the personalities involved. He will share rare newsreel footage of the search and interviews with survivor Frank Mays, captain Harold Muth, and a corpsman who tended to Frank Mays and Elmer Fleming.

Mixter has produced more than 30 programs for PBS and the Outdoor Channel, and appeared as a shipwreck expert on the History and Discovery channels. He was awarded the 2009 Award for Historic Interpretation by the Association for Great Lakes Maritime Historians for more than two decades of maritime history preservation.

Last in the series on Nov. 6, will be Valerie van Heest, diver and author, who will present "Unsolved Mysteries: The Shipwreck of the Thomas Hume." On May 21, 1891, the lumber schooner Thomas Hume and its crew of seven sailed out of Chicago into a spring storm, never to be seen again. The vessel's owners were Charles Hackley and Thomas Hume of Muskegon. The disappearance of the Thomas Hume lingered as one of the great unsolved mysteries of the Great Lakes until, more than a century after its disappearance, the discovery of the wreck solved the mystery. However, the collection of shoes, clothing, jewelry, coins and tools found inside generated even more questions. An archaeological investigation by Michigan Shipwreck Research Associates has attempted to solve the riddles posed by the shipwreck. After survey dives, historical research and detective-like reasoning, the team pieced together not only the Thomas Hume's career, but how its crew lived, worked and died on the lake.

Van Heest is a member of the Women Divers Hall of Fame and is an award-winning author, documentary film director and exhibit designer. She has a passion for documenting historic shipwrecks and promoting Great Lakes maritime history. As a director of the nonprofit Michigan Shipwreck Research Associates, van Heest spearheads the search for ships lost off western Michigan in collaboration with author Clive Cussler and shipwreck hunter David Trotter, which has resulted in the collective discovery of more than a dozen shipwrecks.

"There was a lady in town who rented a room for $1.50 a week. I had to furnish my own bedding and food. So, I did that for my first year."

Then she heard of a Mrs. Weaver, the wife of a man who owned a hardware store in Standish. For $1 a week, Marie was able to have a nice place to live in exchange for house cleaning for the next three years. Mrs. Weaver became her friend and second mother and even sewed her dresses for her school dances.

She also remembers the first dress she made herself.

"It took a yard and a half of material at 10 cents a yard. It wasn't much, just straight with little cap sleeves...but I was proud of it."

Airplanes were quite a novelty in the 1930s. Marie recalled a date she had at the county fair when she was a teenager. She and her boyfriend took a ride that took all of about 10 minutes, but was quite the thrill.

Marie then attended a year of County Normal School in Bay City, in hopes of teaching in a country school. However, her dreams of teaching never were reached.

"In those days there were so many attending normal (teachers) school, that in order to land a job, you had to know a township supervisor who would recommend you and I didn't."

So, Marie turned to waitress work which paid her room and board until she was married.

She met her husband, Carl Gastritza, through a fellow waitress when she was 24 years old. Friends nicknamed Carl "Gas" and she became "Gassy," all in good fun.

It was the Great Depression and Carl was fortunate to find work as a truck driver for Kroger's in Detroit. Eventually Marie found office work there since she had been trained in typing.

The Gastritzas were married nearly 50 years when Carl passed away in his 80s.

The couple worked hard, but also took many vacations. This was especially true after Carl retired and they returned to Standish, where Carl could enjoy hunting and fishing. Over the course of their married life, the Gastritzas traveled to Australia, Europe and North Africa where she remembers riding on a camel to view the pyramids.

The Gastritzas did not have any children of their own, however, they enjoyed many nieces and nephews.

Some her family is planning a party for Marie on Saturday, Oct. 13, at Sunnybank. They are gathering pictures and memories for the occasion. Marie said she will be a gracious guest of honor, pleased to be remembered and happy to see them all.

What is Marie's secret to longevity?

"Good health — I think I was such a sickly child that I immunized myself for the future — and good German genes — I have a relative that lived to be 106."

And perhaps her philosophy on life has helped a little too.

"I have found that it's important to maintain a sense of humor and avoid worrying. Take life as it comes, and think of worries as problems to be solved."

Early lead no help for Rayders

BOYNE CITY — Two teams walked onto the field with streaks Friday, Oct. 7 at Eart Brotherston Field in Boyne City.

Unfortunately for the Charlevoix Rayders, when the dust cleared, both streaks remained in place as the Ramblers improved their record to 7-0 and dropped the Rayders to 0-7 with a 25-6 win on Boyne City's homecoming.

> "We played well tonight in the first quarter, but a fumble and other penalties stopped our momentum."
> — Nick Barnum, Charlevoix assistant coach

It looked like things might be going the Rayders' way when they marched down the field on the opening possession of the game to score a touchdown, putting them up 6-0.

But the Rambler defense would give up no more points for the rest of the game.

Rambler quarterback Corey Redman finished 7-of-11 passing with four touchdowns. Maceo Vroman had two TD receptions, while Bradley Fouchia and Jamael Kelly each added TD receptions as the Ramblers overcame a sluggish first half and 6-0 first quarter deficit.

"We played sloppy in the first half," Boyne City coach Dave Hills said. "But we were able to regroup and started to play better in the second half to pick up the win."

Luke Klinger opened the scoring in the first quarter for Charlevoix on a 3-yard quarterback keeper. "We played well tonight in the first quarter," Charlevoix assistant coach Nick Barnum said. "But a fumble and other penalties stopped our momentum."

Boyne City would answer with two touchdowns in the second quarter. Redman hooked up with Kelly for a 69-yard TD, while the second covered 23-yard to Vroman.

The extra point and two-point conversion attempts were both stopped by the Rayders as the Ramblers led at halftime, 12-6.

Redman added two more TD passes in the third quarter. The first on a 10-yard connection to Vroman and then 16-yard strike to Fouchia.

For Charlevoix, Tanner Katt had 18 carries for 97 yards, Charlie Hamilton added 47 yards on 12 carries while Nate Moon was 5-of-11 passing for 45 yards and Klinger was 1-of-4 for nine yards.

For Boyne City, Kelly had three receptions for 91 yards, Vroman had three receptions for 41 yards, while Fouchia had eight carries for 47 yards and Malik Smith had 16 carries for 89 yards.

For the Rayders defensively, Shane Sutherland had 10 tackles, Alex Brown added nine tackles and Katt had seven tackles. The Rayders are 0-7, 0-4.

For Boyne defensively, Connor Mills had 10 tackles with three sacks, Fouchia added eight tackles and an interception while Alan Manross added 13 tackles, Redman, eight, and Brady Calo seven.

This week the Rayders will travel to Harbor Springs. The Rams, 2-5, 1-4, fell to Elk Rapids last week 40-12. The Rayders will wrap up their season the following week with a game against East Jordan, which fell to NorthPointe Christian last week 50-8. The Red Devils are 0-7 on the season.

Rayders edge Ramblers in a thriller game

Charlevoix's Hunter Cox made intercepted a Boyne City pass with about a minute left in the game to seal a 14-13 Rayder victory at home on Thursday, Oct. 6.

The game had all the drama one would expect from a game between the two rival schools, Charlevoix coach Todd Klinger said.

The Rayders opened the scoring in the first quarter when Sam Hovie scored on a three-yard touchdown run. The point after attempted was no good, putting the Rayders up 6-0 at the end of the first quarter.

Boyne City answered in the second quarter, scoring on a four-yard TD run. The point-after put the Ramblers up 7-6.

The Rayders responded with a touchdown of their own on a Forrest Noirot to Will Telgenhof 17-yard pass with 40 seconds left in the half. The two-point conversion was good on a Noriot to Justin Adkins pass, putting the Rayders up 14-7 at the half.

Defense reigned for both teams in the second half until Boyne City found the end zone on a two-yard run. The point after was no-good leaving the Rayders up 14-13.

Hovie led the Rayders on the ground with 75 yards on 19 carries. Atkins had 65 yards on eight carries and Telgenhof had 21 yards on 10 carries. Starting quarterback Austin Putnan went 1-2 for 34 yards in passing. Back QB Noriot was 4-5 for 20 yards. Telgenhof caught two passes for 51 yards and Hovie had two catches for seven yards.

Devin Largent led the Rayders on defense with four tackles and three assist and a fumble recovery. Hovie also had four tackles and seven assists. Telgenhof had three tackles and 10 assists. Atkins had three tackles (two for sacks) and six assists, while spencer Bruce chipped in two tackles and three assists

"This was a great game to be part of," Klinger said. "Both teams came into the game not having lost a conference game. It was very physical game that came right down the end."

SOCCER

Rayders fall to Harbor, Elk Rapids

The Charlevoix Rayders boys soccer team scored three second half goals, but it wasn't enough as they dropped a league match to Grayling on their home field Tuesday, 7-3.

Grayling, 12-4 overall, scored four first half goals and added three more in the second half as the Rayders fall to 6-12.

For Charlevoix, Nick Snabes scored 15 seconds into the second half, while Walker Drost scored 10 minutes later with help from Justin Pearl. Jordan Jelinek scored Charlevoix's final goal. Snabes picked up the assist. Ryan Joy was in goal for the Rayders.

On Thursday, Oct. 6, the Rayders traveled to Harbor Springs where they fell to the Rams 5-2.

Harbor's Forrest Lundgren finished with four goals to lead Harbor Springs the Lake Michigan Conference match at Ottawa Stadium.

With the win, the Rams improve to 8-8-1 overall, while Charlevoix falls to 6-10-1.

"Offensively, we couldn't miss," Harbor Springs coach Ed Fantozzi said. "Defensively though we were making some mistakes in the first half and we tightened up in the second half."

Lundgren scored three goals in the first five minutes of the game, while John Bailey also added a goal and an assist.

Mitch Wallin had a pair of assists, while Tristan Kenwabikise and Geraldo Silva had an assist.

"It was nice to see Forrest Lundgren score four goals on just five shots," Fantozzi said. "Mitch (Wallin) laid a couple of nice passes to him."

Andy Morse earned the win in goal for the Rams and stopped a penalty kick. Harbor also missed on its own penalty kick opportunity.

For Charlevoix, Walker Drost scored in the first half and Justin Pearl added a second half goal. Brendan Britt and Ryan Joy shared the goalkeeping duties.

The Rayders will next host Harbor Light Christian in a non-conference game on Thursday.

Other East Jordan runners included Holly Carson, 24th; Brittney Moses, 27th; Casey Keane, 41st; Tess McNitt, 43rd; Ellen Brindle, 58th.

Also for the East Jordan boys, Gabe Hawley was fourth in 17:39, followed by Teddy Nachazel, 35th.

VOLLEYBALL

Raydes take third, notch two conference wins

STEVE FOLEY/NEWS-REVIEW

Members of the Charlevoix Rayder volleyball team get fired up during their match against Boyne City last week.

The Charlevoix Rayder varsity volleyball team is off to a strong start for the second half of its 2012 season, taking third place in a tough tournament and notching to conference wins.

On Thursday, Oct. 6 the Rayder earned their biggest win of the season as they overcame an earlier loss to Boyne City by earning a 25-21, 18-25, 25-23, 25-16 win in a Lake Michigan Conference match.

With the win, the Rayders improved to 14-12-5 overall, 6-2 league.

Karley Pearsall led the Rayders with 24 kills, 15 digs, four blocks and three aces on 17-of-17 serving, while Madeline Boss added 19 kills and 13 digs.

"This was a really, really big win for the girls," Charlevoix coach Audra Randall said. "They were pretty fired up. We played them (Boyne City) earlier in the year in a tournament over at their place and it was dysfunctional for us. We had girls out.

"They (Boyne City) had Kylie Hicks back," Randall said. "We wanted to play them with her in the lineup and I was glad to see her back. We wanted to see them at full strength because we'll see them again in districts."

Also for the Rayders, Gloria Greene had 24 assists, was 14-of-15 serving with nine digs, while Jessica Paramo was 18-of-18 serving, had 15 assists and nine digs. Jennaca Holecheck led the way defensively for the Rayders as she was perfect serving with 16 digs, while Katie Paramo added six digs and was 90 percent on serve receive.

"We keep improving on our hitting and serving," Randall said. "Of about 80 serves, we only missed two serves all night and that was huge."

For Boyne City, Hicks had 20 kills, while Heather Nichols added 32 assists and 22 digs and Erin Baker had 24 digs. Baker, Nichols, Rainy McCune, Paige Hornbeck, Mary Meyers, Emily Evans and Mallory Karaszaski all were perfect serving.

"Charlevoix played a great game, I knew they would improve as the season went on," Boyne City coach Casie Parker said. "They've always had the hitters, it just took some time to get the setting and passing down. We were mentally out of it tonight. Homecoming week is always a long week for us in Boyne.

"We did have Kylie back and she didn't miss a beat."

On Saturday, the Rayders traveled to Suttons Bay where they finished third in the 16-team Suttons Bay volleyball tournament.

In pool play, the Rayders split with Leland, 18-22, 21-14; defeated Traverse City Christian, 21-11, 21-7; defeated Maple City Glen Lake, 21-5, 21-15. In power pool play, Charlevoix then topped Pellston, 21-13; 21-17; defeated Suttons Bay, 21-13, 21-11; and fell to Kingsley, 21-18, 21-14.

In the semifinals, Leland defeated the Rayders, 21-19, 22-20.

"The girls played fabulous all day long," Charlevoix coach Audra Randall said. "We finished third overall and the team worked very hard together and have really come a long way in the past 10 days of the season."

For the Rayders, 20-14-5 overall, Karley Pearsall made the all-tournament team as she finished with 61 kills, 21 digs and 18 blocks, while Madeline Boss added 41 kills, 33 digs and five blocks. Also for the Rayders, Gloria Greene had 50 assists, 13 aces adn 18 digs, while Katie Paramo had 24 digs, six aces and was 95 percent serving. Jessica Paramo added 39 assists, seven aces and was 49-of-50 serving, while Jennaca Holecheck had 15 digs. Madi Caret, Kelsey Pischner and Anna Way all played strong defensively.

On Tuesday, Karley Pearsall had 17 kills, 13 digs and five blocks and Madeline Boss added 14 kills, 10 digs and three aces as Charlevoix defeated Elk Rapids, 25-13, 25-11, 25-23, in a Lake Michigan Conference match at home.

With the win, the Rayders improve to 21-14-6 ovearll, 8-2 league. Also for Charlevoix, Madi Carey had two blocks, Boss added a block and Katie Paramo was perfect on serve receive and added four digs. Kelsey Pischner and Anna Way were both error free at the net.

"Offensively we did a really good job mixing it up and trying to incorporate some more diversity at the net hitting," Charlevoix coach Audra Randall said. "Karley Pearsall, Madi Carey and Madeline Boss also had good play at the net blocking.

"The tremendous play from this weekend rolled into this match and you can see them playing in better rhythm."

Little League meeting

The Charlevoix Little League organization will host a general meeting at 7 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 17, at the Charlevoix Elementary School media center.

"We are excited about the continued growth of the program and welcome all parents and community members to provide valuable feedback from last season and new ideas for the seasons ahead of us," Little League officials said in a release about the meeting.

POP WARNER

All three teams notch wins

All three Charlevoix Pop Warner Football teams notched wins in their respective games playing in blustery conditions at Kipke Field on Saturday, Oct. 8.

In the Pewwee Division, the Charlevoix Pirates kicked off the action, remaining undefeated in a 21-7 win over Forest Area.

The Pirates' offensive attack was led by a diverse group of offensive backs, including Tylan Fry, Cole Wright, Jake Snyder, Carson Gauthier, Isaac Mooar, Caleb Stuck and Mason Fry.

The running game was on full display, as Walker Fogle had four touchdowns, while Tyler Ostrum, Hank Simmons and Jarrin Kelly ran extensively past the Blazer defense throughout the contest.

Coaches lauded the performance of the offensive line, whose improvement has sparked the offense of late. Defensively, the Bucs again displayed a team tackling mentality, led by Fogle, Simmons, Aiden Zahner and Zach Nickel, the coaches noted.

The Pirates will be in action on Saturday in Central Lake for a 2:30 p.m. contest against the Petoskey Badgers, while the Bucs have a bye week.

In the Midget division, Charlevoix beat a previously-undefeated Kalkaska 16-8.

"Colin Smith scored two touchdowns behind great blocking from our line," Coach Boogie Carlson said. Josh Carlson was 2-for-2 on the extra points.

The coach noted that starting fullback and linebacker Dylan Star was lost for the season when he suffered a broken arm in the first quarter.

Charlevoix goes to Elk Rapids to play at 10 a.m. on Saturday.

Charlevoix graduate at the center of online sports broadcast program expansion

RACHEL BROUGHAM
Northern Michigan Review

This spring, hundreds tuned in to watch a local high school graduation that was broadcast live via the Internet. Family members from as far away as New York and Nevada, who couldn't make it to the ceremony, had a chance to see their loved one receive their diploma.

Now this fall, football and basketball games are available. Other sports will be available throughout the year.

It's all part of the newly launched School Broadcast Program, which allows high school students to gain valuable skills in technology, while allowing those far away from the action a chance to be connected.

"I've always loved sports and working with kids," said Sparky Nitchman, 25, a 2005 graduate of Charlevoix High School who brought the program to Northern Michigan.

Nitchman recently received his master's degree in sports management from Central Michigan University, and wanted to expand on a student-led, sports broadcast program that has been successful in the southern parts of the state.

The program, which works in conjunction with local school districts, the Michigan Interscholastic Connection and the Michigan High School Athletic Association, provides schools with professional video production equipment, such as an high-definition camera, a laptop computer, tripod and video editing software. Students receive training on the equipment, then are able to produce shows throughout the year, such as athletic events, graduations and school performances.

The shows are then put up on the Internet, allowing anyone in the world to watch.

"The response has been unbelievable," Nitchman said. "People have been tuning in from all over the world."

"Students learn skills and work on logos and graphics and it's a great way to distribute and showcase your school, and keeps families involved who may live far away."

Currently, 10 Northern Michigan school districts are involved in the program — Alcona, Au Gres-Sims, Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Ellsworth, Hillman, Inland Lakes, Onaway, Petoskey and Rogers City. Nitchman hopes to have 20 schools on board by the end of the calendar year.

Schools are required to produce 24 events throughout the year — four football games, five boys basketball games, five girls basketball games, five other athletic events of the school's choice and five non-sporting events.

"For a long time it was only viable in larger schools that had extra funds for the program or already had this type of program, since it cost about $3,000 for each school, and I knew this just wasn't feasible up here. So the first thing we tackled is we were able to lower the price to $800 per school, and we cover their rest by selling online advertising space which is a great way for local businesses to publicly show their support for a their school."

Since the shows are on demand, anyone can flip through a show at any time. Each show is available for a year.

"The community has been great," Nitchman said.

"Students and schools have been phenomenal. This new technology is in their hands and they just run with it. They get excited and know exactly what to do. Some students are even going beyond and incorporating student commentary and play-by-play."

Programs of those schools involved can be found at www.MHSAA.tv. Charlevoix's page is www.MHSAA.tv/Charlevoix.

For more information on the program, visit www.mi-ic.com.

Klinger noted that the Rayder defense came up big in the fourth quarter to stop Boyne City inside the 20 yard line with a little more than two minutes to go in the game.

"Both teams gave the fans their money's worth in a hard fought game that is expected in a Boyne City-Charlevoix game," Klinger said.

Klinger lauded the play of the defensive line made up of Devin Largent, Andrew Michaud, Adam Michaud, KeNen Borths, Spencer Bruce, Jake Seger, Turner Havens, and Dan Zipp.

"These guys made it tough for Boyne to run all night," he said.

The coach also praised Forrest Noirot, who came in at quarterback to replace Austin Putman who came out because of an injury.

"On his first series, he threw the touchdown to take the lead and the PAT pass that was the difference in the game. It was a tough situation to come into but he did a nice job leading the team."

This week the Rayders will host Harbor Springs on Thursday at Kipke Field. Kickoff is set for 6 p.m.

YOUTH SWIM

Charlevoix swim team expanding

ALI SCHWEIN
Charlevoix High School

A competitive length pool? More swimmers involved in the sport? More pool space? New friendships? Sounds great to the Charlevoix Stingrays Swim Team. That's why the Charlevoix Stingrays Swim Team will be expanding to now include East Jordan as well. The team will now offer swimming programs for both East Jordan students and Charlevoix students alike.

"This is a great way to bridge communities, and give all the swimmers new opportunities," said Stingrays head coach, Betsy Granstra

According to Granstra the expanding of the swim team is a great thing for both communities. It will give the Charlevoix swimmers an opportunity to swim in a competitive length pool, and it will give the East Jordan students new opportunities to swim competitively while giving both communities the opportunities to forge new friendships.

"I am really excited to swim in East Jordan to meet new friends," said 11-year-old Stingray swimmer Sophia Thompson.

It will also alleviate overcrowding problems the Charlevoix pool has had in the past. Last season there were swimmers ranging in ages from 5-18 in the pool at the same time, and there were so many kids at practice that each lane held a minimum of eight kids at some point in time.

"Last year there were too many swimmers of too many levels in the pool at the same time to give each of the swimmers the attention they needed," said Sharon Schwein, mom of two Stingray swimmers.

The Charlevoix Stingrays are also trying to take advantage of the annual growth of the sport after the Olympic Games. According to Usaswimming.com, after the '04 games in Athens USA swimming memberships grew by 7.2 percent, and after the outstanding performance of the U.S. team in Beijing USA swimming memberships grew by 11.2 percent.

"And as always, expanding a team is a great way to get more kids involved in the sport of swimming," said Granstra.

Although, there are some disadvantages of the team expanding.

"One challenge we are facing is how to get all the Charlevoix swimmers to East Jordan," said Granstra.

Many of the Charlevoix swimmers get bused to the Charlevoix pool from school because many of their parents work — so, there's no way for the swimmers to get to the East Jordan pool. Another struggle the team is facing is the spreading apart of the team.

"The team has always been very close knit so it is going to be hard to see the kids split apart," said Schwein.

Schwein

The team will hold practices from 3:45-5 p.m. at the Charlevoix pool on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays for intermediate to advanced swimmers. The team will also hold practice from 3:45-5 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays at the Charlevoix pool for beginner swimmers while the advanced Charlevoix swimmers and East Jordan swimmers swim from 4-6 p.m. in the East Jordan pool.

"This is a great opportunity for me to swim in a competitive sized pool because the Charlevoix Pool is five yards too short," said Thompson.

But, no matter the changes and the expanding, the ethics of the team will be the same.

"The Charlevoix pool will still offer the same version of swim team as it always has," said Granstra.

BE A
WISE SHOPPER
It's always wise to remember that if an offer sounds too good to be true, it probably is. If you are offered merchandise at an unbelievably low price, check it out thoroughly. A call to the Better Business Bureau (serving Eastern Michigan and the Upper Peninsula) will tell you whether other consumers have had problems with the firm that has offered the merchandises. (248)223-9400. But call the Bureau BEFORE you make a purchase. You'll be glad you did.

Charlevoix centenarian makes dresses for children in Africa

ANNE KELLY/CHARLEVOIX COURIER

Boxes of material are at arm's length.

"I have been sewing all my life," she says.

Angie, who recently turned 100, is known for her sewing of placemats and a variety of craft items, recently participated in the "Little Dresses for Africa" organization's project which promotes the making and shipping to Africa, little dresses made from pillowcases.

"I thought of Angie when I learned of this worthwhile project through an article in a July edition of The Detroit Free Press, because she loves to sew," said Angie's longtime friend Diane Barker. "I then set about finding old pillowcases and trim which were purchased and donated by friends for Angie to use. This resulted in 17 sweet pillowcase dresses which I mailed to Africa for her recently."

Barker has known and has played bridge with Angie for 20 years.

"She sews, plays bridge both in a league and online, listens to Pandora Radio, emails her family to keep in touch and takes the Charlevoix County Transit to town to get her hair done each week."

Bishop Patrick Cooney remembered

MICHAEL JONES
Northern Michigan Review

GAYLORD — The Rev. Patrick R. Cooney, bishop emeritus of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Gaylord, died Monday morning. He was 78.

He was installed as the third bishop of the diocese in 1990 and served there until his retirement in 2009. During his tenure as bishop, Cooney was responsible for leading the Catholic Church in 21 counties in Northern Michigan.

Following his retirement and the installation of Bishop Bernard A. Hebda as his replacement, Cooney moved back to his native Detroit area to be near family and friends.

"Bishop Patrick Cooney was a great servant of the church and a true father to the clergy, religious and faithful of the Diocese of Gaylord," Hebda said in a Monday news release from the diocese. "He will be remembered as a shepherd who loved his flock, admired his fellow priests and selflessly poured himself out for the good of this local church."

After his retirement, Cooney continued to visit the Gaylord for special events including last year's 40th anniversary celebration of the Diocese of Gaylord. He returned to Gaylord this summer for the ordination of the diocese's newest priest, the Rev. Peter Wigton, and for Alpenfest after the diocese was chosen as the festival's honored industry.

More than half of the diocesan priests currently serving in the diocese were ordained by Cooney.

"We were always so happy when Bishop Cooney was able to come back for special events in the life of the diocese," Hebda said. "His 20 years of leadership in the diocese were a great blessing, and he will surely be missed."

Cooney helped make Hebda's transition as bishop to the diocese in 2009 an easy one and "wisely stepped back and gave me room when I was installed," he said.

Hebda said the bishop took him aside and gave him the following advice: "He described the diocese as a beloved daughter that he was turning over in marriage to a husband. He hoped that I would love them as much as he did."

Hebda said he was impressed by the love Cooney had for the people of the diocese.

"Really and truly, wherever I go, people speak of the things he did for them," Hebda said. "He had an extraordinary kindness with people."

According to the Diocese of Gaylord, Cooney was proud of his Irish heritage and enjoyed making trips to his homeland with his brothers and sisters.

He graduated from Detroit's Sacred Heart Seminary College in 1956 and attended the Gregorian University in Rome, where he earned a baccalaureate in sacred theology in 1958 and a licentiate in theology in 1960.

School board honors Boy Scout, accepts coach resignations

The Charlevoix Board of Education accepted the resignation of two coaches and recognized a Boy Scout on his way to Eagle status at its regular board meeting Monday.

Ninth grader Nathan Lindfors is working to become an Eagle Scout, which is the highest level of the Boy Scouts. For that status, scouts have to complete a community project. Nathan's was building benches in front of the middle school — something Charlevoix Middle School principal Travis Garrett said middle school parents already have noticed and appreciated.

"There have been so many compliments paid to the school," said Garrett.

Nathan said he raised about $1,000 from private donors to build the benches, and he and 15 fellow scouts put 177 work hours into building and installing the benches.

The board also awarded a community recognition award to Bob Klein, the man behind the Charlevoix Schools Foundation's "Investing in Our Future ... Our Students" program. The foundation has now raised more than $220,000 for education, and awarded $45,000 in grants to teachers during the 2011-2012 school year

Finally, the board accepted the resignation of two coaches: varsity girls basketball coach Leslie Hoffman and wrestling coach Craig Golovich. The district will look to replace the coaches before the winter season.

Changes coming for county planning commission functions

AEBRA COE
Northern Michigan Review

Soon after an overhaul of the Charlevoix County planning department and elimination of the planning director position, county commissioners plan to make alterations to a document that dictates all functions of the county's planning commission.

Assistant planning director Kiersten Stark requested of the commissioners at a recent meeting that she and GIS coordinator Brian Kelly be included in the process of revising the planning commission ordinance.

"We want to look into what changes need to be made" to the ordinance, said Kelly.

The new ordinance, Kelly said, will likely reflect the recent reorganization of the planning department in which the planning director position was eliminated and the GIS and planning departments were merged.

"There's nothing in particular we don't like," said board of commissioners chairman Joel Evans. "We just want to make sure it's up to date."

Commissioner Shirlene Tripp reported that there has been no discussion on the board level about revising the ordinance. Stark's comment was the first she had heard about the matter.

"This was all pre-planned," she said.

"I didn't believe that we should have done away with the planner," said Tripp. "Planners are very nice to have as an asset. It saves us a lot of problems."

The ordinance in question, originally adopted in July 2011, covers an array of issues affecting the county planning commission. Some of the topics dictated in the document include the number of planning commissioners, conditions of membership, compensation, when meetings are held and management of planning staff.

Duties and powers of the planning commission are also outlined in the ordinance that county commissioners are interested in amending. Those duties include creating a master plan and annual capital improvements program, management and direction of the county planner and consultation on any planning staff management decisions.

"The planning commission shall manage and direct the county planner for purposes of prioritization of projects, planning and zoning policy, planning, annual work plan, subdivision review, capital improvement program and reviews, other matters of business which come before or are assigned to the planning commission and evaluation of performance in these areas," reads the document.

The ordinance also dictates that all projects involving the expense of money in the county should be brought to the planning commission and the members' advice and suggestions should be presented to the county board of commissioners before any decisions are made on the projects.

Stark and Kelly also reported on the recent changes in their departments to county commissioners Wednesday.

"The merging of our two departments is going well," said Kelly.

The planning department office has moved into the lower level of the county building. There is a series of three, connected rooms. On one side is the GIS department, on the other side is the planning department and in the middle, there is a shared room.

New drug tipline offered

Charlevoix Sheriff Don Schneider announced this week that the Joint Operational Law Enforcement Team, J.O.L.T., has established an anonymous tip line phone number (231) 459-8560 available to the community.

Authorities encourage anyone with information pertaining to illegal drug activity throughout Charlevoix County or the surrounding counties to call or text message this number and leave a message for one of the J.O.L.T. detectives.

City council to look at adding dock

STEVE ZUCKER
Courier Editor

The Charlevoix City Council is hoping a $43,000 investment in an engineering study will pay off in the form of additional marina revenue in the long term.

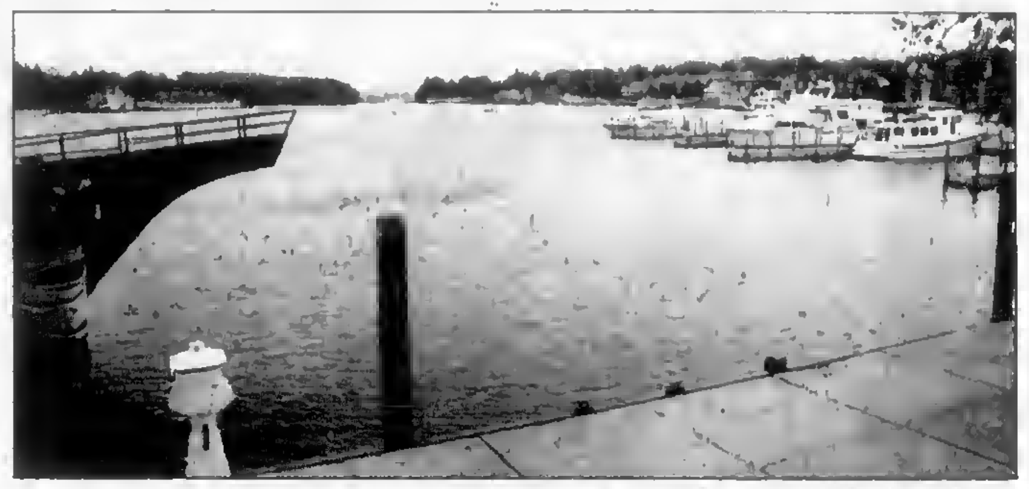
At its regular semi-monthly meeting Monday, the Charlevoix City Council approved a contract with United Design Associates at a cost of $43,500 for an engineering study for an additional dock on the north end of the marina. The dock would be designed for larger vessels and would include eight 50 to 60-foot slips and an ninth slip at the end of the dock.

Earlier this year the city had applied with the Michigan Department of Natural Resources Waterways Commission for a grant to pay for all or some of the engineering costs. However, the grant request was denied with commission officials noting that they are currently more interested in funding maintenance-type projects instead of additional construction.

City manager Rob Straebel said he brought the proposal for the engineering study back to the council after the marina revenue numbers came in showing an uptick of about $28,000 for the 2012 season. In his memo to the council on the matter Straebel wrote, "We think we have enough funds in hand from the marina fund to pay for the study."

However, Straebel caution in both his memo and again at the meeting: "Keep in mind that the (Downtown Development Authority property) valuations will not be out until February 2013. If the DDA valuations go substantially down the city's general fund may be obligated to pay for the costs of the preliminary engineering study)."

"I don't think that's going to happen," Straebel added at Monday's meeting. "(City treasurer) Rick Brandi is pretty conservative with his estimates (on the downtown property valuations)."



STEVE ZUCKER/CHARLEVOIX COURIER

Charlavoix city officials hava commissioned an engineering study that will look at the posibility of adding another dock for large vessel on the north end of the city marina in tha area pictured abova.

In a memo from the docking systems company used for the rest of the marina earlier this year, the total estimated cost of the new dock (including the initial engineering study) would be about $389,950.

Based on a transient per-night boat dockage fee of $96, city staff estimates the new docks would bring in about an additional $52,840 per year. That means it would take about 7.5 years for the city to see a return on its investment.

Straebel said city harbormaster Hal Evans has reported that demand has been high and continues to increase for larger vessels which the marina currently has only a limited ability to accommodate.

Straebel said he also expects the added slips would be an additional economic driver for the downtown.

The council approved the engineering contract by a 5-1 vote, with council member Bryan Vollmer casting the lone dissenting vote. During the discussions on the matter, Vollmer had questioned why the city couldn't, or shouldn't simply wait until February when the property valuation numbers for the downtown will be finalized, which would eliminate the guesswork.

The engineering work is expected to take five to six months to complete.

In other business, the council unanimously approved moving forward with more preliminary engineering — this time on infrastructure projects the city may wish to pursue next year.

City public works superintendent Pat Elliott, asked for the council's blessing to move forward with engineering for the following street, sewer and water projects:

— Clinton Street from Grant to Park streets

— West Garfield from U.S. 31 to State Street (water, sewer, storm, and street)

— Lewis from U.S. 31 to East Dixon (sewer, storm and street)

— Alleys adjacent to Lewis Street (prepare base and repave only)

Elliott said the projects were chosen based on a long-term plan developed in 2010, that takes into consideration the condition of the various infrastructure assets throughout the city, and a rough estimate of what the city typically budgets for infrastructure work annually.

He noted that which of the projects the city will actually undertake next year won't be decided until bids on the projects are received, but he noted that if a project had to be held for a year, the preliminary engineering work done now would still be usable later.

The council also unanimously approved the purchase of a new Bandit Industries brush chipper at a total purchase cost of $33,832.

Investigation clears Fanara of wrongdoing

AEBRA COE
Northern Michigan Review

An investigation launched against former Charlevoix County Cheif Assistant Prosecutor Shaynee Fanara has determined that she has not committed a crime, as alleged.

Fanara's former employer, Charlevoix County Prosecutor John Jarema, who is currently being sued by Fanara for sexual harassment, among other charges, launched the investigation through the state Attorney General's office. Jarema claimed that Fanara had charged a defendant without probable cause.

The investigation was referred to the office of Genesee County Prosecutor David Leyton. Leyton in turn worked with the State Police post in Traverse City to investigate the matter.

"No crime was committed by the chief assistant prosecutor," revealed Leyton on Monday.

"We're not surprised by the outcome," said Charlotte Croson, an attorney for Fanara. "We're fully confident that all of the claims he (Jarema) has made against her will be proven wrong."

Jarema is the outgoing prosecuting attorney for Charlevoix County, having lost the Republican primary to challenger Allen Telgenhof in August.

Fanara was fired by Jarema soon after filing a suit against him on Oct. 1. Fanara has also filed a grievance against Jarema with the state bar, alleging he lied to county commissioners and a judge regarding his actions in an appeals court case.

Brain power: Use it or lose it

A LOOK AT LIFE

Gayle Gennett

"Use or lose it" is a wise adage still important as the day it first came off of someone's lips. I'd tell you who it was but I don't remember. Speaking of remembering, I attended a memory seminar presented by the assistant professor of psychological and brain sciences from Johns Hopkins University. Dr. Yassa is a bright, articulate young man whose lecture went over my head during the morning session but by the afternoon things began to click. Maybe he just brought it down a notch so someone like me could understand. I was, after all, on my third cup of coffee. As a writer, I was reminded our first sentence in every paragraph is the most important and will be remembered just as the first words we speak in general conversation are logged in our memory bank.

Our memory diminishes with age, illnesses, medications and stress. Something that I experience daily, but it's nice to have a professor acknowledge, is that when we are on a mission to accomplish something and we get sidetracked we tend to forget something.

Case in point: This morning I grabbed my wallet, grocery list, dog treats and packed a hat and gloves as temps were dropping quickly. I was so proud of myself and then it happened. I thought since it is raining I'll try putting that new rain coat on our little dog to keep him warm on this windy, rainy day. This was my sidetrack. When we were on the road miles from home I noticed I put on a different coat. The coat that I meticulously packed with what I would need was carefully hanging on the coat rack back in our toasty little home. Arrrrg!

Other things learned: Chronic stress is harmful to the brain and again this affects memory. I learned that a side effect to chemo treatments are forgetfulness and trouble concentrating that can last up to five years after treatments began. Alzheimer risk factors include genetics, head trauma, high blood pressure, heart disease, stroke, diabetes, high cholesterol and lack of exercise. Dr. Michael Yassa was concerned with the increase in the number of patients who acquire Alzheimer by the age of 65 and he suggested that his audience keep up with health checkups, have social interaction regularly, make physical exercise and mental exercise part of your daily routine and my favorite — adding caffeine to keep you sharp.

Successful aging is possible, though I am not a fan of sticking around until I'm 115. But with what brain power I have left it's important to keep involved with people, join organizations, learn a language or even begin playing the piano. All of these ideas keep our brains working, but don't forget to add physical exercise to this mix. It's also imperative to improve your balance, so we don't begin falling which leads to more health dilemmas. If you're not into yoga, try balancing on one foot for 10 seconds. Once this is accomplished, try again but with your eyes closed. Make certain a chair or something to grab is nearby until you can do this successfully. Another tip is trying to remember your grocery list. If you have time, try to remember what's on the list and then read the list you brought to see how well you did. If you can group it by letter, such as: butter, bread, bananas, that will help or maybe think of what your menu is and what it takes to make the meal. All of these little tips help keep our hippocampus intact. OK, that's the one word I remembered from the lecture because I use word association and in my head I say rhino college. Our brain, just like any other body part, needs exercise so learning something new or reading or being read to is helpful. Diet also plays a major role in retaining good health and memory, but that will be another article. A good friend suggested two great books regarding diet as it relates to this so I am warning my husband now that kale will be in his future. I feel certain he hopes I'll forget that item on my grocery list.

LETTERS to the editor

Vote for Ferguson for county commission

Editor:

Nancy Ferguson has earned my support for Charlevoix County Commissioner in the 5th District. Her volunteer involvement in programs that benefit children (Camp Quality and Exceptional Riders) and the environment (WATCH, recycling, solid waste planning, and more) dovetails with her commitment to protecting Charlevoix County's natural resources and addressing local needs.

The Charlevoix county Commissioners face another lawsuit. Nancy is not a person who would have ignored an employee's complaint about bullying and harassment. Her input as a county commissioner would be an asset to the entire county.

I urge voters in the 5th District to "make it happen" and join me in voting for Nancy Ferguson.

Vote for Rudolph for Hayes trustee

Editor,

Jim Rudolph has distinguished himself as a Hayes Township trustee for the past six years. He has been involved with township government for over 20 years including the planning commission and zoning board of appeals. Jim's thoughtful approach to the issues of government has earned him the respect of his colleagues on the board and many township residents. Of the two incumbents for trustee, Jim is the one who attends outside meetings to represent the township and is a member of the Michigan Township Association. Jim has been an advocate of good planning and a steward of our beautiful resources. He has promoted the purchase of Camp Seagull for a township park and was on the steering committee for the Boyne City to US-31 non-motorized trail.

I plan to vote for Jim Rudolph for Hayes Township trustee and I hope you will too.

Split your ticket, vote for Ferguson

Editor:

To fellow residents of the 5th district:

I recently heard a statistic that I find hard to believe: Only 30 percent of voters split their ticket. Those who vote strictly along party lines do not consider each candidate on their individual merits. In a democracy, those candidates who devote their time, energy, and funds to run for office deserve a little of our time to evaluate all our options. In fact, our country, state, and local governments would be better served if we chose our representatives based on their personal standards, integrity, experience, and passion rather than just the party they are affiliated with.

It is well known that, historically, Charlevoix County votes overwhelmingly Republican. There have been and are many fine Republicans in our midst. Let this not cause us to overlook the outstanding candidate we have in Nancy Ferguson. I have known Nancy for 12 years and have grown to respect and admire her. She is passionate about what she believes in. When she confronts an issue that matters, she becomes involved in the process necessary to either preserve, promote change or further progress in the right direction. She listens as well as she speaks and she cares about Charlevoix County as well as our beautiful state of Michigan.

She has been instrumental in promoting recycling, clean air and water, effective township government and the appropriate development of renewable energy. The beauty of our area promotes the economic growth provided by tourism. Nancy will work to expand our recreational areas and allow our area's natural beauty to be appreciated and enjoyed by many. Nancy will be a valuable addition to Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners. She lives and plays in the places she loves — from Eveline Township to Beaver Island.

Give Nancy Ferguson a chance to show you what she can do. Vote for her on Nov. 6.

When the Chicago & West Michigan Railway constructed The Inn hotel at the far east end of Dixon Avenue in 1898, one of its amenities was a "natatorium," a 64-foot by 154-foot indoor heated swimming pool on the Lake Charlevoix shore next to today's Depot Beach. It held 105,000 gallons of water, circulated from the lake and heated by steam jets, in a cement pool elevated two feet above the ground. When the lake was thought to be too cold for swimming, the locals plus other resorters appreciated the fact the pool was open to the public for a nominal fee where they could rent bathing suits and towels and use the sixty dressing rooms. A trapeze and gymnastic rings were suspended over the water, on which floated a raft. At one end was a slide from the upper gallery, at the other end a diving board. Fancy carved wood occasional tables and potted palms lined the sides. But the always humid building aged rapidly. Eventually it was sold to the Chicago Club, and torn down in 1926.

New band director finds his step

JENNIFER ARCHEY
Charlevoix High School Student

"Mark time mark!" shouts drum major Brandon Arp.

There are some new tunes coming from the band room as Charlevoix's new music and band director Duane Willson gets this school year rockin.

The marching band is doing a jazzy show for its halftime show this fall. The songs consist of "Mercy, Mercy, Mercy,", "Land of Make Believe," and "Chameleon."

"Its really weird walking into the band room and not having Mrs. Winchester there," said Charlevoix High School junior Alexis Knox, referring to recently-retired band director Jayne Winchester.

Willson said his inspiration came from high school band teachers, Barry Bennett and Carl Brien. He said he really wants to help kids learn to love music, like they helped him.

"He is a good guy and he has a really good plan for our band," Charlevoix High School junior Lilyann Matchett said of Willson.

"Band parade rest!" yells drum major Emily Chapdelaine.

"The reason I left Petoskey Concord was because I wanted the opportunity to teach a marching band. I also wanted to affect as many students as I could, and Charlevoix gave me that opportunity teaching at three schools. I see almost 300 students a week at Charlevoix public schools," Willson said.

Charlevoix High school junior Jacy Harriman said, "Even though it was a stressful week at band camp it is an honor to have Mr. Willson as our band director."

"Band halt!" both drum majors say. "Step and close!"

"I actually travel between three different schools middle school, high school, and elementary school. It is difficult because I had to learn three of everything — three different lock down procedures, three different fire drill procedures, three different mail locations," Willson said. "Basically taking whatever a teacher does at one school as far as learning what to do and how it and multiply it by three. I'm starting to get the hang of it but I still have to think constantly where am I and what is the procedure for this particular school," he added.

AARP driver safety courses offered

Two AARP driver safety programs will be offered in the Charlevoix area in early November.

The first class will take place from 12:30-4:30 p.m. Thursday and Friday, Nov. 1-2 at the United Methodist Church, 104 State St. Call (231) 547-4867 or (231) 547-2654 to register for this class.

The second class will take place from 12:30-4:30 p.m. Monday and Tuesday, Nov. 5-6, at the VFW hall in Charlevoix. For more information on this class, which is sponsored by VFW Post 1153, the Rainbow Shoppe and Veterans Affairs., call AARP at (888) 227-7669; or locally, Ron Moore, (231) 547-4182.

The eight-hour classroom refresher course is open to anyone age 50 and older.

Cost is $12 for AARP members, $14 for non-members, and free for military veterans and their spouses.

Appliance recycling program expanded

Great Lakes Energy has expanded its appliance recycling program giving its members more opportunities to save energy and receive more rebates.

Members can schedule a free pick up of an old refrigerator or freezer and receive a $30 rebate. Members can now receive an additional $15 for each old air conditioner or dehumidifier that is picked up at the same time as their old refrigerator or freezer.

Cooperative officials said members can save up to $150 annually on their electric bills by recycling outdated refrigerators or freezers.

To schedule a free pick up of an old, secondary refrigerator or freezer call (877) 296-4319 or visit michigan-energy.org. Refrigerators and freezers must be in working order and have 10 cubic feet or more of storage capacity to be eligible. There is no purchase necessary to participate.

Great Lakes Energy is one of 12 electric cooperatives and municipal utilities offering Energy Optimization programs through the Michigan Electric Cooperative Association collaborative. For information call (877) 296-4319 or visit michigan-energy.org.

Schools to roll out iPads

Charlevoix Public Schools will begin handing out iPads to students beginning Wednesday, Oct. 24.

Third, sixth and 10th grade students will receive the iPads. Charlevoix is rolling out the iPads in stages so that teachers have time to implement the technology and so that the district can test its wireless infrastructure, according to a release from technology director Scott Mays.

The district purchased the iPads — 300 total in this first wave — using the 2008 technology bond.

Parents and students are asked to attend a roll-out session to learn more about the operation, protocol and expectations for their students.

The roll-out sessions each take place at 6 p.m., on Wednesday, Oct. 24, at the Charlevoix High School, Thursday, Oct. 25, at Charlevoix Middle School and Monday, Nov. 12, at the Charlevoix Elementary School.

A slow rebound for lake levels

Experts: It's going to take more than a few rainy days

MORGAN SHERBURNE
Northern Michigan Review

At the end of the summer, Myke Sherman noticed something he hadn't seen in his 25 years of working near Thumb Lake, in Charlevoix County: the lake's island was no longer an island.

Sherman, operations director for the Lake Louise Christian Community, Camp and Retreat Center, doesn't keep tabs on the level of the lake, which is called both Thumb Lake and Lake Louise. But a summer resident does, and told Sherman that from the day he began measuring the lake at the beginning of summer until the fall, the lake had dropped 13 inches.

"This is the first time I have personally seen where there's an island on the lake, and no water under the bridge to the island," he said. "It's not an island anymore."

Because inland lakes are so much smaller than the Great Lakes, their levels are more susceptible to rain events, said Keith Kompoltowicz, chief of watershed hydrology for the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers in Detroit. The Army Corps doesn't keep tabs on smaller lakes, but he said an inch of rain can have a big impact on a smaller lake.

"The fluctuations in the inland lakes, because they're much smaller, can be on a much quicker basis," he said.

Too, many area inland lakes such as Lake Charlevoix have a direct connection to one of the Great Lakes, and so follow the levels of the Great Lakes. Lake Charlevoix is connected through the Pine River Channel, and the Inland Waterway, a system of lakes and rivers that begins with Crooked Lake, ultimately hooks to Lake Huron through the Cheboygan River.

The Crooked River Lock in Alanson controls the water levels of Crooked Lake, which are set by the Army Corps of Engineers. Through Sept. 30, the lake's levels were to be 594.7 feet. By Nov. 1, the level is to be 594 feet. Lake Charlevoix, too, follows the same highs and lows as Lake Michigan.

But lakes such as Thumb Lake are called "seepage lakes," which means they have no inlet or outlet. They rely solely on groundwater to keep their levels up — or down, says Doug Fuller, director of stewardship for Little Traverse Conservancy.

"It takes a long time for the water table to respond," said Fuller. "These seepage lakes most dramatically reflect recent climate trends."

So if the summer were dry, seepage lakes would be the first to show it. Too, last winter's low precipitation would have had an impact on the watershed that feeds lakes like Thumb Lake, said Kevin Cronk, monitoring and research coordinator with the Petoskey-based Tip of the Mitt Watershed Council.

"Thumb Lake has a very limited watershed," he said. "It has high hills all around it, and I don't think that the watershed is a very large contributing area. So the area that supplies water to the lake is very small."

Over the past weekend, Petoskey and much of Northern Michigan saw between three and four inches of rain, all of it from a system that moved up from the Great Plains, said Scott Rozanski, meteorologist with the National Weather Service Forecast Office in Gaylord.

And though the three or four inches is a lot of rain, it's unlikely to hump up the levels of the Great Lakes significantly.

"I can speculate that we won't, nor will anybody, see results for a couple of days," said Rozanski. "But our lake levels are down so low it would take more than three inches to make much of a difference."

So far for the month of October, Lake Michigan-Huron has dipped close to its all-time low since records were kept, recorded in 1964, according to data kept by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. The lake is close to one foot below average. At a mean level of 576.97 feet, the lake's level needs to fall only a third of a foot to match the all-time low.

Craig Stow, a researcher with the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration's Great Lakes Environmental Research Laboratory in Ann Arbor, says the Great Lakes low levels are thanks to a dry summer and a mild winter with very little ice cover on the lakes.

"Now, the daily levels are bumping against the long-term minimum," said Stow. "The water level is pretty much a balance between precipitation and evaporation. As the air has started to cool, as it does in the fall, we have had a lot of evaporation, because the lakes are relatively warm."

The Army Corps predicts a forecast for six months out, said Kompoltowicz, and the forecast predicts a high range and a low range. The upper range takes into consideration a wet sixth months, while the lower range considers a dry outlook. But a line through the middle of that predicted range is what the Corps expects the levels will be, and even that line dips below the all-time low for the Great Lakes.

Everyone has their theories

There are a few theories floating around that locks at Sault Ste. Marie, Chicago and the St. Lawrence River have affected lake levels, said Jennifer McKay, policy specialist at Tip of the Mitt Watershed Council.

But, she said, two sites — the Long Lac and Ogoki diversions — on the north shore of Lake Superior divert more water into Lake Superior than is lost through the Chicago River in southern Lake Michigan.

Another theory is that the Great Lakes' water levels are declining because of the dredging of the St. Clair River in the early 1960s by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, said McKay. The theory, explored in a study called the Baird Report, posits that erosion since the initial dredging has hastened the outflow of Great Lakes water.

"The theory is that dredging resulted in essentially poking a hole in the bottom of the system and allowing water to drain out," she said.

The Baird Report was released in 2005. In response, the International Joint Commission commissioned a report as well, called the International Upper Great Lakes Study. An initial report was released in 2009. The results of each study differ.

The 2009 report found that there has been no significant erosion in the upper reach of the St. Clair River bed since 2000, and the erosion that does exist accounts for between 2.8 and 5.5 inches of decline in Lakes Michigan, Huron and Erie between 1963 and 2006.

The second report from the Upper Great Lakes Study, released in March, looked at the Lake Superior watershed's contribution to lowered lake levels. This report posits that the majority of lake level decline was because of natural long-term fluctuations and climate.

Keith Kompoltowicz, chief of watershed hydrology with the Army Corps, says there are two points that the Army Corps regulates: at the locks in Sault Ste. Marie, which is regulated monthly, and on the St. Lawrence River near Cornwall, Ontario and Massena, N.Y., which is regulated weekly.

He said the 1960s dredging project did permanently lower the level of Lake Michigan-Huron, about 14-16 inches. But natural processes cause fluctuating levels.

"The effects that Mother Nature has on lake levels, how much rain, how much snow, are much larger, much more than that," he said.

Tip of the Mitt: County storm water ordinance needed

AEBRA COE
Northern Michigan Review

RANDY GOSS/NEWS-REVIEW

The goal of an ordinance proposed for adoption by all municipalities within Charlevoix County is to prevent excessive run off into streams, lakes and onto neighbors' properties during construction.

How storm water runoff will be managed in Charlevoix County is still uncertain after county commissioners voted to forgo making a decision on the matter at their Oct. 10 meeting.

Soil erosion control officer Marc Seelye presented the commission with a plan in which municipalities within the county could adopt a uniform storm water ordinance, to be enforced by the county.

The goal of the ordinance is to prevent excessive run off into streams, lakes and onto neighbors' properties during construction.

Several of the commissioners expressed concern that the townships may not be interested in the agreement and that if only a few sign on, the desired uniformity of enforcement would be lost.

Seelye worked with the Tip of the Mitt Watershed Council and all municipalities within the county to create the ordinance and agreement after a state Attorney General opinion in 2006 caused all county storm water ordinances to be rescinded, including Charlevoix County's.

"This is basic water protection," said Grenetta Thomassey, Ph.D., program director at the watershed council. "And Lake Charlevoix is worth protecting."

The proposed ordinance is essentially the same, she said, as the one that was in place in the county for about a decade up to 2006.

Currently, the county's three cities, Boyne City, Charlevoix and East Jordan, have decided to not adopt the ordinance.

"We will work with the cities individually," said Thomassey. "We'll meet over the winter to come up with other versions of the ordinance for them."

For now, six townships within the county and Boyne Falls have signed on to the ordinance, two townships have said they will not do it and seven more have not yet made a decision on the matter. Boyne Valley, Evangeline, Hayes, Hudson, Melrose and St. James Townships have agreed to the ordinance and Peaine and Chandler have voted to not adopt it.

Thomassey said she had hoped the agreement would be fully implemented by November.

"We're worried because the economy is starting to come back," she explained. "We need this procedure finalized and in place because when construction happens, there are lots of ways that construction can affect water."

County commissioner Richard Gillespie opposes the adoption of the ordinance countywide.

"We already have an ordinance," he said referring to a county soil erosion and sedimentation ordinance. "I don't understand why we need two similar ordinances."

There are also regulations placed on developers by federal and state agencies, creating multiple roadblocks for them, said Gillespie.

"I'm worried about another set of rules without demonstrated need," he said.

There is no county soil erosion and sedimentation ordinance in Charlevoix County, said Thomassey.

"He (Gillespie) is confusing it with Part 91 of the Michigan Environmental Protection Act," she said.

The county enforces Part 91 for the state when construction is done a specific distance from a lake or stream.

"It doesn't address flooding and that's the issue," said Thomassey.

Seelye agreed that the ordinance is needed because it covers actions not regulated in any other way in the county right now.

"I can currently control sediment, but I can't control volume of water," he said.

Seelye doesn't anticipate any additional staffing needed in his office in order to enforce the ordinance, he revealed.

Hayes Township is one of the seven municipalities that have agreed to adopt the storm water ordinance if the county will enforce it.

"It's taken this long with work from a lot of people. We finally got to the point where we could say we supported it," said township supervisor Ethel Knepp of the negotiations between townships over the summer on the document.

"It is an important ordinance," she said. "We need something like this with teeth."

Hayes Township does not have a staff member that would be able to enforce the ordinance though, she said, thus the need for help from the county in enforcement.

Wilson Township also signed on to the ordinance.

"The cities and county have full-time staff, but the townships do not," said Wilson Township supervisor Todd Sorensun.

The ordinance will be good for his township, said Sorenson, because the townships are sharing costs in developing it and because uniformity will make the ordinance easier to enforce and understand.

Veteran of the Month: George Joseph Karl Jr.

Karl

The "Veteran of the Month" for October 2012 is George Joseph Karl, Jr. He was born on April 4, 1924 in Detroit and graduated from Catholic Central High School, Redford in the class of 1942. Karl went to work as an apprentice engine mechanic and attended Western Michigan College and on Dec. 9, 1942, in Detroit, he enlisted in the Army Air Corps Reserves. He attended Elementary Flying School, 54th Flying Training Detachment, Dorr Field, Florida, graduating in the Aviation Cadet Class 44-G on March 24, 1944 and entered into active duty on Aug. 4, 1944. On April 5, 1945 Karl departed the USA arriving in the Eastern Asia Middle European Theater of Operations on April 14, 1945 and was assigned to the 487th Air Support Group, 352nd Fighter Group, 8th Air Force, Bodney, England. Karl was commissioned a second lieutenant and piloted a P-51 Mustang fighter aircraft participating in battles and campaigns in Central Europe and on June 30, 1946 he departed the Eastern Asia Middle European Theater of Operations arriving in the USA on July 8, 1946. On Aug. 13, 1946, at The Separation Center, Fort Sheridan, Ill., Karl received a Separation Certificate of Relief From Active Duty returning to the Army Air Corps Reserves and received the following decorations and citations: The Eastern Asia Middle European Theater Medal with One Bronze Battle Star, The American Theater Medal, The Victory Medal, The Occupation Medal (Germany), The Good Conduct Medal and two Overseas Service Bars (each representing six months foreign service). On Sept. 24, 1955 Karl received an Honorable Discharge from the United States Air Force having attained the rank of first lieutenant. On April 3, 1950 Karl went to work at The Ford Motor Company, in Dearborn, working as an engineer and supervisor. On Oct. 7, 1977, at Saint Mary Church, Adrian, Karl married Janet Marlene Parrott making their home in Taylor. On April 3, 1980 he retired and personally built his own retirement home in Charlevoix County west of Boyne City where he enjoyed boating, hunting, snowmobiling, building everything from bird houses to out houses, music, dancing and taking pictures of family and friends. On July 25th, 2012 George Joseph Karl, Jr. answered the final call and is being honored by his wife Janet, daughter Brenda and their families.

To honor a veteran, call the program chairman at (231) 588-6067 or on Tuesdays call (231) 582-7811 between 3:30-8:30 p.m. The ceremony may be witnessed at 6:15 p.m. on the first Thursday of each month in front of The American Legion Post located on the corner of South Lake and Main streets in Boyne City.

Is art the career of your dreams?

GRACY WHITLEY

COURTESY PHOTO

Artist Tanya Whitley works on the first stages of a painting. The painting is going to be of a client's dogs in New Jersey. Once Whitley is done with the first stage of sketching it out with pencil, she will move on to finishing it with watercolor.

As Tanya Whitley works on a portrait of a dog for a client, Mr. John Guirey works on an art lesson for his students. These two people have different art-related careers, but are still artists who put a lot of time into their work.

For some people, art is the career of their dreams. Behind every beautiful piece of art, there is an artist that created it. They also might have gone to college and studied art to become the best artist they can be.

People who want to become an artist should find out what kind of art they like to do the most, whether it is painting, sculpture, fashion design, etc. Finding the right type of art for them could open doorways to their future career. They might have one thing they're the best at, or they might have three.

"The types of art I enjoy doing the most are oil and acrylic paints, pastels, and colored pencils," artist Tanya Whitley said. Whitley has done many portraits of people and animals. She's also done labels for a beer company whose products have been sold in stores.

"I really like photography, sculpture, and watercolor paintings," Charlevoix High School's art teacher John Guirey said. Guirey has sold commercial art for clients in the past, but doesn't usually sell his art pieces that he does now.

Sometimes to help get their careers started, people wanting to become an artist should work somewhere related to art. This helps get their career going, and provides them with experience working in an art related field.

"After college, I worked at an advertising agency, and a typography studio," Guirey said. With some experience working in an artistic environment, Guirey also worked at Camp Duggett and enjoyed working with kids, so he later became the art teacher and works with kids daily at Charlevoix High School.

There are many colleges in the U.S. that offer a wide variety of art classes and programs people can take to become a great artist. According to Articlebase.com, a college degree is a good idea when starting an art career. People wanting to become an artist can get a bachelor's degree in fine arts, or an associate's degree. Studying art in college will eventually help in the long run.

"I went to Northern Michigan University for my BFA (Bachelor of Fine Arts)," Guirey said. Guirey also went to Wayne State University for teaching.

So, becoming an artist can be difficult at times, but you can earn a living and you have to be "self-motivated and determined," Whitley said. For people wanting to become an artist, Guirey suggests they, "take as many art classes as you can, develop a good foundation of drawing, and then later develop your own style."

Organizers of Charlevoix's eighth annual Chili Cook Off, which took place during the recent Apple Festival at the Charlevoix United Methodist Church, said the event was the biggest and best ever. This year seven area restaurants participated including: Edgewater Bistro, "So Good I Am Blind In My Left Eye Chili," Giuseppe's Italian Grille, "Holy Moly Chili," Harbor View Cafe, "4 Dead In Ohio Chili," Gray Gables, "Gang Green Chili," Scoviea Gourmet, "2 Stroke Chili," Stafford's Weathervane, "Smokey Mountain Chipotle Chili," and Shanahan's Prime, "Texas 2 Finger." The voting for "Best Chili In Charlevoix" ended in a tie for first place between Shanahan's Prime and Giuseppe's Italian Grille. Pictured above chilli judges enjoy their work during the event.

Michigan Seasons — The Charlevoix Circle of Arts and the Charlevoix Photography Club's fourth annual Photography Show is slated to run through Nov. 2. The theme of this year's show is Michigan Seasons. Photographers were invited to submit photographs "depicting the abundant beauty of Michigan" in the categories of Realistic Photography, Photographic Art, Canvas Wrap, and Youth. The show was judged by Todd and Brad Reed, a father-son outdoor photography team based in Ludington.

Let it snow — The Charlevoix Circle of Arts will host "Let it Snow!" a juried all media exhibit, which will open on Wednesday, Nov. 15-Jan. 21, 2013. Here's how organizers described the exhibit: "Charlevoix is a winter wonderland. Let it Snow! Highlights the beauty of winter in Northern Michigan— a raging snowstorm or a peaceful snowcovered landscape, skiing, sledding and snowshoeing, building a snowman... everything that makes winter a magical season."

BLOOD DRIVES

— In this area, the Red Cross Great Lakes Blood Services Region provides lifesaving blood to hospitals across the state of Michigan and need approximately 700 people to donate blood and platelets each weekday to meet hospital demand. To schedule a donation time or get more information about giving blood or platelets, people can visit redcrossblood.org or call 1-800-RED CROSS (1-800-733-2767). Individuals who are 17 years of age, meet weight and height requirements (110 pounds or more, depending on height) and are in generally good health may be eligible to donate blood. Donors should bring their Red Cross blood donor card or other form of positive identification when they come to donate.

History society to present program on "Ike" election

The Charlevoix County History Preservation Society will present its eighth History Speaker Series Event of 2012 at 7 p.m. on Monday, Oct. 22 in the Boyne District Library Community Room. Dr. George A. Colburn will be the guest speaker for his documentary "IKE: The Lure of the Presidency." He will begin with the "back story" and conclude with a question and answer session.

In March of this year Colburn presented "Seeking Charlevoix County's Views of the Eisenhower Election," a sneak preview of Colburn's new documentary film on the Eisenhower election and presidency. Colburn invited everyone to enliven the presentation with some good "Ike" tales and this well-attended program afforded many to share such memories. Colburn is now inviting everyone back for a special preview of the final broadcast version of "IKE: The Lure of the Presidency." A DVD of the broadcast will also be available for purchase.

George A. Colburn, Ph.D., is president and director of operations for Starbright Media Corporation. His best known national television credit is as SMC's writer and producer of a major documentary series on Dwight D. Eisenhower's military and political careers, 1941-1961. Produced in association with Gancie Television, and entitled "The Eisenhower Legacy," the five-hour series was hosted by Gen. Colin L. Powell. Colburn's credits as an independent producer include more than two dozen national, media-based educational programs, linked to major documentary series and in 2012, Colburn was appointed to the Dwight D. Eisenhower Memorial's Electronic Content Advisory Committee. The committee is charged with selecting seven "Pivotal Moments" in Eisenhower's military and political careers and developing content for electronic applications related to the physical memorial to be built on the Mall in Washington, D.C.

This event is free and open to the public. For more information please call (231) 582-5326.

MEA's Mary Lieberman to speak at upcoming event

The next meeting of the Progressive Women of Charlevoix County will be Tuesday, Oct. 23, at the Charlevoix Public Library in community room A. Members may arrive at noon and the speaker will begin at 12:30 p.m. Members are invited to brown bag their lunch. The program is open to anyone interested in progressive issues, organization members, their friends and family, male or female. Those wishing to attend should RSVP by Oct. 22 by emailing progwomenchxcty@yahoo.com or calling (231) 582-9005.

The speaker will be Mary Lieberman, Michigan Education Association UniServ Director. Lieberman is a native of Northern Michigan who served 30 years as a high school special education teacher with the Charlevoix Public Schools before starting her career with Michigan Education Association in 2007. In her current role as association advocate in Northwest Michigan, Mary spends her days not only advocating for public school employees in 20 school districts, but advocating for public education as a whole and especially for the students in our community schools.

Mary will speak about the inadequacy of school funding and the negative impact of mandated student testing and anti-teacher laws in Michigan. She will discuss how the quality and versatility of curriculum, appropriate staffing levels and student driven program offerings in rural community schools are collectively much at stake.

The Progressive Women of Charlevoix County meets on the fourth Tuesday of the month from 12:30-2 p.m. Locations alternate between Charlevoix and Boyne City. Meetings are open to all. There are no membership fees and meeting announcements are by email only. For more information or to be added to the organizatio's mailing list, email progwomenchxcty@yahoo.com.

SUPERNAW

Barker said. "She is very engaged in life; in a word she is remarkable."

"There is nothing a little positive thinking can't overcome," Angie said.

Born Sept. 8, 1912 in Norwood Township, Angie grew up in the Charlevoix area, graduated from Charlevoix High School and from Howell's School of Business in Muskegon. She worked for Bridge and Hawley Insurance, now Charlevoix Agency, for 30 years, retiring in 1972. In 1938 she married William I. Supernaw who passed away in 1981 at the age of 71. Together they built a cottage in Ironton, which is still in the family, and enjoyed it for 65 years, renting it out one summer in order to make a little money.

When Bill retired, the couple sold their house in town, moved to Chez Charlevoix and spent winters in Florida.

Both Bill and Angie were avid golfers at the City of Charlevoix's Charlevoix Golf Club. In fact, both won trophies as city golf champions in 1958. Angie proudly displays their trophies in her Sunnybank apartment. Golf and skiing in earlier years and bridge and sewing throughout her life are the hobbies that have kept her active and socially engaged all the way to the present.

She has been a member of the Congregational Church and a charter member of the Mary Burns Circle.

Angie has two sons, Scott (Christy) who lives in Southport, Conn., and Sam (Mary Lou) of Charlevoix, and four grandchildren, three boys and a girl.

Angie said she learned to use the computer in the 70s while staying with one of her two sons.

"They were insistent that I learn," she said. Now Angie's in-town daughter-in-law, Mary Lou Supernaw is her go-to person should she run into a glitch.

"I feel older people have to have someone to help if they have a computer problem and Mary Lou is wonderful."

Angie has her computer at the ready in her living room where she plays bridge online at an intermediate level.

"I don't mess around with the beginner level," she said in an earlier interview.

Her sewing at first was for the purpose of economy — especially during the Depression when people didn't have the money to buy new clothes. She remembers with affection the knitting of her gown, worn when she was chosen as the area-wide festival "Winter Snow Queen" of 1930. Much to her surprise and delight, her granddaughter chose to wear that dress for her own wedding rehearsal dinner a few years ago.

"I try to do one new thing every day," said Angie. "If I come to the end of the day and haven't accomplished anything yet, I go to my sewing machine and make something."

Life, for Angie has been and still is, better than just so-so.

"I had a good husband, I have good kids and grandchildren and good friends."

A posterboard created for Angie Supernaw's recent 100th birthday celebration show some her fondest memories.

COONEY

Cooney was ordained into the priesthood in 1959 and returned to Detroit as the assistant pastor at St. Catherine Parish in 1960.

Gladys Solokis, former Gaylord mayor, said her friendship with Cooney was cemented when the two sat next to each other during the Alpenfest Honors Luncheon during the bishop's first year in Gaylord.

"He was so open and friendly that we became good friends," Solokis said. "That Irish smile was so disarming. He was a very warm bishop. Some can be standoffish, but I think we have another winner with Bishop Hebda."

Jerry Belanger, a member of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, which hosts an annual Irish party at the Knights of Columbus Hall, said Cooney "was a tremendously important influence on my life. He married me and my wife, Jennifer, and was a cheerleader when the Hibernians started the Irish parties."

"He inspired Catholicness in our diocese and helped promote the church. He was a holy, wonderful man. It's just a great loss," Belanger said.

"He was so proud of his Irishness, and he enjoyed life to its fullest," Belanger said. "There was his importance to the diocese and the work he did, yet he was still so personable. He connected with people on a personal level. No matter where you ran into him, he made you feel you were the most important person in the room. He's going to be missed."

According to Belanger, Cooney got together with friends and family on a regular basis after his retirement.

"He told me he met weekly for meals with old friends from seminary school and caught up with them," Belanger said.

Steve Seely, a member at St. Mary Church in Charlevoix, said one particular instance involving Bishop Cooney sticks out in his mind:

Seely said on this day a church full of parishioners became very concerned because Bishop Cooney some 30 minutes late for a special Mass at St. Mary in the midst of a blizzard.

He said when the bishop finally arrived safely, he "celebrated a beautiful Mass without so much as a word about his delay."

"We later found out that on his drive from Gaylord to East Jordan to Charlevoix, he had come upon a terrible car accident outside of East Jordan involving a county snow plow. The driver of the car was gravely injured and Bishop Cooney had stopped to administer Last Rites out in the blizzard. The unfortunate driver passed away following the sacrament," Seely said. "The bishop was a truly devoted and humble person and a great leader of our Diocese."

Beth Egler, another St. Mary parish member, also counts herself as fortunate to have known the bishop.

"I was most fortunate to have known Bishop Cooney since 1995 when I began writing to him about my vocation. He responded with beautiful letters that inspired and encouraged me to seek God in all those who touch my life, family, friends, parishioners, priests, strangers...everyone who crossed my life's path," Egler said. I had the opportunity of meeting with Bishop Cooney on many occasions and enjoyed his insight, encouragement and laughter and his sincerity of faith. He was an inspiration and a friend."

According to the diocese, a Mass of Christian Burial is planned for noon Monday, Oct. 22 at St. Mary Cathedral in Gaylord.

COUNCIL

Elliott noted that although the cost of the Bandit chipper was $5,500 more than the other bid the city received for a Morbark unit, he said the Bandit offered a better warranty, a better feed system, a bigger drum with twice the chipping knives, better fuel economy and better overall construction. The unit will replace a 21-year-old unit that Elliott said has become unreliable. He also noted that he will not be requesting money to replace the chipper truck, which had originally been included in the annual budget, for a savings of $26,000.

The council also approved the purchase of a large municipal tractor, also to replace an aging unit that has become unreliable at a cost of $103,150. The tractor is mainly used for snowblowing and scraping sidewalks in the winter and is also used for mowing rough areas such as Mount McSauba. In this case also, the unit Elliott recommended was about $15,000 more than the other model for which the city received a bid. However, Elliott cited several reasons, including the fact that the less expensive model has only one equipment attachment point in the front, which means crews could not snowblow and scrape sidewalks at the same time, like they do now and other advantages.

The council also approved a contract to purchase electricity for the city's electric utility through 2024 for a cost not to exceed $2.272 million.

City electric department engineer Don Swem said the rates in the contract are slightly higher that the current market rates, but they would be locked in for 10 years.

Finally, the council unanimously approved a one-year contract extension for Straebel, which includes a 2 percent pay increase. The increase of $1,684.67 brings Straebel's annual salary up to $85,918.18. The extension, the fifth since Straebel took over as city manager in 2007, now extends his contract to Oct. 1, 2015.

Major Accomplishments of the current Charlevoix City Mayor and City Council

- Balanced the city budget in the toughest of economic times with declining tax revenues. During this period, not one city employee was laid off and/or experienced-a cut back of work hours.
- Devised, adopted and are currently utilizing a fair and equitable Practice for awarding city contracts
- With assistance from Management Negotiation Team, successfully negotiated and executed contracts with the city Fire Fighters, Police Officers and City Employees. Virtually no legal expenses were incurred during the negotiations. Supplemented-employee retirement benefits with a defined contribution plan.
- Authored, submitted and were awarded a $40,000 Northwest Michigan Council-of Governments grant for a new boiler at the Water Treatment Plant.
- Successfully completed the first year of the City run Municipal Airport. First year revenues exceed expenditures.
- Completed fiber optics study with John Childs. Solicited bids for use of excess fiber optic lines owned by the city and school district.
- Adopted City Master Plan and Recreation Plan.
- Created more free parking for residents and visitors to our community by removing parking meters in off street lots.
- Adopted ordinance for regulations of medical marijuana.
- Passed tax abatement for a local industry, resulting in creation of 6 - 10 new jobs.
- Passed a resolution establishing the DDA boundaries as a Redevelopment Liquor License District.

Fireplace Update:
Sept. 4, Council voted to halt the project.
Sept. 12, Council retained Mark Buday (original designer of East Park) to provide direction given the following Three Options:
  - Keep fireplace in it's present location.
  - Move the fireplace to another location in East Park.
  - Scrap the fireplace entirely.

Currently awaiting Architect Buday's decision.

Rayders fall short in attempt to spoil Rams' homecoming

HARBOR SPRINGS — David Walker rushed for 236 yards on 20 carries and scored two touchdowns as Harbor Springs snapped a four-game losing skid with a Lake Michigan Conference win over Charlevoix, 19-7, Friday during homecoming at Ottawa Stadium.

Walker scored on the second play from scrimmage via a 62-yard run and in the fourth quarter scored from 6 yards out.

"We had a tough first half with some turnovers and penalties," Harbor Springs coach Rob Walker said. "But we were able to win enough battles to win the game.

Also for Harbor Springs, 3-5 overall, 2-4 league, Sam Hansen had 71 yards rushing on nine carries, while Kanyan Elkins added 38 yards on 10 carries. Quarterback Peter Lauer scored Harbor's other TD on a 3-yard keeper.

Tied at 7-all after the first quarter, the Rams outscored the Rayders, 12-0, the rest of the way.

With the loss, Charlevoix falls to 0-8, 0-5.

"Our defense was helped tonight by the return of Connor Lavender," Walker added. "He and Spencer Kloss combined to anchor that unit."

Luke Klinger scored the lone TD for Charlevoix via a 3-yard quarterback keeper in the first quarter.

Charlie Hamilton led all Rayder rushers offensively with 49 yards on 9 carries, while Tanner Catt added 32 yards on seven carries and Brian Noirot had 24 yards on five carries.

Shane Sutherland had 17 yards on seven carries.

Nate Moon was 2-of-9 passing for 14 yards, while Klinger was 1-of-4 for nine yards. Devin Drain had two receptions for 14 yards, while Moon added one reception for nine yards.

Defensively for the Rayders, Alex Brown had a team-best 21 tackles, while Greyson Spegele had 14 tackles, Tommy Zipp, 13; Sutherland, 11; and John Frieberg, seven tackles.

Corbin Turkelson had seven tackles and a fumble recovery, while Klinger and Brad Rizzo each forced a fumble and JJ Bottomley had a fumble recovery.

The Rayders will look to get into the win column with their season finale against East Jordan set for 7 p.m. Friday, Oct. 19 at Kipke Field.

The Red Devils, who are also 0-8, were able to put up 29 points against Grayling (8-0, 5-0) last week as they fell 63-29.

The Vikings will face Boyne City, also 8-0, 5-0, for the Lake Michigan Conference title on Friday, Oct. 19 at Earl Brotherston Field.

JV rolls past Rams, impoves to 6-2

STEVE ZUCKER
Courier Editor

A number of big plays helped the Charlevoix Rayder junior varsity football team remain unbeaten in Lake Michigan Conference play as they racked up a 39-6 victory over Harbor Springs on Thursday, Oct. 11.

The Rayders started off strong when Will Telgenhof took the first play from scrimmage 62 yards for a touchdown. The point after attempt was no good, but the Rayders were off and running.

With 6 minutes left in the first quarter, Austin Putman socred on a 54 yard run. A Forrest Noirot to Justin Adkins pass was good for the two point conversion, putting the Rayders up 14-0.

In the second quarter, Telgenhof added another six when he returned a Harbor Springs punt 60 yards for a touchdown. The point after attempt failed sending the Rayders into halftime with a 20-0 lead

The Rayders picked up right where they left off in the third quarter when Ben Boss broke free and scored on a 51-yard run. KeNan Borths point after made the score 27-0.

Also in the third, Adkins scored on a 52 yard scamper and Putman also returned a fumble 63 yards for a touchdown. Both point-after attempts failed, putting the score at 39-0.

Harbor was finally able to get on the board in the fourth quarter on a six-yard touchdown run.

Leading the Rayders on offense were Atkins who had 82 yards on two carries, Same Hovie who had 71 yards on two carries, Putman who had 67 yards on two carries and Telgenhof who had 62 yards on two carries.

On defense, Hovie and Devin Largent lead the way with five tackles and five assists each. Justin Atkins had two tackles and five assists Andrew Michaud had one tackle on five assists and Spencer Bruce had eight assists. Putman and Michaud each recovered a fumple and Telgenhof pulled in an interception.

Charlevoix Coach Todd Klinger noted that each of the Rayders' touchdowns were on plays longer than 50 yards.

"We were able to control the whole the game both offensively and defensively," Klinger said. "The offensive and defensive linemen played another strong game.

Klinger commended the line play of consisted of Devin Largent, Spencer Bruce, Adam Michaud, Andrew Michaud, Spencer Stewart, KeNen Borths, Jordan Adkins, Jake Seger, Mick Hinkle, Dan Zipp, Josh Hinkley, and Turner Havens.

The win improves the Rayders' record to 6-2 overall and 5-0 in the Lake Michigan Conference.

"The boys on this team have continued to work hard and get better all year," Klinger said.

The Rayder will look to make a clean sweep of the conference Thursday when they travel to East Jordan for their final game of the season. Kickoff is set for 6 p.m. at Boswell Stadium.

Rayders end season with losses to Harbor Light, Leland

Despite struggles, coach sees improvements

The Charlevoix Rayder boys soccer team may have ended its season with two losses, but coach Jon Boss sees things moving in the right direction as the team posted three times as many wins this year than last.

On Thursday, Oct. 11, the Rayders lost their final regular season game to non-conference Harbor Light Christian, 2-0.

HoGeon Kim score both Swordsmen goals late in the second half as Harbor Light Christian shut out Charlevoix.

With the win, the Swordsmen close the regular season at 7-13-2 overall.

Following a scoreless first half, Kim scored his first goal with close to 10 minutes left in the second half off a pass from Caleb Wendt. With four minutes to play, Kim made it 2-0 as he scored on the right side off a cross from Alex

Rayders take second in conference races

EAST JORDAN — The Harbor Springs girls' cross country team is ranked No. 1 in the Division IV MichiganCrossCountry.com Lower Peninsula rankings.

On Tuesday at the East Jordan Community Park, they proved why.

Harbor Springs placed all five of their runners within the top 10 as they won the Lake Michigan Conference championship race and overall league title. The Rams finished with 17 points, while Charlevoix was second, 55; followed by Traverse City St. Francis, 58; East Jordan, 113; and Boyne City, 116.

On the boys side, Harbor Springs, ranked No. 6 in Division IV in the same poll, made it a league championship sweep as they finished with 32 points. Charlevoix was second with 41 points, followed by T.C. St. Francis, 73; Boyne City, 111, and Kalkaska, 112.

The league championship was the sixth overall for the Harbor girls, and the seventh overall for the boys. Both Harbor teams finished runner-up in last season's conference championship race to Charlevoix.

"It's a very talented group, a determined group and one with a good mixture of speed and strength," Harbor Springs girls coach Emily Kloss said. "I bet if you look through our results on the year we haven't had two orders that've been the same.

"I was very happy to see the girls get the conference championship, they worked very hard last week."

Harbor Springs boys' coach Mike Kloss said he's been pleasantly surprised by his team all season.

"It's a team that's improved more over the summer than any team I've had in my life," Mike Kloss said. "They are all the same type of people and they all just click. Last year, these guys you'd overlook them, but they've bloomed into something special.

"It just came down to hard work today," added Kloss. "We didn't need to perform miracles, we just had to go to work."

East Jordan's Josh Wojan won the boys' race and league individual boys' title as he finished in 16 minutes, 28.6 seconds; while Charlevoix's Amber Way won the girls' race and league individual title as she finished in 18:15.2

The top seven finishers in each race earned All-Lake Michigan Conference first-team honors, while finishers 8-14 were honorable mention.

For the Harbor girls, Rhi Cullip finished a team-best third in 19:18; while Jessica Worm was seventh, 20:47; Kaitlyn Alessi, eighth, 20:55; Claire Fleming, ninth, 21:08; and Salix Sampson, 10th, 21:12. Also for the Rams, Autumn Kihnke was 11th, 21:12; and Venience Gretzinger was 17th, 21:51.

Marcus Garrow led the Harbor boys as he was runner-up to Wojan in 16:46, while Michael Gorman was sixth in 17:30. Also for the Harbor boys, Jeffrey Howard was ninth, 17:47; Trevor Rohrer, 11th, 17:56; Andrew Furstenberg, 13th, 18:07; Jacob Nethercott, 19th, 18:58; and Kurtis Alessi, 20th, 19:05.

"I thought we ran really well in the last mile," Mike Kloss said. "The kids knew we'd have some guys coming after us and Charlevoix always runs good at this race.

"Nobody gives you anything at the conference race," Kloss added. "Nothing is given to you in the Lake Michigan, you have to earn it and our kids just wanted to go out and be good."

For the Charlevoix boys, Jackson Buday was a team-best third in 17:12; while Tristen Rudolph was fourth, 17:22. Also for the Rayder boys, Chris Young was 12th, 17:59; Nick Plude, 14th, 18:28; Parker Skeel, 17th, 18:39; CJ Rice, 23rd, 19:19; and Lucas Vonlau, 25th, 19:31.

Also for the Rayder girls, Olivia Certa was fifth in 18:15; followed by Caroline Boss, sixth, 20:39; Carolena Elowsky, 20th, 22:35; Meghan Clees, 25th, 23:23; Anna Voci, 27th, 23:52; and Maura Brandi, 28th, 23:57.

For the Boyne City boys, Garrett Fogo was a team-best seventh in 17:37; while Ethan Hahasco was 27th, 19:47; Logan Orban, 29th, 20:02; Tanner Evans, 34th, 21:46; and Jeff VanHove, 35th, 22:22.

For the Rambler girls, Jennelle Roberts finished a team-best 14th in 21:26, while Hannah Knitter was 23rd, 23:08. Other Boyne girls runners were Jessica Dowty, 24th, 23:20; Margaret Durbin, 29th, 24:27; Alexis Beilas, 31st, 25:22; Alison Burnell, 33rd, 25:38; and Kiana Kuhs, 34th, 25:38.

Kayla Keane led the East Jordan girls as she was fourth overall in 19:42, while Holley Carson was 22nd, 23:06. Other East Jordan girls runners included Brittanie Mnses, 26th, 23:32; Tess McNitt, 32nd, 25:23; Casey Keane, 35th, 25:39; and Ellen Brandell, 37th, 27:17.

Gabe Hawley was fifth for the East Jordan boys in 17:30; Donvee Burks, 26th, 19:37; and Teddy Nachazel, 28th, 19:47.

Both Charlevoix Peewee teams will play their final games on Saturday in different locations. The Pirates will play Mancelona II in Mancelona at 2:30 p.m. The Charlevoix Bucs will play the Petoskey Junior Northmen in Petoskey at 5 p.m.

In Midget Division action, Charlevoix lost a close game to Elk Rapids 2, 14-8.

Charlevoix scored on a run by Colin Smith and the extra point was added by Josh Carlson.

"There was excellent line play all day and Colin Davis stepped up replacing an injured Dylan Starr and had an excellent debut at fullback," Charlevoix coach Boogie Carlson said.

Charlevoix faces Elk Rapids 1 in Mancelona at 1 p.m. Saturday to close out the season.

TENNIS

Coach pleased with team's progress this season

The Charlevoix boys' tennis team wrapped up its season competing at the regional meet in Traverse City on Friday, Oct. 12.

None of the team members qualified for the finals. Here are the individual match results:

No. 1 singles: Brandon Arp lost to Harbor Springs 6-0, 6-1.

No. 2 singles: [illegible] Wachler lost to Traverse City St. Francis 6-2, 6-0.

No. 3 singles: Noah Certa lost to Traverse City St. Francis 6-2, 6-[illegible].

No. 4 singles: Ryan Erskine lost to Ludington 6-0, 6-0.

No. 1 doubles: Joe Rich and Addison Anstutz lost to Glen Lake 6-2, 6-0.

No. 3 doubles: Erik Oshaben and Hunter Isaac lost to Ludington 6-1, 6-0.

No. 4 doubles: Broby Robarge and Nate Endlers lost to [illegible] 6-1, 6-[illegible].

No. 2 doubles: default.

Charlevoix boys tennis coach Erik Lunteren said he's very pleased with the accomplishments of his players this season.

"I am extremely happy with the level of improvement this year," Lunteren said. "We had five freshmen and four seniors with little or no experience coming into the season. To learn a lifelong game in three months is quite an accomplishment. I am proud of all of them."

Lunteren said although he did not qualify for the final, [illegible] match of the [illegible] last week.

He also complimented Brandon Arp, who played the toughest position of No. 1 singles and [illegible] best each match and [illegible] team leader."

The coach also offered his thanks to Glen Wachler for his help this year with the team, the parents who came out and watched our matches and a big thank you to Mrs. Rich who supported our team breakfast at Harbor View Cafe.

BE A WISE SHOPPER
It's always wise to remember that if an offer sounds too good to be true, it probably is. If you are offered merchandise at an unbelievably low price, check it out thoroughly. A call to the Better Business Bureau (serving Eastern Michigan and the Upper Peninsula) will tell you whether other consumers have had problems with the firm that has offered the merchandises. (248)223-9400. But call the Bureau BEFORE you make a purchase. You'll be glad you did.
